

THEY CHANGE THEIR BASE.

The Hostile Indians Are Now Encamped in the Bad Lands.

REPORTS OF CONTINUED DEPREDACTIONS.

Escape of Police Spies from the Hostile Camp Under Fire—The Troops Still Under Orders.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S. D., (via Rushville, Neb.), Nov. 30.—[Special Telegram to THE PRESS.]—The fever of excitement caused last night by reliable reports that the reds were coming down upon us, and many of the Indians now here were deserting continued until nearly dawn.

Lodge of the supposedly friendly Indians who have been here at the agency for several days have observed to withdraw to the hills and then dash off toward their homes and the camp of the hostiles, some twenty-five miles distant.

Lodge of the supposedly friendly Indians who have been here at the agency for several days have observed to withdraw to the hills and then dash off toward their homes and the camp of the hostiles, some twenty-five miles distant.

Look at the situation a moment. The government, through Agent Royer, a week ago ordered these friendly Indians to leave their homes and all their stock, etc., come to the agency and stay until "the trouble" is over. The friendly Indians obeyed.

For some reason, known only to themselves, the hostiles decided upon another tack than that of forcing a fight last night, but they didn't change their minds, however, until they had traveled over twelve miles, or nearly half way from their camp, toward us.

The scouts who brought information concerning this latest plan of the hostiles also said that the latter had just slaughtered 500 head of government cattle and had belonging to Governor Mellette of South Dakota.

General Brooke has just received a telegram of seven hundred words from General Kuger, warning him that three hundred Indians (about one thousand warriors) of Cheyenne were coming from Cheyenne agency to join the hostiles near here.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 30.—[Special Telegram to THE PRESS.]—The knights of Pythias of this city and surrounding towns united this afternoon in a memorial service in honor of the late General Brooke.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 30.—[Special Telegram to THE PRESS.]—The knights of Pythias of this city and surrounding towns united this afternoon in a memorial service in honor of the late General Brooke.

THE PROSPECTS DARKENING.

Parnell's Closest Friends Admit that He is Rapidly Losing Ground.

THE OPPOSITION GREATLY ENCOURAGED.

Morley's Answer to Statements Affecting Him in the Manifesto—Interesting Developments Anticipated.

[Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, Nov. 30.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE PRESS.]—Some of Parnell's closest friends in parliament have admitted today that his prospects here have darkened during the last twenty-four hours.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

THE CLEARANCE RECORD.

Financial Transactions of the Country During the Last Week.

Table with columns: CITIES, CLEARINGS, DEBIT, CREDIT. Lists cities like New York, Boston, Chicago, etc., with their respective financial data.

OMAHA.

Table with columns: CITIES, CLEARINGS, DEBIT, CREDIT. Lists OMAHA cities like Denver, St. Paul, Memphis, etc., with their respective financial data.

CROCKER COMMITTED SUICIDE.

His Remains Found in a Corn Field Near Denver.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 30.—[Special Telegram to THE PRESS.]—The remains of Freeman B. Crocker, president of the board of public works, who disappeared one week ago today, were found this forenoon in a corn field about four miles from the city, where he had committed suicide by stabbing himself with a pocket-knife.

It is a curious fact that notwithstanding the search, which has been going on for five days by the police and many personal friends and by others who were eager to obtain the reward, West did not start out until this morning.

MORLEY'S ANSWER.

He Desires to Correct Two or Three Statements.

[Copyright 1890 by James Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, Nov. 30.—[New York Herald Cable—Special to THE PRESS.]—Mr. John Morley at his house this evening. He declined to talk about the result of the recent political disclosures, but said he had just given his answer to Parnell's manifesto to the London Press, and showed me a personal copy of it.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

He has hidden himself to only two persons, and they only know where to find him—Campbell, his secretary, and Powers. This isolation may have been good policy when he desired to keep up his character as a mysterious man of politics, but in this crisis he should seek to bring the waverers to his side.

CONDEMNED BY COLLEAGUES.

Irish Envoys in America Cable Their Judgment on Leader Parnell.

HIS LATE MANIFESTO DEEPLY DEPLORED.

Nothing But Kind Words Expressed in Regard to Gladstone—The Character of John Morley Strongly Defended.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—Tonight while O'Brien, Gill and O'Connor were drawing up the document severing their connection with Parnell on lines agreed upon with their colleagues in the afternoon, the other delegates—Dillon, Sullivan and Harrington—were dining in another part of the city in company with Mrs. Parnell, the aged mother of the man they had decided must retire. So far as can be learned the knowledge of what had been done was kept from the old lady and to those who knew what was going on down town the scene must have seemed strangely unreal.

THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

Secretary Noble Submits His Annual Report to the President.

SYNOPSIS OF A VOLUMINOUS DOCUMENT.

A Vast Amount of Vacant Lands, with Figures Showing the Number in Nebraska—Pensions and Census.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Secretary of the Interior Noble has submitted his annual report to the president. It is a very voluminous document and summarizes the work of the department for the past year. The secretary begins his report with a statement of the vast amount of labor required in supervising and directing affairs submitted to his control. The force employed under him is 16,120.

Under the head of vacant lands a table is printed showing that there are over 536,216, 861 acres, exclusive of those in Alaska. In Nebraska the number of acres of vacant land is placed at 11,236,584. The policy of the department, says the secretary, has been continued in favor of a liberal interpretation of land laws in favor of the settler, and by advancing as far as can reasonably be done the early decisions upon all entries made, contested or uncontested.

It appears from the report of the commissioner of the general land office that 19,000,000 acres of agricultural land were transferred to actual settlers during the past year, embracing upon final and completed homestead entries, new entries under military, naval, private cash town-site, and all other entries for strictly agricultural non-mineral lands. The lands patented to states for education, internal improvements and public buildings have exceeded 300 per cent. over the previous year, amounting in 1890 to 587,730.84 acres.

It appears from the report of the commissioner of the general land office that 19,000,000 acres of agricultural land were transferred to actual settlers during the past year, embracing upon final and completed homestead entries, new entries under military, naval, private cash town-site, and all other entries for strictly agricultural non-mineral lands. The lands patented to states for education, internal improvements and public buildings have exceeded 300 per cent. over the previous year, amounting in 1890 to 587,730.84 acres.

It appears from the report of the commissioner of the general land office that 19,000,000 acres of agricultural land were transferred to actual settlers during the past year, embracing upon final and completed homestead entries, new entries under military, naval, private cash town-site, and all other entries for strictly agricultural non-mineral lands. The lands patented to states for education, internal improvements and public buildings have exceeded 300 per cent. over the previous year, amounting in 1890 to 587,730.84 acres.

It appears from the report of the commissioner of the general land office that 19,000,000 acres of agricultural land were transferred to actual settlers during the past year, embracing upon final and completed homestead entries, new entries under military, naval, private cash town-site, and all other entries for strictly agricultural non-mineral lands. The lands patented to states for education, internal improvements and public buildings have exceeded 300 per cent. over the previous year, amounting in 1890 to 587,730.84 acres.

It appears from the report of the commissioner of the general land office that 19,000,000 acres of agricultural land were transferred to actual settlers during the past year, embracing upon final and completed homestead entries, new entries under military, naval, private cash town-site, and all other entries for strictly agricultural non-mineral lands. The lands patented to states for education, internal improvements and public buildings have exceeded 300 per cent. over the previous year, amounting in 1890 to 587,730.84 acres.

It appears from the report of the commissioner of the general land office that 19,000,000 acres of agricultural land were transferred to actual settlers during the past year, embracing upon final and completed homestead entries, new entries under military, naval, private cash town-site, and all other entries for strictly agricultural non-mineral lands. The lands patented to states for education, internal improvements and public buildings have exceeded 300 per cent. over the previous year, amounting in 1890 to 587,730.84 acres.

THE WEATHER FORECAST.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; slightly cooler.

For Nebraska and Iowa—Fair; colder; northerly winds.

For South Dakota—Fair; colder; northerly winds.