

TWENTIETH YEAR.

FIRST BLOOD FOR THE REBELS.

The Mutineers Steal a March Upon and Shut Out the Parallels.

M'CARTHY SALUTED AS THE NEW LEADER.

Tim Healy Gets Tangled Up But Comes Off Smiling—Parnell to Leave Today for Ireland.

LONDON, Dec. 8.—[New York Herald Cable.]—Special to the Herald.—First blood for the mutineers. They stole a march upon the Parallels this afternoon by moving a writ for an election in Kilkenny in place of a writ. This work is invariably done by the recognized whip of each party, but Richard Power was not present, and Deasy, who is not necessary to oppose any school of thought upon the labor problem, but to carry out the solemn duties imposed upon us as legislators.

At several of our previous conventions I called attention to the necessity of avoiding as far as possible the ordinary methods, and to concentrate our whole efforts upon such as we are most agreed. That such a course is most calculated to achieve success is shown by the fact that the working people the past year has been demonstrated by the eight-hour movement. When the laboring men returned to their homes, the great movement obtained had to be put into execution. I called the executive council together, and they decided to consider the matter, and after great deliberation, on March 17, selected the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America to make the first attempt.

From statistical blanks the national organizations reported 1,163 strikes having taken place authorized by them. Of these strikes were successful, 76 lost and 35 compromised. Many were the concessions gained without the necessity of resorting to a strike, and in some cases the result was a permanent improvement. "Cannot mention them all, etc."

The strikes were generally for a reduction in hours of labor and increase of wages, or the maintenance of the rights of the workers. The report of an increase of wages from 7 to 25 per cent, except one, the silk-workers, who report lesser earnings, owing to dullness of trade.

An increase in wages and improved conditions were shared in proportionately by those who were not members of the organization. I desire to impress upon the minds of the laboring men that the only way to secure the return of men to factories, to take the places of members who oppose his leadership. Parnell will be accompanied on his coming through Ireland by the most active of his followers. Before his departure from England he will issue a manifesto to the people of the latter country. It will be signed by all his supporters, including Carey, who has heretofore been regarded as doubtful in his allegiance.

A New Anti-Parnellite Paper. LONDON, Dec. 8.—[Special Cablegram to the Bee.]—The Cork Examiner says Parnell's English career is closed. The Examiner thinks Parnell has overrated his ability to secure the return of men to factories, to take the places of members who oppose his leadership. Parnell will be accompanied on his coming through Ireland by the most active of his followers. Before his departure from England he will issue a manifesto to the people of the latter country. It will be signed by all his supporters, including Carey, who has heretofore been regarded as doubtful in his allegiance.

Warned Not to Stand. LONDON, Dec. 8.—[Special Cablegram to the Bee.]—McCarthyites have warned Sir John P. Hennessy that they will oppose him if he stands as a Parnellite candidate for the seat in the commons for North Kilkenny, made vacant by the death of Morin.

A MISSOURI PACIFIC WRECK.

Thirteen Stock Cars Ditched at Oak Chatham Last Night.

CAUSED BY A DEFECTIVE FROG.

F. A. Wilson, the Fireman, and John Osborn, a Brakeman, Seriously Injured—Nearly All the Cattle Killed or Maimed.

Oak Chatham, the Missouri Pacific's suburban station on North Twenty-fourth street, was the scene of a frightful railroad wreck at 6:15 o'clock last night. An extra stock train off from the Crest branch, in charge of Conductor Rothart, Engineer Hooker and Fireman F. S. Wilson, was coming into the city with thirteen cars of cattle. The train was struck by a defective frog at the intersection of the main line and a siding. The train derailed and the cattle were scattered all over the place.

As the engine struck the frog the tender became detached and went over, carrying with it F. A. Wilson, who was pinned to the ground beneath heavy timbers and several tons of coal. He was dug out and taken to the motor company's boarding house, where a physician was summoned. The man's injuries were so serious that he is expected to die. The engine struck a defective frog at the switch just west of Twenty-fourth street and the whole train went into the ditch.

The news of the wreck spread like wildfire and in a few moments a large number of citizens were on the ground ready to render assistance. ANOTHER ADVANCE IN RATES.

Upon Lower Classes of Freight by Northwestern Lines.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—The tariff managers of the Northwestern lines have agreed to advance rates on the lower classes of freight between Chicago and St. Paul. The tariff between these points was advanced to the basis of 60 cents first class as recently as November 17, but at that time there was objection to a full restoration of the low class rates because these rates had not been restored to Missouri river points. The new rates will be in effect from January 1, 1891.
