THE SHEEDY MURDER TRIAL

Mrs. Sheedy and the Negro McFarland Held Without Bail.

DESPICABLE PLOT AGAINST A PRIEST

The Alleged Murderess Seeks to Be smirch the Character of Her Spiritual Advisor-Lincoln News Notes.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 31 .- [Special to THE BEE. |- This morning the arguments of the attorneys in the Sheedy murder case were heard by Police Magistrate Houston. To Colonel Philpot was deputed the work of asklig that the charge against Monday McFarlind be withdrawn. Philpot was at first appulled at the idea, but entered with such spirit into the argument that he astonished himself and the large crowd assembled. Attorney Stearns made the plea for Mrs. Sheedy's discharge. He thought the court erred in admitting the testimony. He also thought that the confession itself was frail and with so little merit that his honor could well hesitate and pause before be committed a person like Mrs. Sheedy to a dungeon cell and put the stigma of a feion on her, which would blast her life forever. He characterized it as assassinating charater upon super-ficial evidence. He thought it the bounder duty of the court to turn these people loose.

The judge refused to admit either of these two defendants to ball, and he ordered them sent to the county jail to await the session of the district court.

It is understood that the indictment against

Mrs. Sheedy will be quashed if the analysis of the stomach shows no signs of poison. The prosecution claim that they have not yet showed all the testimony they have, but gave only enough as they thought to secure the binding over of defendants. Ever since it was announced that Rev.

Father Walsh had been deposed from the priesthood by the bishop, speculation has been rife as to the causes that led to the scriber of the serious and hitherto inexplicable result. Owing to Father Walsh's prior appearance before the coroner's jury with a recital of testimon rather damaging to Mrs. Sheedy, current speculation has been to the effect that his dismissal was due to his connection with the case. Yesterday facts became more or less generally known that tend to confirm the theory, or rather which conclusively prove it. It will be noticed that in the testimony of Father Walsh at the preliminary examina-tion yesterday afternoon, he said that after his appearance before the coroner's jury he received a notification from Mrs. Sheedy that unless he modified his statements she would make it hot for him. It would appear that she has made good her threat. It is said that the testimony given by Father Walsh before the coroner's jury nettled Mr. Strode very much. Monday afternoon Bishon Bonacum met Mrs. Sheedy in the county jail in the jailer's office. Father Walsh, Mr. Strode and the jailer were also present. Mrs. Sheedy denied the statements made by Father Walsh. She also informed the bishop that Father Walsh had said some things reflecting on the Father Walsh listened, astounded at the statements of the woman, and declared that she was not speaking a word of truth. Turn-ing to Father Walsh, the bishop said: Pack your effects and get out of my house before night. Like Cæsar's wife, you were above suspicion before you came to my home, but you have brought scandal and disgrace upon it."

Father Waish declared that he was inno-cent of the charges made, and insisted that the only reason he had testified was that he believed he would be party to the murder if he attempted to screen the murderers. "This is a foul conspiracy," said he, "con-cocted by this woman and her lawyer, Strode, and I will undo it."

But the bishop would not listen to him, and that night Father Walsh was turned out of doors by his superior. It is rumored that the bishop has also suspended him from the ministry for five years. Father Walsh has a host of friends who will not believe Mrs. Sheedy's charges, and who believe that he is the victim of a conspiracy.

NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT WORKS. Yesterday the Lincoln gas and electric light company commenced excavating for the erection of an immense gas and electric light plant combined, which will increase the capacity of the present establishment four fold. The plant will cost $111,000. Four brick buildings will be built on the block bounded buildings will be built on the block bounded by M and N and Second and Third streets. The engine and dynamo building is to be 100x72 feet, the boiler house 80x14 feet, gas generating building 30x14 feet and the purifying and lime building 110x34 feet. The gas generating structure will be fifty feet high and an immense chimney 125 feet in height with an inside space reven feet square will be reinside space seven feet square will be required to carry off the smoke. A spur from the B. & M. main line will run directly through the shops. It is the intention to have the electric light department completed by the 1st of May. The old gas plant will not be removed to the new shops until about July.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Omaha Will Have Special Facilities

for Recording Them. One of the advantages which will accrue to Omaha on account of the showing made by the census returns will be the higher grading of the signal service station at this point. It has been the intention of the chief of the weather bureau to create twenty stations of the first class; that is, stations having a complete set of instruments for making a continuous record of meteorological data. It was determined to let the population, as shown by the census returns, govern the selection of points where stations should be included in this class and under this ruling Omaha came

In accordance with this the Omaha station is in receipt of a set of instruments and apparatus for making a continuous record of weather conditions. All of these instruments are automatic and make a legible and permanents nent record of their several conditions. They are anything but imposing in appearance, and the details of their operation are very simple and easily understood.

All of this apparatus will be placed in posi-ion within a short time and the Omaha station will then rank in the highest class.

YOUNG FORD'S HEARING.

He Is Held to the District Court in $5,000 Bonds.

Patrick Ford, jr., who was arrested two weeks ago for shooting William Devaney in a restaurant next door to Goldsmith's saloon, m Ninth street, was given a preliminary bearing yesterday afternoon in police court.

nesses, and the testimony was not quite so damaging to the cause of the defendant as had been anticipated by the public or by the prosecuting attorney. L. A. Goldsmith, who the saloon next door to the place of the shooting, stated that he heard the shot which Ford fired and rushed in to see what was the matter. Ford handed him the revolver, and he stepped to the door and fired in the air to attract the attention of a police officer. He stated with regard to De-vaney that he had always known him to be a quiet and inoffensive young man, but he had head him say upon one occasion that if young Ford fooled around him much he would knock his head off.

Dr. Gapen was called and explained the nature of the bullet wound from which he found Devaney suffering when he was called about one hour after the shooting took place. He said that the patient is still a very sick man, and he evinces some symptoms of blood poisoning. He is feversh, and it is evident that suppuration is in isa, and it is evident that supparation is in progress, either in the flesh or the lung pen-etrated by the bullet. Dr. Gapen said he could not predict with any degree of cer-tainty whether the wounded man will or will not recover from the effects of the wound. Mr. Gannon, counsel for the defense, tried to wring a statement from Dr. Gapen to the effect that the wound had under-gone an unnnecessary amount of prob-ing before the bullet was located, but Dr. Gapen would admit of no such a con-dition of affairs. He said he did not know low much probing had been done prior to the time when he arrived, but he knew that there was but little probing done afterward. He said if there had been any unnecessary probing done it must have had a tendency to weaken the patient, James S. Ward was called and stated that he was just outside of the restaurant at the time of the shooting. He saw Devaney strike at Ford and then the two clinched, and after struggling about the room for a moment bevaney seemed to be getting the better of Ford and then he heard the shot and saw Devaney turn and run out. He said he had heard Devaney say once that if Ford monkeyed with him he would cut his head of.

Ed Goldsmith, who keeps the restaurant in which the shooting occurred, was next called to the witness stand. He said that Ford came into the saloon where he was and asked him if he could get a lunch. Goldsmith told him he could if he had the money to pay for it.

for it.
"I havn't got any money," said Ford.
"I havn't got any money," representations." re-"Then you can't get any nunch," replied Ford then went back into the restaurant and said to Devaney that he wanted some lunch. Devaney said, "You can't have it unless you have money to pay for it." Ford then said he would not accept a lanch from Devaney, anyway, and called him a vile name. Then Devaney ordered Ford out of the house. Ford said he would not go unless Goldsmith ordered him out. Ford walked up to the counter and Devaney said he must to out and sprang around the counter, strik ing Ford in the face. Then they clinched, and after a short struggle, in which Devaney struck Ford several times in the face, a shot was fired and Devaney ran out and fell on the sidewalk.

At this point Mr. Moriarity asked the witness if he did not remember having stated to nim (Moriarity) in the presence of Officers Dempsey and Savage on the day after the shooting that he saw Ford strike Devaney in the face several times and call him a vile name before Devaney made any effort to put Ford out of the house.

Mr. Gamon, counsel for the defense, ob-jected to this upon the grounds that the pros-ecuting attorney seemed to be attempting to make the witness lay the foundation for his wn impeachment. Monarity held that the evidence of the witness had taken the prosecution by sur-prise, in that it was not the kind of evidence that had been expected from the witness, and that in such cases the state has a right to introduce testimony that will contradict or even impeach a witness. In doing so, Mr. Moriarty held it was but fair to first ask the witness if he had not previously stated certain things so that he might have an opportunity to correct himself or refresh

s memory, "It makes me impatient to hear you read "It makes me impatient to hear you read "That law ancient history," said Gannon. "That law which you have just read has been exploded "I notice you are impatient when it hurts ou, whether it be ancient or modern nistory

Judge Heisley decided that the witness should not answer the question regarding what he had stated the day after the shoot-ng, and he was excused.

After calling several witnesses more the case was submitted to the judge. Ford was held for trial in the district court inder bonds of $5,000.

Patrick Ford, sr., signed the bond and the accused was released and left the court room rith his father. The court room was crowded with an in-erested throng during the hearing of the

The Eden Musec.

Manager Lawler of the Eden Musee again omes to the front with two modern wonders which he will place on exhibition at that popular house this week. The first is Colonel Alexander Witson, the famous Kansas giant. Colonel Wilson stands over eight feet high. He will hold a $100 bill in his hand and any one that can reach it can have it. It is safe to say that no one has yet been found who can reach it. He is a big man in every re-spect, weighing 287 pounds and measuring seventy-two inches around his shoulders. spect, weighing 287 pounds and measuring seventy-two inches around his shoulders. His foot is 17 inches long and his hand is 13x9 inches. He is well educated and is a colonel on the staff of the governor of Kansas. James Wilson is the second wonder. He can expand his chest twenty-six inches, breaking trunk straps and harness traces with ease. He has been prononneed by medical men a genine wonder. In the vaude-ville and bijou theatre a special list of attractions have been secured. Chiefly among them is Rosa Vernon, the talanted young Englishwoman, who is acknowledged to be one of the most graceful dancers on the stage. The MacComber children in the unique dances and songs are a stellar attraction. Ley, the noted bicyclist, will also appear this week. Saddle and West, the noted German comedians in their laughable comedies, will appear. Sweeney, the human enigma, who sits on his head, has been engaged. Lew Randall, the great wench impersonator, will help amuse the audience, as also will Ed Logan, the eccentric genius, and Wells, the musical mystery, will perform on unique instruments. Manager Lawler promises a first class entertainment for all.

LABORERS TO HAVE A HOME.

An Office Building for Omaha's Many Prosperous Trade Organizations.

PLANS FOR THE PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS

The Central Labor Union and Prominent Workers Enthusiastic Over the Prospects of the Enterprise-Labor Notes.

The proposition to erect a labor palace in Omaha is rapidly assuming shape and the nen who are at the head of the movement have no hesitancy in saying that such a building will be erected during the coming

A complete description of the proposed building was published in The Bes a few weeks ago. Briefly, the proposition is to put up a building 132x132 feet square, five stories high, of brick and stone. The first story will be used for store rooms, with halls, lodge rooms, libraries, reception and bath rooms on the second, third and fourth floors. It is the intention to have the top floor all in one room, thus making a grand hall capable of seating ,000 persons. The building will be abso-utely fireproof and will be finished inside and out in the best possible style, heated by steam and lighted by electricity.

In order to carry out this plan George W Willard, Julius Meyer, William Sebring, W. B. Musser, J. M. Kenney, W. A. J. Goodin, T. C. Kelsey, E. R. Overall and August Beerman last November were duly elected officers and directors of the Union Labor Palace Building association and the lowing articles of incorporation adopted and placed on file:

These articles may be amended by two-thirds of the stockholders at a regular or special meeting thereof, said meeting to be called as in by-laws shall be provided. Since the incorporation the members of the company have been industriously engaged in placing stock, and in this direction they have receeded most admirably.

The location of the building has not yet been selected, though sites have been offered at the southwest corner of Twolfth and Dodge streets; the northwest corner of Fourteenth and Howard streets; the southwest corner of Eighteenth and Howard streets; the north-east corner of Twentieth and Farnam streets; the southwest corner of Seventeenth and Da-venport streets and the southeast corner of

Eighteenth and Cass streets,

The location decided upon will be the one on which the best terms are offered, this to be decided by the board of directors. Friday evening, under the auspices of the Central Labor union a rousing mass meeting was held, at which Rev. John Williams, L. C. Kelsey, J. H. Craddock, ex-Gov. Butler and others made lengthy speeches, advocating the early building of the palace and showing the great value it will be to the laboring men who now have to contribute to the support of halls, etc.

At the meeting a large amount of stock was subscribed, and so pleased were the officers with the results of their work, that they will call another meeting some time during the next two weeks.

Mr. Thurston's Opinion.

Hon, J. M. Thurston, general attorney for the Union Pacific, said yesterday that the decision of Judge Dundy in the Union Pacific

Milwaukee case was based on the fact that no definite arrangements had been made for the running of the Milwaukee trains over the Union Pacific tracks. The contract provided that these arrangements should be made by both roads jointly, and, in case of failure to agree, should be settled by arbitration. The courts, he said, did not recognize any such authority and would not compel any parties to submit to arbitration.

The question of the right of the Union Pa-cific to make such contracts had not been touched upon and Judge Thurston was or the opinion that this point would have to be de-cided in the final hearing of the case, but was not absolutely essential in the preliminary rearing.

The case would undoubtedly be carried to the higher courts, he said, unless an amicable settlement was reached before it had gone that far.

The board of directors, at its meeting on the 23rd ult., he continued, had made a proposition to both the Milwaukee and the Rock Island to haul their trains over the bridge and to allow them the use of the Union Pacific tracks under certain conditions. This proposition had received no reply, but one was expected since the decision of Judge been comparatively little freight handled in this state during the past two months," said he, "and I am not surprised to see such a statement. The corn crop in this state and n Kansas has been very poor, and instead of handling several bundred cars of corn every day we have had scarcely fifty. As a consequence there has been no merchandise purchased by the people in the state, which has made business light both ways. Beside this, rates have been cut, thereby reducing the revenue of the road and, in fact, there has been a com-bination of circumstances which has made

BLUE PRINTS OF THE DEPOT.

They are Ordered Filed in the Viaduct Bond Case.

JUDGE DOANE'S VERY EMPHATIC ORDER.

There Shall be no Concealment of Any Papers or Evidence in the Case - Other Local News.

John D. Howe, esq., to Building Inspector Whitlock-Did you bring those blue prints

Mr. Whitlock-No, sir, I didn't, Mr. Howe-Well, you will bring 'em before I get done with you.

Mr. Whitlock-You may drop dead before you get done with me. Such was the little dialogue that took place n Judge Doane's district court room yesterday morning while the lawyers interested in the case of Stuht and Howe vs the ity were assembling. Being asked why he had so persistently delined to let Mr. Howe look at the drawings -so-called blue prints-of the new union depot plans, Mr. Whitlock replied :

"Plans and drawings of buildings left at my office are not public records at all-not for the public in any sense of the word. If hey were open to inspection by every Tom, Dick and Harry we would be bothered to death, and what's more, it would be a rank injustice to allow one architect or person, whatever his business, to have access to the print of another's labors."
By this time Judge Doane arrived and ed court. Mr. Howe arose, addressed the court and, surning to Mr. Whitlock, asked the latter if e had brought the blue prints into court as e was summoned by subprena to do. When Mr. Whitlock replied in the negative, City Attorney Poppleton arose and said he didn't think Mr. Whitlock should be compelied to produce the blue prints.

At this, Mr. Howe's voice was heard at what apparently was its greatest volume. He ecounted how he had made a fruitless effort to see the plans, etc., and added:

"What did I get, where did I get for my crouble? I got in the soup—into the soup, cour honor?" The court requested additional information as to what these plans were. Mr. Howe gave he information. "I think the plaintiffs in this case are en-titled to see all these papers, all the plans, etc., and I shall make an order to that effect," said Judge Doane. "There shall be no con-cealment here! I shall not for a moment permit of so extraordinary a thing as the re-tention, out of sight, of papers such as plans, specifications, etc., needed as evidence in a ase. Bring these papers into court imme-

"Let it be a disinterested committee," urged Mr. Poppleton.

Howe. "No," said Mr. Poppleton, "he's too much interested."
"See here, Mr. Poppleton," remarked General Cowin, counsel for Mr. Stuht, "it doesn't look very well for you to imply that an old and well known citizen as Mr. Stuht would not act squarely in connection with this mat-

"No one is to blame for this state of affairs, and I have no doubt that the statement attributed to President Perkins about changes.

The de-While the plans were being brought, John M. Thurston arose and said that he would be pleased if the court would appoint on its own motion experts to examine the old and the new plans of the proposed union depot. If this is done, he said that it would be found that the new plans provided for a structure in every way better than did the old. "We will see about that," remarked the

> "There are some other plans and records that I want," said Mr. Howe. "I want the records of the meeting of the directors of the company, together with the stock books, etc. Can I have them?"
> "Certainly, sir," said Mr. Thurston, "pro-

"Yes, and I want a lot of other things," added Mr. Howe as ne proceeded to read off the list of papers, pictures, etc. You can have them all if the court so orders," said Mr. Thurston. Mr. Thurston added that Mr. Kimball and himself would file an affidavit to the effect that numerous newspaper interviews had with them were very much tangled and a good deal wrong.

"And I'll prove that you did say a great deal of what these interviews give," exlaimed Mr. Howe. The court announced that he would make an order for the defendants to file their showing on Monday, the plaintiff theirs on Tuesday, and the case must positively be heard on Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

This ended the session, and Mr. Poppleton immediately filed the answer of the city.

The answer sets forth that the bonds and decas have been drawn up in proper form and delivered to the trustees to be delivered to the railroad company when so ordered. The different ordinances and actions of the city council bearing on the subject were also The Tax Levy.

Ten members of the city council met last night for the purpose of doing committee work, but instead of doing this they considered the tax levy for 1891. Mr. Davis moved that the levy for school purposes be reduced from 314 to 3 mills, and that the additional 14 mill be added to the library fund. The motion passed, and when the ordinance providing for the 1891 levy comes up for passage Tuesday night, it will be so amended.
