ANNOUNCEMENTS.

When Robert Bruce Mantell first thought of the stage as a profession his people resolutely said "No." They were goodly Scotchmen and Scotchwomen and could not allow one of their family to practice the player's art. When, however, the lad was on the point of running away, so ardent was his love for the drama, they yielded in part, permitting him to make a trial, if only he used an assumed name. For that reason he appeared as Robert Hudson and for some time after-ward traveled under that name. Mantell's first offer of an American engagement came from the late John McCullogh, but owing to a previous contract be could not accept. On Thursday evening next Omaha theater-goers will have the pleasure of seeing Mr. Mantell in his latest and many say his greatast crea-tion, that of the twin brothers, dei Franchi, in "The Corsican Brothers," of which he is to give a spectacular production at Boyd's.

Daniel Frohman's production of "The Prince and the Pauper," with Elsie Leslie in the title role, will be given at Boyd's opera house the first half of the coming week. The house the first half of the coming week. The play is a dramatization of Mark Twain's story of the same name. The dramatization is strong, and, like the story, full of situations. Mark Twain spoke of it as the realization of a "dream." Elsie Leslie, who takes the dual role, is the little girl who created "Little Lord Fauntleroy" two years ago, and her great success in that part has made her tame as familiar as that story itself. The Omaha Guards Come Into Pos session of a Gatling Gun.

For some time past the Omaha guards have onged for a gatling gun. It has been present their waking and sleeping moments, and low to get such a gan has been the subject liscussed at innumerable special meetings. Lieutenant Mulford, of the guards, took pon himself to raise the necessary money for he purchase of a gun by subscription. BLOODTHIRSTY MR. BROWN. He Expressed a Desire to Butcher

His Wife and Daughter. George Brown was among the drunks arraigned before Judge Helsley. He was fixed $! and costs, and the case had hardly been disposed of when his married daughter, Mrs. George Lebo, appeared and wanted to file an information against him for kicking in her door and threatening to kill her husband and mother.

She resides at 1227 South Fifteenth street, and her father and mother have lived in the basement next door. She says Brown has repeatedly abused his wife and Monday afternoon he threw her belongings out of doors and told her to stay away from there. The goods were gathered up and removed to the daughter's home. Brown visited there two or three times during the evening, displaying a murderous-looking knife, but was as often persuaded to leave. He finally returned, and being denied admission broke in the door, and said he would kill his wife and son in-law, threatening to cut their throats. The sen-in-law did not relish such demonstra-tions, and he proceeded to hammer the old gentleman all over the house, while his wife went after a policeman. Brown was arrested, and his scalp was patched up at the police

After rehearsing this story, the daughter said that her mother had refused to have anything more to do with her father, and what they wanted was to be let, alone. If Brown would stay away and promise not to molest them further, they would not prose-cute him further. Brown agreed to this and said he had no intention of "killing them wherever he met them in the rond," as he had threatened to do.

He will be released when he serves out his fine, but if he attempts to make any more trouble, the other case will be brought up against him.

PAUPER MEAT.

How It Is Purchased and What It Costs the County.

Since the rupture with Van Gilder & Co. the butchers who held the contract for furnishing the county poor farm with meat, Poormaster Mahoney says he has been buy ing meat from Reardon on Cuming street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets, and from Kerner, on Farnam, between Teath and Eleventh. He says that the bill for August, when rendered, will be between $125 and $130, while for July it was $110 or $112. The excess of August over July Mr.
Mahoney accounts for by the fact that smoked meat which he had on hand up to August became exhausted necessitating the increased purchase of fresh meat. The prices paid for meat since quitting Van Gilder & Co. he claims are in no instance more and in some cases less than those specified in that firm's contract.

those specified in that firm's contract.

The poormaster simply laughs at Van Gilder & Co.'s assertions to the effect that he has been buying extra fine steaks, game and poultry and that that was the reason for the big bill rendered. He says that on but one occasion did he buyanything of the kind, and that was a little chicken to relate the and that was a little chicken to make some broth for a very sick woman. Further more he says he is ready and anxious to meet Van Gilder before the board of county commis sioners relative to the difficulty.

The Effects of Mental Exhaustion.

Many diseases, especially those of the ner-vous system, are the products of daily re-newed mental exhaustion. Colorado Sandstone Supplies the Need of Berea.

The L. H. Tower & Co. and Hugh Murphy & Co. were in consultation at the board of public works office yesterday morning.

It will be recalled that Tower & Co. were, some time ago, given the contract for putting down Berea stone at Thirty-first and Poppleton avenue, on a bid of 64% cents. It seems hey couldn't get the Berea stone, and asked the council to let them substitute Colorado sandstone.

The matter was referred to City Attorney Poppleton, who decided that the request could not be granted unless with the consent of Murphy & Co., who held the consent of Murphy & Co., who held the contract for furnishing all Colorado sandstone at 62 cents. Tower & Co. wanted to put the Colorado sandstone down for simply the distance of one block, on Thirty-first from Poppleton to Pacific.

Yestarday Councilman Chaffee and Mr. Hicks brought Murphy to the board rooms and in some way or other were instrumental in bringing him to the point of allowing Tower & Co. to use Colorado sandstone as they desire until the Berca arrives. And an agreement to this effect was drawn up and sandstone.

WAGONS VS. REELS.

The Latter are Going to the Wall with Firemen.

Chief Galligan says that in Chicago the days of hose reels are numbered. When one of them becomes old or requires overhauling it is abandoned or sold to some city which is willing to purchase it.

willing to purchase it.

The same policy is to be pursued here. Instead of the reel the hose-wagon is to be substituted. This vehicle is about the size of a patrol wagon, and resembles it in every respect save that it is without seats and is supplied with all the firemen's tools usually carried on a hose reel. One of these wagons is now being built in this city, but the chief has not yet decided where it will be located when built. He claims that the wagon is lighter than a reel and that better time, consequently, can be made with it, Besides, one man can easily pull the hose off of it and make a coupling while two are required on a reel.

Move to Have Grading Paid for Like Paving.

A large number of the property owners of the Second ward neld a meeting Monday night for the purpose of discussing an amendment to the city charter as it applies to the grading of streets. The idea prevailed that grading should be handled in the same manner as the paving and the paving should be assessed against the adjoining property, as a tax and paid in ten annual payments. Under the present system of grading, the city pays one-half the cost and the frontage pays the balance and a special levy is made within sixty days from the time the grading is completed and the work accepted by the
