tist church last Thursday entitled, "Internation Milkmaids Association Convention," was one of the best ever held in the church and was appreciated by all present.

Pearl street, between Broadway and First avenue, is pretty weil taken up by the builders. Work is progressing on the Bald-win block, Judge James' two buildings, the Woodbury building and the new hotel—all in Work on the new hotel is progressing so that it seems quite certain that it will be ready for secupancy by the time set, January 1. It is not known yet who will conduct the hotel, but it is understood there are several parties who have expressed a desire to lease it. Mrs. J. E. Metcalf concluded the negotia-lion yesteniay for the sale of her property northeast of the city, known as the Grave house. A woman from Scattle, Wash., was the purchaser. The price paid. Mrs. Met-enlfsays, was $18,000. Possession will be given on the 1st of January. Mrs. Metcalf will remove from the city negroupentle. will remove from the city permanently. Marshal Templeton received a dispatch yesterday evening from the father of the run-away boy, Charles Brames, who took $40 of school money from his father's trank and started for Kansas City. The parent re-quested the officer to send the boy to Columbus, Nep, this morning in care of the con-The foundation of the new Baldwin block is of brick, the wall being ten feet thick, and the brick being laid with cement, so that the whole will harden like one solid rock. In ex-cayating the old stone foundation was found to have crambled so that in many places it could be shoveled out like dirt. It is predicted that the foundation for the new building will prove one of the most lasting and unyielding of any in the city. Last evening Thomas Guilfoyle, who is engaged at the transfer, came to the police station with his thirteen-year-old son, Anthony, whom he desired to have locked up and sent to the reform school. He said the boy had getten entirely beyond parental control and was thoroughty incorrigiole. boy was put into a cell and will make the proper showing before Judge McGee tomorrow morning. He did not appear to be disturbed at all by the situation. A messenger was sent in from Walnut Greve addition, beyond Walnut Hills cometery, last evening at 7:30, bearing an urgent request for the fire department to come out and suppress a fire that had broken out in the grove, and which threatened serious damage. The small hook and ladder truck was dispatched, and Chief Levin and man Cocheran also went out in the chief's buggy. The fire was under practical control when they reached the place, but a pile of cord wood was burning. No buildings were destroyed.

An 1800-pound terra cotta eagle has beer placed in position over the main entry of the now Grand hotel. The eagle surmounts a large globe of the same material, and the two make a beautiful and artistic ornament. The work on the new building is progressing very satisfactorily. As large a force of men as can be worked to advantage in all parts of the building are kept steadily employed by contractors and every possible effort is being made to have the finest hotel in the west open by the first of January, as originally

Mrs. J. W. Long is prosecuting a suit for a divorce from her husband in the district court, and alleges a great many hard things about the way J. W. has treated her in the past. The similarity of the name to that of J. B. Long, the well known paper man of this city, has caused that gentleman and his familya good deal of annoyance. Many of their friends and acquaintances have ac-quired the impression that it is the paper man who is made the defendant in the divorce suit, and he has been compelled to spend about half of his fortune upon his wife to convince the public that their martial rela-tions are the perfection of bliss. It is not J. B. Long who is charged with such serious shortcomings, and he wants the public to understand that the court has never been and never will be constituted that will be caled to to sever the marriage relations etween him and Mrs. Long.

Getting Ready to Lay the Corner Stone of the New Methodist Church -More Gas-Much Ado About Little-Minor Mention.

On Friday night, between 11 and 12 o'clock, a load of gambling paraphernalia was brought over from Onraha and dumped on the sidewalk in front of one of the buildings on Broadway, between Main and Pearl streets. The stuff was quickly carried up stairs and out of sight. It was currently reported on the streets vester-lay that an elegant place had been fitted up there for the benefit of the gaming fraternity, and was to be quietly conducted without exciting the suspicion of the police. Entrance could be obtained only by those who understood an claborate system of signals, and heavy bolts and bars were to be an effectual guard against the poice and undesignable outsiders. The story widently had some foundation, for there was considerable activity in the rooms yesterday afternoon. But the secret was not carefully guarded, and the police force knew all about the arrangements very shortly after the goods were taken into the building. Chief of Police Curey instricted. Captain Martin to file an information in the superior courtaileging that he had reasons for believing that gamding was being conducted here and to secure a search warrant and raid the place. The warrant was obtained and the raid was made at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Officers Martin and Doyle executed the chief's orders. The doors were locked, but it was soon ascertained that Dan Carring knew who carried the keys and he was given the alternative of delivering them up or having the doors broken open. Entrance was obtained without resorting to harsh measures and the whole lay-out was taken in charge by the officers. It was lowed in the patrol wagen and taken to the central police station, where it will be caved for until some person constudes to run the risk of admitting its ownership.

"Slippery" Sam.

The trial of Sam Davis, a colored man, for tabbing a white man named Smith, was still on in the district court yesterday. The evidence was not completed and the case will be resumed tomorrow. The defense is attempting to show that unother colored man did the stabbing and that this man is con-the stabbing and that this man is conveniently absent from the city.

The testimony is quite drawn out and rather conflicting. The afray occurred at a dance on Sunday near Hig lake, and whites and blacks were involved. As usual in such cases the testimoney of eye witnesses even is varied. The case will probably be concluded some time tomerrow.

Three Tons of Coal Per Minute. The Carbon coal company yesterday received the first modern and first-class appliance for unleading coul that has ever been brought to the city. It is the new Keystone coal dumping wogon from Reading, Pa. By its use a load of coal to the amount of the full canacity of the warron, three tons, can be unloaded in one minute and carried into the coal hole or through the cellar window.

The cost and labor of handling coal is not only reduced to the lowest possible minimum, but there is a saving of coal to the customer for the the cust omer, for there is not an ounce of it left in the wagon or scattered over the ground and These wagons will be used exclusively by the Carbon company in delivering coal here-after, and the customers will get the most prompt and satisfactory delivery, and at the ame time the best coal at the lowest prices.

The City's Registration.

The work of revising the registration lists has been completed, with the exception of the changes that will be made on the Saturday preceding the election, which will be next Saturday. Less than 300 names have been added to the lists, and quite a number of those are changes.

It is estimated there are 600 voters in this city who are not registered. The total registration is about four thousand. The books will be open again on next Saturday from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. In the meantime every man who is not registered should arrange it so he can be at leisure a short time-long enough to enroll his name. Only those who are ab sent from the city can vote on election day if their names are not on the lists.

bricks to Justice Schurz, Then a jury was demanded, and a tedious war over technicalities so wearted the waiting jurymen that they were excused. Then a writ of habeas corpus was taken out and the prisoner was brought before Judge McGee. A good portion of yesterday was spent in hearing this. It was decided that the writ wouldn't afford relief, as the case was pending before Justice S. burz. the case was pending before Justice S. hurz, and was not decided. The writ was in fact a ittle too previous, and Taukus and his attor ney were told to go back to the justice. It was about sundown when this stage of the proceedings was reached, and there was no time left for doing more than calling in a jury. Judge Boulton is attending to the defense, which promises to be quite protracted.

Another Missing Girl. Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Kelley were in the city yesterday looking for Laura Day, the fifteenyear-old daughter of Mrs. Kelley by a former marriage. Until about two weeks ago they lived at Wahoo, Neb., but are now living in Omaha. For some time past the young girl has been living with a family by the same of Hayward, on a farm in Keg Creek township, a few miles from Council Bluffs. Shewas said to be comfortably provided for there was contented with her home her work. A week ago last Monday she left the farm without giving any notice and without any apparent cause. The Haywards supposed she had returned home, which they still supposed was in Wahoo. Mr. Kelly, the stepfather of the young girl, suffered an accident a week ago that confined him to his house and it was ot until yesterday that he and the mother of the girl were able to come over for the pur pose of making her a visit and looking into her welfare. When they reached the farm house yesterday they were very much surprised to learn that she had left, and frightened when they found that the taywards knew nothing at all con-cerning her whereabouts. They returned to be city and spent the day hunting for the Haywards missing child, but after a fruitless search reurned to Omaha last evening. Laura, although tifteen years old, is ucusually small for her age, and few people would take her to be more than twelve years old. It s feared she has endeavored to make her way o the old homestead in Wahoo and became st, or has fallen into evil hands and been enticed away. The Boston Store Preparing a Pleasant and Profitable surprise for People of Conneil Blue.

The Boston store people have accomplished mething that they may well feel proud of, and which will be of great interest to the people of Council Biggs. With store rooms filled with people from the opening until the close of business 'each day they have succoeded in very nearly perfecting their arrangements for a formal autumn opening without interrupting the steady flow of trade. Special and skillful decorators have been at work during the past week arranging the goods for the opening, which will take place on Thursday night, October 30. The decorations already in place are handsome and elaborate, and when completed the display be the finest ever made in Council Bluffs. The upper portions of the two large rooms have been completed and the decorators are now at work on the lower portions. The designs are all new and original and are made of the finest goods, and when the veil is drawn aside on Thursday night there will be some genaine surprises in store.

On Thursday evening the store will be closed from 5 to 7 o'clock, and will be re-opened at the latter hour for the reception of the public. The reception will continue until During that evening no goods will be sold, but the army of clerks will act as ushers and show the people through the store.

JUDGE REED OF IOWA. His Successful Canvas for Re-Election to Congress. The political contest in the Ninth congressional district of Iowa is enaracterized by some peculiarities and attended by no little interest. This district is one of which Council Bluffs is the commercial and political center. It is naturally republican, and strengly so, Judge Reed having been elected two years ago by a plurality of about thirtysix hundred.

and of the result there can be little or no doubt. The democrats have nominated Tom Bowman, as he is familiarly called. the campaign opened a conical attempt has been made to starch his dignity by an in-formal dubbing of "Colonel," although no me claims that he knows enough of the military to catch step in a picnic parade. Another amusing feature of the campaign is an attempt to pose Tom as a friend of the old soldiers and to picture Judge Reed, the true veteran, as opposed to their every interest. A few old soldiers, recognized as republicans, have been induced to openly declare against Judge Reed, and like an empty barrel they have succeeded in making more noise than if they are really filled with solid reasons. The objections thus raised are almost wholly on the ground that there were not enough postoffices to give every old soldier at least one. The records show that the federal appointments of this district are filled with a larger per cent of old soldiers than ever before in its history. Judge Reed's personal record for long and gallant service in the field, as well as his continued loyalty to his old comrades in arms are so well established that pecially when inspired by disappointment of candidates and when presented in the inter-ests of a paper colonel, who hugged the arm chair by the fireside while Judge arm chair by the fireside while Judge Reed was exposed to a rain of shot and shell. Some of the old soldiers who have joined this opposition have good records, as valiant and true, but some of the most active are not recognized by their old comrades as having been over brave or zealous. When mingling with old soldiers who are not acquainted with the details of their records, the mere fact that they were in the army carries with it a conceded prestige, which might be dissolved in mist if close inquiry was made as to whether they had made their double quick towards or from the enemy, and whether they served a few months in a tented office, doing clerical work, of actually braved the storm of battle. Those who are inclined to listen to some of these complaints would do well to inquire also whether those most urgently presenting them have not themselves petitions and urged the appointment of civilians in preference to veterans who were candidates.

Judge Reed has served but one term in congress. He stepped into its halls with all the disadvantages of a new member, but with the prestige of having just left the supreme bench of his state, where he had added fresh honors to a reputation won through long years of service in the circuit and district judiciary. A most remarkable recognition was given his standing and ability, he being at once placed upon the judiciary committee, an unheard of honor for a new member. Acknowl-edged to be one of the best constitutional lawyers in the country, his views were eagerly sought by the other members, and he was given a position of influence which much older members might covet. Never has there been a word breathed against his integrity of purpose or y of action, either in public or private It is said of him that he is too much of a dignified, christian gentleman to be a suc-cessful politician, but the reflection to be drawn from such comments falls rather upon the class above which he rises in his man-

Judge Reed is making some strong speeches throughout the district. He does not tickle the ribs of his auditors with funny stories or seck to parade his personal record. His pub-lic discussions are confined to the general questions of the day, and are characterized by dignity, close reasoning, and plain pre-sentation of facts and figures. His opponent "Colonel" Tom, is making no speeches. He was never known to make as much as a speech of acceptance. It is conceded that he could not give publicly a definition even of what the tariff is, much lass discuss it. He relies on personal work and the aid of tuose who can talk in public. He is not, however, resting quiet by any de is not, however, resting quiet by any neans. He is a thorough organizer and his oleasant manners, genial disposition and uni-form courtesy win for him friends. Whether they will win for him votes romains to be seen. There are a number of prominent dem-ocrats who are opposed to him and those of his own party admit that there will be fully as many democrats who will vote for Reed for personal reasons, as there are republicans who for a like cause will vote for Bowman. The democrats are relying on the opposition to the McKinley and Force bills for cutting down the republican majority, rather than on any personal grounds.

The voters of this district are too intelleent The voters of this district are confidenced to be caught with a smile. It is safe to predict that they will not push aside a scholarly, dignified, high minded old soldier like Judge Reed to make room for a paper colonel, whose only recommendation is that he can say "good morning" pleasantly.

More Gamblers Raided.

Officers Haze, Dempsey and Savage closed n on a bevy of gamblers last night on North Sixteenth street, between Cuming and Izard. The men were taken completely by surprise, and the cards, chips and other gambling devices they were using were also secured and taken to the police station. GERMANIA HALL.

Wonderful Transformation Wrought

By the Decorator. Last night was one that will long be remembered by the Germans of Omaha. The event was that of the reopening of the Germania hall after its enlargement, remodeling and redecoration.

And what a reopening it proved to be! Hundreds of brilliant lights warmed into a surpassingly rich glow decorations which in point of artistic beauty are not surpassed by those of any like institution in the west.

A temple devoted to music, the devine art, o intellectual improvement, to physical culture and torare mirth-such is the new home of the German association of Omaha. Seldom is it that a structure is found so admiraby adopted to its high order of uses or more compli-mentary to the far-sightedness of its builders than is their remodled Germania ball. No convenience or luxury seems wanting. Al has been provided with the hand of an adept guided by an intelligence and by experience f a thoroughly ripe order. Nearly $7,000 has been expanded in the rejuvenating process, al-though to one acquainted with the former appearance of the place it would seem that more than twice $700 had been put into the improvements. The hitherto spacious entrance has been enlarged and from the main corridor open

The main hall presents dimensions of and the main hall presents dimensions of sixty by eighty feet with an added stage of twenty-four by twenty feet. A new and special feature of the hall is a grand gallery extending entirely around the room. The gallery is reached by an easy staircase from either side of the interior, and is finished with special view to its being a magnificent piece of orna-mentation as well as a great convenience to the noble apartment The hall is finished in gold, blue and red, blended with exquisite taste The proscenium arch is a work of particularly rare beauty, and forms one of the most perfectly equipped stages that can be round in any German theatre in the United States. A profusion of stately foliage and flowering plants heightened the curtain setting and gave a finish to the beautiful picture, which was indeed a pleasant thing to look upon. The hall now has a comfortable seating of 100, including the gallery. SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

A Magnificent Showing. During the month of September the two packing house of Swift & Co. and the Armour-Cudahy company shipped 1,338 cars of packing house products. This means an average from these two houses alone of fiftytwo cars, or taree big trains each day. prepaid freightage alone was nearly $100,000. When it is remembered that each car of product is of nearly $2,000 value, and that these shipments are only from two of the four local packing houses, the magnitude of South Omaha's packing industry may be realized. The September shipments from the four packing houses were between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

An unknown foreigner, who could speak only a little English, was struck by a car in the north Union Pacific yards yesterday and was badly injured. The man was thrown about thirty feet. The unfortunate man was

of his actualite, the bishep of Angers made an onslaught on the increase in the number of public officials since 1876, making the very pertinent point that in these days of railways and telegraphs the affairs of the government ought to be easily managed by fewer clerks than ever. He believed that the state was falling into a serious error by trying to become bank, professor, schoolmaster, merchant, actor—in short, any thing except a government. The state un dertakes everything and consequently does nothing, except squander the public fortune.

The honorable prelate's conclusion was that the budget of the republic has become war, and this state of things would never be modified until the country had sent a conservative mayor to the chamber, then only would France enjoy the blessings of justice and equity. After some or planatory remarks by M. Manjau, the Baron de Soubegran criticised the budget as an expedient which neglected the monetary question, the McKinley bill and other important and pressing matters.

M. Pominare repiled to the baron and was Beason of Montreal s rejoicing today over the recovery of about $5,000 worth of diamonds and other jewelry which were stolen from her Thursday night by an unknown sneak thief. Mrs. Hensen was recently married at Montreal to one of the prominent business men of that city. Among her wedding presents were several the diamonds. She already had a large amount of jewelry. When the couple reached Chicago the satchel containing all the jewelry was stolen by a sheak throf at the depot The police were notified and began a search for the missing lewelry. Last night they were found hidden in an obscure corner of Charles Pope's mult house, at Schiller and State streets. The diamonds were a party weapon and an engine of discovered by the mercet accident. Superintendent Higgins of the malt house was walking that Pope's brewery when he happened to glame down a centilating clinic, where he saw a big satchet. He cicked it up and carried it into the office and opened and for the circulating clinic terral of the control of the found in it a case containing several handred dollars in currency and an array of gems that dazzled his eyes. He confided the police and the satchel was refurned to Mrs. Benson, who suitably rewarded the finder. Gladstone in Scotland.

LONDON, Oct. 25 .- | Special Cablegram to THE BEE. |-Mr. Gladstone, in his address at Delkeith, Scotland, this evening, referred to the movement for home rule for Scotland, and said he be lieved that whatever Scotland deliberately asked would be found to be consistent with the unity of the empire, and would obtain the assent of parliament. Touching the matter of Scottish crofters, Mr. Gladstone deprecated the idea of immigration as a renk edy for the distress existing among the crofters, declaring that emigra-tion was the last and lowest mode of meeting the grievances of the peo-ple. With reference to the disstablishment of the Scotch church, Mr. Glaustone said it would be an enormous advantage to Scotland and to the cause of religion if the three Presbyterian churches were to be united This step, however, he did not deem advis-able at present, for in the approaching general elections the disestablishment of the church would be made a test question to the xclusion of all others demanding adjustmen
