THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT.

The visit of the chief executive of the nation to any of its cities not immediately adjacent to the capital is a memorable event. Our country is so wide in area, and its cities are so numerous that only those on great trunk transportation lines are likely to be favored.

President Harrison has included Omaha in his tour to the coast and return and will be the honored guest of the city May 13. Omaha and Nebraska should tender him an ovation.

The chief executive of the nation should be received with the honors befitting his exalted station. When General Grant and President Cleveland were in Omaha all her citizens regardless of politics, creed or nationality, united to show to them that Americans delight to honor America's first citizens.

President Harrison has special claims upon Omaha and Nebraska. He has on all occasions exhibited his cordial feeling and good will to this city and state. He has not been ignorant of the growth and importance of either, and in recognition of the merits of both has called into prominent positions of honor and trust more Nebraskans than any predecessor.

It behooves Omaha and the citizens of this state to demonstrate their regard for the president and to this end the local authorities and those along the line of the railroad over which he will travel on his return from the Pacific coast should give practical proofs of western loyalty and hospitality.

THE ARMY OF PAUPERS. In the current number of an eastern review Prof. Richard T. Ely supplies some facts and suggestions regarding pauperism in the United States which are interesting and timely.

LABORING men of Omaha have reason to look forward to the season's work with hope. The improvement of the streets and the construction of buildings give every promise for plenty of work and fair wages.

A LARGE number of applications for positions as inspectors of public work are in the hands of the board of public works. The board will do the public a valuable service if it will discard all requests based merely upon political qualifications.

TO THE average citizen the suggestion of the boulevard shall extend through the valley from Bemis park to Hanscom park, with small reservations along the route, is the correct idea. Let us have breathing places within easy reach of the homes of our working people.

IN WRISTLING with the problem of court-house enlargement it will be well for the commissioners to move cautiously. If the present court house is to be rebuilt the commissioners should endeavor to remodel the structure without marring its architectural effect.

AMONG the commendable laws enacted by the late legislature is the act requiring railway companies to equip their box cars with such automatic couplers or drawbars as shall avoid the necessity of going between the ends of the cars to couple or uncouple them.

THE board of public works, acting upon the suggestion made by THE BEE, proposes to have an ordinance introduced to compel all property owners within the fire limits, whose sidewalks are out of repair, to replace them with stone, cement or brick pavements.

THE difficulties between the Stockyards exchange and the American Live Stock commission company have been adjusted and the growers' organization is admitted to the exchange on even terms with all other members.

which before had been occupied by men only, and he believed it was the wish of the Savior that women should have control in the churches equally with men. On the other hand, it was contended that what was proposed was a violation of nature and a violation of God's laws.

The general conference, which will meet in Omaha next year, will decide the question of the admission of women, and in the meantime it will be acted upon by the local conferences. The vote of the laity has already been given in favor of the proposition, but it is held that this did not indicate any general demand among the women of the church for the innovation, and besides only a small part of the membership voted.

Some of the most distinguished journalists this country has produced assisted Mr. Greeley in building up the Tribune—Henry J. Raymond, Charles A. Dana, George Ripley, Bayard Taylor, George William Curtis, and a number of others of less fame, but of a very high order of ability.

THE EXPOSITION POET. Lord Alfred Tennyson, poet laureate of England, 82 years old, has been invited to write the opening song for the Columbian exposition. He does not promise to accept the invitation, but the distinction of extending it has been accorded him.

FIFTY YEARS OF A GREAT NEWSPAPER. On last Friday the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the New York Tribune was celebrated in a way worthy of the distinguished career of that journal and of its eminent position among the influential newspapers of the world.

There is something incongruous about inviting a peer of the realm of Queen Victoria to write a song for a Columbian exposition. The name Columbian is a protest of itself, Americans every where regret that the distinction was offered to a foreigner so ignorant of the new world, and so out of sympathy with its achievements.

Yes, or Beer Schooners. The last official act of the Nebraska legislature was to pass a resolution declaring that the state was eager to go to war with Italy. They would sail in "prairie schooners," it is to be supposed.

A Burning Issue. Speaking of Ohio politics reminds us that the able legislator of that state has censured the state geologist because of the failure of natural gas. This will be another burning issue in the campaign.

Hogs Take Notice. "The American hog" is now free to enter Germany. It is sincerely to be hoped that this notice will be read and acted upon by the street car expectorators, and that active emigration will speedily follow.

An Oculofoto Type. "I want a boy to raise," said a western merchant. "He must always wash his neck and black the heels of his boots." "I'm sorry," replied the asylum superintendent, "but that little boy has been dead ever since I've been here."

Couldn't Quarrel. "Please give a poor, crippled old soldier a dime, sir." "My friend, I'm a member of the National Peace society."

Bringed Too Soon. A Cincinnati man woke up his wife in the night to tell her that he had just dreamed that his store was on fire. Sure enough, in a few minutes a message came telling him that his store was on fire. He felt so proud over his dream that he bragged about it all over town, and the insurance companies have, therefore, refused to pay the insurance.

There is one here that poetry neglects, and he is the man who sows information broadcast through the world; who sits up at night after the last cockcrow has retired; who gets blisters on his index finger holding a pen and permanently deforms his hand by the use of the scissors; in short, the editor. And his obscure position in song is susceptible of ready explanation. About the only reliable rhyme for "editor" is "creditor," and there are topics in which poets feel delicate about venturing any random shots.

ALL improvements in the city should be made from the center toward the circumference. To leave great banks of earth in the heart of the business portion of the city is not only unsightly but very bad economy. The loose earth washes from the banks and unpaved streets down upon the asphalt and stone pavement on our principal thoroughfares. So long as this slovenly method continues it will be utterly impossible to keep Farmam, Douglas, Harney and the cross streets between Fifteenth and Eighteenth streets clean. Cut down the hog-back on Douglas, grade and pave the cross streets west of Sixteenth, and Omaha will be the cleanest and most attractive city west of the lakes.

The success which has attended the annual meetings of both State and National Teachers' associations has led to the proposition of organizing educational people of the northwestern states into an association. In furthering the idea a meeting is called at Lake Geneva, Wis., for July 1, 2, 3 and 4.

THE vacancy that has existed in the bishopric of the Catholic diocese of Omaha since the death of Bishop O'Connor in June of last year, will be filled today by the installation of Bishop Scannell. The new incumbent of this important ecclesiastical office comes to the larger field of labor and responsibility fully equipped by scholarship and experience in affairs to take up and prosecute the duties which were laid down by his lamented predecessor, and to forward the interests and welfare of his jurisdiction within the boundaries of his jurisdiction.

PROPERTY in the vicinity of the high school pays more for its school facilities than any other section of Omaha. This has been the naked truth for 10 years. Logan county, Gauley—Two tons each of flour and corn meal, 1,000 pounds of meat, eighteen bushels of beans and three barrels each of rice, hominy and oat meal.

Very Kind of Them. It is announced that a number of journalists have consented to accompany the president on his western trip.

Munificence Personified. For gallantry at Wounded Knee several privates have had their pay increased $2 a month. What munificence!

An Open Argument. Cheap sugar in the last week has turned every grocer's shop into an open argument for the McKinley tariff and protection.

The Farmer's Hopes. One by one the hopes of the farmers fail. Jerry Simpson has yielded to the seductive dress suit and Governor Tillman of South Carolina wears kid gloves.

Getting Back to the Fold. The result of the municipal elections in Nebraska indicates that the voters of that state are already becoming weary of the alliance and are getting back to the republican party.

TRUBLE DROVE HER INSANE. The Sad Condition of the Wife of Attorney Zink. SHIPMENTS OF RELIEF GOODS ORDERED. Suit Against a Bucket Shop—Held Up and Robbed—Meeting of Horsemen—Other Capital City News.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 11.—[Special to THE BEE.]—The police were called last evening to Twentieth and S streets to take charge of a woman who had been acting very queerly. The woman proved to be Mrs. Howard W. Zink, whose husband is now in jail on the charge of embezzling money belonging to a client, he being a lawyer and collecting agent. Zink had borne a good reputation previous to this charge being brought against him, and the disgrace consequent upon his arrest and imprisonment so weighed upon her mind that she became ill, and a nurse had to be provided for her. Last night she became wildly insane and drove the nurse out of the house at the point of a revolver.

The following shipments of relief goods have just been ordered by the state relief commission: Frontier county, Curtis—Three tons of flour, twenty-five tons of corn meal, six bushels of beans and three barrels each of rice, hominy and oat meal.

per bushel, or $0.75 more money, but not recovering the same he brings suit. He also claims that there is due him as a balance on puts and calls between February 4 and 11 of the year 1891.

KELCH'S RETURN. William Kelch, the father of the little fellow left with Mrs. Laird, 1505 O street, for safe keeping, has returned to the city from Beatrice and is a stout, well-to-do man, set about by the woman. Mrs. Laird made the police believe that the father had deserted his offspring and she got rid of the child the easy way. He is a quiet, well-to-do man, set about by the woman. Mrs. Laird made the police believe that the father had deserted his offspring and she got rid of the child the easy way.

HELIO UP AND ROBBED. As Mr. R. C. Manley, the candy man and fruiterer, was on his way home from Eleventh and D streets, about 11 o'clock last night, he was suddenly confronted when he reached E street by two fellows, one of whom pulled a revolver and the other demanded that he hand over his valuables. Mr. Manley was unarmed and after one look at the big-mouthed man handed over a small amount of cash, but the party was not to be satisfied in search of employment and naturally feels indignant toward Mrs. Laird for the way she treated the child entrusted to her care and the stories she told to the police.

CHAS. AND ERNS. George M. Clark, living six miles north of the city, was badly lacerated the other day by his horse running away and throwing him into a barb wire fence. His right leg from the knee to the foot was laid open to the bone. He is recovering.

Rev. R. N. McKaig, formerly pastor of the St. Paul Methodist Episcopal church, has been selected to lecture at Grace Methodist Episcopal church on Monday evening next on "Confederate Prison Life." Mr. McKaig had a varied and eventful experience during the war, having been in the army at New Orleans and Libby prisons. Escaping he walked 300 miles through hostile territory, and his adventures were both thrilling and interesting.

Thomas Brown was arraigned before Judge Houston this morning on the charge of stealing ten shirts from a clothing store at the O streets. He acknowledged the soft impeachment, and was sent to the county jail for thirty days.

The state of Nebraska, to be published by H. H. Wheeler, surviving partner of the late H. H. Wheeler, was ready for delivery about the middle of May.

The jury in the case of Minnie Parr vs the Burlington road returned a verdict yesterday morning in favor of the railroad, awarding $5,000, one-half of which she asked. The case will be appealed.

Judge Tibbets was busily engaged this morning in hearing motions, among which were for new trials in the cases of Dunham vs Huell and Sizor vs Leavitt. No decisions of any importance were rendered. Judge Hall was working on a equity docket, knocking out some foreclosures and mortgages.

The jury in the case of Ledwith vs Hubbell et al for forcible entry and detainer of the two upper floors of the Ledwith block, returned a verdict finding that plaintiff was entitled to immediate possession of the premises and fixing his damage at $1,688.88.

In the case of Mrs. Lord against Saloonkeepers Setchman and Noonan for $2,000 damages for soliciting money from her, such questions as to whether or not she was such a prostitute, that she became inebriated and broke his leg, the defendants asked that it be dismissed. The court refused to do so, but ordered plaintiff in twenty days to make the sureties of Noonan party defendants or the action would be dismissed.

Extension papers were issued today to W. C. Morgan of Multnomah county, Oregon, to enable him to take into custody Adam Cushing and Edgar Cushing, who are wanted in Oregon for the robbery of property.

On next Monday and Tuesday the Chicago team will cross back with the Lincoln mail. Otto Lasser, who was seriously injured in a runaway three days ago, is still in a critical condition, but his physicians have hopes of his recovery.

Mr. Burdick is now the duly authorized subscription agent of THE BEE in Lincoln, and nobody in the city has any right to receive subscriptions without his permission. On next Monday the work will be done on street from Fifth to Eleventh street will be commenced, and all other work in that district, No. 7, will be pushed to completion.

This region is one of the oldest portions of the city, and the citizens who have been waiting for nearly twenty years for this improvement are now rejoicing.

NEBRASKA PRESS OPINION. Kearney Hub: Taken all in all the legislature has done very well, and it is to be congratulated that it has done so well.

Hastings Nebraskan: The Omaha World-Herald is in the treach. THE OMAHA BEE called the turn on the maximum rate bill.

Custer Leader: The World-Herald is making itself out as a great champion of the people of this state and is to be congratulated for its hue and cry over the Newberry bill. The people of this state are not to be deceived by such smoke as is raising, and all its frothing will be of no effect.

Friend Telegraph: Designing politicians often work upon the farmer to further their own political ends and it occurs to us that they are more of this in the Newberry bill vetoed by Governor Boyd than of any disreputable class of the state.

Nebraska City Press: Editor Hillcock is now devoting his entire ability to coach on Governor Boyd, the man he so earnestly supported during the late campaign. An Editor Rosewater, who was a statesman and a legislator, after having been elected by the people of Nebraska, is now being driven out of office by the same people who elected him. It is a sad condition, and one that should be remedied.

Seward Reporter: Governor Boyd, in reporting to sign the bill, stated that he has plenty of nerve, at least. He had been petitioned by thousands of people, and the leading newspapers of his party had very strongly urged him to sign the bill, and in spite of the tremendous pressure brought to bear on him, he did what he thought was best, and he has the commendation of the people. The reporter does not feel like condemning him as many have done. We believe that the bill was not a good thing, and that its effect upon the business of the state would not have been such as its framers intended; consequently the state is better off without it. But we think it might have been better had the governor signed the bill, to satisfy the popular clamor. We are confident that the operations of the law would very soon have contained the operations of its friends, and they would have been as anxious for its repeal as they had been for its enactment. There are many now who will never be satisfied, and the only way of doing this is by repealing the law by a practical trial of the law. However that may be, the deed is done, and the results are not to be denied. Possibly a special session, and the passage of a rate bill affecting grain, coal, lumber, etc., will be satisfactory. Such a move will not reinstate Boyd the good business man, nor will it give up the party from the low estate to which it has fallen, but it may benefit the business interests of the state, which is more important.

DR. PRICE'S DELICIOUS FRUIT FLAVORS. Vanilla - Of perfect purity. Lemon - Of great strength. Orange - Economy in their use. Almond - Flavor as delicately and deliciously as the fresh fruit.
