Jimmie, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Hereld, died Wednesday night of diphtheria. The funeral exercises took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 622 Harrison street, Rev. T. J. Mackay officiating. The remains were interred in Fairview cemetery.

A scheme is now on foot among the charitably inclined ladies of Council Bluffs to start a "White Shield" society in the city for the protection and assistance of working girls. One of the plans is to start an employment agency for the purpose of aiding girls in finding employment. The idea will be presented to the pastors of the city at their next monthly meeting in order to secure their co-operation in the establishment of the society.

The amateur detective who beat a board bill at the Revere house and bought a gun on credit at Graham's gunshop, after which he emigrated to Omaha, was brought to this side of the river by Marshal Templeton and incarcerated in the city jail with the charge of defrauding his landlord entered against him. Soon after his arrival he worked himself into the good graces of Officer Murphy and asked him to give him the price of a shave. Murphy took him to the barber and told him if he failed to pay him for the shave Murphy would. The detective took advantage of Murphy's hospitality and got a shave and a haircut at his expense. At the station the detective gave his name as M. S. Smith. On his person were found letters directed to James Kelly, W. H. Smith and W. H. Souser. It is supposed that Souser is his correct name.

A. Young, a conductor on the motor line, had a fight on one of the trains several nights ago that resulted in his arrest yesterday afternoon on a charge of assault and battery. Samuel Newton was the prosecuting witness. Newton claims that he was coming from Omaha on a motor train and that Young tried to put him off. Failing to get Newton off the train, he called his motorman, Joe Nelson, to his assistance, and between them they pounded him severely and at last got him off. According to Young's story Newton was drunk when the affair took place. He entered the car and insisted on putting his feet, which were covered with mud, on the cushioned seat. Young remonstrated with him, but to no purpose, Newton claiming that he had paid his fare and that entitled him to put his feet anywhere in the car that he wanted to. Finally Young became angry, and he and the motorman put Newton off the car in the vicinity of Twenty-third street. There is a warrant out for the arrest of Nelson also on the same charge, but he has not yet been arrested. The case against Young will be tried in Justice Patton's court tomorrow.

Allen's Latest.

For the last two months or more life has been one long, delicious spree to Charles Allen. He has spent by far the greater part of that time in the city jail. Several days he was taken out with the chain gang and an attempt was made to have him work on the streets. But he was stubborn, and instead of using the shovel and the hoe he persisted in lying down in the middle of the street. A few days ago the officers decided to try a little moral suasion with him, and with this end in view he was put in one of the upper rooms of the city jail with a bread and water diet. Yesterday finished up his sentence, and Allen determined to show the officers how well he had profited by their teachings, so he broke a hole about four feet square through the wall of the jail. When the deed was discovered an information was filed charging him with malicious destruction of property, and he was rearrested as soon as he was released. The probability is that he will spend a few weeks in the county jail for his fun.

The Tax Law.

The provisions of the present law in regard to the payment of taxes are not familiar to all particularly as to the time this important matter should be attended to. Under the old law the full amount of the taxes for the year became payable January 1, due February 1, and penalty attached March 1 for the month of February. Under the present law the taxes are due January 1, become delinquent March 1, and a penalty of 1 cent a month attached on April 1, for the month of March. If paid before April 1, the tax-payer has the option of paying only half at this time and the other half September 1, when the other half becomes delinquent. Confusion arises from misunderstanding about the time penalty begins, which is on March 1, if not paid before April 1, when the whole amount of the tax becomes delinquent, and the privilege of paying half is lost.

THE NEWS IN THE BLUFFS.

Attorney General Stone Wants to Make the Railroads Come to Time.

A BURGLARY ON SOUTH MAIN STREET.

Charles Allen, the Englishman, Tries His Hand on the Wall With Success—The Law About Taxes—Borrowing a Fiddle.

Attorney General Stone commenced a number of suits yesterday against the Iowa railroad companies to enforce the provisions of the joint rate law. These suits are identical as to subject matter with the suits that were brought last fall, except that the latter were brought in the name of the state of Iowa, while the new suits will be brought in the name of the railroad commissioners. Which of the suits will hold good is not known, as the point is one which has never been before the courts, and is therefore undecided. It is a question among lawyers whether these suits should be brought in the name of the state or in the name of the commissioners, and this question is likely to be settled as soon as the present suits are tried.

The railroads that are made defendants in the suits which have been brought in the district court in this city are the Chicago & Northwestern, the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Sioux City & Pacific and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha.

Besides these similar suits have been brought against the Burlington, Cedar Rapids & Northern, at Burlington, the Iowa Central at Marshalltown, and the Minneapolis & St. Louis at Des Moines.

The jobbers are the ones who are responsible for the pushing of these cases. Their wails over the severe treatment they have received from the railroad companies have been loud and deep, and they have succeeded in getting the commissioners interested in their case. The joint rate law was calculated to greatly reduce the freight rates between points on different roads, and in all probability it would have realized the hopes of its designers if the companies had lived up to its provisions. But the companies have fought it from its passage, and it is not likely to be of any force until it has been fought to the bitter end.

They make elegant presents. See them and you will admire and purchase them. 23 Main street.

In District Court.

During the morning session of the district court yesterday Judge Thornell called up the saloon injunction matter and asked the attorneys if the cases would be ready for trial this morning. Seabrook, as the attorney for the plaintiff, and J. N. Baldwin for the city officials stated that they were ready. After a few words had been exchanged the fact was developed that nobody knew whether the trial notices had been served yet on any of the defendants except the city officials. Mr. Baldwin then arose and said that that threw a new light on the case. He had said he would be ready for trial on the supposition that all the defendants had been notified that their cases would be called up. If they had not been so notified, he would ask that the trial of the cases be postponed until it had been done. Mr. Seabrook stated that he had left the notices with an officer to be served, but the returns had not yet been made, and he could not tell whether they had been served or not. He agreed, however, that only those cases should be brought up for trial wherein all the defendants had been served with trial notices, and such cases will probably be brought up this morning. Yesterday afternoon all fourteen of the notices which had been placed in the hands of John Fox for service, were returned to the office of the clerk with the certificate of service endorsed as having been made on the 18th.

The trial of the cases on the criminal docket will be taken up next Monday morning. According to the assignment the first cases on trial will be those of William Boartz and Hank Hall, charged with murder in the first degree. They are both assigned for Monday, but it is not at all likely that they will be completed in much less than a week. The next cases on the assignment are those of J. B. King and Joe Fuller, charged with larceny, and Henry Hoffer, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily injury. These are assigned for Tuesday.

The jury in the road case of Dennoddy vs. Murphy, after being out since Wednesday night, rendered a verdict yesterday afternoon in favor of the plaintiff for $172.

The case of A. A. Hazard vs. the city, in which a verdict for the plaintiff to the amount of $800 was returned a short time ago, was brought up again yesterday by the argument for a new trial. The motion was overruled. J. J. Stewart appeared for the city and Flickinger Brothers for Hazard.

Made Hay by Moonlight.

Night before last two men by the name of Sears were on their way to their home, south of the city, when one of them happened to think that it was cold, and that if they had some hay in the bottom of the wagon it might be warmer. They were passing a farm owned by G. F. Wright and kept by James Raph, and spying a fine haystack they alighted and began to fill their wagon. Unfortunately they were caught in the act, and made to disgorge. Yesterday an information was filed in Justice Patton's court, charging them with larceny. Their bond was fixed at $50, and upon giving bail they were released until next Thursday, when they will have a trial. As soon as they were dismissed they filed an information charging James Raph, his brother, and three other unknown men with robbery. They stated that Raph and his crowd came out while they were loading up and took their horses, wagon, buffalo robes and everything they had with them, and left them to get home as best they could. The robbery case was also continued until Thursday.

Main Street Burglary.

When F. W. Spetman opened his store on South Main street yesterday morning he found that some one had been there during the night. The window in the rear of the store had been broken open and through it the visitors had entered the building. The window was protected by an iron shutter, which was secured by a bar at the top and a hook at the bottom. On the floor near the window lay a large chisel, which had evidently been used in forcing open the shutter. The thieves made a rich haul when they got inside. Ten dozen silk handkerchiefs, valued at $6, a lot of silk mufflers, two overcoats, and a lot of other goods were taken. It is impossible to tell just how much is missing. Mr. Spetman estimates his loss at $200. The police are at work trying to ferret out the guilty parties, but so far they have not been apprehended. Suspicion points to several tough characters who have been loafing about the city for several days past, and who have been seen especially in that vicinity.

Republican Primaries.

The republicans held their primaries last evening at the places which had been selected in the different wards. In all the wards the meetings were well attended and there was evidently great interest felt in the outcome of the coming election. With trifling exceptions the meetings were harmonious as could be desired. The following were the officers and delegates appointed:

First Ward—E. J. Abbott, chairman; S. B. Snyder, secretary; E. J. Abbott, ward committeeman; delegates, E. S. Barnett, W. C. Stacy, C. G. Saunders, M. S. Reup, R. C. Philbrick; E. L. Shugart, park commissioner; W. C. Staley, school board.

Second Ward—D. Maltby, chairman; E. F. Watts, secretary; E. F. Watts, committeeman; delegates, John Fox, J. P. Williams, G. H. Gable, N. O. Ward, E. F. Watts, L. G. Knotts, Ed Mott, J. H. Pace.

Third Ward—S. D. Gordon, chairman; J. E. Harkness, secretary; H. L. Shepard, committeeman; Delegates, W. E. Havercook, L. B. Cousins, J. E. Harkness, John Lindt, H. H. Fields; ward alderman, H. H. Van Brunt.

Fourth Ward—J. Dickey, chairman; W. C. Ross, secretary; E. W. Hart, ward committeeman. Delegates, E. W. Hart, E. L. Shugart, A. Conover, John Gilbert, A. P. Flickinger, Cary Reed. Ward alderman, H. D. Hario.

Fifth Ward—E. R. Fonda, chairman; C. Spruit, secretary; P. Smith, ward committeeman. Delegates, W. A. Highsmith, E. R. Fonda, John Shinkle, Harry James.

Sixth Ward—L. D. Robinson, chairman; W. W. Elliott, secretary. Delegates, L. M. Shubert, O. C. Whipple, William Vandenberg.

In the Sixth ward a vote was taken for nominee as alderman, resulting in a tie between A. C. Harding and W. H. Dudley, each receiving forty-six votes. Upon motion, it was agreed to decide the nomination by drawing lots. Mr. Harding was the lucky man.

Would Borrow a Fiddle.

F. A. Olney, armed with a large jag entered J. C. Lange's music store yesterday and wanted to borrow a fiddle. Fearing that the jag and the fiddle would not harmonize, Mr. Lange refused to let him have it, and ordered him to leave the store. This he refused to do, so the proprietor put him out. Olney then stood outside the door on the street and made insulting remarks to Lange, offering to fight him. After standing this for some time Mr. Lange went to the door and used a cane with some force upon the pugnacious individual's ear. Officer Beswick happened along about that time and Olney was taken to the police station, where the charge of drunkenness and disturbing the peace was entered against him.

AMUSEMENTS.

"An Ugly Duckling," a comedy drama in four acts by Mr. Paul M. Potter, rewritten by Mr. Archibald G. Gordon, suggested by Hans Christian Anderson's fable, two characters cribbed from Tennyson's poem, "The Sisters," and produced under the personal direction of Mr. David Belasco, was given its premiere last evening at the Boyd and was only a limited success.

Situations have been dragged in by the heels, speeches of almost limitless length are fired at the audience at nauseum, until a melancholy settled over the audience which no amount of excellent work on the part of the players would have dispelled.

It was early in the evening that the audience discovered that the play was only tolerable from a literary point of view, dramatically amounting to nothing.

But it served to introduce Mrs. Leslie Carter to Omaha theater-goers and taken all in all the introduction was very pleasant.

The new candidate for Stellar honors was a surprise, although the public had been prepared to expect a well rounded performance.

There is much in Mrs. Carter's work to praise. She is enthusiastic, a close student and shows a determination to win a name for herself on the stage by legitimate methods.

While she over-elaborates the part of Kate Grayden, while her laugh is very hollow and insincere, while her pronunciation is very Chicagoan, still she has so much more to commend that one cannot help but expect great things from her when her novitiate is over.

Now is only the formative period of her stage career; five years hence the theatrical world will be better able to pass judgment upon her work.

Mrs. Carter has the benefit of an unusually strong supporting company. Mr. E. J. Henly being particularly worthy of an extended mention enpassant.

His personation of Count Malatesta, a Corsican, was very strong and realistic. No actor on the stage, with the single exception of Mr. Booth, has the magnetism which he possesses. When on the stage he completely dominates it to the exclusion of everybody else and never does he allow the character to descend to the level of the commonplace.

Mr. W. H. Thompson was very delightful as Prof. Graydon.

Mr. Raymond Holmes played a Meadow Brook Hurst young man very pleasantly, winning deserved applause for his clever portraiture.

Miss Helen Bancroft and Miss Helen Russell were both judiciously cast, the former as Hester Graydon, the latter as Mrs. Ganby, a leader of the beau monde.

The play is superbly mounted, Mr. Belasco's excellent training as a stage manager showing in every set.

The audience, while not large, was made up of many society people, but the reception accorded the star was very frigid, not unlike the weather outside.

Predictions for February Weather

As there are but twenty-eight days in this month there ought to be less cold atmosphere than in January, but "all signs fail in dry weather," therefore we can only say that the electric-lighted, steam-heated, vestibuled, limited trains of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will continue to run daily between Omaha, Council Bluffs and Chicago. The electric light reading lamp in each berth is the novelty of the age. Ticket office, 1501 Farnam street, Omaha.

A Missionary Tea.

The ladies of the Kountze Memorial Lutheran church held a missionary tea in the crypt of the church last night. Several long tables were prettily decorated with flowers and laden with delicacies, which were rapidly disposed of by the large number of guests in attendance. The tea was given for the purpose of raising funds for missionary purposes as well as for purposes of social recreation. Both objects were fully attained and a most enjoyable affair gave evidence of the executive ability of the lady managers.

DEEPER THAN EVER.

Machinations of Illinois Legislators Becoming More Complicated.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 26.—It is probable the republicans and Farmers' Mutual Benefit association men will again refrain from voting in the joint assembly tomorrow, as Senator Matthews and several other republicans are still indisposed. Chairman Fuller of the republican steering committee will again raise the point that no quorum having voted, the only thing in order is to adjourn or move a call of the house, that a second ballot is out of order until the presence of a quorum is demonstrated. It is expected Speaker Crafts will overrule this, as he did today. If all the republicans are present except Mathews, they may appeal, hoping with the aid of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit association men to declare the speaker's position not tenable. It is reported that some of the republicans have suggested, if overruled by Speaker Crafts, that the republicans and farmers should go over to the senate and hold a session there. In connection with this story it is said there was a scheme to switch votes from Steeter to Ogles by, thus giving the latter an election which a republican United States senate might sustain. It is hardly probable, however, that such a plan will be tried, and having been talked of the Farmers' Mutual Benefit association men are certainly forewarned.

The speaker today received a petition from a large number of democratic members, asking him not to name committees until the senatorial contest is ended.

Engineer's Cool Head.

The coolness and presence of mind of a passenger engineer on the Georgia Pacific the other day prevented a disastrous collision near West Point, Miss. The telegraph operator neglected to hold a freight train as directed, and it was pulling out of the station when a passenger train was discovered rounding a curve at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The engineer of the freight jumped, making no effort to stop his engine. The engineer of the passenger train, however, brought his train to an abrupt standstill. Leaping from the cab he jumped on the freight engine and stopped the train just two feet from his own.
