

THE SPECULATIVE MARKETS. Wheat Closes Weak and at the Lowest Price of the Day. GREAT DEPRESSION IN THE CORN PIT. A Sharp Break in Provisions—Cattle and Hogs Active with an Upturn in Prices on Nearly All Grades.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(Special Telegram to THE BEE.)—Speculative markets on change were depressed by heavy carrying charges asked for grain and provisions by a recent advance in northern freight rates, and by the easier tone of foreign cables. The balance of the news was bullish, but created too much uncertainty on the buying side early in the session. The advanced freight rates, which shortly left the market without support when the action to lower prices began. The closing quotations were at very near the lowest prices of the day. Wheat suffered at the hands of the bulls, but everybody took the buying side. This proved disastrous to the market later, when the tide turned in the other direction. The short interest was looking on the hands of the bulls, and the advance in silver and iron early, the improvement in railroad stocks at London and New York, and a more tranquil outlook in the South American republics, all contributed to the market's recovery. Purchases of cash wheat here for export and for shipment east helped in the same direction. Before the session was an hour old, however, the trade closed over the market, and the bulls were not able to get their feet under the market. This discouraged a few of the early buyers, and when they began to sell out the balance of the "longs" also became discouraged. An absence of short interest to absorb the offerings on decline in the market in a weak position, and it closed weak at the lowest price of the day. May started at $1.12, sold at $1.02 in the first fifteen minutes of the session, then sold down to $1.02. The market closed at $1.02, and the bulls were not able to get their feet under the market.
