THE FEDERAL COURT.

A Cattleman's Claim of $5,000 for a Lost Hand—Other Cases.

Two jury cases were taken up in the United States court yesterday morning. Judge Caldwell, sitting in the large court room, took up the case of A. J. Snowden against the Travelers' Insurance company for $5,000 on an accident policy. Mr. Snowden is a large cattle dealer and shipper, with a ranch in Guster county. He was insured in the Travelers and lost his hand in an accident in September, 1889. The company offered to settle with him for one-third of the amount of the policy, but he refused the offer and brought suit for the full amount. Judge Dundy and a jury took up the case of J. F. Barbee, a resident of Iowa, against Samuel Freeman, a resident of Franklin county, in this state. The suit is a complicated one growing out of a real estate deal, wherein it is alleged that Barbee was to give Freeman notes to be held against Freeman and pay off certain indebtedness on the land within a specified time. It is claimed the indebtedness was not collected within the time set, and Freeman claims the notes. Barbee sued on the notes and Freeman has set up a counter claim of damages for non-fulfillment of contract.

In the United States court Judge Caldwell yesterday rendered a decision in the case of Edward P. Allis manufacturing company against the State bank of Crete. In 1886 George W. Bridges was in the machine business at Crete, and wishing to purchase some of the machinery of the Allis company, referred that institution to the treasurer, George D. Stevens, replying by letter that Bridges was to pay for the amount of the claim. Yesterday the attorney for Allis moved for judgment on the verdict rendered. The attorney for the bank moved for judgment for the defendant. In passing upon the case, Judge Caldwell said: "The province of this court is simply to determine if the facts and findings in the former special verdict are sufficient on which to base a judgment. The court cannot amend a verdict. The verdict must be considered as it is found. The question does not show that Bridges was insolvent, or that the plaintiff had exhausted all means of recovering the amount from him. In view of this fact judgment is rendered for the defendant, the Bank of Crete."

County Court. In the county court John S. Muller has brought suit to recover $600 from the State Insurance company of Des Moines. Muller was in business at Albright when his property was insured with this company. On the night of August 31, 1890, it was destroyed by fire and now the company refuses to pay the loss.

Seavey & Florstein have brought suit against J. Steele & Co. seeking to recover $207 on a bill of goods. The South Omaha National bank is suing W. T. P. Wood to recover $300 due on a promissory note executed October 7, 1888.

In the Courts. The Kennedy-Jonson libel suit is on trial in Judge Doane's court. A raft of witnesses testified. In Judge Hopewell's court a suit to replevy personal property, entitled Desmond v. Burgess, occupied the greater portion of the day.

The Tony Frank murder case has been continued until December 11. Frank is charged with killing a man named Christopher. The case was tried once when the jury disagreed. James Reynolds, charged with the murder of William Nesbitt, will be tried in Judge Clarkson's court on Monday.

On Tuesday the case of John S. Muller, who is accused of assaulting and resisting an officer in South Omaha, will be called. Rebecca M. White, minor, by her next friend, Byron Reed, secured an injunction in Judge Clarkson's court yesterday afternoon, preventing E. E. Edwards from selling a chattel mortgage suo the annex to the Haegen steam laundry. The case has been set for hearing November 29. The White child owns the building at 215 South 17th street and leased it to Haegen, who put in a lot of machinery. Subsequently the annex and machinery was mortgaged to Edwards, who is now seeking to sell under chattel mortgage.

Julia Thomas has brought proceedings to foreclosure upon a real estate mortgage executed by John P. Thomas to secure the payment of $1,500. In the case of the state against John S. O'Neil, charged with obtaining property under false pretenses, the jury last night returned a verdict of guilty and fixed the value of the property fraudulently obtained at $1,000.

At the opening of court this morning Judge Wakely will hand down his decision in the case of Withnell against the city of Omaha.

SOME HARD CASES.

They Meet Judge Helsey and are Sorry for It.

Suspicious appearing individuals without duly authenticated credentials fared hard when taken before Judge Helsey yesterday morning.

Charles Baxter was sent up for ninety days because of his inability to give a satisfactory account of himself.

Thomas Seward was given sixty days on general principles and sent over to the hill to Pat Lynch.

James Manyan was given a similar dose because of his tough looks and past record.

Maynard's name when here six years ago was Bill Hedges, and he was tried for stealing a lot of goods from Shreve, Jarvis & Co.

Although the goods were found in his possession he was acquitted, but before he got out of court room he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Crowell for burglarizing the residence of Dr. Dinsmoor.

To that charge he pleaded guilty and was sent to the penitentiary for two years.

Since his release from prison he punctuated the history of an eventful life by killing a man in New York, and it is said that he is now wanted there for murder. Such time as he is disposed to remain in Omaha will be spent in jail.

D. Padgett faced the court and the usual highly cultured audience with a pair of blood-shot eyes and the tattered remains of a magnificent jaw. He was arraigned on the charge of distorting Jarvis & Co. carrying concealed weapons.

He stopped T. C. Henry, a Missouri Pacific engineer, on Sixteenth street yesterday and demanded an introduction. Henry was not particularly desirous of cultivating his acquaintance, and so expressed himself. This enraged Padgett and after abusing Henry with all the vile language that he could command, he drew a slingshot from his pocket and announced his intention of pounding the engineer into the introduction.

At this interesting juncture Officer Henderson appeared and not particularly desirous of cultivating his acquaintance, he boarded a motor car, going into one end and out at the other and dropping his weapon on the sidewalk. Henry was not particularly desirous of cultivating his acquaintance, and his murderous slingshot recovered. The weapon was a deadly one, consisting of a piece of rubber garden hose about fifteen inches long, filled with sand and shot, and tied at each end. Padgett said he was a printer from Nebraska City.

Better Shipping Facilities.

The efforts of Manager W. N. Babcock of the stockyards have been again crowned with success and another shipping obstacle has been removed.

Hereafter the Missouri Pacific belt line will handle the stock coming in from the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha road, effecting a saving of from two to four hours. Formerly the freight came over the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley road via Briggs. The stock will all be received before the market opens in the morning.
