A DRAIN ON THE TREASURY,

Each is the Effect of the Alleged Gubernatorial Contest in Omaha.

HANGING ON FOR FAT ATTORNEY FEES.

Another Day of Monotonous Iteration of the Well-Told Story of the Peace and Quiet of the Last Election.

Christmas festivities were not allowed to interrupt the farcial proceedings of the alleged contest in the Life building longer than one day and yesterday morning the usual array of attorneys, witnesses and small number of spectators were in their accustomed places and the monotonous grind was resumed. Judge Allen had not returned from his home at Madison, and the prohibition attorney sat opposite Attorney J. C. Wharton and protected things at the Powers table and then went over to the corner where the state contest is dragging its weary length along and objected to questions asked in cross-examination by Mr. Hall of Lincoln. When his brief engazement there was concluded, he went over to the Boyd table and coached Mr.

At the latter place the contestee was busily making progress, and his attorneys were bent on harvesting all the hay possible dur-ing the last few days of the season. There ing the last few days of the season. There will be no unnecess ary recesses there until the limit has expired.

There is much evidence yet to be introduced at each table, and the attorneys for the contestants hinted that they would probably keep grinding until late Monday night, which is the last day allowed for taking evidence.

Charles Ogburn was the first witness sworn at the Boyd table. He had seen Rev. Dr. Merrill at the Fourth district of the Fifth ward on election day. Had been there from 8:30 in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening with the exception of a few minutes at noon. Did not think the statement of the reverend gentleman to the effect that the police were compelled to get between him and the crowd to prevent him from being mobbed was true. He saw no acts of violence, and if any had occurred be would have seen them. Witness had handled democratic and Powers tickets. Saw Mr. Kinney at the polls, buthe was not molested. No feeling was evinced there against Powers or the independent ticket. Two men, partly intoxicated, got to unarreling about seventy intoxicated, got to unarreling about seventy intoxicated, got to ticket. Two men, partly intoxicated, got to quarreling about seventy-five feet from the polls over some personal matter and were sent away by the police.

Cross-examined—Had always been affiliated with the democratic party until this year.

Peddled the democratic ticket because it was a scratched ticket for Benton. Peddled the ticket for the republican committee. Belong to the Knights of Labor. Worked for Benton on both tickets. Received $10 for working for him. The independent party received the most good from my work. Voted for Benton.

for Benton.

Dr. John Ahmanson swore—Have resided in Omaha since 1861. Voted at the last general election at the First district of the Seventh ward. Saw no disturbance, and there seemed to be none about the polls except such as had business there. Was at two polling places on St. Mary's avenue several times. At all places saw democratic, republican and independent tickets being peddled. It was much quieter than usual at elections here. I remarked during the day that I pever saw so quiet, peaceable and orderly an election in the city of Omaha. The city had very much of a Sunday appearance. It was the same at polling places I visited on Cuming street and others in the Fourth ward. Intense feeling was occasioned by statements published in the New York Voice and Lincoln Call charging that the Omaha census was fraudulent and later that the election was disorderly and violent scenes were enacted at the bodis. The statement that each was a statement of the polls.

derly and violent scenes were enacted at the polls. The statement that anarchy reigned here was entirely false.

Cross-examined—Was born in Sweden.

Came to this country when five years of age.

Was in Missouri four years and then came here. Used to be a straight, remultilears has here. Used to be a straight republican, but of late years have scratched it more or less and have been rather independent. Have voted for the men, not the party. At the last election voted the repubsome scratching. Voted for Boyd and against the prohibitory amendment. Am a physician. Did not know that Mr. Boyd struck a man at the polis. Did not hear that Prugh was struck with a rock. Think all disturbances that might have been occasioned were caused by prohibitionists. Extra precautions were made to prevent disturbances. Did not see ticket peddiers shouting about the polls, as is usually the case. It was more than a fair election day. It was Sunday-like in its quietude. I hink all disturbances that might have been It was Sunday-like in its quietude. I don't believe that the things related existed. Have known Boyd for several years. He Have known Boyd for several years. He was outspoken on the prohibition question. He was a good, conservative mayor. A man makes his record in the past, and people judge of that for his future. A great many people here were satisfied with the past public record of Mr. Boyd as a mayor and also as a business man. Did not see any violence, anybody egged or any tickets taken away or torn up.

Cross-Examined-Am a republican and voted for Richards. A special was also on duty there. I arrested the two men who in-terfered with peddlers and sent them to the station. The prohibitionists were not conducting themselves in an improper manner, and there was no reason for interfering with and there was no reason for interfering with them. Two or three men wers partially in-toxicated, but it did not increase and was not general. The peddlers stood right alongside the window. The men arrested were charged with creating a disturbance at the polls. They were discharged. I arrested another man for using loud and profane language. He was not prosecuted. I think he is a democrat. Officer Jesse Newman swern—Have recross-Examined—Officer Smilvan and two specials were on duty there. There were only five or six there when I arrived in the morning. I took the ballet box to the judges. Tickets might have been jerked away without my seeing it. Am a republican and voted the straight republican ticket except forgovernor. Voted for Boyd and against the amendment. Took no notice of tickets. Was instructed to stay there and see that no disturbance occurred.

Officer Jesse Newman sworn—Have resided here seventeen years, and was on duty at the last election at the first precinct of the Seventh ward. There was no disturbine there during the day. Would have seen it had there been any.

Officer Cumings sworn—Was sta-tioned on election day at the Third precinct of the Second ward Neither saw nor heard of any acts of vio-

Cross-examined-Am a democrat. Voted for Boyd against the amendment. There was another regular and special on duty there. The crowd was small, probably not over fifty at one time. There was no occa-sion for any disturbance. Arrested no one on that day. No signs of intoxication about that realing place.

Officer Pat Hinchey sworn-Have resided in Omaha twelve years. Was on duty at the last election at the Sixth precinct of the First ward. Took the books from the court house, ward. Took the books from the court house, and arrived at the polls before the judges or clerks got there. Saw no acts of violence. Saw two men arguing, and one was somewhat under the influence of liquor. Told his friends to take him away, and he was sent home. He came back in the afternoon and was very quiet and decent. Saw a boy with tickets and he said they were for Mr. Butler and the Third precinct, and another boy was trying to get them. I sent the boy to the Second preciact.

Cross-examined—Came to this countrywhen sixteen years of age. For local officers I voted for the best men, but I am a democrat. Voted for the best men, but I am a democrat. Voted for Boyd and against the amendment. Saw several ticket peddlers but did not know their names, Got an independent ticket from one peddler. There was quite a crowd. It was larger than I ever saw there before and new respectable. I ever saw there before and more respectable.

It was the quietest election day I ever saw in Omaha. Saw no eggs thrown and did not hear of such a case. If it had eccurred I would have seen or heard of it. The boy with the tickets was about seventeen years old, and the other was about fourteen years old. Heard men say that independent tickets with a vote for the rmendment ought not to be there. Saw no one challenged. I was not there for that. I was there to keep the peace.

At noon a two hours' recess was declared.

Two witnesses were examined at the Powers table during the forencen. The first was W. B. A ber, who said that he saw two men chased away from the First precinct of the Fourth ward. They were prohibitionists and he heard cries of "kill him," "hang him," etc. On cross-examination he said that they were not run away from the polling place. were not run away from the polling place, but they walked away quietly. He supposed they voted, as he did not know of anybody being prevented from casting his ballot. He voted his choice quietly and there was no demonstration against him.

O. N. Pratt, a merchant, was next called. He takes The Bre, and received in his copy of that paper on November 3, two tickets—one republican and the other democrat, and both against the amendment.

both against the amendment.

On cross-examination he said that a messenger left an envelope at his house just about dark on the evening preceding election and it contained four tickets—democratic, republican, independent and prohibition, and all were for the amendment. He thought one case no worse than the other, only on the prohibition side there was a little more of it.

At the conclusion of the examination of this witness an adjournment was taken at that table until 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The witness Aber was escorted across the room by the prohibition attorney and the room by the prohibition attorney and the grind at the state ticket table was resumed after the Christmas intermission. Aber told the same story that he has pre-viously rehearsed, and an adjourment at that table was then ordered until 10 o'clock Saturiny morning.

First Step to Remove It Under the McKinley Bill.

The workings of the McKinley bill are beginning to be felt at the office of the collector of internal revenue. On the 1st of January the tax on all chewing and smoking to bacco and snuff, in fact, on all manufactured to bacco with the exception of cigars, will be reduced from the present rate of 8 cents per pound or 4 cent cent an ounce, to 6 cents a pound, and a rebate of 2 cents a pound will be allowed on all original, unbroken packages on hand.

According to the instructions the expression "original and unbroken packages" em braces every whole, duly stamped package, large or small, which remains as it came from the factory with the same contents and all of the same originally packed

Blanks are furnished which are to be filled out with affidavits of the claimant witnesses, collector and deputy collector and forwarded to the treasury department.

Another change is to take place on May I, when all special taxes on manufactured tobacco will be declared off.

The McKinley bill, in a section relating to internal revenue, provides, "That on and after the first day of May 1891, all special taxes imposed by the laws now in force on dealers in leaf tobacco, retail dealers in leaf tobacco, manufacturers of cigars and ped-of totacco, manufacturers of cigars and ped-diers of totacco are hereby repealed."

It further provides that every such dealer and peddier, shall, however, register with the collector of his district his name or style, place of residence, trade or business and place where carried on, the same as though the tax had not been repealed, and a failure to so register shall subject him to a fine of $50.

The indications are that before long the much debated Paul school site question will be settled by taking the $45,000 out of the general fund and transferring it back into the site and building fund, from whence it was taken some time ago. Yesterday afternoon two members of the finance committee held a quiet session in the board rooms and practically agreed upon this course, setting the time early next month. The gentlemen also stated that before many days the super-intendent of buildings will be instructed to prepare plans for the Paul school building, and that it will be erected early next spring. According to the books of the secretary of According to the source of the secretary of the board of education, the general fund pre-sents a flattering condition as compared with this time last year. CHARTER AMENDMENTS.

The Question of Raising the Assessed Valuation Discussed. As soon as the members of the charter and police commission rooms last night Dr. Miller, chairman of the park commission, addressed the committee upon the subject of parks. He had with him a copy of the Minceapolis charter pertaining to parks, and was of the opinion that as a whole it is the best law that can be found, regulating parks. He was also of the opinion that the members of the committee could do no better than to recommend the Minneapolis law for Omaha. The matter was disposed of by being referred to a committee, consisting of Messrs. Chaffee, Poppleton and Kounize, with instructions to report at some subsequent meeting. John G. Willis was of the opinion that the expense of opening streets and alleys should be borne by the generall public, in-stead of being assessed against the property condemned. Mr. Willis thought that as matters now stand politicians have too much to do with such matters. This will be expected. be considered at some future meeting.

A lengthy letter was read from City Treasurer Rush, in which he urged that the assessed valuation of the city is entirely too low. In support of this he transmitted letters from Kansas City, St. Joseph, Minneap-olis and other cities showing that with their higher valuations they possess a higher com-mercial standing. He also urged that in-creasing the valuation would in no wise result in raising the rate of taxation. Mr. Rush was also of the opinion that the charter should be so amended as to provide for the appointment of a city assessor, the appointby the council. To bring the matter before the committee Mr. Hitchcock moved that the secretary be instructed to prepare an amendment to the city charter providing for the office of city assessor and for an independent valuation for city purposes,

Mr. Kountze thought that if this was done
the state board of equalization would at once raise the assessment of the city.

Mr. Rosewater thought the only way out of the dilemma would be to have a general law affecting all portions of the state alike. He affecting all portions of the state and. He said the proper way is to assess bank stocks and that class of property at its actual valuation. By doing this the valuation of the city could easily be raised to $80,000,000; that now millions of dollars worth of property escapes taxation, while if it was assessed at its real value the rate of taxation would be much lower.
Mr. Poppleton was not in favor of berrow-ing money, and did not want to see the valuation raised so as to place a lever in anyone's hand to borrow money. "We don't compare favorably with any

"We don't compare favorably with any other western state," said Mr. Rosewater. "During the prohibition campaign one of the things I could not answer was in regard to Kansas. They have a valuation that exceeds ours by $156,000,000, with no large cities, while we have a city of 140,000 and only a small valuation. This shows bad, and we can never have an important city until we increase our valuation." until we increase our valuation."
"You do that," said Mr. Poppleton, "and in ten years you will have a debt of $100,-000,000, if you increase your valuation to that amount. "I will tell you what to do. Assess your property and then let the board of equaliza-tion assess all property that is omitted."

"The board will then be compelled to sit all the time," said Mr. Chaffee.

Mayor Cushing thought a city assessor should be provided for, but thought that the charter should be so amended as to allow his going in debt to the amount of 20 per cent of the valuation, instead of 10 per cent, as now. Mr. Poppleton moved that Mr. Hitchcock's motion lay upon the table. The motion was lost, four voting in the affirmative and six in the negative

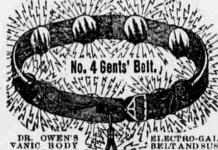

A vote upon Mr. Hitchcock's motion at last reached and carried by a vote of 5 to 4.

In a moment Mr. Poppleton was on his fe t with a motion that a clause be incorporated in the charter, that the council reduce the percent of the levy in the same ratio as the valuation is increased. Mr. Rosewater embodied this in writing, by presenting a resolution that when the aggregate valuation reaches $25,000,000 or more the levy shall decrease in proportion to the increase in valuation. The resolution was adopted and the com-mittee adjourned until 8 o'clock this after-noon.
