WHO STOLE THE PAGE?

Mysterious Tampering Kills the Ballot Light Ordinance.

The way of competitive electric light ordinances is hard, as the friends of the Ballot Ordinance are beginning to find out.

The loss was discovered yesterday, when the clerk's friends of the ordinance visited the city clerk's office to see that it was in shape for the mayor and found that the title page had been tampered with.

The mysterious disappearance was freely discussed by the council, and the mayor could not be expected to let the document in its mutilated condition, it was decided to introduce a new ordinance Tuesday night and pass it as soon as possible.

Half a dozen members of the city council met at the council chamber last night to talk over committee work, but they talked only of the Ballot Ordinance.

City Clerk Groves said he thought it was an outrage to throw all the blame of losing the title page of the ordinance upon him and his deputies.

President Lowry stated that the Ballot Ordinance had been stolen from Comptroller Madsen's house last Wednesday, and was given to Comptroller Dannelly the next day by Mr. Ballou.

The church society of First M. E. church at their last meeting decided to devote the first three minutes of each session to fundamental instruction.

These floors filled with latest spring novelties in millinery at Bliss'.
