ANOTHER STRONG ADVANCE IN WHEAT.

French Crops Show No Signs of Life Even Under Favorable Weather—A Slight Dullness in Provisions.

CHICAGO, March 9.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—There were indications of strong and active markets on change when trading was resumed this morning. Wheat started at $1.01¾ for May, or ¼c up from Saturday's price. During the first hour the price dropped to $1.00¾, and on a strong advance touched $1.02¾. Corn started steady for May at 58½c, and sold at 59½c at the same time. Oats again moved up from 49¾c to 50c. Provisions were less active, with May pork at $9.92½ and $9.97½, and lard and ribs unchanged.

Wheat trade encountered a big bull market from the start this morning. Its action early was unlike that of Saturday and for the same reasons May opened up ¼c from Saturday at $1.00¾ on selling, caused by the big receipts in the northwest and at St. Louis. Then the buying of the day began, and scalpers, bulls and bears and buying by commission houses, and large professional traders, carried the price up 1¼c straight from $1.00¾ to $1.02¾. There was a little decline from this price when on the second bulge with Cudahy and others covering, the price went to $1.02¼, the curb call price a second time. Selling against privileges and for a reaction caused a setback to $1.01¾ about midday. July at the same time sold at 97¼c, off to 96¾c, to 98¼c, to 97¾c.

The character of the advices was little changed from last week. Liverpool opening cables quoted spot wheat up ½d, and futures up 1d; second cables quoted the market strong and advancing. Dunn & Co. had French advices saying that with perfect weather the wheat fields show no life. An item was afloat also that the demands of France will be raised from 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 or 125,000,000 bushels. Agents here of foreign interests were the most bullish people on the floor. On the other hand, the northwest and St. Louis sold here. Minneapolis and Duluth had 582 cars, and St. Louis had receipts of 93,000 bushels. An early estimate here on the visible supply was but 100,000 bushels, decrease. The Milwaukee estimate was 200,000 bushels, decrease. These figures were bearish, as a year ago it was 682,000 bushels. Official figures when posted show a decrease of 136,000 bushels. Pardridge led the early selling, and many of his followers got there at the same time. Later they scrambled for wheat at higher figures. Lindblom and Mitchell were good buyers early. The shorts bought on the up turn, and later the buying was led by Baker, Geddes, Dunn & Co., Hoteley, and other strong houses. Before 1 o'clock closing continental cables came in strong, and wheat sold at the best point of the session up to that hour, touching $1.02½ for May, and 98½c for July.

The best strength of the day in wheat was during the last half hour, when May rose to $1.02¾ and closed at $1.02¾, or 2c up for the session. Other months were equally strong, and March was quoted at $1.00¼. On the curb today puts on May wheat were $1.01¼, and calls were $1.04¼.

The position of corn is little changed from last week. When prices move up there is no one bold enough to offer corn freely. With the increased movement, which caused an easier market on Saturday, the Chicago stock of corn increased but 4,000 bushels. The receipts this morning were over the estimate at 444 cars, but when the estimate for tomorrow (for forty-eight hours) was given out at 460 cars, when something like 630 cars were expected, the market made quite a bulge. Action in leading months up to the last half hour was as follows: May, 58¾c to 59½c; July, 56¾c to 57½c. The visible supply showed a decrease of 180,000 bushels and even the bulls in corn were surprised when the market closed on the bulge at 61c. The predictions are that the end in the advance is not yet. Other months closed as follows: March, 60¼c; April, 60¾c; June, 59¼c; July, 59c; August, 58¼c. Puts on May corn for tomorrow were 59¾c, and calls 62¾c.

Oats for May delivery sold up to 51¼c, or ¼c above the previous high price on this crop. The advance was caused by the strength in corn and buying by the shorts, quite a number of whom are still out in the cold. The market was active, but the trade was all of a scalping nature. There was a noticeable absence of large transactions, both buying and selling being well scattered. May sold at 49¾c, 50¼c, 50c, 51¼c, and closed 1¼c higher, at 51c bid. June sold at 49¾@50¼c, and July at 45¾@46¼c. Considering the activity in the grain markets, the dullness in provisions was very marked. This was owing to the fact that the large receipts of hogs was against any advance, and the strength in corn held the market from any break. Packers were inclined to let the market alone, and outsiders were very scarce. May pork sold at $9.92½ and $9.97½, and then became very dull around $9.95, the closing price of Saturday. Lard sold at $5.90 and $5.92½ for May, and $6.15 and $6.17½ for July, and was then neglected. Ribs did not change 2½c from Saturday. With 50,000 hogs at the yards, prices were 5c off, and the estimate for tomorrow was 40,000 hogs. The range and closing prices for all products appear below.

W. E. McCormick & Co. to F. C. Swartz & Co.—Great activity and excitement have characterized our wheat market today. The opening cables were strong at an advance of a penny in Liverpool and were followed by later cables showing an advance of an additional penny and a half, the London market improving in the same proportion with every other European market following in their wake. The result has been a strong Chicago market, with large buying for both long and short account. The market closes very strong at about top prices. The visible supply decreased 136,000 bushels, this being about what was expected. So long as foreign advices continue strong we must renew our advice to buy wheat at a good round profit. Corn and oats have been very active and strong, the bullish feature being the severe snowstorm all over the west, which lead to the belief that the receipts will fall off on account of the bad condition of the roads. We cannot advise purchases for long account on such a bulge as we have had, but would feel inclined to have our friends not to sell the May deal short on either oats or corn. Provisions dull and inactive.

Logan & Co. to Tomeray & Bryan: Strong foreign advices caused a higher opening, which, a slight set back, was not only maintained to the close, but the last trading was at a cent advance in wheat from the opening figure. The French were reported as large buyers in California and there were some sales both here and New York for export. The situation abroad for the present overshadows large receipts and fine prospects for the growing crop in this country, and the bulls have clearly the advantage, and are pressing it. Should the United Kingdom follow the late continental buying to any extent local conditions would be lost sight of. Corn was strong and closed at top prices, it being reserved which will be shown tomorrow will be light. Volume of provision trade restricted, but some advance in the market in sympathy with grain.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co to McWhorter & Co.—Wheat advanced today on bullish reports and in some instances inflammatory advices from abroad. It is probable also that shorts were anxious to cover in anticipation of a bullish report by the government tomorrow on the stock of wheat in farmers' hands. It is thought this will also show from 45,000,000 to 55,000,000 bushels less than last year, when it was 156,000,000 bushels. Two years ago it was 112,000,000 bushels; the smallest amount reported for the past eight years is 167,000,000 bushels, in 1886. It would show that the anticipated smaller stock in first hands had already been heavily discounted, as May wheat was selling a year ago from 78c to 79c, while it is now 24c higher, with stocks in second hands on both coasts larger than a year ago. It is a wild bull market and we can see no adequate cause for so much enthusiasm on the long side. As to corn and oats there was no occasion for the sharp boom in these grains behind necessity of shorts. It is probable, though, the receipts will increase shortly and prices should naturally decline some, but there is so little contract stuff now in warehouses that it is easy for the clique to work prices and force shorts in. Apprehension that the government may report very light stocks in farmers' hands on the 1st inst. may also have stimulated buying. Last year the quantity was 970,000,000 bushels, or 250,000,000 to 300,000,000 more than the average for some years previous. In 1889 it was 787,000,000 bushels, and 508,772,000 bushels in 1888. It is generally expected that the quantity will be considerably smaller than two years ago, and many believe it will be smaller than three years ago.

We think supplies will be sufficient to go around, and shortness is generally over estimated, but would renew our caution to keep off the short side for the present. Provisions were dull and featureless until near the close, when they advanced on the strength in grain. Ryan was a large buyer of ribs. Exports last week show small increase over corresponding week last year.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, March 9.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—CATTLE—Business was only fairly active, and the prices barely steady on steer stock, while prime or even good butchers' stock was scarce and generally sold higher, one bunch of fancy Hereford heifers, averaging 1,021 pounds, sold at $4.40, equal to steers of the same average. Old canning cows, however, showed no particular change; in fact everything, like a large number of this class of stock, would send values down to zero, as the demand is limited, to say the least. The stocker and feeder trade presented no new features as compared with the close of last week.

HOGS—The trade was rather slow, especially toward the close, when common and light mixed sold a good 5c lower, while good to choice sold about as on Saturday. The general market closed rather week, with a good number of common and medium left. Rough lots, $3.30@3.40; good to best mixed, $3.45@3.50; prime heavy and butcher weights, $3.55@3.65; light, $3.20@3.60.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, March 9.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—STOCKS—There was more than the usual attendance at the stock traders' resorts over Sunday, and the popular belief was that there must be a fair recovery from the present break down in prices. From the Gould headquarters it was given out that operators who were not around to trade stocks on the weakness when congress adjourned will soon find inducements to buy. A pointer was out that insiders will take Lake Shore at all further concessions. There was much talk about the Northwest being too high for other grangers. Trading opened with nearly every active stock in better prices, with Burlington, Northwestern and St. Paul each at an advance of ⅛. There was, however, very little of interest in the market, only St. Paul, Louisville, Nashville, Burlington & Quincy being really active, with a moderate business in Rock Island and Lackawanna, while the remainder of the market was dull and featureless, as usual of late. The improving tendency, however, disappeared toward 10:30 o'clock and prices in most of the stocks were again brought below those of the opening. This heavy feeling continued up to midday, and the prices of more active stocks lost about 1 per cent from the best figures early. New England dropped to 32½, Burlington from 77¼ to 75⅞, Lackawanna from 134½ to 133⅝, and Union Pacific from 44¾ to 43⅝. Northwestern held remarkably firm at better than the closing price on Saturday. There was much improved feeling in stocks later in the day, and prices recovered to about the best figures, under the lead of Burlington, which closed at 77¼, or a ¾ net gain. Other western stocks were advanced in proportion.

Kennett-Hopkins & Co. to McWhorter & Co.—Today's stock market has been under the influence of the financial condition of affairs in London and the operations for London account on our exchange. London has worn a much brighter face today in financial matters and the anxiety which was felt there throughout last week regarding the Argentine situation seems to have given place to a more hopeful turn in affairs. As a result stocks of all kinds were strong in London and consols made rapid advance. It is also reported that the fortnightly settlement, day after tomorrow, will show a large short interest in the market. Notwithstanding our market opened somewhat higher under the influence of London quotations and London purchasers, traders were disposed to fight any advance and took the initiative in selling the market down. After selling a good many stocks, they began to appreciate that they were about the only sellers there were in the market and were gradually getting themselves in an unpleasant place, consequently they ceased selling and devoted their energies to covering. The result was the market became much more active and very strong in the afternoon. While the advance in prices taking the list throughout is not material, the undertone of strength that the market has exhibited is decidedly encouraging and no doubt if the London market comes in strong tomorrow morning prices will make a further quick advance. Some encouragement is being derived by believers in the value of stocks from the fact that hostile railway legislation in the western states is hanging fire and indications are that there will not be much, if any, enacted this winter. This will put quite a changed aspect upon affairs, because expectations for months have been that the element which obtained control in a number of western states at the last election would go to all lengths in their hostile feeling towards the railways. The market is about as professional as it can be, and a decided improvement in either direction does not at the moment seem probable, but the market has many friends who need but little encouragement to come into it for a turn on the long side, and no doubt outsiders would take an interest if they saw the market had stability and was well supported. Money was easy at from 3 to 4 per cent. Total sales, 175,629.

Currents of Commerce.

J. W. Haythorn, in the grocery business at Almeria, has been closed up.

J. B. Hutton, Rushville, Neb., in the hardware and implement business, has been closed up.

The Earl fruit company of Los Angeles, Cal., writes under date of March 2: Heavy rains and washouts in southern California have seriously interfered with the picking, packing of oranges since February 15, and shipments of California oranges have been light in consequence. Orders have been accumulating at this end of the line. Los Angeles and mountain oranges are higher and we will not be surprised to see Riversides selling higher soon.

It has recently been reported to the government that extensive deposits of bauxite exist in Arkansas in irregular patches. As this mineral has only hitherto been found in small quantities, and, with the exception of a single bed in Georgia, never before in the United States, "the find is likely to prove a valuable one." The growing demand for the better class of refractory crucibles and tiles has caused an increased use of this mineral, and as it is also employed in some of the aluminum processes and for the manufacture of alum and aluminate of soda, the discovery is of great commercial interest.

The Baltimore Sun says that "the south Georgia melon growers' convention was held in Albany, Ga., February 18. The object of the meeting was the consideration of increased acreage in melons this year, and to provide methods for the prompt handling and movement of the crop. It is thought the entire crop of Georgia will be fully double that of 1890. Georgia and Alabama had 21,000 acres in melons last year. This season there will be at least 40,000. South Carolina shows an increase of nearly 50 per cent over her 9,000 acres of 1890. The Louisville & Nashville and the Cincinnati roads carried 12,000 car loads of melons last year. With 500 new fruit cars they expect to double the record this year."
