Mortuary.

William M. Foster, an old-time partner of Fred W. Gray in the lumber business in this city, died at his residence in Chicago on Sundaylast. Mr. Foster established a wholesale lum ber business in this city about twenty-five years ago, the firm being Harris & Foster, and afterwards Foster & Gray. Mr. Foster leaves considerable property in this city.

Must Raise His Awning. The authorities have renewed their war fare against awnings that hang lower than seven feet above the side walk, as prescribed by ordinance. B.: Frank refused to comply with the new order of things, because his awning on Tenth street had hung there for seven years. He was arrested and Judge Helsley ordered him to raise the awning

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eyeand to the taste, gentle, yet effect-nal in acting on the iddneys, liver and bowels.

A boy giving the name of Heary Bethers was arrested at an early hour yesterday by Block Watchman Bradley in the alley in the rear of Boyd's opera house, and was sent to rear of Boyd's opera house, and was sent to the police station. He is thirteen years of age, and says his father, Seth Bethers, awell-digger, was so cruel to him that he had to leave home. For the past two weeks he has slept out of doors and begged for his food. When taken before Judge Heisley he was ordered held until the trath of his story could be lavestigated.

DID HE BLOW THE WHISTLE? The Engineer's Story Controverted in the Doyle Inquest.

The body of the man who was killed Tuesdaynight by an Elkhorn freight train, north of the fair grounds, has been identified as that of Henry Doyls, a street paver in the employ of Hugh Murphy, the contractor. He lived at Twenty second street and Goodwill avenue, withis about a block of where he was killed, and leaves a wife and twe children. oneabout five years and the other about five months old. The lady with whom Vennum boarded, Mrs. Margaret Huston, was the next wit-mess, and testified that she had a small baby which was very nervous and was always awakened by the whistling of passing trains. She had just put the baby to sleep when she heard the train coming. She remained be-side it to quiet it when the whistle sounded. There was no whistling, however, but she heard the train stop soon after it had passed the house, and then saw it back uppantil the engine came into view. Mr. Gallagher Wants it as Well as the Carriers.

Postmaster Gallagher has received a letter from the superintendent of the free-delivery system at Washington informing him that the inspector who was in Omaha about three weeks ago has recommended additional carriers for the Omaha office, but gives no details for the reason of the increase.

The letter further says that the inspector states that there is not room enough in the postoffice to accommodate the additional men needed. The letter asks for further information on these points. The postmaster states that he will request

The New Anti-Lottery Bill Will Not Kill the Business.

The very stringent anti-lottery bilthathas just been passed by congress and now needs only the signature of the president to make it a law, seems to have little or no terror whatever for sellers and buyers of the bits of fickle fortune's paper in this city.

Between $15,000 and $10,000 worth of lottery tickets are sold in Omaha every month by people who are known "on the quiet" to keep them constantly on hand, while it is probable that not a penny less than $30,000 goes out of Omaha every month for tickets bought from other sources. The sale of these tickets under the laws of the state is punishable by a fine of $500 and costs. The biggest sales are probably made by a party who has a regular office on Fifteenth street, in the heart of the city. No "bones" whatever is made about the nature of the business transacted, for over the door you wand this. read this :

Lottery Tickets for Sale Here.

In the New York Life building is another lettery ticket office, and at the door you may read :

Mexican Lottery Tickets for Sale.

A keeper of one of these places said: "We do a mighty good business, but by no means all of it, for nearly or quite every cigar store in the citykeeps lottery tickets for sale, though they try to keep the business as much under the hat as possible." "How will the new and very strict haw, that congress has just passed, affect your business it" "I don't believe it will affect the aparticle " keeper of one of these places said :

"I don't believelt will affect it a particle," was the reply. "It simply excludes all lot-tery matterfrom the mails. Well, now, do by matter from the mails. Well, now, do you think that the express companies won't immediately jump to the front and get up a substitute for mail facilities? Must certainly they will. For instance-although I haven't thought of the matter much-they might make a little to creven a 5-cent rate for carmake a little lo creven a 5-cent rate for car-rying a tiny box containing a list of the drawings or a ticket. Trust the express companies to come forward and pick up this vast business which Uncle Sam is throwing over his shoulder by this isonclad law. I have no idea, then, that the law will hurt our business a dollar's worth a fur the first two or three months, and very little, indeed, in the meaning. Let me tell you something that perhays you never thought of. There are huldreds of thousands of dollars stolen every year by postofice clerks from the mail addressed to lotteries. And why not there is clerk would never be punished for it, at least one never has been punished. I have lost hundreds of dollars in
