

They plant the seed, cultivate the corn, break out the stalks and then the various processes necessary to prepare it for the shop. They have made up the brooms and last year they completed 7,500 brooms at $75,000.

THE COMING LEGISLATURE.

The New Party Will Control All of Nebraska's Legislative Machinery.

PERSONNEL OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE.

War Will Surely Be Declared Against the Railroads—A Contested Governorship and Other Things on the Programme.

The political revolution which surprised the nation a week ago, and turned the entire gaze of the country upon Nebraska and other states of the west, expended its full force upon the legislature. It is a strange body which the uprising of the farmers has swept into the capitol at Lincoln.

The most striking results of the alliance movement are seen in the legislature. There the overturn is complete. In the senate and the house, where for more than twenty years the old party has stood firmly entrenched, the new party has carried every breastwork, every barricade, and swept triumphantly into the capitol.

The following table will show the products of the school for the fiscal year 1890:

Table with columns: Kind of Crop, Acres, Yield, Value. Rows include Wheat, Oats, Corn, etc.

Total estimated resources for present year. The table is in the hands of the principal and contains a list of the names of the boys and girls in the school.

The girls perform laundry work, sewing and cooking and assist the matrons and other employees in all kinds of house work. There are about seventy girls in the school, and small and large are detailed each day to some form of house work.

Both boys and girls expend their own earnings as they wish, subject only to the advice of the superintendent, and generally they exercise very good judgment in their expenditures.

The sanitary report for the school is one of its remarkable features, and shows that the Indian pupils receive the very best of care.

But one death occurred at the school last year. The victim was an Arapahoe boy, who died of consumption.

This is an unparalleled record.

It Was the Russians. LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Barings' embarrassment was due to the action of the Russian government, which, alarmed by the financial troubles in the Argentine Republic during the summer, suddenly withdrew from the Barings £2,500,000, just as it withdrew £1,000,000 from the Comptoir d'Escompte in Paris.

Destination Freverts. DUBLIN, Nov. 16.—Colonel Turner has just returned from a visit to the district of Skibbereen which Balfour prevented, by illness, from visiting on his recent tour.

A Lynching Looked For. HUNTINGTON, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Constable Hig Ross and his nephew, Jim Ross, attempted yesterday to levy on a lot of cotton belonging to a woman named Wadley.

Jealous in Old Age. CANTON, Ill., Nov. 16.—At Utica this morning Philip Smith, a well-to-do farmer, shot and killed his wife and then suicided. He was sixty and she fifty years of age.

The Fire Record. PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 16.—The business portion of the village of Luthersburg was destroyed by fire yesterday, entailing a loss of $40,000.

The Vase Founders. LONDON, Nov. 16.—The schooner Vise foundered off the coast of Devonshire. Six persons were drowned.

What was that circular? Did it Enjoin Alliance Men to Stand by a Secret Obligation? THE PROPOSED POWERS-BOYD CONTEST.

Some Inside Facts in the Case Obtained From United States Marshal Slaughter—Dictator Burrows' Reply.

Brad D. Slaughter was solicited for his opinion regarding the proposed contest of Boyd's election by Powers.

There is no longer any doubt that we are ready to see a rupture in the governor's chair, the popular plurality for Boyd being the primary outstanding fact.

The old republican party has not only lost control, but it has become the third in a race of three. The new party has not only elected the governor, but it has secured a clear majority over both.

The legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

The radical change in the character of the legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

In the upper branch there will be six members—three from the republican party, two from the new party and one from the old party. In the lower branch there will be twenty members—ten from the republican party, ten from the new party and one from the old party.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

What was that circular? Did it Enjoin Alliance Men to Stand by a Secret Obligation? THE PROPOSED POWERS-BOYD CONTEST.

Some Inside Facts in the Case Obtained From United States Marshal Slaughter—Dictator Burrows' Reply.

Brad D. Slaughter was solicited for his opinion regarding the proposed contest of Boyd's election by Powers.

There is no longer any doubt that we are ready to see a rupture in the governor's chair, the popular plurality for Boyd being the primary outstanding fact.

The old republican party has not only lost control, but it has become the third in a race of three. The new party has not only elected the governor, but it has secured a clear majority over both.

The legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

The radical change in the character of the legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

In the upper branch there will be six members—three from the republican party, two from the new party and one from the old party. In the lower branch there will be twenty members—ten from the republican party, ten from the new party and one from the old party.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

What was that circular? Did it Enjoin Alliance Men to Stand by a Secret Obligation? THE PROPOSED POWERS-BOYD CONTEST.

Some Inside Facts in the Case Obtained From United States Marshal Slaughter—Dictator Burrows' Reply.

Brad D. Slaughter was solicited for his opinion regarding the proposed contest of Boyd's election by Powers.

There is no longer any doubt that we are ready to see a rupture in the governor's chair, the popular plurality for Boyd being the primary outstanding fact.

The old republican party has not only lost control, but it has become the third in a race of three. The new party has not only elected the governor, but it has secured a clear majority over both.

The legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

The radical change in the character of the legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

In the upper branch there will be six members—three from the republican party, two from the new party and one from the old party. In the lower branch there will be twenty members—ten from the republican party, ten from the new party and one from the old party.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

What was that circular? Did it Enjoin Alliance Men to Stand by a Secret Obligation? THE PROPOSED POWERS-BOYD CONTEST.

Some Inside Facts in the Case Obtained From United States Marshal Slaughter—Dictator Burrows' Reply.

Brad D. Slaughter was solicited for his opinion regarding the proposed contest of Boyd's election by Powers.

There is no longer any doubt that we are ready to see a rupture in the governor's chair, the popular plurality for Boyd being the primary outstanding fact.

The old republican party has not only lost control, but it has become the third in a race of three. The new party has not only elected the governor, but it has secured a clear majority over both.

The legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

The radical change in the character of the legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

In the upper branch there will be six members—three from the republican party, two from the new party and one from the old party. In the lower branch there will be twenty members—ten from the republican party, ten from the new party and one from the old party.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

What was that circular? Did it Enjoin Alliance Men to Stand by a Secret Obligation? THE PROPOSED POWERS-BOYD CONTEST.

Some Inside Facts in the Case Obtained From United States Marshal Slaughter—Dictator Burrows' Reply.

Brad D. Slaughter was solicited for his opinion regarding the proposed contest of Boyd's election by Powers.

There is no longer any doubt that we are ready to see a rupture in the governor's chair, the popular plurality for Boyd being the primary outstanding fact.

The old republican party has not only lost control, but it has become the third in a race of three. The new party has not only elected the governor, but it has secured a clear majority over both.

The legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

The radical change in the character of the legislative branch of the government is not limited to its political complexion. Nearly all the laws known to the people are of parliamentary origin and were carried away in the flood, and the tide of reform has washed in a company of men who, however well intentioned, are entirely unacquainted with the Nebraska legislature.

In the upper branch there will be six members—three from the republican party, two from the new party and one from the old party. In the lower branch there will be twenty members—ten from the republican party, ten from the new party and one from the old party.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

It is the house, however, that we must look to find the broadest expanse of inexperience, the almost unmarred wilderness of legislative action, and the most untried members there are two of state reputation and only three others who will not have to inquire their way to the capitol from the railway station.

HOOD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT. A DISCIPLINE'S PRAYER. Subject of an Interesting Sermon by Rev. Luther Kuhns.

LOST IN THE WILDERNESS. Remarkable Search for a Child Astray in the Cumberland Mountains.

An Inexhaustible Coal Field. NEWCASTLE, Wyo., Nov. 16.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—About a year ago the B. & M. reached what is now the most prosperous town in Wyoming, Newcastle, and with all its dispatch extended its reach to the coal camp, about six miles up the canon.

Cooling Off. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 16.—A special from an army officer at Fort Niobrara, Neb., states that the excitement among the Sioux Indians at that place over the Missouri has subsided to a great extent.

No Arrangements Made. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 16.—Secretary of War Proctor who is here on a tour of inspection was joined today by General Miles. In an interview with the Associated Press, he said that arrangements had been made to send troops to the Indian reservations in the northwest.

He Will Not Resign. NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A London dispatch says that Parnell denies that he will retire from the leadership of the Irish party on account of the O'Shea scandal.

A General Strike Announced. BRISTOL, Nov. 16.—The organ of the miners in the Hochum district announces a general strike.

A Fad for New Bills. "Can you give me $200 in new money?" inquired a young man at the teller's window in one of the big banks down town a few days ago.

WE want you to bear this fact in mind, when your eye lights on this announcement: Any man with brains can write a catchy advertisement, but to be of any value to you it must be true; the goods must be there, not alone empty words. We invite you to put all and any of our assertions to the most severe test and you will not find them wanting.

NOTHING in the line of Clothing that has ever been shown comes anywhere near equaling the display of fall and winter goods that is being shown at M. Hellman & Co's., Cor. 13th and Farnam. Our consignments for the past few days have been very large, and we can safely say that no matter how hard you are to please or fit, we can satisfy you, as our line

SUCCEEDS in catching the most fastidious. In order to do a large business and sell goods in a clothing store in Omaha as low as sold in the same class store in New York, we found it necessary to establish a purchasing agent there and now we have the result of that experiment upon us. We would LIKE to have you favor us with a call, if only to gratify your curiosity. We will accord you as much attention as if you came in to make a purchase. If we can do you no good we will guarantee to at least post you in prices, and show you honest made clothing at the lowest prices in the city. The great SUCCESS we have had so far this fall and which we shall labor to retain, is due to the old, well founded maxim, "Well Bought is Half Sold." We have the largest line of $3, $3.50 and $4 dress pants in the city, all wool goods and the latest styles. Our new lines of Australian Lamb's Wool Winter Underwear regular $1.50 values, now only 75c. If we owned this paper we would give you a complete bill of fare, but we don't. Buy or no buy, come and see us, and we will guarantee to interest you and treat you courteously. At the old stand of

HELLMAN'S COR. 13th and Farnam Sts.

HELLMAN'S COR. 13th and Farnam Sts.

HELLMAN'S COR. 13th and Farnam Sts.