HANG'S BREAK FOR LIBERTY.

Cunning and Daring Aid a Fort Omaha Prisoner to Escape.

TRADED SUITS WITH A SEEDY FARMER. He Ran Away from His Guard, Who Was Surprised Too Much to Shoot Straight—His Description.

George M. Hang, a military prisoner, resting under a three years' sentence, escaped from Fort Omaha Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock. He was discovered in making the fight and the sentinel fired three or four shots at him without effect.

Hang had been confined for some little time in the guard house, where he two weeks ago was taken sick. He was then removed to the hospital, where he a few days later recovered.

Thursday he and another prisoner were ordered, under guard, to make some repairs in the yard fence of the officers' quarters. The work had proceeded without incident for a number of hours when the single guard, who had been placed over the two prisoners, was amazed to find Hang running in a southerly direction from the garrison enclosure.

The sentinel's attention had been attracted by the sound of the rattle of the rifle and the prisoner took advantage of the favorable opportunity of escape. The sentinel fired one shot to apprise the garrison of the prisoner's escape, and then turned the batteries on the fleeing soldier.

But Hang was getting in some pretty good work with his legs, and ran round the corner of a farm house about half a mile from the fort. A farmer happening to be passing the house in a road wagon, Hang leaped into the wagon and was hurriedly driven to a barn, where the prisoner induced the farmer to change clothes with him.

The farmer was tattered and torn, but they served as a perfect disguise. The prisoner then came down town to the Continental barber shop to get shaved. He asked one of the barbers if they would object to shaving a man of his forbidding appearance. He seemed to be very much excited, was breathing fast and was very pale.

He said that his name was John Wink, and that he had been in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth for some time. He was against the rules for more than one prisoner to be put to work under one guard.

Van Houten's cocoa free to all callers at Fleming's grocery.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT. Midnight Attack Upon Mr. Swoboda by Unknown Cowards.

George H. Swoboda of Hess & Swoboda, who lives on north Twenty-fourth street near the fort, was brutally assaulted near the corner of Thirtieth and Spaulding about 11 o'clock Thursday night while returning home from a party.

As he was driving along he met two men, one of whom seized the horse by the bit and the other snatched the whip from his pocket. He thought that they were friends who were trying to play a practical joke, but if they were they did what is common for practical jokes to do, and carried the joke too far—for Mr. Swoboda's comfort, at least.

The man with the whip struck him on the stomach, and the other on the forehead with the butt of it. Swoboda either fell or jumped from the buggy, and was badly injured. He was then dragged to a house, where he was held for some time, and then taken to a hospital.

Decision in Favor of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Co.

A New Claim Bureau. The San Francisco Examiner has established in Washington, D. C., a bureau to be called "Examiner bureau of claims," which will be a great benefit to all persons having claims against the government of any nature or description whatsoever.

The pension fees charged by attorneys have for some time been limited by law, and under the recent act of March 3, 1891, transferring the jurisdiction of Indian deprecation cases from the interior department to the court of claims, congress not only limited the fees, but, in order to check the rapacity of the claim agents, cancelled all existing contracts and fee agreements between claimants and attorneys.

Congress was led to take this action on account of facts brought to their notice that by a combination among the leading claim agents a range of fees from 35% to 50 per cent had been established. The vast mass of government claims are still unprotected by law.

Mr. William R. Hearst, son of the late Senator Hearst, and the proprietor of the Examiner, proposes to attend through his new bureau to all classes of cases before the departments—pensions, patents, deprecation claims and Indian claims—for a small percentage above the actual cost of the work.

He has engaged several competent attorneys and the necessary clerical force of a large bureau, and they will soon be at work. He has placed at the head of the bureau Mr. John Wedderburn of this city, who has long been the correspondent of the Examiner, and had a remarkable experience a few years ago in ferreting out for Secretary Tracy some gigantic contract frauds at the Mare Island navy yard.

The new bureau, being established by a responsible newspaper, has already received the cordial endorsement of many western members of congress, and is getting a big pile of mail from all sections of the country.

THE MALT PROJECTS. Mr. Broatch Pleased With Plants He Has Been Examining.

W. J. Broatch has returned from a trip to Chicago, where he went to investigate still further the different systems of malting barley. At the malting house of L. H. & Co. he saw the system which he proposes to introduce into Omaha in practical operation and was greatly pleased with the results.

At Milwaukee he visited the plant of the Pabst brewing company and another very large plant at Watertown, located about forty-five miles from Milwaukee. The latter has all been very successful, and after looking into the subject most closely Mr. Broatch is more thoroughly convinced than ever that Omaha ought to have a large malt house and that it would be a very successful business venture.

The malsters all speak very highly of Nebraska barley, being especially adapted for the manufacture of stout.

With the very best of machinery and good grain, there would seem to be no good reason why Omaha should not be able to compete with any city in the country in the manufacture of malt, at least that is the way Mr. Broatch looks at the matter.

There are still a few obstacles standing in the way of the proposed enterprise, but the zeal of those interested may be equal to the surmounting of all difficulties.

YOUNG PAT ACQUITTED. Finding of the Jury in the Ford-Devaney Case.

Pat Ford, Jr., the young man who shot William Devaney in Goldsmith's saloon on January 16, is free. His plea of self defense was a winner.

The arguments were completed in Judge Estelle's court just before the noon starting blow across the forehead with the butt of it. Swoboda either fell or jumped from the buggy, and was badly injured.

Short Hours for City Clerks. The heads of the various city departments were today notified of the message of the eight hour resolution, and at once began the work of figuring out plans for employing their men under the new system.

It was decided to put the order in force next Monday morning. After that date all men in the employ of the city who are working by the day will work upon the eight-hour plan, four hours in the forenoon and four in the afternoon.

At the present time there are about sixty men employed by the day, all of whom are working nine hours a day. It is believed that the new order will give employment to about eight additional men.

"SONS OF OMAHA"

From now until ten o'clock Saturday night we propose to give the "sons" of Omaha the greatest benefit sale attempted in this country in the last half century, and that's far enough back for anybody to chase into history. We have often clothed your boys so cheap that you wondered how we got the goods, but we promise you that these two items beat anything we have ever offered.

Till 10 p. m. Saturday we will offer you the pick of three hundred and seventy Knee Pants Suits in sizes from four to thirteen, in handsome plaid cassimere, every single solitary thread wool, coats cut in neat, tasy shape, plaited front and back, lined with good serge, with an extra piece of cloth for patches attached to every pair of pants—suits that would be cheap enough anywhere else but here at three dollars—

AT $1.50 A SUIT.

It's a crime to let a boy go ragged after this. WE have never been able to carry a line of Boys' Waists, for lack of room to show them. But moving our Shoe Department to our handsome basement salesroom has given us more room on our second floor, allowing us to put in a full line of Waists. To signalize the opening of this new department, to properly introduce them, and at the same time show you that we intend to sell them on the same basis as we do all other goods, below any and all competition, we will offer until Saturday night

100 DOZEN BOYS' WAISTS in all sizes, in outing cloths, flannelettes, cambrics and prints, in handsome plaids, stripes, and fancies, in almost every imaginable color, in something like fifty different patterns, waists that are selling today from 25c to 39c, at 15c A WAIST. Any woman who will trot from one dry goods store to another, spend two dollar's worth of time and nineteen cents in cash, and then go home and work half a day making a waist, when she can buy one for fifteen cents, is simply making a waste—of time.
