

PHILANTHROPI.

Mr. Philanthropy—"So you've been serving me with the Daily Bee for two years, eh? Well, I know of no better reward than an order on Hellman for a new suit of clothes, and when you get them I'll watch you and my son walk down the street together."

And the above knee pant suit is what the philanthropist bought at our store for $2. We have suits of 'em in half dozen different styles.

He bought this kind of a shirt waist for 35c. A pair of long black hose for 25c. A stylish hat for 50c; and the boy was dressed from head to foot for $3.10, and looked better than most boys.

The boy's father was surprised at the wonderful bargain, and we turned him out with a Corkscrew Worsted Suit of Clothes like this for $12.50, and had he taken it single-breasted, he would have got it for $10, but he was tony.

The Hat he has on is his old one, he bought a better one for us for 95c, and we have 12 styles of them in black and light shades

WITHDRAWS ITS ALLEGIANCE.

An Important Move in Masonry's Scottish Rite Fight.

SENSATIONAL ACTION OF AN OHIO LODGE.

Decides to Set up as an Independent Body—News of the Secret Societies and Fraternal Orders.

COLUMBUS, O., April 17.—[Special to THE BEE.]—New England lodge, No. 4, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, of Worthington, one of the oldest lodges in the state, took action last night which will create a great interest throughout the country. As a result of what is known as the Scottish rite war, the lodge decided to withdraw its allegiance to the grand lodge of Ohio and set up as an independent body.

The lengthy pronouncements of the lodge, in which exception is taken to the efforts of the grand master to suppress Corneal Masonry, concludes as follows:

Whereas, New England lodge, No. 4, F. and A. M., is not only one of the oldest pioneer lodges in Ohio, but is also one of the most loyal to symbolic Masonry as handed to us and entrusted to our keeping by our fathers in Masonry and is ready and willing at all times to aid in disseminating and planting the pure doctrine of Masonry in every lodge to which those who have gone before us unimpaird and unchanged in all their purity and simplicity; but who cannot consent to any longer a party to the untrue and un-Masonic position and conduct pursued and practiced by the grand lodge of Ohio, in violation of the charter and control of a foreign element in it, which would be in violation of the ancient landmarks of the order and the

Whereas, The grand lodge of Ohio, through its representatives, has manifested its intention that it has the right to withdraw its affiliation from its subordinate lodges for cause, thus conceding the same right to the subordinate lodge to withdraw its affiliation from the grand lodge of Ohio;

Resolved, That New England lodge, No. 4, Free and Accepted Masons, being a duly constituted lodge, and as such recognized by the grand lodge of Ohio, convened in full and legal form, hereby withdraws its affiliation from the grand lodge of Ohio, taking with it all its rights, powers and prerogatives as a body of Free Masons, and reserves to itself the right to affiliate with any other grand lodge of Ohio, and to exercise all the rights and privileges of a grand lodge of Ohio.

Adopted by unanimous vote of the lodge, DAN W. WRIGHT, W. M. JUSTIN PINNEY, Sec.

Masonic.

The great Masonic event of the year—indeed, of the century—among the craft in New York will be the laying of the corner stone of the Masonic home and asylum at Utica, in that state, next month. It will be a memorial event for many reasons, but chiefly because it will be a fit season for rejoicing that the craft have been freed from the incubus of an enormous debt, the sum of the most reckless manner and without any seeming regard for the natural consequences likely to result from the reckless and unscrupulous building, at a vast expense, to be paid for by voluntary contributions and enforced assessments upon the craft. The debt is now paid. The money has been raised to erect a suitable home for indigent Masons in that state, and to shelter and educate the Masonic orphan or the wards of the craft.

St. Louis is to have a Masonic temple, at least so it would appear from the meetings now being held by the craftsmen of that city with a view to the undertaking. It is thought that a site will be secured on one of the leading business streets of the city, and it is the intention of those promulgating the plans to incorporate a stock company and expend $300,000 or $500,000 on a suitable building.

Monroe commandery of Rochester, New York, is preparing to dazzle the people of Denver and the Territory with an exhibition of the kind ever before attempted in "Temple" tactics.

Mecca temple of the Mystic Shrine of New York seems determined to have some pictures, says the Chicago Times. It don't seem to be particular about the quality of the pictures, the quantity seems to be the thing. It calls itself the "parent temple," but the "original cast" or the "first tond in the pool" would do just as well. The temple has become seized with an irresistible desire to fold its numerous progeny in its capacious leather arms. To its illustrious sons, they of the tiger claws, the fox and the eagle, addressed a truly paternal missive, in which the "archivist" (he, she, or it) says "Mecca temple desires to adorn its walls with portraits of her offspring, of whom she has just cause to be proud." The portraits of the offspring must be of imperial size and accompanied by the imperial card of the illustrious shik or dragonman who expects to adorn the home of Mecca. The whole business boiled down to plain English means the picture of every noble in the land and it wants them bad. As the western nobles are a particularly handsome set of men, they will in all probability should lose no time in complying with the request of Mother Mecca.

Scottish Rite.

Friday night, April 10, at low tide in the First Congregational church in Washington, D. C., the solemn funeral ceremonies of the Scottish rite were performed over the remains of the late General Albert Pike, sovereign grand commander of the supreme council of the southern jurisdiction. So dense was the crowd that it was with great difficulty that the bearers of the casket from the Scottish rite sanctuary could force their way into the church, followed by the long line of Masons who wished to pay the last tribute of respect to the deceased brother. It was a quiet affair, an hour after midnight before services began.

The scene in the church was peculiarly solemn—the hour of night, the assembled knights and the somber tappings and to make an impressive picture. The walls of the church were covered with black cloth, while on a catafalque on a platform extending out twenty feet from the altar was a casket containing the body of the deceased knight. There were nine candlesticks, four feet in height, in three rows on the east, west and south of the casket, each having upon it a lighted candle. Otherwise the large church was unlighted. On the upper end of the casket was a white cloth with roses, and below it the insignia of the order and the sword of the deceased knight in its scabbard. Upon a tablet near the coffin was a skull wreathed with evergreens, surrounded by seven large candlesticks bearing no lights. At the head of the casket stood a great iron cross painted black.

When all was quiet the organ played softly and Grand Master Holt, bearing a lighted candle and an iron hammer, walked slowly from a room on the left and stood at the foot of the casket. Then twenty-one knights, all bearing candles and attired in black, followed with scuffs of crumple and their hand-bera. They entered like shadows and arranged themselves in a semicircle on the west, south and north sides of the casket facing the east. For a few moments there was perfect silence. Then a trumpet sounded in plaintive notes in an adjoining room and after the last faint echoes died away the grand master began the ceremonies according to the ancient knightly custom. All was as quiet as death as he said:

"It is midnight and a new day begins for us. Our brother has finished his earthly probation. Death is an inexorable creditor whose indulgence nothing in the world can purchase. Every moment that sees a new born child laugh at the light sees also a man die and hears the cry of a breaking heart and the lamentations of those who lovingly and in the desolation of affliction, no longer seeing the faces of the dearly loved ones, round the little island of our being, on which we follow our various pursuits of toil or craft of usefulness or mischief, through the illimitable ocean of eternity. But beyond the zone the other ocean sparkles and its white crested waves dance in the light, and somewhere in the distance the islands of the blessed are dreaming, girdled by the peaceful waters. Here in our present home we live our little life, waiting to be called to other duties elsewhere, and one by one our loved ones and our cherished friends glide away from us unseen, and are swallowed up in the darkness which is the shadow of the broad wings of death."

The beautiful but weird services were continued by taking the chapter from the temples of the dead knight, the cross from the breast, the cords from the feet and hands, and then in succession the attendants approached the casket and laid their right hands upon the eyes, cheeks, forehead, hands, and feet, each repeating a blessing, when the last attendant had touched the body of the dead the light was turned up, and after all had left the church the remains were carried back to the Scottish rite temple.

The programme for the thirty-sixth annual convention of the coordinate bodies of the Scottish rite, northern jurisdiction, to be held in the valley of Chicago April 21, 22 and 23, is now ready, and the grand lodge has a strong bill, with a number of stars in the east. Tuesday will be devoted to the work of the lodge of perfection where illustrious James McPatrick will preside as trustee, potent grand master. Wednesday the council of the Princes of Jerusalem, with Inspector General, Frank, will preside as trustee, and will confer the fifteenth and sixteenth degrees. In the evening the order of Rose Croix will be conferred in full form in Gougar chapter. Thursday, Oriental consistory will hold a special rendezvous and transact some business before the curtain rises. In the forenoon the nineteenth grade of grand pontiff will give the degrees of the order of the White and Black Eagle of the Holy Order of the Temple, will be conferred in full.

The semi-annual reunion of the co-ordinate bodies of the Scottish rite, southern jurisdiction, will take place in the Valley of the West, Kan., May 5, 6 and 7. As usual at these reunions, the various degrees, orders and grades will be conferred, and the grand lodge will be represented by a large delegation.

Dr. Bachteler, who succeeds as trustee potent grand commander of the southern jurisdiction, Scottish rite, left vacant by the death of Albert Pike, will hold that position until the next regular meeting of the supreme council which occurs in October, 1902, unless a special meeting is called before that time, which is not considered likely by members in this vicinity. In October, 1902, a successor to Pike will be chosen, and general opinion points to the election of Surgeon General James M. Smith of St. Louis, Mo., to the position. Dr. Browne is the present treasurer of the supreme council and has occupied a prominent position in Masonic affairs since his possession of the office. The supreme council are in Washington, Dr. Browne's home, and the other parties who have been mentioned in connection with the election of the supreme council are in the country and could not remove to Washington with advantage to themselves. It is thought that General Pike expressed some preference before his death in regard to his successor, but if such is the case it has not been made known as yet.

I. O. O. F.

The members and lodges of the order in Cincinnati are preparing to celebrate the seventy-second anniversary of the order on a scale of magnificence never before attempted in that jurisdiction. In fact, there will be a great exhibition of the order's activities, and a great many of the members of the order are contributing not a little to the Thursday celebration for the future of the order. The committee on programme has promised an enjoyable time. Beginning with an opening address suitable to the occasion, will be an exhibition of dissolving views representing the emblems of the order, it will be followed by dancing and a general good time.

The seventy-second anniversary of the order will be celebrated in Chicago with unusual pomp and ceremony April 27. Central music hall has been engaged for the occasion, and a brilliant array of speakers will be in attendance.

The regiment of the Platte, Patriarchs Militant, will celebrate the anniversary of the order at York. The members of the cantons and the members of the subordinate lodges have been invited to take part in the celebration at that place and an order has been issued directing the twelve cantons of the regiment to report at York on the 25th inst. These twelve cantons are divided into two battalions, the first commanded by Major N. B. Helm of Omaha, Major D. B. Marston, of Kearney, and Major A. H. Amesburg, of Kearney, Wyo. A programme of music will be given, and a parade and review of the regiment and subordinate lodges in the morning, followed by a banquet in the evening. The commandant, Colonel J. H. Hoagland of North Platte will deliver the anniversary address, at the conclusion of which dinner will be served.

In the evening a musical and dramatic entertainment will be presented to be followed by a ball. The subordinate lodges of York and Canton, Parson, No. 7 of York are making preparations to provide a most enjoyable time for all visitors.

Canton Ezra Millard No. 1 held its annual election of officers last week, which resulted in the choice of the following officers for the ensuing year: C. A. Patterson, captain; Henry Jackson, first lieutenant; Charles Kanawha, second lieutenant; and J. W. Patterson, sergeant.

A special meeting of Ruth Lodge No. 1, D. O. F., I. O. O. F., will be held Monday, April 20, at 2 p. m., at I. O. O. F. hall. All members are invited to attend. Business of importance will be transacted.

S. of A. R. The Nebraska society of Sons of the American revolution has issued a circular to all descendants of revolution patriots calling upon them to assist in the work of the society. The circular also sets forth that the society is for all descendants, male or female, of all patriots who assisted in establishing American independence.

The constitution provides that: "Any man is eligible for membership who is of the age of twenty-one years and who is descended from an ancestor, who, with unfailing loyalty, rendered material aid to the cause of American independence as a soldier or a seaman, or in any other way, and who is a native-born citizen of the United States, or a citizen of some other state or territory, or as a recognized patriot, provided he shall be found worthy."

The objects of the society are patriotic and praiseworthy. Its influence and importance will increase with years. The object is best stated in the constitution:

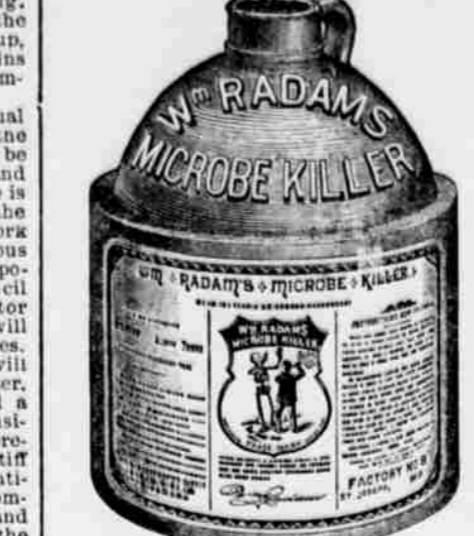

"The objects of the society are to perpetuate the memory and the spirit of the men who achieved American independence, by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the American revolution, the publication of its results, the preservation of documents and relics and of the records of the individual services of revolutionary soldiers and patriots, and the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries, to carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to cheer the people to extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty."

Societies are organized in twenty-four states and in the District of Columbia. Residents of this state are entitled to membership in the Nebraska society, irrespective of the residence of their ancestor. The initiation fee in the Nebraska society is $5.00 and the annual dues $2.00. The next meeting is held on March 1, the anniversary of the admission of the state into the union. Requests for blank applications should be made to the secretary, P. L. Perrine, 1505 Farnam street.

B. P. O. E. There is some talk of holding a meeting of the district deputies the first day of the reunion at Louisville to consider changes to the constitution of the order. The duties of the district officers are not clearly defined or properly understood now by the membership, and some needed changes may be made at this session.

The Elks of Chicago held their annual benefit performance for the charity fund of the order in the Chicago opera house last week. The show was a great success, and the event was a pronounced success, the receipts at the box office amounting to nearly $1,400.
