For a week or more the versatile Robert Clarkson has not grabbed a metropolitan newspaper.

Those who are congratulating the country on the adjournment of congress forget the next session is barely two months away.

NEW YORK has set nine hundred and forty-seven policemen at work recounting the population of the city.

DEMOCRATS are served with lavish doses of cold comfort by the World-Herald. According to that great political windmill the independents are sweeping everything before them in Platte county.

THE DUTY OF THE EXCHANGE. The first and most important work which the Omaha real estate exchange should undertake is to unite with the Bankers' and Business Men's association in protecting the property interests of Omaha and the state.

THE formal opening of the democratic campaign in Iowa will take place at Keokuk tomorrow and it is proposed to make it a tri-state affair.

THE more Candidate McKelighan's record is examined the more spotted it appears. The diversion and misappropriation of widows' and orphans' funds in Webster county has not been denied or explained.

REVENUES AND APPROPRIATIONS. The secretary of the treasury in his last annual report estimated that the revenues of the government for the current fiscal year would be four hundred and fifty million dollars.

How to Deal With Lo. The news from the frontier is a reminder that the only way to put down an Indian uprising is to put down the Indian so that he can't raise.

For the Brooklyn Frauds. Certain principals of schools and members of the school board of Brooklyn are clearly entitled to the celebrated degree claimed by Dr. Pangloss—that of A. S. S.

No Significance at All. Ex-Governor Glick of Kansas says he is out of politics. His appearance among the farmers on the fair grounds at Atchinson one day lately in his shirt sleeves was, without any political significance, anybody can see that.

A Social Amenity in Iowa. Speaker Reed, as is generally known, is coming to Iowa in the interest of the republican ticket this fall.

AN AUTUMN SONG. All the summer's work and old; The sun has ceased to shine; The gold-leafed autumn is here; Blood for murder of the night; And gold to hide it out of sight; I think they'll fall for doing it; Till the careful sun is old.

AN AUTUMN SONG. Till the watching stars for dread Go out, and cease to lighten it; Cruel earth drinks up the red; The sun has ceased to shine; From the broken sweeter's pain, From the dying and the dead, Never again may I see it; With her silver hair she shed.

AN AUTUMN SONG. Ye who read a golden way With hearts of other days; Hark! the autumn voices say: "The yellow leaves are falling; But through the leaves the crimson peep; Ruddy drops to stain the leaf; No after rains, drops, laying it; Wash the purple from the clay."

A MEMORABLE SESSION.

The first session of the Fifty-first congress has passed into history. It will be memorable as one of the most important in the history of the country, and the effect of its legislative acts will be far-reaching and long-continued.

It is a fair thing to say that the bill for the reduction of the tariff will be a deficit rather than a surplus. No definite calculation can be made, however, as to the effect of the bill on the revenues for the current fiscal year, but the probability is it will not effect any such reduction. Mr. McKinley has figured out.

PAUL VANDERVOORT, superintendent of the local mail service in Omaha, is said to have sent in his resignation with a string tied to it. The string with the alleged resignation is in the hands of Senator Manderson, with the expectation that he will not present it to John Wanamaker.

THE manufacturers of straw wrapping paper are getting together. Representatives of eight hundred and seventy-two mills are in session in Chicago, and another industrial combine is in process of incubation.

ACCORDING to friendly accounts, startling political conditions exist in the northern counties. One day Tornado Bill Thompson descends on a county, and forthwith a credulous public is positively assured that he has bagged an overwhelming majority of the voters.

THE republican meeting at the Grand opera house tonight should call out a multitude of citizens, irrespective of party. The meeting will be a notable one, chiefly because the republican party, which has successfully managed state affairs for a generation, will render an accounting of its stewardship and demonstrate its right to a continuance in power.

THE importance of the question justifies a repetition of the fact that every voter must be registered to exercise the rights of citizenship. Former lists are useless. New lists must be made, and every citizen is personally required to appear before the registration board of their respective polling districts.

THE packing record continues to point with unerring aim to Omaha's steady advance as the third stock market of the country. A record of eight hundred thousand packers sailed in seven months is an enviable one for an industry barely six years of age.

IN devising ways and means for the relief of the courts, the bar association should remember that the interests of litigants and taxpayers. There is such a thing as driving a willing horse to death.

IF Commissioner Anderson should fail to connect with a renomination, the thrilling philosophy of Jefferson's Manual would lose its most accomplished expounder in the county building.

How to Deal With Lo. The news from the frontier is a reminder that the only way to put down an Indian uprising is to put down the Indian so that he can't raise.

For the Brooklyn Frauds. Certain principals of schools and members of the school board of Brooklyn are clearly entitled to the celebrated degree claimed by Dr. Pangloss—that of A. S. S.

No Significance at All. Ex-Governor Glick of Kansas says he is out of politics. His appearance among the farmers on the fair grounds at Atchinson one day lately in his shirt sleeves was, without any political significance, anybody can see that.

A Social Amenity in Iowa. Speaker Reed, as is generally known, is coming to Iowa in the interest of the republican ticket this fall. It is hoped that Mr. Reed, during his sojourn among us, will bear in mind that the little matter of ordering up the drinks to one's room at the hotel is not considered in the light of a test of party fealty, but that it is one of the social amenities of the civilized world, and encouraged by gentlemen representing every shade and degree of political faith.

Still Remembers the Ass. After much prayerful consideration, Mr. Gilbert Hitecock has concluded he will support both the democratic and independent tickets this campaign. He couldn't well run an independent paper and do otherwise, you know.

The Value of Irrigation. Some of the farmers in western Nebraska, who have been able to irrigate this season, are in big luck, as most of the others in that section had their crops ruined by drought. One county there has no grain, and another will have 300,000 next season. The artificial watering beds nature a big percent.

Prohibition and Crime. In Nebraska the number of penitentiary prisoners bears to the state's population the proportion of one to 3,333. In Iowa the proportion is one to 8,121. In Kansas it is one to 573. Nebraska is a high crime state. Its saloons are regulated by law. It has no bootleggers and no joints. The argument that prohibition is a preventive of crime finds little strength in these pertinent statistics.

Duty and Price. Senator Edmunds must be misrepresented when he is stated to have said that increase of duty has never increased the price of an article to the consumer. Mr. Dawes justified his vote for the enormous increase of duty on tin, equivalent to about 150 percent, by the fact that it would furnish to the development of the local mail service in Omaha, is said to have sent in his resignation with a string tied to it.

He Had No Friends. The most pitiful sentence I have read in a newspaper in a long time was that brief line in one of the New York dailies the other morning, in connection with an author of good parts whom bad luck had driven to suicide: "He had no friends." The reporter who wrote the article was merely filling in the paragraph, and had no malice, but he had already given the name, nativity, sex, age, occupation and dwelling place of the unfortunate. Usually these descriptions end with the statement that "a brother took charge of the remains" or "the coroner delivered the body to the friends of the deceased," or "the lodge of which the deceased was a member will conduct the funeral."
