But the concourse was sorely disappointed. The visitors were on their mettle, and put up a game that few teams in the country could beat. They batted and fielded and run bases, and conceded, as if it were in the middle of the reason, instead of their second game, and despite the fact that they fell far in the rear in the first maif of the game, they wouldn't say die, and pulled as pretty a game out of the furnace as a fan everlooked upon. BIG BASQUET AT BOSTON.

First Dinner of the Republican Club of Massachusetts.

Bosrov, Mass., April 8.-The largest political gathering of the kind held in Boston for years-the first dinner of the republican club of Massachusetts-was held in Music hall this evening. Covers were laid for StO, besides guests and speakers. President Roger Wolcott presided, and among the preminent guests were Secretary of the Navy Tracy, Lieutenant Hale, Congressmen Walker, Lodge, Greenhalge and Morse, ex-Governor Ames, Senator Aldrich, ex-Governor Brackettand General Banks. Secretary Tracy in his speech paid a high tribute to the republican party and the present administration and defended the Fifty-first congress against the charge of extravagance. The secretary then gave a detailed account of the work in which the navy department of the work in which the navy department was at present engaged and concluded as follows: "One last point in naval affairs remains to be considered—the question of the employment of labor at navy yards. For lifty years this has been a weak spot in the naval administration. Whatever the party in control of the every Whatever the party in control of the government, it seems hitherto to have been power-less to exclude political influence in the emplayment of navy yard labor. It is not enough, apparently, that mechanics and work men in the government shops should be republicans or democrats; they must wear the collar of the bosses who run the local political machine. The practice is a source of democratication to any party that attempts to stop it, destructive to the government service and debauching to local and national polities. It is an ulcer to the naval administrative system, and I propose to cut it out."

The secretary and the details of the sy & tem be proposes to adopt are being prepared and in a short time will be in full operation. The essential features, as applied to many yards, are: First. The appointment at each yard of a registration board to register all applicants for employment in the department of unskilled labor, to be selected as required on the principle of first come first served with reference only to army or navy veterans or men having families to support. Sec-oud-Registration of applications for po-sitions of skilled labor under the same rules of preference and employment on trial ne-cording to merits. Third—The selection of foremen upon competitive examination. The board will consist of officers of the navy enmged in conducting the work of the yards, The secretary added that, having begun in this way, he does not propose to stop until the principle of efficiency and worth is the only test of navy yard employment. He is satisfied the plan can be carried out so it will remove all suspiction of machine politics from the navy yards; that economy and efficiency of work will be promoted, while the commurity will be sure that the navy yard in its midst, instead of being the focus of local political intrigue, is a place of employment of a body of independent and self-respecting workmen, whose only road to promotion lies in good work. Mr. Roger Weicott, in the course of his speech, said: "The republican party must rally to its standard the recruit and drum out he mercenary. The kind of personalities that seeks and requires what is called windication' is always at the expense of the party and is a blunder when it is not a crime."

IMMIGRATION CONTROVERSY. Italian Convicts and Paupers Not Desirable Citizens. New York, April 8 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE |- The controversy between Superintendent of Immigration Webber and the agents of the steamship Inizetiva, which brought to this port a number of undersirable Italian immigrants, is not yet ended. Colonel Webber is determined that the immgrants shall be conveyed back on the steamship that landed them and at the expense of the vessel's owners. In a sharp letter the agents of the Inizetiva say that the superintendent had no right to crowd the undesirable immigrants back on their vessel without proper notification. The agents have declared that the Inextiva is not going back to Italy, and that they will not be responsible for their return unless the immigrants are retained at the barge until such time as the agents are ready. This determination on the part of the agents has aroused Colonel Webber and he has laid down the law on the subject. Colonel Webber adds in his letter: "It cannot be that the authorities of a foreign alims house or prison may place the immates thereof on a ship destined to this country, which vessel was not to be returned to the port whence she came, and that such convicts or paupers might be folsted on our people on the ground that the business or other interests of the steamship company have made it necessary for the vessel between other ports."

The Inizetiva cleared at the custom house today for Lisbon.

The Italian societies here are deeply interested in the controversy. Large Bodies of Troops Sent Out to Guard the Frontier.

SOME VERY HOSTILE DEMONSTRATIONS.

Ready to Repel a flussian Invasion -Backed by Germany-The Pope on Labor and Socialism.

Lospon, April 8 .- [Special Cablegram to THE BEE.]-A Vienna dispatch says that the Austrian government, not being reassured by Russia's denial of its unfriendly designs, has already concentrated large bodies of troops at Darropol and Brody to watch the Galician frontier. The Tenth corps, under Reinlander, has been reinforced by a portion of the First corps, and Prince Wain disch-Groetz of the Eleventh is watching the frontier with a large force of cavalry. Count Hartenan, formerly Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, who is now an officer in the Austrian service, has, it is said, been called into consultation at the war office with a view of utilizing his services in an important command. The Austrian authorities have great contidence in the abilities of the prince, which were proven in the war between Servia and Bulgaria. It is said that the Austrian government has important secret information from Russia which is the basis for the warlike precautions. Apparently by some understanding with Austria Germany has suddenly begun to increase its forces near the Russian frontier, and to hasten the completion of works intended to facilitate the transportation of troops. All indications go to show that a Russian in vasion would be met by formidable armies, whether first directed against Austria or Germany, or both countries at once. On the French side Germany has a series of forts that could not fall to delay an invasion long enough to give ample time for the concentration of an army.

The German kaiser has laid out a personal programme which apparently does not take programme which apparently does not take into account any early declaration of hostilities. On April 21 he is going to Wartburg for some black cock shooting, and after spending a few days there he will proceed on a visit to Count Goerse, in Upper Hesse, to shoot on his estates. The emperor will not, as has been expected, go thence to Alsace Lorraine. If he pays a visit to these provinces at all this season it will not be payers. at all this season it will not be pefore September. It is to be noted, however, that twice as many officers have been detailed as during the kulser's shooting trip to Silesia as messengers to carry any information from the chancelor to the kaiser during the absence of the latter from the capital, state se crets not being intrusted either to post or telegraph.

The document is being translated into all languages. A copy will be forwarded to the heads of discesses throughout the world. The encyclical will be formally issued on the last day of April or the firs day of May. In its composition the holy father has sought for information, advice and guidance from Cardinal Manning of England, Cardinal Moran of Australia, Cardinal Gibbons of the United States, Arch-bishop Walsh of Ireland, and Cardinal Larrigerie of Africa. On their reports of the industrial and social situation in their respective countries the conclusions of the encyclical are based. The first part of the document is a historical review of the attitude of the church in the past toward workers. The second part will set forth the social and labor questions of the day, the prominence they have assumed, and the necessity the church is under in dealing with them. The third part will may down a policy which the church adopts on these questions. The holy father in this document does no enter into details, but confines himself to generalizations. In an elequent passage at the close he warmly exhorts the ciergy to warmly sympathine with all classes of workers. The question of the limitation of daily labor is left to be settled by committees where it arises, according to local needs and Petroce Napoleon's Will. Rose, April 8 on The will of the late Prince Napoleon is rosmirkably procise. Ulinois Stockyards Charges.

SPRINGPIELD, Ill., April 8 .- The house ommittee on agriculture this evening heard arguments on the question of stockyards charges by representatives of the various stockyards companies of the state. The bill under consideration was Ramsey's which has been endersed by the Farmers' club and which provides an ironclad schedule of maximum charges. Iras Coy of the Union stock-yards, Chicago, and Vice President Knox of the East St. Louis yards argued against any reduction of charges. Mr. Coy was very forcible in his argument. He explained that the stockyards company maintained a double track railroad from Brighton to the the shipper a cent to transport his stock. Not only this, but there is a great deal of labor and risk in the care and man-agement of the stock and to cover all this there were but two charges made for food and yardage. The complaints were not made by shippers who understood things, but by small country shippers, who reasoned by the price of food and did not realize that by the price of food and did not realize that $I a bushel charged for corn covered all these other items of expense. In closing Mr. Coy said that last year the Union steekyards were responsible for one-half the commerce of Chicago. One hundred and fifty thousand people are clothed and fed by the yards. Every bullock standing in the farmer's yard today is worth $10 more to him be-cause of the existence of this market here. The Alton Not Disturbed.

Curcago, April 8.-General Manager Chappell of the Alter road is not disturbed over the boycott declared against his line by eastern lines because the Alton refused to pledge itself to pay no more commissions. He says the Alton did not pay commissions from the time the board of rulings order went into effect until April 1, when it was discovered that its competitors were doing so and resumed it. The Alten managed once before to get along for two years without the co-operation of eastern roads, and he thinks they can contrive to live now. It will likely establish agents of its own in the east. President Hank of the Jacksonville-Southeastern has reopened the Chicago St. Louis trouble by withdrawing from the western passenger association. It is tikely that this will result in the cancellation of the traffle arrangement of the Atchism.
