Hutchinsen's Influence and Dearth of Outside Business Kill Trade in Wheat.

A DAY OF STAGNATION IN THE CORN PIT.

A Moderate Business in Oats-No Unusual Features in Provisions-Live Stock and Financial.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE !- The wheat market for the entire sealon was anything but a rousing one; it was about as dead as the influence of Hutchimson and the absence of outside business could make it. The only thing gained by present conditions is that members are saved the trouble of thinking or calculating on natural causes; all they have to do is to wait. One individual goes to work on the curb and sells two to three million privileres. It is immaterial with him whether he has wheat "put" to him or whetherhe stakes his $3,000 cm privileges and lets the market stand still. This was what alled the market today. There was not enough outside news nor enough local interest to cause the market to break away from its fetters. Up to lo'clock the market acted as follows: December Whic to 99% to 99% to .$1.00 to 1940 to $1.00 to 90 to 10 00 to ; May, $1.04% to $1.04% to $1.04%. The day was not without encouraging news. Shippers were feeling for wheat everywhere. In this market 4,000 bushels of No. 2 spring was marked for eastern shipment and 33,000 bushels more were taken for the United Kingdom, though by way of Boston. New York cleared $1,000 bushels of wheat and the equivalent of 50,000 bushels in flour. Duluth reported 24,000 bushels of each wheat sold for shipment. Montreal reported a good demand for No. 1 hard for export. The Northwestern Miller reported an increased interest in flour at lower prices. Receipts at Missempolis were 457 cars and at Duluth 145. This was moderate-much below last year. Receipts were ?! cars, with but !8 cars estimated for Saturday. Early cables were quiet and steady, but second cables quoted 4d advance at Liverpool. New York was firm, with Hutchinson and Cottrell re-ported buyers. In this market Hutchinson was a free seller early, conveying the idea that ne wanted wheat at "put" price-9543 90%c. Later he bought December at 10%c. S. V. White sold; W. T. Baker & Co. and a few others were buyers. Even scalping trade was light. There was more interest in wheat the last half hour than at any other time. Hutchisson, after buying a little De-cember around 90 %c, sold freely around 99%6. 90%c. Mitchelland others absorbed it. Just at the close scalpers, shorts and others wanted wheat and could, not get it under $1.0. Mitchelliet them have some at that price until the closing bell shut them off. There were bids at $1,00% before leaving the floor. October closed at 97c, and May at $1,04%. There was an absence of messenger boys

There was an absence of messenger boys crying orders either buying or selling to the core trade today. Fariy in the day it was spreaded that the price of May corn would not get outside the limits of "puts" and "calls" last night, which were at 50% and 30%. This proved the case so far as puts were concerned. There were fewcalls sold, and the price at one time touched 50%. The range up to lo clock was he from the opening at 50% let o 50% a bout midday, with a drop back to 50% and a steady market at 50% a half hour before the close, with receiving houses, led by Boyden & Co., selling at that price and buying scattered in 2000 and 10.000 bushel lots. Becember was quoted 2% under May alliday. October cales were from 47% to 45% and steady at 48% bid at 10 clock. Corn closed at the close at best prices for the day at 48% for October. 48% for November, 48% for December and 50% 250% for May. Calls were called. The range in November, 48% for leecember and 50% 250% for May. Calls were called. The range in November was 48 to 48% on 10 50%, and back to 51% or 14% over the close for May corn sold at 50%, or 14% over the close for May on the floor. Calls sold from 50% cup to 52%, and back to 51% before 30 clock.

There was a very moderate business in oats today. All months were neglected except May, and the only prices for that month were 11% early and 41% at the close. Other months closed as follows: October, 38%; November, 38%; December, 38%; December, 38%; December, 38%; December, 38%; December, 38%; December, 38%; October sold as 50% on a principals. Cudahy was called a seller of January land. Receipts of hogs were 25.00% with price 5c under vesterday. January porkstarted 25% on at $11.6% and closed 24c up at $11.6%; May sold steady at $19.00. In lard the price for October suffered a decline to $6.50 on a single sale at the close. January, $6.45; May, $6.85 or 2% off for deferred futures. Ris were little changed. crying orders, either buying or selling, to the CRICAGO, Oct. 3 .- (Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-CATTLE-Demand again fair and prices about like yesterdayon all classes. Considering the large increase in receipts, values have ruled fairly well. The top prices for the week so far were $5.00 to $5.25, with several sales at 85.10 to 85.15. Style and quality were there every time. The bulk, however of good and useful stock sold early between $4.75 and $4.55. and medium at $4.55 to $4.65, with common at 84.00 to 84.25. Prime finished corn fed steers sold at the top at $5.25, but more sold for $5.50 and upwards than for any day this week. Others show little or no change and may be quoted at $4.75 to $4.90; common and medium. $6.05 to $4.50. Texas steers sold at $2.30 to $1.25. The rangers' pick. others, 2.80 to $1.25.

Hogs-There was another drop of 5c to 10c on packing grades and prime heavy and butcher weights, also on second class light, including Michigan and Indiana grassers. Rough ends and packers, and in some instances londs, sold at $3.0 to $4.00, with good to choice mixed at $4.10 to $4.05; an occasional lot at $4.25. Prime heavy and butcher weights, $4.36 to $4.55; a few at $4.55. Again, large numbers of light pigs, averaging $0 to 140 pounds and thereabouts sold to bacon curers at $4.40 to $4.05; good second class light, including Michigan and Indiana stock, sold at $4.10 to $4.55; prime confied pigs, averaging 100 to 170 pounds, including the singe sort, sold at $4.60 to $4.70.

FINANCIAL.

New York, Oct 1.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE]—STOCKS—There has not been less hope in the street for stocks in weeks than at present time. Dispatches sent out last night and expressions of leaders this morning were anything but encouraging to buyers or holders of stocks. The shadow of tight money again bangs over the market, but is as oyet only prospective. The great short interest is less talked about, and even bulls now think it is not sufficient to rescue declining values.

There is no outside business and will be none until liquidation and depression cease. Trading early was insignificant and prices, after slight declines, held about steady. Sugar was in the rut with the rest and was down $ 10 78 and up $ 10 785 in. Chleago Gas rose a fraction to $6; Burlington was pressed down to $45, but recovered to $6; Lackawanna sold of to 143% and back to 14. For other stocks showing any trading there was no recovery from early declines. New England went down to $6. St. Paul to $65, Missouri Pacific to $65, and Union Pacific to $65. The heaviness in stock increased into in the day and there was further liquidation and some sharp declines. Money ruled firmer and trading was quoted brisk on the way down. Industrial shares suffered least with about $10 80 at the close, Jersey Central and New England each lost $1, to $15 per cent. Northern Pacific preferred was off i per cent. Northern Pacific preferred was off i per cent. Northern Pacific preferred was off i per cent. And the lowest prices for months were reached. A tellson lest 1 to $67, Burlington, 14, to $63, Northwestern and Rock Island, each $4, St. Paul, $1, to $67, Missouri Pacific. 14 to $68, Union Pacific, $1, to $3. Pullman shares were up 3 points to $21. Sales reached $2,956 shares. until liquidation and depression cease.

MR. WILSON'S TWO COLUMNS.

Turned in the Copy.

How Dead Jockey Danny Mackin Revisits the Scenes of His Triumphs -Strange Things Uncle Billy

Bassett Saw.

HE RIDES A PALE HORSE NOW.

"Mr. Wilson, how soon can you get ready to start for H---, Illinois?" "In an hour, sir."

This conversation took place in the office of the New York Chronicle, one morning as the men on the staff came to receive their assignments. If the editor had asked Wilson how soon he could getready to start for Alaska he would have reteived precisely the same Elward Wilson hurried off to his rooms, and, hastily packing a few necessaries in a vallse, reported backat the office in exactly as hour.

"He was a paragon of a reporter, you will say, "this Wilson." But he was merely an ordinary city staff reporter who, like thousands of others on the big dailies of America, stood ready at an hour's notice to start for any part of the world.

**This Illinois story will bring two columns, even if I'm recalled intracliately," he mused, as he rattled up to the Grand Central station in a hansom; "two columns will bring my bank account up to $100, and $100 will bring the wife and little one to New York." Wilson thought with delight how happy they would be in his comfortable little Lexington avenue flat. It was a pleasant little day-dream.

In fifteen minutes the Bufalo express, earing the newspaper man to his destination, rushed sporting out of the Harlem turnel, like another earth-bound Ther rejoiding at his freedom. Past the end of Manhattan island, past Riverdale, Yonkers, and all the lovely northern suburbs of the city, along the rolling Hudson, past the muddy Mohawk, then, as night fell, screaming past the little hamlets sleeping under the hills of central New York, and on, on, on to the great lakes.

There was nothing in the car to interest Wilson, and as the sun sank behind theripening wheat hills he doted fitfully, and waking would seep again, waking and sleeping by fitful starts and wondering what it was that kept him in a vague but all the more fearful terror. Finally he slept, and it was while he dreamed that a terrible accident happeried. The trestlebridge over a swollen creek, weakened by the rush of waters had given way under the advancing train and 900 people were hurled into the Three or four men hurriedly finishing late "copy." A dozing office boy wak-ing every few minutes to glance at the clock and long for 2 o'clock and freedom. The night-desk littered with proof slips and "held over copy;" no sound but the operator ticking night" to his far-off brothers, and an oc-casional shout of "copy!" from the desk. Atallfigure in a caped overcoat and traveling cap enters the room, and, silently walking up to the night-desk, lays some "copy" before the editor. The menin the office, bending over their work, do not see him pass, but the officeboy, brushing his hat, yawns: "Good morning, Mr. Wilson," but the form goes

"Can'tuse this, Mr. Wilson," says theeditor, looking at the clock; "why, it's 1:50; the paper's going to press. What is it, anyway?" "Yes, by George, we will run it," he continues, excitedly; "Jim, stop the preses. Then the operator: "Have you an aceident on the New York & Buffalo yet?"

"No. sir."
"How did you get it, Wilson?"

But the form had gone.
"My God! listen to this," says the subeditor; "the accident must have occurred at 1:50 exactly. Among the dead was Edward Wilson, are porter on the New York Merning Chronicle. What was it, then, that brought this copy in?"
"Idon't know," replied the editor, in a hushed voice; "send the story up just as it is. It runs exactly two columns. -New York Tribune.

Rochester's Ghostly Jockey.

Some years ago in arunning race at Detroit Danny Mackin, a jockey, was killed by the horse he was riding, making a sudden and vicious bolt and hurling his rider to the ground, writes a Rochester correspondent of the New York Star. When the jockey was picked up a stream of blood was running rom a hole in his temple down his cheek and neck. A story has been cur-rent among jockers and stablemen over since Mackin's death that his ghost walks at night among the race track stables, the quest of the specter being presumably the horse that killed the

This story has always been be-lieved by stablemen, and if anyone had doubts of it they are dispelled now, for the ghost itself was seen by at least a dozen of them at the Rochester driving park slables a few nights ago. The midnight watch of sta-blemen had come on duty, and the men were lounging in front of the stables when one of them saw a slim figure in white approaching the stables from a clump of trees on the grounds. The man called the attention of his aom panions to he object. The yall saw it clearly as it lided noiselessly toward the stable. When the apparition came full in the light of the large hanging lampin front of the stable and revealed the figure clad in jockey garb, and a face as white as the clothes, with a red streak running down the cheek and neck, like a line of blood trickling down, the stablemen were paralyzed with terror.

The specter jockey passed into the stall ble through the open door. The door leading to the stalls where the racers were was closed, but the ghost kept right on passed through the door as if it had been open, and dissapeared. of the stablemen recovered himself sufficently to think that perhaps this might clever trick of some one get at the horses to do them harm, and he hurried forward and opened the door leading to the stalls, with the intention of preventing any such purpose. Two or three of his companions followed him. The apparition was moving slowly along the stalls, stopping an instant at each one and then passing to the next. The horses seemed to be aware of the mysterious presence. They neighed and plunged and stamped in their stalls as he spectre passed along.

The stablemen were again paralyzed by this second vision of the jockey ghost and stood motionless and speechless at the door. The apparition glided to and paused at every stall in the stable, turned its face for a momen toward the terror-stricken men at the door, and disappeared as suddenly and mysteriously as it had come. That they had seen the The Reporter Was Killed But His Spirit wandering ghost of poor Danny Mackin not one of the midnight watch has the slightest doubt.

Strange Things Billy Bassett Saw.

The cave near 'Joseph Dees' in Hamily on county, known as the Devil's Den, hasever been a mystery. No one now living has ever explored its depths, and many curious tales are told in consec tion with it, says the Florida Times-Union. The editor of the Jasper News bas gone to itat least half a dozen times with the express purpose of exploring it, but, upon reaching its opening, dee down in the dark ravine, overshaddwed by tall pines and sprending oaks, feeling the cold, chilly current of air that is peculiar to the place, listening to the dripping waters echoing in the cavernout depths, viewing the overhanging rocks, which seem ready to give way and fall, and the impenetrable darkness of the cavernall combined, have never failed to produce a feeling of awe that would soon ripen into fear and cause him to get away from the place faster than he went to it.

It is related that in the early history of the country old Uncle Billy Bassett happened to pass that way at a late hour of the night. It was brilliantly lighted up and the sounds of music and of revelry were heard therein. He, knowing nothing of the cave, joy fully supposed he was approaching some house where he could obtain rest for the night Going down into the ravine, he followed its course, till upon turning an angle of rock, he came full upon the mouth of feethigh and twenty wide. He took a look at the scene within and incenti-nently field from the spot with the speed of a frightened deer. He said that on a high ledge of rock four or five uncouth looking characters were clustered, making music on instruments that he was inaccustomed to, while on the any number of naked yellow devils about seven feet high were dancing with might and main. Ever since that time t has been called the Devils' Den.

Another story is that during the war it was occupied as a refuge and hiding lace for deserters. One of them one ay concluded that, to pass away time, which was hanging so heavily upon his hands, he would explore the ave and see what it contained. Up to this time its occupants had never gone over thirty or forty yards into it. So, precuring a good torch and accompanied by a companion, he set out, or rather in on a voyage of discovery. At a distance of seventy or eight yards they came cross hundreds of skeletons of human seings, which so terrified them that they quit the cave entirely, preferring a life in the army to an abode with the dead in that lonely envorn.
