ANNOUNCEMENTS. The best sale for Fay Templeton's appearance, in conjunction with the famous Russell comedians at Boyd's commences tomorrow morning. The engagement is for Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday matinee, and as the dashing artist Fay Templeton has not been seen here for years and the supporting company is one of the strongest in the country and the play "Miss McGinty," thoroughly new, original and described as being excruciatingly funny, an enormous audience should witness the first presentation.

The announcement that Mr. Charles Hoyt's latest production is a complete departure from the broad farce into which he has been known for laughing purposes only, which has made him famous, will undoubtedly attract all amusement goers to Boyd's opera house next Sunday evening to witness his latest effort, and unanimously pronounced as his greatest success, "A Midnight Bell," which had a run in New York of five months.

Curiousity Rewarded. An amusing instance of southern perseverance under difficulties recently come to our ears, says a New York letter to the New Orleans Times. A young lady from Louisiana had heard much of Mrs. Leslie Carter's beauty, and fearful that she would not see it, she went to the south, the enterprising girl made friends with a habitue of the Ladies' Athletic club, which joins the Berkeley Lyceum, where Mrs. Carter is rehearsing and coaxed the latter to find out if there was any secret communication between the buildings. Curiosity found a way, but a very small one, and the girls crawled through it and obtained an entrance to the Berkeley while rehearsal was on. Miss Entote (this isn't her real name) enjoyed the breaking in more than she did the rehearsal. She says Mrs. Carter is being coached by Belasco even to the least inflection of her voice. The admirable points about her are her blonde hair and her dressing. She wears a negligee—one of those famous negligees of shimmering blue which fitted her form like a mold. The two girls stayed through about half an hour of "Did I say that right Mr. Belasco?" and "Is that the way you want me to do it?" which Mrs. Carter interlarded the dialogue of the play and then crowded back to the athletic rooms and washed the dust of their hands.

Vaseline for Lather. To shave easily and painlessly is to use oil or grease instead of soap to prepare the chin and soften the beard. Vaseline is the most convenient, and should be rubbed in quite freely. Then, with a keen razor, shaving can be done quickly and without a suspicion of pain. Soap is really unnecessary, and shaving with oil or vaseline is cleaner, as well as pleasant, and, what is more to the point, there is no irritation whatever to the skin.

In the Courts. It was 10 o'clock when district court opened yesterday morning and even then the members of the bar could not refrain from continuing their spirited discussion of election results, in an unusually loud whisper which for once the hall's overhead to an extent.

After having heard a number of motions the various judges proceeded to their rooms. There they called almost in vain down the day's calendar seeking to find cases the lawyers in which were present. Judge Hopper finally took up the case of the Fremont Hotel company vs. S. Schroeder, wherein plaintiff asks $300 for alleged improper packing of a shipment of eggs. When the case of John Cherrert, charged with burglary, was called the defendant was not forthcoming. Judge Clarkson ordered that the bond was forfeited and instructed the commencement of proceedings to collect same, which is for $600, with John and James Dougherty of South Omaha as sureties.

The Bee's Election Returns. The count of Tuesday's election has been unusually slow and considerably static. This could not have been avoided. The Western Union telegraph company has done and is doing everything in its power to facilitate the transmission of The Bee's reports from all sections of the state. The service that company has rendered this paper during the election has never been equaled in this city or state. Four first class operators were detailed to work the wires leading to The Bee's telegraph rooms and these men withstood and subdued a perfect cyclone of news reports for The Bee. Everything asked of manager Ernest was promptly and cheerfully provided. He knows what kind of service a newspaper must have and he also knows his business.

A Chief's Weakness. An old Indian, giving his name as Quash-Pa-Me, and who says he is chief of the Sac tribe, was brought in from Iowa and locked up at the county jail on the charge of perjury. After being put into jail one of Jesus Quash-Pa-Me looked anything but a chief of noble men. The poor old fellow seemed to feel the humiliation of his surroundings very keenly, and either couldn't or wouldn't talk. He was brought in by a deputy United States marshal.

Hon. Frank Colton of Washington, D. C., is in the city and paid a visit to The Bee. Mr. Colton was the first general passenger agent of the Union Pacific railway, and is well known to the old residents of this city, having lived here many years ago. Mr. Colton held the office of consul to Venice during Abraham Lincoln's administration, and has traveled extensively in Europe. He is now permanently located in Washington City, D. C., and owns considerable property in Omaha.

ADVENTURES OF TWO BRIDES. Separated from Their Husbands by a Naughty Elevated Train.

A breezy little incident on Sixth avenue last week furnished amusing proof that there are some strangers in town to whom the elevated railroad is still a novelty, says the New York Sun. It was a double bridal party, evidently working off extra cash and sentiment by a visit to New York. By the help of civil passengers they succeeded in passing steps, ticket office and chopper out to the platform in good order. There a thousand things engaged the two brides' attention, and in blessed surprise they giggled and hither and yonder, indifferent to the approaching train. On she came, slowed up, gates were flung open, and with a sharp hello to their partners the gentlemen in truly independent country fashion stepped briskly aboard, expecting the ladies to follow. But the ladies had seen no necessity to hurry themselves, so with a clatter and bang of the cars started, leaving the trim Didos behind. Then a most painful scene was enacted. The frantic husband, struggling to stop the locomotive, jumped overboard, and yell out consolation and directions to their wailing wives, much to the diversion of hard-hearted citizens crowding the platform. The train, however, whirled round a curve and the concentrated passion of the woe-stricken bridegroom had no power to reverse the course of prosaic elevated coaches.

At first the deserted females refused to be soothed. They wept and wrung their hands, requiring the combined efforts of the officials to still their worst fears. When the choppers assured them it was all right about the tickets and they might board the next train, they refused to meddle further with such a sudden sort of a machine, and inquired the way to the station. In marked contrast to the gay, insouciant manner of their entrance ten minutes previous, the brides turned down the iron steps, and taking firm but fearful positions at the foot, awaited the runways return. One couple, whisked round a curve and to the end; saw the husbands arrive panting and perspiring, the wives fall in their arms, and watched the quartet, after kisses and explanation, walk off safe and happy again.

Scalding Bath Tubs. The porcelain lined bath tubs are the best, for there are no cracks or rough places for the lodgment of micro-organisms. Every tub, however, should be scalded out every time it is used. Heat is the best disinfectant in the world, and the frequent use of hot water for rinsing out tubs is an absolute preventive for all possible contaminations. This is the great objection to public bath houses. Not enough care is taken of the tubs, and persons with skin diseases bathe in any tub, indiscriminately.

Many Clergymen, Singers, actors, and public speakers use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It is the favorite remedy for hoarseness and all affections of the vocal organs, throat, and lungs. As an anodyne and expectorant, the effects of this preparation are promptly realized.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has done me great good. It is a splendid remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs, and I have much pleasure in testifying to its merits. (Rev. C. N. Nichols, No. Tisbury, Mass.) "In my profession of an auctioneer, any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but, at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a magical effect that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with very excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c."—Wm. H. Quarty, Milton, So. Australia.

A STARTER.

We will show you this season some bargains in overcoats that will make your eyes open in astonishment. We have given you many bargains before—you know that—but those we offer you now will beat them all. We have made a deal with a first class manufacturer, one who makes nothing but overcoats, for his entire stock, about 5000 garments. He was overloaded and had to sell. We are able to offer these goods at less than they cost to manufacture.

As a starter we offer today the following three lots: No. 1. All wool wide wale heavy cassimere overcoats, blue and black color, lined with good serge well trimmed, at $6. This price would not pay for the cloth alone in that garment.

No. 2. An excellent blue chinchilla overcoat, corded edge, lined with fine plaid cassimere, only $7.50. The coat is worth $12.

No. 3. A large lot of very fine kerseys, fashionable shades, bound with double warp Farmer's satin, lap seams and handsomely gotten up. These we offer at $8. The regular retail price of such a garment is $15.

There are more bargains than these. It would take a big space in the paper to mention them all. The fine grades are as choice garments as were ever shown ready made and in fact many of the overcoats are in point of material, make and fit equal to custom tailor work.
