THE SANITATION BONANZA.

People Compelled to Pay Fat Fees to the Commissioner.

AIMED AT ORDINANCES

Has the Sanitary Commissioner-Been Legislated Out of Office by too Much Tampering With the New Charter?

At the last council meeting Chairman Specht of the committee on police reported an ordinance relating to cess-pool cleaning which he hopes will do away with the abuses which have crept into this practice under the present sanitary commissioner.

This ordinance will be followed by others relating to the removal of garbage and dead

It provides that each and every tenement house shall be supplied with a vault, and where feasible the same shall be connected with a sewer; that these vaults may be cleaned only by those who pay $50 for a license for that purpose; that those so licensed shall give a bond of $1,000; that the cost of cleaning the same shall not exceed 10 cents per cubic yard; that the cleaning shall be done under the direction of the board of health, and not before the contents shall have risen to within three feet of the top of the wall, and violations of the ordinance shall be punished by a fine of not less than $20 nor more than $200.

This ordinance differs from those ordinances relating to the subject now in force in that it destroys the sanitary commissioner's power. It places the sanitation of the city under the direction of the board of health. It opens up the cleaning of cess-pools to com-petition and allows the fat fees which now find their way into the coffers of the sanitary commissioner to remain in the pockets of the people. It also prescrites when it becomes hecessary to clean vaults, and thus renders it impossible for ignorant or selfish officials to oppress the citizen. This feature was incor-porated because, under the present commis-sioner, small vaults on the same ground and belonging to a small family were needlessly cleansed twice within less than ten months. The framer of the ordinance holds that the cleansing of the city should be done by the city, and at the lowest cost possible to the people. It ought not to be made the means of amassing a fortune for my one individual, and that individual should not be allowed to say who should and should not aid in the cleansing, especially when it is only a personal objection of his own which rules them out. Mr. Specht has investigated the matter and, upon the data which he has received through men whom he has had watching the through men whom he has had watching the dumps, figures the profit per month, to the sanitary commissioner, on the Davenport street dump to be between $523 and $590, and on the Jones street dump to be between $575 and $600. Here, he claims, is a profit to one man of at legat $1,000 per month, or $12,000 per year! Cost of this per month, or $12,000 per year! Out of this the commissioner expends very little in the conduct of the business, hiring but one clerk, all the garbage and cess-pool cleaners having their own horses and wagons. The exception is that of Fred Johnson. Johnson is the man who hauls dead animals. He hauls them for nothing, collects the regulation fee of $2 cash from the owner of the dead animal for the commissioner whenever that is pracfor the commissioner, whenever that is prac-ticable, and then disposes of the skin him-self. Where it is not practicable the city is charged with the amount and at the end of every month a voucher for the same is sent in every month a voucher for the same is sent in to headquarters. The comptroller's books show that from June of last year to March 31 of this year, the city paid the commissioner for the removal of dead ani-mals $1,345.75. This sum, independently of the other perquisites of the office would be considered a fair salary for some of the most valuable employes of the city whose work is a creat deal more exacting and more continu-B great deal more exacting and more continu-ous than that of the commissioner in ques-

In this connection, the councilmen who favor the new ordinance say they have received offers from Oberne & Hosick to collect all the dead animals of the city and dispose of them without cost to the town or expense to the owner. This offer, of course, will be seriously considered by the members of the council because at a reasonable calculation it will result in a saving of at least

There are four garbage men. These collect refuse in certain wards of the city and charge 20 cents a barrel. Men who have been sanitary commissioner makes on an average in the business say that from each of these the

The cess pool cleaners are more numerous. Those most known are Lazarus, Travis, Cole and Nelson, though the last mentioned a few and Nelson, though the last mentioned a few days ago was cut off by the commissioner.

The Bee man saw him yesterday and learned that, having been in the business cieven years, the commissioner refused him a book of checks which would permit him to deposit his refuse at the dumps. Nelson said that he had four wagons and that they were all in good condition. He had them runping until recently, and when they worked all night they averaged three loads apiece, or twelve loads altogether. He received $5 a load and $1 went to the commissioner for every load. He had paid the latter, he said, as high as $14 in had paid the latter, he said, as high as $14 in one night. The other cesspool cleaners had about the same number of teams and did about the same amount of work. He held that from the cesspool business alone the sanitar; commissioner derived from $40 to sanitar; commissioner derived from $40 to $50 a day. When asked how he had been knocked out of the business, Nelson said:

"I had been employed by the school board to cleanse the vaults at the Walnut Hill school and performed the job. The vault is not connected with a sewer. I cleaned it twice. I agreed to do it for $4 a load. There were forty-four loads. That was $176 for the work which was satisfactory to the heavel. work, which was satisfactory to the board. I called on Morrissey the other day and said, 'Frank, I want another book of checks to enable me to deposit refuse at the dump.' These books cost $25, and are good for twenty, five loads. twenty-five loads.
"He said, 'No, sir, you can't get any book from me until you put up $75 for that Walnut Hill vault.

"I told him he was asking too much and I wouldn't pay it and I haven't, and he hasn't given me a book either. I haven't turned a wheel in five days. I'm going to see whether the law does not afford me some protection."

Under the management of the board of he heard of health this work could be done.

the board of health this work could be done by a competent man, who would consider himself well paid at the rate of $100 or $150 per month. The garbage men and the cess-pool cleaners who make no objection to paying, in the first instance, 25 per cent of their receipts to the sanitary commissioner and, in the second case, of $1 per load to the same official, could charge so much less to their patrons and thus do a great deal of good to the people,

After naving shut out Nelson, the commissioner, it is said, proposes to establish some-thing akin to a sanitary cleaning association, articles of incorporation of which have been prepared, but have not as yet been filed. This corporation if formed will make the combine between the If formed will make the combine between the commissioner and the garbage and cosspool men whom he favors, namely Cole, Lazarus, Westergard, Frederickson and Travis all the stronger and their profits all the greater while it will also deprive the people of the profits of competition as regards the removal of refuse of all kinds.

Now that summer is approaching, the amount of matter which must be disposed of will be much greater than it has been in any season in the past. Especially, because it will be much greater than it has been in any season in the past. Especially, because it has been made the duty of four policemen to look into the sanitary condition of their respective districts and order cleaned and abated all places and nuisances which may come under their notice. If at certain times in the past, forty loads of vault matter were deposited in one night at the dumps, at least fifty may now be expected. Each of these loads means $1 to the sanitary commissioner.

The greatest interest is being taken in this matter by a number of members of council. They know that this work could be done at They know that this work could be done at loss expense to the people. They know also that the sanitary commissioner is aware of this fact and sought to make himself more solid than the ordinances have made him by having his position recognized in the charter. As The Ber, however, has shown, the commissioner is not enumerated in that document among the members of the board of health. It is a question, therefore, whether the ordinance passed some time agogunder which he has been acting is not invalid. If such should prove to be the case the regulation of the sanitary condition of the city would be placed in the hands of the board of public works under a salaried officer and the people would be the gainers by the change.

With respect to the ordinance above synop-sized and introduced by Mr. Specht, the coun-cil deferred action on it until it should have time to read a certified copy of the charter. The city clerk has already four authenticated copies of that greatly mangled instrument. They were made from the enrolled bill which bears Governor Boyd's signature and contain the inaccuracies pointed out in The Bee which, good lawyers claim, deprives the sauitary commissioner of his occupation.

The ordinance will doubtless be considered tonight.

The Irrigation Age. The Irrigation Age, published fortnightly, has made its appearance in Denver and has found extensive circulation in adjoining states, where the necessity of water is felt for the fertilization of arid lands. It is published by Smythe, Britton & Poore. The first mentioned gentleman was for some time connected with The Bee. His excellent work on The Bee, which has done a great deal toward convincing Nebraskans of the need of irrigation, will be remembered. The same interest and thoroughness which distinguished his work at that time is noticeable in the columns of the Irrigation Age. Every page is filled with the latest information regarding the needs and condition as regards irrigation of every state in the west and the subject is considered in an enthusiastic and able manner. The pub-lishers propose to print from time to time special articles by eminent engineers on the subject of the waters of the west; by practi-cal irrigators on the application of water to the soil to the farin, to the ordard and also aggressive editorials concerning the reclamation of the "arid empire" with a number of other interesting features.

The Age is beautifully printed and for a first number is a most remarkable success. Auction sale of horses at Carpender's blue barn, N and Twenty-fifth street, South Omaha, Wednesday 22, 1 o'clock.

Reporters. The board of public works held a session at 10 o'clock yesterday morning for the purpose of giving Chairman Birkhauser and C. E. Squires another opportunity to discuss the street sweeping subject. The chairman had his wrist tied up in arnica and a bandage and was in anything but a happy state of mind. As soon as he had called the meeting to order he turned his guns on THE BEE reporter. He stormed and raged and between breaths said: "This man has no business here. He comes "This man has no business here. He comes just on purpose to give me the worst of it."

Pointing a long bony finger of his crippled hand at Squires, he continued: "You brought this man here for the purpose of writing up the meeting and belittling me."

Mr. Squires denied the statement made by the shateman.

"You lie! You lie!" yelled Birkhauser, as his face took on a scarlet hue.

"Your orders are inconsistent," continued Squires, "and they go to show that you know nothing about what work should be done."

"I do know what you ought to do and I "I do know what you ought to do and I know what you will do," retorted Birk-hauser, as he wildly waved his crippled arm. "Yes," replied Squires, "you think you do, but the facts are that you ought to be out among the cattle or plowing corn."

Birhauser ground his teeth in rage and got back at Squires by saying: "It would have been better for me and the city if I had never seen you."

The animated discussion continued, with Egbert and Furay now and then putting in a word, until the whisties blew the noon hour, at which time the meeting adjourned. No results were reached and the street sweeping controversy is in the same condition as it was
