

Young Man-Afrail-of-His-Horse, and Standing Soldier were first by the hostiles. The matter is being investigated.

The Dog and Jack Reed found the latter the son of old Red Cloud, and about one hundred others have returned to the camp. Still more have promised, but have failed to keep their word.

General Miles says: "At last accounts the Indians were fighting among themselves. The camp was a pandemonium."

There was no head to the hostiles. The desperadoes were destroying their own property. If those Indians who belong to this agency come in, the others, the general thinks, will endeavor to get back to their own reservation.

The troops on the other side are frequently skirmishing with them and will follow them if they come. Should such be the case the general thinks the military problem will be solved.

Miss Sichel's of Chicago is still here, aiding in the work of bringing the conflict to a peaceful termination. When she was superintendent of the Ogallala school at this place, she arranged for the death of Ed Cloud, Little Wound and several other chiefs.

General Miles received a note in Indian, couched in terms of amicable sweetness and innocence. It came from Sitting Bear and Short Bull. They had stopped their ghost dance, they said, because the general had asked them. They would come in and be good Indians.

THE FEELING AT RUSHVILLE. Guards on the Scene Restore the Confidence of the Settlers. RUSHVILLE, Neb., Jan. 9.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—The camps of the national guards near the line of the reservation were today inspected by General Coby, accompanied by two aids. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the thoroughly military work of these commands, brave, well-instructed, and in some cases, having been in the field in the most difficult and trying circumstances.

Orders were issued tonight for company D, now stationed at Harrison, to move at once to this place. Also for company E of the Second to move from Chadron to Hay Springs, and company F to move to the north of this place.

Companies B and I will arrive from Crawford tonight, and be stationed tomorrow at a point on the danger line about fifteen miles northeast of Rushville.

Company C of the First, which arrived from Valentine tonight, will be stationed tomorrow at a point on the danger line about fifteen miles northeast of Rushville.

By these orders nearly the entire force of guards will be within the reservation, and the settlements and the camp of the hostiles and from every indication it would not be healthy for straggling bands of hostiles to attempt crossing the line.

General Miles seems to understand what that purpose was. Colonel D. Bache, medical director of the department of the Platte, has been appointed by General Miles acting medical director, division of the Missouri, in the field. His medical staff has accordingly been reorganized as follows:

prevails here regarding the present Indian outlook. A militia company of six men has been organized at Kingsfisher and a company of minute men has also been formed of 112 members. It is stated that the Cheyenne and Arapaho Indians had come into Kingsfisher yesterday and purchased every cartridge that could be had. This aspect is serious and Judge Lea has been ordered to call the inland towns should at once organize companies to aid, if necessary, the settlers along the border.

Canadian Redskins Uneasy. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 9.—[The Tribune's Winnipeg, Minn., special says: Although the officers of the Canadian school are keeping a strict watch on the Redskins on their side of the international boundary, there are strong fears in some quarters that the Canadian Indians are becoming afflicted with the Mesasiah virus and will join the American Redskins in their present bold and aggressive movements in this country.

Aggressive Hostiles. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 9.—A special to the Tribune from Pierre, S. D., says Charles Waldron, whose ranch is ninety miles up the Bad river, came in today an excited and angry Indian in the vicinity and very aggressive. Frank Lutenheiser and family, some soldiers and other people are at Waldron's ranch on the outlook for an attack. The town of Mitchell was raided by a band of Indians and the stores looted. Although no violence was offered to the people many of the residents hid while the Redskins were in town.

The Chippewas Dancing. ASHLAND, Wis., Jan. 9.—The Chippewas, old deadly enemies of the Sioux, have forsaken the traditions of early days and joined in the ghost dance of the Sioux. Last night a delegation of over fifty Indians arrived from the surrounding reservations and the dance commenced and continued until day and night. Excitement is intense. The dance differs from the Sioux dance, as they do not believe in the coming of the Mesasiah.

A Promoter's Scare. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—A telegram was received tonight by General Schofield, commanding the division of the Pacific, who said an investigation of the alleged Indian troubles in the vicinity of Pocatello, Idaho showed the scars to be without foundation.

Nevada Indians in War Paint. CARSON, Nev., Jan. 9.—The Indians in this state are assuming a serious aspect. Over two hundred bucks are gathered near Pine Nut and war paint on. All the Indians able to fight have left Genoa.
