

TWENTIETH YEAR.

OMAHA'S LATEST BIG FIRE.

Behn Sash and Door Factory Totally Destroyed Early Last Night.

LOSS EXCEEDS ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND.

No Chance for Saving the Building. Product and Machinery Alike Destroyed. Men of the Elements' Last Banquet.

Today only some blackened, crumbling brick walls and a pile of ruins mark the spot where yesterday stood the Behn sash, door and blind factory on Sherman avenue and Clark street.

Just before 8 o'clock last night the residents in the northern part of the city were startled by the loud and prolonged whistling of the siren.

Almost at the same moment a motor train was turning the corner of Sixteenth and Clark streets.

From the windows of the building and from the corner of Eighteenth and Clark streets, a fire was seen to burst forth.

By this time the flames had gained such headway that they were beyond control and a general alarm was turned in.

A few moments later the roof fell in with a crash, and the great force of the falling roof struck the sash and door factory.

The building was in ruins and the contents were scattered in all directions.

The fire was extinguished by the fire department, but the damage was done.

The loss will not fall over $100,000 on the Behn property, which is insured for $250,000.

The fire was caused by a defective gas pipe in the basement.

THEIR UNIFORMS IN SOAK.

Colored Troops of the District of Columbia Pass Their Paraphernalia.

TWO COMPANIES ORDERED DISBANDED.

Congressman Farquhar Thinks the Ship Subsidy Bill Will Be Put Into Full Force by the First of July.

WASHINGTON BUREAU THE BEE. The colored troops of the District of Columbia are passing their paraphernalia.

Yesterday General Ordway, commander-in-chief of the National guard of the District of Columbia, ordered the two companies of colored troops which have heretofore been attached to the National guard.

The order naturally created a very great stir in colored circles, but it was not immediately complied with, as the troops are not yet equipped with uniforms and accoutrements as directed by the United States government.

It is believed that the property of the United States had not been turned over, as ordered, and it is expected that the result will be beneficial, not only to the colored troops of the national guard, but also to the colored people of the district.

Congressman Farquhar, who is virtually the father of the so-called subsidy bill, expresses the belief that the measure will be put into full effect by July 1, and that by the early fall it will be possible to judge of its effects.

He, H. K. Thayer, and a number of gentlemen interested in building a new trade with Europe with America and Australia, have been in consultation with the postmaster general for a day or two, and it is expected that the result will be beneficial, not only to the colored troops of the national guard, but also to the colored people of the district.

It will be remembered that some time ago Mr. Morrill of Colorado gave a suit against the secretary of the treasury to compel him to accept a certain silver bar without securing a license for the same.

Preparations had been made by Secretary Whitney to become convinced of his death, or, at least, to be satisfied that the necessary preliminary steps to resign had been taken.

While contending aspirants are firing all sorts of snotty questions at the president in his efforts to select good men for more than a dozen important positions, the average republican politician should not forget that in this selection, above all others, there is a very high executive duty to perform.

The political effect of the appointments may have but a minor influence on the public mind, but in filling the benches of the federal courts, up to this time the most disapproved of aspirants, or the least qualified, have never been appointed.

A first class lawyer himself, he knows a just or an unjust man, and he knows a good man from a bad one.

MIXTURE OF CONIUGAL BLISS.

The Peculiar Position of a Too Muchly Married Man.

THE LABOR ISSUES OF GREAT BRITAIN.

An Exciting Scene in the Chamber of Deputies at Rome—A Journey From Paris to Moscow on Suits.

PARIS, March 12.—(Special Cablegram to The Bee.)—A wealthy resident and prominent society man of this city, M. Antoine, has just been condemned by the sensational tribunal to one year's imprisonment as the result of a peculiar mixture of conjugal bliss.

M. Antoine is popularly known in society as the "miserable husband," and on account of his physical deformity, but simply because he is president of a crowd of gay young dukes whose members attire themselves as politicians on carnival days.

Some little time ago he figured as a resident in a divorce court, and when his wife secured a decree he lost no time in marrying his mistress.

Having once secured the rightful possession of his name, however, this strange creature, who previously had been a perfect angel, changed into a veritable virago, and after a few months of anything but blissful wedlock, M. Antoine fled to his paternal home and once more took up his abode with his former wife who having repented her apostasy, was ready and willing to extend him sympathy and shelter.

For a few months his life was again a garden of roses, but by the present wife, jealous of his whereabouts, and one day last month a couple of gentlemen swooped down upon his abode and escorted him to the detention prison.

Upon his trial he was bitterly denounced by the crowd of his former admirers, and his first, but the pleadings of the latter could not save him from the heavy sentence.

The extradition treaty now proposed to the United States by the French government will carry him again as soon as his term expires.

BOGUS INSURANCE CONCERN.

The Rushing Business Done by a One-Man Company.

A DIAMOND OF BRILLIANT LUSTRE.

The Mysterious Wiggington Family of Kentucky Narrowly Escapes Lynching—Arrest of a Missouri Embezzler in Utah.

SALT LAKE, Utah, March 12.—(Special Telegram to The Bee.)—About a year ago a smooth-tongued and prepossessing stranger, calling himself Dan V. Diamond, arrived here from Los Angeles and established an insurance company, which he soon afterward sold at a good price to a Western insurance company.

The insurance company was called the Wiggington family, and was established in the city of Salt Lake, Utah, and was a mutual insurance company, and was established in the city of Salt Lake, Utah, and was a mutual insurance company.
