John W. Kilgore Unsuccessfully Cuts His Throat in Trying to Die.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM THE COURTS.

A Divulgence and Motions Filed in the District Tribunal—A Sensational Land Suit—Mrs. Cary's Death.

John W. Kilgore attempted suicide yesterday afternoon at about 10 o'clock at his residence, 1766 Sixteenth street. He has been laid up at home for the past three weeks with a severe attack of grippe, and during that time he has had a number of fits of despondency, which have alarmed the members of his family.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Kilgore laid down on a lounge for a short rest. She had nearly fallen asleep when she was awakened by the sound of a heavy body falling on the floor. She at once arose, when to her horror she found her husband lying on the floor, with the blood gushing from a slit several inches in length in the front part of his throat. In spite of her horror she had presence of mind enough to run for some cloths, with which she staunches the flow of blood. In the meantime she sent one of the neighbors for Dr. Cleaver. By the time he arrived on the scene the blood had ceased to flow. He examined the wound and found that it was not serious. Dr. Cleaver took Mrs. Kilgore to the hospital and left Kilgore to the care of his wife.

When he was discovered by his wife, Kilgore said: "I've finished my work." After the doctor had finished his work the wound was changed his mind and decided that the best thing to get well was to let it heal, but he was very much discouraged, and that the next time he would do better.

Kilgore is an old soldier, and his comrades are assisting him in caring for him. A careful watch is kept of him night and day in order to prevent him from repeating the operation. It is thought that if he can be kept in safety until he recovers from the grip, his suicidal mania will leave him.

Our spring stock is now complete. If you want to be in style call at Hutter's, the tailor, 310 Broadway.

The young ladies of All Saints' guild of the Episcopal church will give a social in the Royal Arcadian parlors, Thursday evening, April 3. Admission 50c. A general public invitation is extended.

DISTRICT COURT NEWS.

Several Interesting Affidavits and Motions Heard in Court.

A number of decrees were rendered by Judge Deemer in district court on defaults. Among the cases so decided were nineteen, which were begun by T. J. Evans some time ago by various parties, to foreclose mortgages. Substantially the same entries were made in all the cases, the plaintiff being granted the writ of foreclosure demanded.

The defendants in the cases were as follows: John Schroeder et al., A. M. Johnston et al., Henry Bruhnsen, Rachel Corbett, L. A. Gray, N. J. Tibbitts, Morris Peterson et al., J. B. Van Patten et al., D. J. Hutchinson et al., G. W. Hulme et al., H. J. Hamer et al., M. J. Harrison et al., S. Thomsen et al., J. P. Moore, Levi A. Simons et al., Martin A. Green et al., Bernhard Albers.

A number of papers were filed which are of interest to the public. Among them are motions for continuance in all the cases in which J. P. Casady is defendant, and in which R. H. M. Sassa, J. H. Sassa, C. B. Jaqueline & Co., are plaintiffs. Accompanying the motion are affidavits from Drs. J. H. Moore, E. Thomsen, S. Thomsen and John Green, stating that the defendant, J. P. Casady, is in such a state of health that it has been impossible for him to make preliminary affidavits in the cases against him. They claim that he is stopped over, his walk is that of a paralytic, his limbs are stiff, and he is unable to walk. They say that his mouth remains open constantly and the beating of his heart is very faint.

They state that any shock would certainly kill him, and that, in view of the fact, they have cautioned his attorney not to speak to him about his cases. They also filed an affidavit from Attorney Finley Burke, in which he claims that he has been prevented from making preparations for the trial of the cases by the commands of the physicians.

A number of damage suits were begun by D. E. Gleason as a result of a number of attachments suits that were begun against him last January. Gleason's claim is presented in the form of an answer and a cross-petition in the attachment suits, which were commenced against him at that time. The parties from whom he is seeking damages and the amounts are as follows: The Lane coal company, $200; the Omaha & St. Louis railway company, $50; the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railway company, $150; L. Pierce & Co., $50. In all the cases, Gleason says that the plaintiffs charged him with having disposed of his goods with intent to defraud his creditors, and that there was no probable cause for their making such a charge against him.

A reply was filed in the case of Rachel S. Lyman against the Omaha & St. Louis railway company. This was a suit which was commenced by the widow of the late Joseph Lyman to collect the amount of a policy issued by the company on the life of her husband. An answer was filed by the defendant in which they claim that the premiums on the policy were not paid, and that the company is not liable for the death of her husband. They also claim that the policy was void because of the death of her husband.

In the case which was commenced a few days ago by E. H. Hiddle against the Fairview Cemetery association, in his petition a number of lots which now form a part of Fairview cemetery, a general denial of the claims of the plaintiff was filed by the city attorney.

Eastman Has Gone. P. T. Locke, of a detective agency of St. Joseph, was in the city yesterday looking after H. B. Eastman, alias Hunt, alias Elton, the well known and notorious desperado. He had a warrant for the arrest of Eastman on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, issued at Cameron, Mo. He stated that the man is also wanted at Blair, Lincoln, Nebraska, and other places in Nebraska. He is also wanted at St. Joseph and is charged with beating a board bill. Locke left for St. Joseph last evening with Eastman in charge.

Death of Mrs. Cary. Mrs. Phoebe Cary died yesterday afternoon at 10 o'clock at the residence of her son, Chief of Police Wade Cary, 333 Avenue F. She was eighty-five years of age. She was born in Franklin county, New York. In 1845 she was married to Jonathan W. Cary, with whom she lived up to the time of his death, after which, in 1881, she came to this city and has since resided with her son. For the last six months she has been invalid. It has been known for some days that she was too feeble to stand the strain

He states that he is not in any other business, and that accounts for his being able to take the place at so low a figure.

A Sensational Land Suit. In the superior court some time ago A. M. Davis began suit against Mrs. Agnes Folsom for $200 damages for her failure to comply with her agreements to transfer some property which he had purchased upon contracts. Yesterday Mrs. Folsom, through her attorney, Frank Trimble, filed her answer. It contains a great many sensational allegations, which give the case a great deal of importance.

The execution of the terms of the contract is admitted by Mrs. Folsom, but she denies that O. F. Bilger accepted or agreed to accept said bonds or ratified their acceptance by any other person. She also alleges that the time the bonds for the transfer of the property which Mrs. Folsom did not convey, W. W. Bilger executed and delivered to the defendant as part consideration for two certain lots two notes, each for the sum of $85, purporting to have been signed by O. F. Bilger. But the defendant denies that O. F. Bilger executed or delivered the notes, and she alleges that the execution of the bonds given by the defendant was for the purpose of procuring some other person to do it for her. The defendant also alleges that the execution of the bonds given by the defendant was for the purpose of procuring some other person to do it for her.

When he was discovered by his wife, Kilgore said: "I've finished my work." After the doctor had finished his work the wound was changed his mind and decided that the best thing to get well was to let it heal, but he was very much discouraged, and that the next time he would do better.
