WILL BUILD TO HOT SPRINGS.

Another Burlington Extension-Other Railroad News.

The Burlington will complete its new line to Deadwood this month, and now has an engineering force engaged in relocating the proposed railway line between Minnekahta and Hot Springs, a project that the B. & M. had in view when the Deadwood Vine was located last winter. The line will be an important one, both to the B. & M. and to Omaha. The engineering party is experiending some difficulty in getting down from Bradley flats to the valley of Fall river, a difference of 800 feet in a distance of eight miles. Work on the road is to be commenced at once.

There are no new developments in the right of way cases between the Rock Island and Milwaukee companies in their efforts to get into the Omaha depot over the Union Pacific bridge. The parties interested are quietly awaiting the settlement of the case in the United States court, and at the president's meeting in new York.

Held by the Patrons of a College Lecture Course. Considerable inquiry has been made during the past day or two by parties who purchased tickets for the Standard business college lecture course, as to wnether or not all of the attractions advertised were to be provided, now that the college has changed hands. The second entertainnent was to have been given tonight, but those who went to the Grand opera house vesterday to reserve their seats were told that the date had been cancelled and that all of other the attractions of the house were off, as the college had failed to make a satisfactory settlement with Major Pond for the Stanley lecture. Nothing could be learned at the business college regarding the lectures, as Prof. Lari-more, the proprietor, is sick at his home in

It seems that the college was recently turned over to Prof. J. P. Byrne, one of the instructors, in lieu of back salary. Mr. Byrne desires it understood that he had no connection whatever with the lecture arrangements. The same statement is made by Prof. Bell of the shorthand school.

It is reported that Mr. Larimore proposes to take up the lecture course tickets sold and refund the money for all but the Stanley lecture. Mr. Bell states that Larimore thus declared his intention to him before leaving for Shenandoah. A large number of tickets were sold for the entire course, several parties taking from four to six tickets each, The itching of the scalp, falling off of the hair, resulting in baldness, are often caused by dandruff, which may be cured by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

present themselves before the executive urging their respective claims.

In conversing upon the subject, the mayor said: "These boys are all good fellows, competent and a number of them personal friends, all of which blaces me in a position where I hardly know how to act, though I have a schome that I may work. In the course of a day or two I intend to send for all of the candidates and have them come to my office. After I get them there I pro-pose that they go into caucus and try to agree smong themselves as to who shall be named. If they cannot do that I shall be tempted to turn the whole matter over to the council. The majority of that body bears a democratic complexion, and I am confident that a good man will be selected."

Funeral of Prof. Hoffmann. The funeral of Prof. Simon Hoffmann took place at St. Mary Magdalene enerch or Douglas street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth yesterday morning. The ob; sequies were under the auspices of the Bavarian society, of which the deceased had been an honored member. The society, headed by the Musical union band, of which Prof. Hoffmann had also been a memter, es corted the remains from the residence on South Sixteenth street to the church. solemn high mass was said by Father Glauber, after which the procession proceeded to the cemetery of St. Mary Magdaiene in South Omaha.

The remains were incased in an elegant black casket on which rested a handsome lyre of white roses, the offering of the Musical mion, and a beautiful cross of white flowers the tribute of the Bavarian society.

The Musical union was represented by large delegation of members and the Bavar-ian society was present in force. The pall bearers were G. Muench, George Maeder, William Weckbach, James Beek mann, A. Veightmeier, and A. Baumeister. Simon Hoffmann was born in Wurtzenburg Bavaria, and when a boy nineteen years of age entered the German army as a bugler. He served through the Franco-Prussian war and in 1871 emigated to America, landing at New York, where he at once engaged with the Stafford orchestra. After playing with that combination for one season he came to Omaha and organized the Hofmann orchestra, a musical organization that was known far and wide during the early days of this

About the same time he organized the Om: ha city band, that later became a part of the Musical protective union. For a number of years Mr. Hoffmann was the leader of the orchestra at the Boyd, playing at night and teaching music during the day. The deceased was a fine musician, being able to play upon nearly every class of instruments that have been made. On account of his superior ability he did much to develop the musical tal-ent of Omaha. In 1873 he was married to Miss Weirnart, who with five children, four sons and one daughter, survive him.

Aid for Orphans.

Mrs, Rr A. Folsom is in the city soliciting aid for the Tabitha educational orphans' home of Lincoln, Neb. Mrs. Folsom comesvery well recommended, carrying with her endersements of a number of ministers of Lincoln of all denominations. This institution takes in destitute children from birth and provides for and educates them, and gives them a training in some occupation that will fit them for a life of usefulness. It does not allow outsiders to adopt any of its proteges, but undertakes to maintain them until they are able to maintain themselves. There are now forty children being cared for and an appropriate building is in course of construc tion on Fortieth and Randolph streets, and it is with the view of rapidly completing the new home that Mrs. Folsom is in Omaha asking for funds. The new home will accomm-date 400 children, and if sufficient money can be raised the management hopes to have it completed by next year.

The month of January, from a purely business standpoint, is far different in the present day from that of a few years ago. Before the day of the elegant "vestibule train" which now enables the merchant to reach his market in a few short hours, the average storekeeper went to "the city" wherever that might be, but twice a year; once in the early spring and once in the early fall, each time buying goods enough to last him a full season of six months. He did little replenishing of stock in those days. When anything sold out, he was "out of it," that was all. When the first day of January came, business came to a standstill-"no use trying to sell anything." He'd just get in the back end of the store by the old box stove, and sit, and soak in heat and wait for the customer that never came. The enterprising merchant of to-day has changed all that. Instead of letting his business run him, he runs his business. He rolls up his sleeves and pitches in, determined to make January's SALES good, even if he don't "lay up a cent."

TO-DAY.

We, the afore-mentioned enterprising merchant, begin our annual January

Sale of Overcoats.

When we will put on sale in one grand lot between five and six hundred Overcoats and Ulster that have formerly been sold at twelve, thirteen fifty, fourteen, fifteen and even sixteen dollars, all at the one uniform price of

TEN DOLLARS.

Splendid all wool Chinchilla Overcoats, in blue or black, in all sizes, with Italian, Serge or Cassimere linings, with handsome fancy satin sleeve linings. Goods that are worth from two to six dollars more-AT TEN DOLLARS.

Great big Heavy Chinchilla Ulsters, goods that are right in every way, lined with splendid plaid cassimere. Coats that have sold for five dollars more all the season. They go in at the TEN DOLLAR rate too.

Great big piles of Irish Frieze Ulsters in Stylish Plaids, with splendid linings, with excellent sleeve linings; coats that ought to wear a man three or four years with any decent sort of handling. They go in under the TEN DOLLAR banner too.

When you take into consideration the fact that these garments at the original prices were the cheapest coats sold in Omaha, you can readily understand that at the present reduced price of TEN DOLLARS, there won't be many left at the end of the SIX DAYS which we intend to devote to this great JANUARY OVERCOAT SALE.
