THE LAST DAY OF CONGRESS.

Final Adjournment of the First Session of the Fifty-First.

THE DEMOCRATS GROW CONCILIATORY.

Those of the House Allow Business to Proceed Without Insisting Upon the Point of No Quorum.

Wasmington, Oct. 1 .- In the senate this morning the reading of yesterday's journal having been dispensed with, Mr Sherman offered a resolution for the appointment of a committee of two senators to join a like committee on the part of the house to wait upon the president and inform him that unless he shall have any further communication to make, the two houses are now ready to adjourn.

Mr. Blair-I desire before adjournment to call up the labor bill and have action upon it, and I would not like any resolution to be adopted that would interfere with the disposition of that bill.

Mr. Sherman-The resolution looks merely to asking the president whether he has any further communication to make. Mr. Blair then withdrew his objection on the intimation that the resolution would not interfere with the labor pill. The resolution was agreed to, and Messrs Sherman and Harris were appointed a committee on the part of the senate.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Professor Goode on Classification-A Satisfactory Interview.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—|Special Telegram to THE BEE.|—Prof. Browne Goode of the Smithsonian institute at Washington is in the city conferring with the world's fair committee on classification,

"I don't believe there will be any serious disagreement between the committee and me," said Prof. Goods. "I prepared the classification for them and they may use it as they see fit. I am not interested in the decimal system I adopted so much as that the things I have enumerated should be placed in the exposition. I don't care how they are labeled; I merely want to see them there. You see that I am not holding out for the decimal system, about which the committee seems to be dissatisfied."

"Has the decimal system ever been used at previous expositions?"
"Not to any great extent. It was used in a modified form at the centennial. It is em-pleyed, though, in many large libraries, and after a great deal of experience withit I think it the best that can be employed. Letters, or the system favored by Mr. De Young, are employed in the National museum."

A dispatch today received from Washington states that the interview between the secretary of war and the Chicago committee today was very satisfactory, and that the order will be issued to go ahead with the work of filling the lake front at the expense of the Illinois Central railway, the under-standing being that the title to the land so made shall depend upon the decision of the supreme court in the case now pending.

THE APPEAL DENIED.

Nationalists Must Be Tried Before the

Tipperary Magistrates. DUBLIN, Oct. 1 .- The appeal of the nationalists held for conspiracy to the high court trates in Tipperary from proceeding with the conspiracy cases on the ground of bias, has been defied. No further steps can be taken, it is understood, with a view to changing the mag-istrates before whom the hearing is taking place. The case for the prosecution was continued at Tipperary without striking episodes.

English Opinion Aroused. London, Oct. 1 .- | Special Cablegram to Tau Ban. ] -Irish arrests and trials continue to occupy a large share of the public interest. John Morley and Commoner Illingsworth, who were in the crowd at Tipperary last Thursday, have expressed their willingness to appear as witnesses of the police assaults case the matter is brought before the courts. As an indication of the awakening of English public opinion regard-ing Ireland, the action of the unusual assem-bly of the Baptist denomination is significant. The assembly adopted a series of resolutions touching upon public matters, among which was one severely condemning the govern-ment's Irish policy. The other resolutions were in favor of free education and express-ive of sympathy with the movement for im-proving the condition of the laboring classes.

WRAPPING PAPER MEN. A Meeting at Chicago in the Interests

CHICAGO, Oct. 1 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-A meeting of representatives of the western straw wrapping paper manufacurers is being held in this city. The meeting was called in the interest of all the straw wrapping paper manufacturers west of the Allegheny mountains, in which district there are 872 mills with a total capacity of 100 tons aday. The object of the meeting is to place the produce of the mills under the charge of two manufacturers to be styled "sales agents," whose duty it shall be to examine into the supply and demand and report to the various mills if there should be a surplus in the market. "We are not forming a trust, said President Castle, for should we attempt it, other mills would be started; but our purpose is to stop the ruinous competition armong ourselves and, if possible, to reduce the cost of making wrapping paper. It now costs $1.10 per 100 pounds at the mills and we think we can save from $3 to $5 per ton. At present our oroflis are very small."

At the meeting thirty-one mill owners gned the agreement, representing three fifths of the total tonnage.

WILL REFUSE THE REQUEST. The Barrundia Papers Will Not Be Sent to Congress.

Washington, Oct. 1 .- Special Telegram to THE BEE. ]-It was understood last night that the president, after carefully examining the correspondence in the Barrundia affair, has reached the conclusion that it is not compatible with public interests to transmit all of the papers to congress at the present time and that, therefore, none will be sent in answer to the resolution recently passed by the house. The decision of the president, though based no doubt on good and substantial reasons, excites some surprise masmuch as it was known that the officials of the state department had no objection to making pub-lic the papers in the case. In fact, it is known that they had given the committee on foreign affairs assurance that the correspond-ence would promptly be submitted to the house if a resolution calling for the papers were passed. The question of Mimer's re-call, it is believed, is not involved in the refusal of the president to furnish the correspondence to the house. Such a step is said not to have been considered yet.

THE PRESIDENT BUSY SIGNING BILLS.

Senate Democrats Awake to the Fact That They Could Have Caused Considerable Trouble on the Tariff.

WASHINGTON BUREAU THE OMARA BEE, 513 FOURTEISTH STREET, WASHINGTON D. C., Oct. 1

There was a scene of confusion about the capitel today. Every one was in a state of nervous expectancy as the hands of the clock moved along to the time when the session of the Fifty-first congress would come to an end. Nervous faces were everywhere. Men who had spent months in trying to secure the passage of bills were besieging members to make a last effort. Women implored congressmen to get through their private pension bills. Around the doorways to the floor of the house were crowds trying to get at members. The clerks in the enrolling rooms were up to their ears in work, for it is essential that all the bills should be transcribed on parchment and placed before the president for his signature before the session expired in order to make them operative.

About 2 o'clock President Harrison and Private Secretary Halford and the entire cabinet arrived at the senate end of the capitel and proceeded to the private room in the senate lobby known as the president's room. The arrival of the distinguished party drew a swarm of people to the senate corridor and for a time the senate chamber and the floor of the house were almost deserted as senators and members left their seats in order to pay their respects to the president It had been the intention to make the visit purely a business one for the purpose of signing bills before the session ex-pired, but it was soon transformed into a reception, in which members of both arties took part. First came Chairman McKinley, the hero of the present congress as far as the tariff is con concerned, and with him were McMillan, the democratic tariff leader in the absence of Mr. Mills. Cannon, Turner and all the members of the ways and means committee in town were among those received. The work of signing bills proceeded rapidly, the president asking the advice of his cabinet where a bill was reached concerning their respective departments. Incidentally the president took occasion to express his satisfaction at the work of the present congress, the final disposal of the tariff bill appearing to give him the most satisfaction. Secretary Blaine was a conspicuous figure during the reception. He chatted concerning the various bills and joined with the president in expressions of satisfaction at the work accomplished.

There was no quorum in the house at any time today, a fact to which Mr. Breckhuridge of Kentucky called attention at the opening of the session, and if he had insisted anon the point of order he would have pre-vented an adjournment. But after an informal caucus of democrats in one of the cloak rooms it was decided not to noses, and it was decided to let the deception stand without calling attention to it. There was a good deal of anxiety on the republican side until the decision of the democrats was made known.

The democratic senators are just beginning to realize that they might have defeated the tariff bill or at least given its advocates serious trouble if a full representation of democratic senators and been on hand for the final vote. While that vote shows Senators Plumb, Pettigrew and Paddock as the only republicans who voted against the bill republican senators admit today that they had hard work to keep the defection from embracing three more senators. These were Pierce, Casey and Ingalls. A western senator said today that he was at home in the west last Saturday when his republican colleagues telegraphed him the brackets and a selection of the senators. him that his vote was absolutely essential to the passage of the bill. When he got here he found that the republican tariff managers were seriously counting on a defection of six, made up of the senators heretofore named. The democratic senators now see that if they had theroughly understood the extent of this defection they could have summoned all their absent colleagues and given the republican tariff leaders a hard struggle over the bill. CLARKSON CONFIRMED. In the senate this afternoon the nomination of Major Clarkson as postmaster at Omaha was confirmed. It will probably take Clark-son a week to get his bond ready and secure the approval of the postmaster general thereto, and for this reason Gallagher will be likely to remain as postmaster for Omaha until about the 10th of this mouth. EQUIVALENT TO A VETO. The president did not send any veto of the bill to restore Colonel Leib to the army this afternoon, as was expected, but it is suprosed that he pocketed the bill, and this is equivalent

MISCELLANEOUS.

Among the measures which got the presidential endorsement barely by the skin of its teeth was the resolution which rectified the error as to the Illinois river item in the river and harbor bill. Chairman Kennedy of the house enrolling committee has felt so chagrined at the big error of $198,000 that he took grined at the big error of $198,000 that he took special care to see that the joint resolution correcting it should have the president's signature. The law stands now just as though the mistake had nover occurred. Senator Manderson will not proceed directly to Nobraska, but will remain here a week or ten days closingup a number of matters in the departments. He will then go to Dalladelphia to see his mother, who is invery Philadelphia to see his mother, who is invery feeble health and who has passed the four score years mark. After that the senator proposes to go to New York to receive medi-cal treatment in the hope of recovering from his throat trouble, which still sticks to him, and will then go to Nebraska to take the stump. He will arrive in the state about the latter part of the month.

Senator Aldrich's statement of the meaning of the tariff bill is considered so good from a republican point of view that it will be made one of the leading campaign docu-ments for the west. When a subscription list was opened on it this morning Senator McMilian started it with an order for 40,000 copies to be circulated in Michigan. The orders soon swelled to a total of 100,000.

THE LONDON SEASON.

A Remarkable Case in Westminster

Police Court. [Copyright 1899 by James Gordon Branett 1 LONDON, Oct. 1 .- | New York Herald Cable Special to THE BEE, I - With the arrival of October came tolay the first symptoms of winter at hand. London, after unusually fine weather in September, was once more damp and dismal.

Another sensational affair came up this afternoon in Westminster police court. Sir Thomas Freake, bart, was in the dock charged with stealing some letters and photos under most dramatic circumstances. The trouble began with a woman whom Sir Thomas woold, but who, for reasons of her own, had allowed herself to be loved also by a gentleman named Gibson, the prescutor. In the course of events Gibson received from the fair lady certain letters and photos which Sir Thomas, for reasons of his own, determined to obtain at any cost. Obtain them hedid, but how much it is going to cost him, the court has not yet decided. To carry out the plun, Sir Thomas invited Gibson to hinch at his house in Osslow gardens last Monday. Once there, helured his unsuspecting guest into a vacant building, which he said had been fitted up for private theatricals, and on one pretense oranother persuaded him to accompany him down into the cellars. There he was seized by mon in Sir Thomas' employ, who promptly manacled Gibson with hantcuffs. Then a strangescene occurred which one might believe possible in autocratic Russia, but hardly is free, common place London. Both of these gentlemen, be it remembered, are men of wealth and social position. "Give me your bunch of keys," demanded Sir Thomas Freake, throwing off the mask of friendship.

Gibson refused, and having validy repeated the demand, Sir Thomas sent for their mutual mistress, who appeared in the subterranean regions looking very lovely.

"Give up your keys, Edward," said she coaxingly; "you may as well put a good face on it, as you will have to surrender in any event." Gibson, with hatred in his look and disdain m his voice, dared them to do their worst against a man who had been rendered helpless through a cowardly trick. Then, in a fit of ungovernable passion, Sir Thomas threw himself upon his guest and seized him by the throat and all but strangled him, while the others rifled his pockets, finally producing the keys. Among these was the key to a box containing the letters and photos. Taking possession of this, SirThomas hurried away to St. George's club, of which Gibson was a member, and where he had left the coveted articles in charge of the porter. To clear away any scruples the latter might have in delivering up the property, Sir Thomas

Sir Thomas was in possession of the box which had been dearly won. Exactly what the box contained is still a mystery. Such arethe main outlines of the extraordinary case as presented by the prosecution. George Lewis, one of the eleverestdefend ers, devoted most of his energies to throwing mud at Gibson, who, in the meantime, had got out of the cellar and handcuffs. Lewis declared that the prosecutor was a blackguard and had himself admitted as much in a letter to Sir Thomas. Gibson once wrote: I can naturally never expect such forgive ess to continue after my blackguardly be-navier. I wish you to understand that there is nothing I have done to serve one who at least I thought would be true to me. I have followed you and watched 'you, and have read papers which I had no 'right to read, and have lost my honor in every way. Mr. Crook, Gibson's lawyer-This all comes when two men go after the same woman. Besides, Sir Thomas, as a married man, had no right to do such things. Lewis here waxed indignant, pouring forth vile wrath upon the man who, though Sir Smith A. Whitefield, first assistant post-Sir Thomas' guest, acted as a spy upon him same time relieving.

After a long legal squabble the case was adjourned sine die, and it is said there are excellent reasons why it may never come up again. There is much back of the facts revealed known only to the parties interested.

AO CRIME TO STEAL WHISKY. A Prohibition Platform Causesthe Re-

lease of Two Burglars. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 1 .- Special Telegram to THE BEE. ] -A sensation was created in the criminal court here yesterday when Atterney General Slocum, addressing Edward Grady and John Hart, two tough looking costomers in the prisoners' dock, there to answer to the charge of burglary, said: You two men are free. You can walk right | has been a worful failure so far, and the enout of court. I will not press the indictments against you."

The two scamps looked amazed and frightened, but when the police opened the door they slunk down and out, and amid the eers of the spectators took to their heels when once in the street and ranaway. All this was due to the fact that the prohibitionists of Rhede Island have in convention assembled, decided that in their opinion it was no crime to steal spirituous liquors and cigars, as they were out of the pale of the law. The consequesce was that though the two prisoners in question had been guilty of wholesale robbery, and were captured only after a long and expensive pursuit by the police, still as the only thing that could be proven stolen was whisky and clears, the several prohibitionists on the jury openly announced they would not find the prisoner guilty. Hence the attorney general's action.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 1.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE]—President Modat of the Denver & Rio Grande today expressed his views for the first time on the recent Santa Forumers. He expressed great doubt as to whether the Santa Fe would take the Rio Gran de Western, but admitted that it was possible, adding that the change could or would not affect the Denver & Rlo Grande,

"If the Santa Fe should buy the Rio Grande Western would they be willing to treat you as well as the old management of that line has done!"

"Now I'll tell you something," said Mr., Moffat "We are prepared for that emergency. When wereorganized there was a fund set aside to extend our line to Sait Lake and Ogden. Should it become necessary, and we have money all ready with which to do it, if we are treated in fairly, we will parallel the Rio Grand Western the en-tire distance. The Denver & Rio Grande is now something of a road itself. It has more than $80,000,000 invested, and I guess if it should need any more, which is not at all probable, I could get it. You can say that the minagement is not at all alarmed over the situation."

the case of Dan C. Dwyer, the alleged lunatic, against W. A. McKelghan has just been discovered by THE BEE correspondent. The facts in the case are pretty well known and are in brief as follows: When McKeighan entered upon the duties of county judge of Webster county he received from his predecessor $257.60 belonging to Dan C. Dwyer, This money he has never paid to Mr. Dwyer nordid he turn it over to his successor in office. Mr. Dwyer sued McKeighan office. Mr. Dwyer sued McKeighan for the amount, alleging embezdement, and McKeighan entered no appearance and made no answer. Judgment was accordingly rendered against himon April 17, 1800, for the full amount, McKeighan and his friends admit that he withholds the money, but to justify him, claim that Dwyer has never been legally commetent to receive it. It has the been as
