Bloody Riot Between Negroes, Policemen and "Hashers" at Nosa Yesterday.

RACE PREJUDICE STARTED THE ROW.

"Hasbers" Refused to Serve Colored Customers and Were Encouraged by the Proprietors-Out on Eall,

Three pistol shots rang out in rapid succession, stools were hastily vacated and the lunch counter was deserted as a score or more of excited customers made a wild dash for the door of Keystone chop house No. 1 about 12:30 o'clock yesterday. There was a row in progress, and it was a he is a practical plumber, and operated a shop big one. Everybody who engaged in it participated in earnest, and it is nobody's fault that one or more persons were not killed. As it is, Officer Cliff Rouzer is distigured for life, and it was only a lightning like Witt's Little Early Risers are taken. Small movement on the part of Officer Godols that broke the force of the blow that was intended to end his life.

The cause of the trouble was the refusal of the "bashers" to wait upon colored custom-

Harry L. Pride, a waiter on the B. & M. dining car "Denver," running between this city and Creston, and C. W. Young a buffet man on the Chicago, Milwankon St. Paul & Omaha road, entered the place and ordered dinner.

The "hashers" at once informed them that be "niggers" were waited on there. They presented, but without avail, as they were told that they might sit there as long as they pleased, but they would not be served Officer Jesse Newman, also colored, had entered the room only a few minutes before, and had been waited upon. He was sitting but a short distance away, and has attention was attracted by the wrangle.

The verbal disagreement was of very that he "wouldn't wait on any nigger and my men needs't either."

He at once joined in the onsingsht; where upon the "hashers" jumped over the counter and began heating the two colored men most

He endeavored to defend himself with his club, but his assailants were too numerous, and be was repeatedly knocked down. He finally managed to pull his gun and fired three times. As the crowd made a break for the door, Officer Rouzer, who was passing on a motor, saw what was up and rushed to the assistance of his brother officer. He knocked down two or three of the bel-ligerents, receiving several plows in return, when one of the "hashers," known as "Sheeney George," made a pass at him with a heavy mest cleaver. The fearful weapon was aimed to cleave the officer's skull, but just as it descended Officer Godola, who had fought his way in. struck up the arm of the would-be marderer, knocking the weapon from his hand. As it fell the keen blade struck Rouzer upon the se, splitting open that organ from top to

Notwithstanding this, he struck his assailant with his fist, felling him like a log.

For the next few seconds all that was heard were the blows from the officers' clubs, and it was not until the "hashers" heads were liberally pounded that they surrendered.

Everybedy was covered with blood, and the chophouse looked like a slaughter pen.

After hostilities ceased there was a general demand for napkins and towels, and it was a sadly demornized lot of prisoners that was escorted to the patrol wagon.

A crowd of fully one thousand people had assembled, but they were kept at a respectful distance by a squad of officers under Sergeant Ormsty who arrived before the fight was fairly over.

The simmen who were arrested pave the names of J. H. Hopewell, W. S. Flanagan, Joe Keiley, Ramsys Jensen, Frank Pierce and George Matthews, alias "Sheeney

George."
The first four were charged with disturbing the peace by fighting, and the other two with assault with intent to kill. They were locked up in separate cells.

The doctor states that Rouzer's injuries are not serious, although he will carry a fearful scar to his grave.

The officer gives Officer Godola credit for saving his life, as he could not have stopped the descent of the cleaver.

Matthews is well known to the police as an all-around crook, and has repeatedly been under arrest for various crimes.

None of the prisoners were seriously in-jured, although all were more or less bat-tered. Two had severe scalp wounds, while black eyes and discolared bruises were nu-case will have a hearing at 9 o'clock this If your cough keeps you awake and rest less at night, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and obtain immediate relief. This remedy allays inflammation, heals the pulmonary or

Conclusion of the Investigation of the Plumbing I os pector.

The curtain was rung up on the third act In the plumbing inspector's investigation yesterday morning. The committee decided to let the interested parties appear by attorneys, and the play went on.

Inspector Godfrey was called to prove that Major Dennis wanted to do the fair thing with Dennis Fitzpatrick, who had the con tract for doing the plumbing in the new Boyd theater. Fitzpatrick wanted to use a lighter fitting than the ordinance contem-plates, but Dennis would not allow him to do so though he would go out of his way to show Fitzpatrick a favor.

John Rowe was sworn. He testified that as far as he knows, Dennis was competent to fill the office of superintendent of plumbing. On cross-examination he testified that he was present when Bennis inspected one job, but that was all. From his personal knowledge Rowe knew nothing about Dennis' fitness for the office of superintendent.

John Baife knew Major Dennis and thought he was competent to conduct the business of the office. On cross-examination Balfe admitted that he had never seen Dennis doing and work and knew nothing of his ability competency as a superintendent of plumb

M. H. Spellman was called. He knew Dennis and regarded him as competent to fill the office of superintendent of plumeing. Mr. Spellman had never seen Dennis inspect any work, but formed his opinion from conversa-

Councilman Morearty testified. He knew about the Boyd theater plumbing, having had a talk with Fitzpatrick and Dennis about the matter. He thought Fitzpatrick was trying to violate the ordinance by attempting to put a council the matter.

NEBRASKA'S CROPS.

Prospects Flattering for a Large Acreage and Large Yield. With snew still on the ground in many por tions of the state it may be a little premature to commence talking about the new crop, but a subject of so much importance to all classes of business men is entitled to be considered as never out of date.

In sections of the country where winter wheat constitutes the staple crop there has been a good deal of talk about crop prospects all winter, and these reports have been most flattering. Never in the history of the country have the wheat fields given promise of a better yield. In Europe the outlook for the winter wheat crop has been very poor and the reports of damage to the growing crop covers the greater portion of the wheat area of the continent—hence the rapid advance of wheat in this country during the past thirty days. As Nebraska is not a winter wheat state, these facts are of interest only so far as a scarcity and the consequent higher price of one cereal improves the degund and price of one cereal improves the demand and price or others.

A little winter wheat is grown in southern Nebraska along the Kansas line, and considerable spring wheat is sown throughout the state, but the great staple is corn and as that is a late crop it will be some time before anything very definite can be given as to the crops of Nebraska. Still it may be of interest to hear what those who are best informed bave to say regarding the subject.

A. B. Jaquith of the Union elevator, remarks that what little winter wheat there is in the state is looking well. The farmerswill put in quite an acreage of spring wheat but will not sow outs in large quantities. Communications with farmers all over the state indicate that they are generally feeling very hopeful on account of the heavy snows and they expect to harvest and come. The outs they expect to harvest good crops. The only alling causing them any anxiety is the lateness of the soring
H. C. Miller, whose business as a grain buyer puts him in communication with farmers and grain men all over the state, says . Last year there was no rain to spear of and the ground became baked so that the few rains were quickly absorbed and did little good. This season we start in with the ground thoroughly soaked and with the rivers and creeks full of water. In my opin-ion Nebraska never had better prospects for a good crop, if we can only have warm weather now and not be too late in getting the seed into the ground. This applies to all sections of the state, the North and South Platte country and clear west into Colorado. If the farmers can get their oats and wheat in by April 10 and their corn by May 15 they will feel all right. There is no doubt but what the core acreage will be largely in-creased the coming season as new land is being constantly opened up to the west. There is more winter wheat in the southern part of the state than ever before and it could not look better." The Fowler elevator people say that they officed a week ago where a little spring wheat had been sown in the country west of Kearney and in the direction of Callaway, but, generally speaking, the spring is late. There has been snow enough to insure good crops. In some portions of the state it looks now as if they might have even too much water. If the farmers are given my kind of a show to get their crops into the ground the acreage will be large.

The railroad companies have not yet commenced to receive their crop reports.

They Decide on a Partial Division of Their Duties.

The four new judges held a meeting yester day morning for the purpose of deciding upon some future plan for work. But little was accomplished, however, owing to the fact that the new members of the bench are desirous of consulting with Judges Doane, Hopewell and Wakeley before making final arrangements. Either Judge Irvine or Ferguson will go to Burt county tonight to take up the business of the term where it was dropped by Judge Clarkson. Judge Estelle will preside over the crin inal docket, and will begin work next Monday morning.

Judge Davis will go to St. Louis today and will go onto the beach immediately upon his return, which will be probably one week from next Monday.

It is thought that Judge Donne will take one of the equity dockets and that either lr-vine or Ferguson will take up his old docket. A general meeting of all the judges will be held Saturday afternoon, at which time the assignments will be made. The bailiffs and stenographers will be appointed at that
