Ste Af O'Nell returned yesterday from Fort Madison, whither he took two prisoners. He was in Burlington at the time of the big fire there, and after watching the water sup ply and the fire department in its fight against the blaze, had a much higher opinion of Council Bluff's facilities in this respect.

Assignce MacConnell had but one answe to reportorial queries yesterday concerning the Eiseman failure. "We have becam putting our invoice on papar today, and there will be nothing of public interest until that is completed. It's a big job, and it will require at least ten days to finish it. We will then know exactly what the situation is."

Chief of Police Carey has obtained unques tionable proofs that the young man Augus King, arrested in Omnha for burglary, is the fellow who burglarized the residence of Ed Hoagland in this city a week ago last Sun day night. Articles taken from Hoagland's residence and found in King's possession are now in possession of the chief. It is scarcely probable that King will be returned to this braska penitentiary.

One of the old original Pottawattamie One of the old original Pottawattamie chiefs has been attracted to the city by the sensational reports' published in several papers of the discovery of a defect in the title to the Chautauqua lands. He is a fine looking Indian, and is known to the world and his fellows as Chief Wafausie. He has placed a good deal of credence in the report that his tribe still has a claim upon the Chautaugua preporty and several tracts of land tauqua property and several tracts of land lying near it, and is here to look it up. He is the guest of John Wicks.

The funeral of Miss Sophia M. Malthy was held Monday at the residence of Mr. D. Maltby. Rev. Dr. Phelps, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which she was a member, officiated. Miss Maltby came to this city a few months ago and was given a harme in the beautiful of the presented of the second home in the household of her cousin, M: Malthy, on Washington avenue. About two months ago she entered the Woman's Chris tian association hospitel with the intention fully qualifying herself as a surse. Her death was sudden, but it came to one fully prepared by a life which had been spent in the faithful performance of duty, and which was well rounded out by the Christian virtues.

A good looking young woman was arrested by Deputy Marshal White on Monday and locked up in the "bridal chamber" of the city jail upon the charge of improper conduct of the streets. She refused to give her name and was booked as an unknown. Yesterday morning her mother came to the police court and attended the trial of her daughter. She rave the girl's name as Maud Kempton and became very indignant when told that her daughter was accused by the officers of being a common street walker. The girl came into some little prominence a short time ago by re porting to Marshal Templeton that one of his deputies had insulted her. The insult was in the form of a notification that she must leave the city or pay a monthly fine. She will have a hearing this morning at 80'clock.

Rebekah Social. The annual holiday social of the Rebekah degree of the Order of Oddfellow s was given in their ball last evening. A musical and literary programme was given. The instrumental music was furnished by Misses Annie DeGroat, Ella Darnell and Kate Racer. A novel feature of the evening's entertainment was the appearance of a lot of little people who were oddfellows in spirit at least. They were Gussie Darnell, Willie Racer, Gussie Dougherty and Bessie Racer. Following the exercises came a bountiful banquet, and it was enjoyed by a large number of ladies and gentlemen. The Manhattan sporting headquarters, 418

A funeral cortege that was nearly a mile ong followed the remains of the late Alderman Lacy to their last resting place yesterday morning. Particularly among the firemen was the deepest interest felt, and by o'clock the members of the Veteran association, as a member of which Mr. Lacy spent thirteen of the best years of his life, began assembling at No. 3 bose house. A large number of firemen from other cities wired their intention of being present to attend the funeral, and committees of the Veteran association were dispatched to the various depots to meet the strangers and escort them to the central fire station. At 9 o'clock the fire organizations fell into line, and headed by Dalbey's band began the march to the residence. Nearly all the members of the veteran organization in Omnha, and as many men from the paid department as could be spared, were present, besides representatives from Sioux City, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and other cities. When the residence on Park avenue was reached the house and the grounds were crowded with friends and citizens. The casket was resting on a bier in the center of the front parior and was almost hidden by the floral offerings. Each of the organiza-tions of which Mr. Lacy had been a member contributed beautiful designs, one of the men, representing the "Gates Ajar."

The pall bearers were Peter Smith and W. H. Knepher, representing the city council; J. Peregey and Thomas Bowman of the veteran firemen, and D. A. Farrell and George Blaxsim, representing the citizens. At o'clock the pall bearers lifted their burde and proceeded with it to the hearse. The o ganizations and the people gathered at the house, then formed into line and marched to the church in the following order:

Resolved. That by the death of Brother Lacy our association loses one of its most prominent and active members. That in this, their deeply felt loss, they mourn with sincere sorrow that one so active, devoted and useful to the association, has passed a way; that as early as 18% he helped to organize the Bluff City engine company for the purpose of saving life and oroperty. That the interest he manifested at all times being such as to merit hearty appreciation and endorsement on the part of the members of Rescae and Bluff City engine companies and Phoenix hook and ladder company, which resulted in his having been honored and selected chief of the fire department of this city for many years. His loss will be keenly felt by the Iowa State Firemen's association on account of being deprived of his untiring efforts as a nioneer member, and in turn as its president, in helping at all times to make it what it is today—an association that benefits every city and town in the state. As a representative member of the National Firemen's association his presence and wisdom will be missed at its next annual meeting.

A Strange Recognition.

Ovster supper at Masonic temple tonight. Essay, L. G. Knotts.

Colonel Strong, of the firm of Walker & Strong, and Judge Hubbard, another well known citizen, have lived here for a number of years and yet, strangely enough, they never chanced to become acquainted until yesterday. Stranger yet, the meeting revealed the fact that they had met before, for a few minutes only, but under such peculiar circumstances that the details were still held in memory by each. It was in times of war, and Hubbard had just got out of prison at Macon, Ga., where he had been for nine months. He was in a deplorable condition when he reached Sherman's lines, just after the battle of Peach Tree creek. He had a pass and instructions to go to Sherman's neadquarters, and as he came up, he found Strong standing by a horse and of him in-quired where he could find General Sherman. Strong pointed to a group of officers and Strong pointed to a group of officers and Hubbard proceeded thither. Strong was so impressed by the tattered and worn condition f the young man who was dressed in second hand prison clothing, mostly of butteraut hue, and was so especially impressed by the weakness and peculiarity of the young man's voice that he sever forgot him nor the details of the incident. "I thought you was the most deplorable object I ever saw, and that voice—I could never forget it," remarked Colonel Strong yesterday as he recognized the "young man," now some older, whom he had not met for a quarter of a century.

Two Ladies Injured.

Mrs. W. W. Wallace and daughter Ida had a narrow escape from serious injury on Main street yesterday afternoon. They were driv ing, and when they turned down Willow ave nne onto Main street the king bolt of their carriage flew out, seperating the front wheels of the buggy from the remainder of the vehicle, and letting the front end of the carriage. riuse fall upon the granite pavement. Both ladies were thrown out and struck on the pavement with a good deal of violence. Miss Wallace was driving, and the additional impetus by the horse suddenly springing forward threw her on the pavement with extra force. Both ladies were exthesis feet before force. Both ladies were on their feet befor the men rushing to their assistance arrived Miss Wallace's face was covered with blood and it was feared she was seriously injured.

They were assisted to the office of the husband and father, on the opposite side of the street, and cared for. Both were severely bruised but not seriously injured.

Edson, who came back from Berlin yesterday, on the steamship Aller, with a small bottle of the national Indian congress are indignant at the fluid. Two or three other physicians arrived on the Aller whose total consignment of officials of the Indian government to attend lymph is sufficient for about 3,000 inoculations. Dr. Edson says the lymph is so hard to get in Berlin that robbery would be resorted to in order to obtain it. Dr. Dixon of Philadelphia who was a fellow passenger with Dr. Edson, the latter says, received his lymph through German soldiers. The trans-portation of the lymph has been placed under military control and soldiers accompanying the messengers wherever the lymph is taken. Dr. Edson added that two attempts were made to rob him of his lymph attempts were made to rob him of his lymph, one in Berlin and one on board the Aller. His room and Dr. Dixon's at the Continental hotel were rummaged and turned topsyturyy when they were out, but as nothing was taken, and they had the lymph in their pockets, that was believed to be the object of the search. On the Aller, Dr. Edson slept with his precious vial under his pillow and one night he was awakened by some one disturbing his nillow awakened by some one disturbing his pillow and saw a hand and arm withdrawn He jumped up, but whoever was there had

Curcago, Dec. 30 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- General Lucius Fairchild, excommander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic in an interview here today said : "The New York Tribune is right when it says the worthy veterans of the late war are satisfied with the pension legislation they have already received. I think I may say that the veterans are satisfied. I have heard to the contray and also that with the treatment they have received at the hands of the present administration they are very much disgruntled. It is true there may be individcity, and he suggested that a sultable measurement to this loyal and famous chief be placed above the resting place of his mortal remails. The communication was referred to the First ward counciliant. ual cases, but doubtless the failure to secure some public office for which diligent effort had been mude and no little expectation of success aroused is the cause."

"And will no further legislation in their behalf be asked?"

"No. What more could be desired than the disability bill? By it everybody who served three months during the war and received an honorable discharge, under that bill, providing he is unable to work, is entitted to, and will receive, upon application of from $6 to $12 per month. Where injuries have resulted from the war larger pensions are granted." Then the general touched on politics. His

"And who, in your mind, will be elected president in 1899?" 'Harrison, The general is the first prominent arrival in Chicago during the past nine months to hazard such a prediction. When asked why he made it he replied: "Because when a president has given satisfaction and his administration is favorably regarded by the business community he usually gets a renom-ination and as I believe we shall have the support of the states we had in 1888. I be-lieve that Harrison will be reclected. At the same time of course it is not certain. Present conditions may change before two years,"
"General Alger is said to entertain fond opes of the nomination.' "General Alger is a very amiable gentle-man and I like him," the veteran replied, "but I don't know about his getting the nom-ination."

'It is understood he expects the support of the Grand Army of the Republic."
"Indeed, well I doubt his making such a claim. He or any one else would be foolish to count on the Grand Army of the Republic as a certain asset. There is no one so jealous of his independence as an old soldier and were one to suspect for a moment he was looked upon as a chattel, he would resent the nsinuation in no uncertain terms.
