THE CONDITION OF TRADE.

Some Say it is Booming and All Affirm That it is Very Good.

MONEY QUITE EASY IN MOST SECTIONS

The Prespects for Abundant Crops in Nebraska Were Never Better at This Season of the Year.

-About the only remaining vestige of the recent money stringency is to be found in sections of the country where the crops were a failure last season and it cannot be expected that money will be plenty in those localities until a new crop is harvested. In other parts of the country tributary to Omaha and in the city itself the money market has practically returned to its normal condition. No more complaints are heard from business men about the difficulty of obtaining money necessary to carry on business enterprises and it can now be truthfully said that any amount of money needed can be obtained on good collateral.

With the money market in this condition collections are very fair and in some lines of business very good. As noted a week ago some old accounts contracted during the dull period at the close of the year are still hanging on, but it is only a question of a little time when they will be worked out. Laboring men of all classes are now getting to work, building operations and other improvements being under way and this will tend to place in circulation large sums of money that have been hoarded for a good many months. WHOLESALE TRADE.

It would be a difficult matter to describe the trade which the jobbers of Omaha are now enjoying in too glowing terms. It is putting it in a very mild form to say that it is better than the most sanguine of the jobbers anticipated. Some of them speak of trade as booming which means a great deal to western ears, others speak of it as very good while the most conservative say that it is fully as good as they could ask for or expect. Some firms report a positive increase in the volume of trade of 20 to 25 per cent for the month as compared wite the same period last year.

As a matter of course there are certain conditions prevalent which may be said to be the merchants. "It is like this," said one of the gentlemen, "a farmer when he put in his crops last year anticipated clearing say $300, which would be ample to clear up his little store accounts and other small debts, but the crops were so abundant and prices so high that instead of receiving $300 he was surprised to find himself in pos-session of $1,000. If he happened to have a mortgage of about that amount on his farm he would use the money to pay that off and let the small accounts run. This," con-tinued the speaker, "may be a good policy for the farmer but it is a little rough on us erchants," This, to say the least, is very unique explanation for trade, or rather collections, not meeting expecta-tions, but there may be a good deal of truth

The jobbers all report their customers as very sanguine of the coming summer and fall trade, and it is safe to say that the feeling among both jobbers and retailers was never better. The reason for this cheerful state of affairs is to be found in the magnificent crop prospects of the west and still further prospect that these crops will com mand high prices when harvested.

PRODUCE AND PRUITS. The arrival of warm weather always brings about certain changes in the pro-duce markets of the country which are closely watched by those interested in the business. The past week has witnessed some of these changes and others are likely to take place at an early date. In the first place the demand for dressed poultry has ceased almost entirely and dealers now advise shipments of live poultry only.

The conditions governing the egg market have also changed somewhat. Last year considerable money was made in the storage overgr and that is encouraging speculators to put in a good many this season.

The demand for eggs from this source is keeping the market up and eggs are being placed in storage that cost 12c and above. Still a very large proportion of the eggs sold during the week went at 12c. It would seem that any considerable increase in the receipts would cause a drop in prices.

The condition of the butter market is especially interesting and should be carefully watched by shippers. Receipts are very light and prices as high as during the coldest winter weather, the best grades of country butter selling readily at 20@22c, and oc-casionally extra good lots as high as 24c. At the same time grass is starting in the country and new butter ought to put in an ap pearance very soon. When it does come it is quite likely to be pienty and prices must take a big and very sudden drop. No one wants to bother with game, the demand is so light and it is not worth the while of the shipper to handle it now. There has not been enough doing in it the past week to make a market.

The vegetable markets are much better supplied than they were a week or two ago, and a large variety of California and southern stock is to be had. The most of these new vegetables are arriving in very good shape and local dealers are prepared to fill orders in a very satisfactory manner. It is not neces-sary to enumerate the different kinds of vegetables now offered on the market as about everything is included in the list even to new potatoes.

The fruit markets are also well supplied with everything to be had in a, y part of the country. Strawberries are coming down in price while oranges and lemons are firm. Apples have become very scarce and are so high that the demand has been cut down very

When every business man in every line of business is talking about the crop prospects and when business for the coming year may be said to depend entirely upon the result of the crops in the west, no review of trade conditions would be complete without the crop report accompaniment. "What shall the harvest be," is the question that interests every business man in the country fully as much as it interests the farmer himself. So far as can be judged from present indi-cations the farm crops of Nebraska for 1801 will be all that could be desired. Everything is in the very best condition, the ground is thoroughly saturated with moisture, and the weather could not be more perfect for germinating the grain placed in the ground.

There is a general impression among business men that we are to have both a large acreage and a large yield. As to the latter it is all guess work, but as to the acreage it is possible to give something definite. Oats will show a slight increase in acreage in the eastern part of the state while farther west there will be a decrease owing to the difficulty of obtaining the seed and the high price asked for it.

Wheat will show a general increase all over the state It is still early to say anything very defi-nite about corn, but there is likely to be a gain in acreage taking the state at large. It is estimated that there will be less flax sown in the state although in some localities there will be more than last year. It is safe to add that under the stimulous of will crop all the land that they can convenleutly handle.

SPECULATIVE MARKETS. Trading in wheat at Chicago during the week past has been active and of a large volume. On Tuesday it reached the highest point of the year, $1.16 for May and $1.14 for July. During the remainder of the week the July. During the remainder of the week the market has been on the down grade with occasional sharp railies. It closed at the lowest point and 7c from the top. The bear factors have been magnificent spring like weather, glowing crop prospects and very much weaker foreign markets.

In corn and oats the long looked for improvement in receipts has apparently begun to market last responded to materialize and the market has responded with a sudden and severe break on both articles.

Provisions have been comparatively dull and featureless.
The following tables will show the closing prices on the leading options at Chicago since the first of the month.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK.

OMAHA, April 25.

As a matter of course there are certain conditions provalent which may be said to be peculiar to this season or, perhaps more correctly speaking, conditions that are more pronounced this season than during former years. It is noted that a great many small cash orders are coming in. This is explained partly by the number of old accounts hanging over some of the retail trade, as noted above, and partly by a desire on the part of retailers to be on the safe side and not load themselves up with more goods than necessary. This hand to mouth business is quite noticeable this season in all sections of the surrounding territory but more especially in localities where crops were a failure last year and where money is still rather close.

Several retail merchants who were in the city last week from different points in western lowa complained that where the crops were the heaviest and the farmers had done the best the merchants were not getting as much benefit as might be expected. Their explanation was that the farmers who had received much larger returns for their last years crops had in many cases used the money to pay off mortgages on their farms and had "stood off" the merchants. "It is like this," said one of the gentlemen, "a farmer when he put in his Weakness and Lower Prices Ruled Generally on 'Change.

INFLUENCES WERE AGAINST WHEAT.

Collapse in Prices in the Corn Pit-Declines in Ali Provision Values -No Market for Cattle-Hogs Steady.

CHICAGO, April 25 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE !- The board of trade markets opened weak at lower prices in all the leading markets, made further declines on an early rush of selling orders, and at the end of the first hour made a very good recovery to about last night's prices for wheat and pork, with coarse grains heavy around the bottom fig-ures. The action early for July contracts was as follows: Wheat, $1.08%, to $1.08% to $1.09%; corn, 66%c, to 66c; oats, 51%c, to 50%c; pork, $13.05 and back to $13.17\(\frac{1}{2}\).

Everything in sight at the opening today was against the wheat market. Statements regarding crop prospects, both winter and spring, were simply flattering. The bulk of the local trade, including many who have recently helped to advance prices, was at Minneapolis were remarkable at more than 300 cars. The market was full of stop loss orders to be executed on the decline. May I is near at hand and the deliveries were making many look around for funds to carry wheat if not sold against. So much for the home situation. Then Liverpool quoted spot and futures %d lower and early red 4%3d off at the cose. London was unchanged, which was a sign of weakness where there has been so much strength of late. These comprised the chief points in favor of the seilers. On the other hand there were a few bulls who gave the market support on their ideas and trusted to better news later. It came, but it only got its followers in deeper. The first good buying after early dips on Liverpool cables and crop news was on New York orders. In a few minutes Dunn & Co., George Smith, Arthur, Orr and a few others with special advices were buying all they could get-Then it transpired that buying was on conti-nental cables, which were said to be strong with the worst European damage reports confirmed. This was partly confirmed by Paris closing cables 10 to 40 centimes higher. The market made its bulge in less than half an hour. This was followed by the big feature of the day, a heavy raid worked by professional bears, supposed to be headed by Ream, who was in the pit and credited with a big hand in the deal. The start of the decline found many with profits on the bulge ready to sell. Others were selling on stop orders, others selling short for the reaction and bears hammering prices sharply. The result was a break of 2c straight in short order. This far action for leading months was as follows: May opened around $1.10%, sold at $1.10, went up on the bulge to $1.11%, and off on the break to $1.09%. July started around $1.08%, sold up to $1.08%, and on the bulge to $1.09% and on the break to $1.07%, and there was not an hour of the session remaining. But the decline was not over. There was a pause and a slight rally, and while many were asking what struck the market, another rush of seiling started and May went to $1.00 and July to $1.06%. These were the low figures up to I o'clock, when May was at $1.09% and July steady around $1.07. Wheat closed without any material recovery from the bottom and without any change practically from prices at 1 o'clock. It was given out at the close that about 50,000 bushels of May sold as low as $1.08%. Closing prices for all futures were as follows: April, $1.094; May, $1.094; July, $1.05%; August, $1.04% to $1.02%; September, $1.03% to $1.00%; December, $1.04 to $1.01%; year, $1.01 to 904c. New York reported thirty boat-

The collapse in prices in the corn pit was due to various influences. First, cilque houses gave the market no support. Many former bulls have for days if not weeks regarded prices on too high a level. Country traders in the market have become tired of waiting for the promised advance to 75c. The estimate INSTRUMENTS placed on record April 25. for Monday is large at 370 cars. Western inter grading. Foreign advices were of a weak order. The market started shaky of itself and later when wheat broke about 3c, it was easy for corn prices to slide down still lower. to 1 o'clock May sold at 70%c, off to 68c; July, 66%c, off to 64%c; September, 64c, off to 62%c. This was a decline from the close yesterday of 3c for May, 514c for July and 2c for September. At the close corn was up $4c to $6c from the bottom figures, with May at 684c, July at 644c, or 24c lower for May and 24c off for July. Other months closed as follows: April 69c, June 65%c, August 63%c, September 62%c. Great excitement prevailed in oats today when the market broke fully 3c. The decline was caused by heavy receipts, reports of fine weather, weakness of other cereals, as well as the fact that about all big deals had been closed out. The market continued weak during the greater part of the session, but recovered slightly before the close, which was made at from 4c to 4c above the low prices of the day. May delivery opened %c under yesterday's closing price at 53%c, advanced to 54c and from thence dropped 3c down to 51c. The close was made at 51%c. July started at 51c. sold up to 51%c, declined to 47%c and closed finally at 47%c. August sold from 3714e down to 3514e, closing at 35%c, while September dropped from 35%c to 33c and closed at 33%c. The receipts were liberal, amounting to some 305 cars, of which 212 cars were of contract grades. The esti-mated receipts for Monday are 280 cars. There was a good even trade in provisions all day, with a declining tendency from first to last. There was no commotion in the pit. as in the grain markets, but products were worked off by holders at every opportunity. Closing prices were at the low points for the day in every particular, and the decline amounted to 714@10c in lard; 10@12c in short ribs, and 25c straight in mess pork. July sales ranged as follows: Pork, $13.074; to $13.174; to $12.224; lard, $7.10, to $7.00; ribs, $6.60 to $6.50.

Lozan & Co. to Toneray & Bryan: The wheat market has been excited today. July opening at $1,084; up to $1,094; sold down to $1,094; and closing at $1,094. The trading in May is now very light. The prominent feature in the pit has been the presence of Mr. Ream, the wool dyed bear and a successful one, was a beavy seller of wheat at the top price of the day. We have had no help from such sources until now and if they keep up the fire with artillery the French holders may pause and look at the prices four new crop of winter wheat about 12 cents under theirs. All conditions of the growing crop are highly satisfactory and under this influence and lower cables prices may be forced lower. The price is high, but compared with foreign values it is not, Weather will have much to do with the near future. Berlin flour recovered the decline of Thursday. The excitement extended to oats and corn. The latter was weak and there was heavy selling by holders. The opening price of July was 66-3c and closed at 43c. Oats for July opened at 51c, closed at 48c. The present price of both are about at famine prices, and with abundance of green field now due economy will be the order of the day. With continuance of fine weather lower values must follow. Pork shared a little in the general weakless.

W. G. McCormick & Co. to F. C. Swartz & Co.—

ance of the weather lower values must follow. Pork shared a little in the general weakness.

W. G. McCormick & Co. to F. C. Swartz & Co.—The market has been active and very weak. All advices agree that the condition of winter wheat is nearly perfect in every state and that with the present favorable weather the spring wheat will go into the ground in a most favorable manner. Everything points to the largest crop of wheat it is country has ever raised, and to sustain an advance it is necessary to have constant strong advices from abroad. These failed to materialize this morning, and on the contrary cables ground foreign markets depressed, wheat and flour almost unsalable. The result has been heavy selling by longs and energetic pounding by bears, who once more have acquired a little nerve. Baving made a little money during the past few days these bears are likely to be heard from in the market during the coming week. Receipts in the northwest were very large, as indeed they were at all primary points, while shipments were not half so large as they have been recently. The case of the market is at bottom prices with every indication of lower prices Monday. Corn and Oats—Prime reported that favorable weather of the last ten days had practically completed the planting of oats, which have gone into the ground under most favorable conditions. He also reported that spring work was well advanced and that the ground was rapidly being gotten into shape for planting. The result of these conditions was general unloading of corn and oats, which broke rapidly in consequence of the absence of shorts, who are usually the balance wheel which regulates a break in the market. The outside have been heavy sellers today and it is believed that sering wheat wheel which markets were very weak and closed practically at bottom prices. Provisions—The weakness of grain markets was too much for this market and although the break in prices was not a bad one the market showed in the last hour decided weakness and indications that outside hold of the next week is probable unless the grain markets strengthen materially.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co to S. A. McWhorter—Bears made a preconcerted raid today. The unity of action and aggressiveness displayed was evidently the result of a thorough understanding. Ream, Linn, Cudahy, Roche and other prominent bears were on the floor and personally directing operations. Oats was the first to give away and corn followed. Wheat resisted for a time and even firmed up ye on better continental tables but could not hold up against the persistent pressure. There was good buying by only one house. Milmine Bedman and nearly everybody else appeared of their to be selling or covering shorts. Conditions favored a decline. The edge has been off foreign markets for some days and the cable and selling orders have been more frequent of late. The warm, bright weather found the ground saturated and has forced vegetation forward rapidly. The outlook for all crops is admitted to be excellent. Already there is talk of a 600,000,000 bushel crop of wheat in the United States and it is thought the foreign damage will turn out less than anticipated. Stocks of wheat and flour in sight are ample for all present requirements. Should the unknown quantity back in farmers' hands be enough to fill the demand to next harvest, it is probable that we have seen the culmination of the big buil deal, not only in wheat but in corn and oats. It must not be forgotten however that these grains are apparently approaching the point of possible exhaustion. Accounts from the interior are almost uniformly to the effect that farmers have very little more to sell. The cash demanu is so strong, so urgent in many cases as to keep prices at a considerable premium over futures. The same is still largely in their copponents. The game is still largely in their continuity to the effect on their opponents. The game is still largely in the bands of the bulls and for the past two months they have used it with terrible effect on their opponents. The game is sufficiently seeme

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET. CHICAGO, April 25 .- [Special Telegram to THE

REE.1-CATTLE-Not over half of the number on sale were disposed of at a late hour, and a large number was carried over. The figures representing the receipts do not show the number on sale, as at least 2,000 were carried over last night, and several loads of these were again carried over today for lack of anything like fair bids from buyers. Without doubt it was the slowest day this season so far, and one load of cattle would have about filled the market if they were peddled out. It is useless to undertake to give quotations, as there were not a sufficient number of sales to make a market. Large numbers of stockers were carried over, and values on the same are 10c to 15c lower than at the opening of the week, and cow stock is 16c the opening of the week, and cow stock is 10c to 20c lower. STOCKS AND BONDS.

NEW YORK, April 25 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Cables from London announced that money rates were higher and that the street discount rate was up to 3% per cent, the bank's minimum discount figure. This did not seem to cause any trouble over there. London sent over many buying orders in St. Paul, Atchison. Eric and Louisville & Nashville. Probably the principal reason for the advance was that the new bl-weekly account advance was that the new bl-weekly account began today instead of Monday, owing to the fact that Monday will be a Jewish holiday. The bank statement was a great surprise, it showed an increase of $655.25 in the surprise reserves despite the heavy gold shipments of last Saturday and Wednesday. The interior movement must have been stronger than was supposed, as the money in the banks increased $1.454.409. The deposits decreased $4.755.500.

The stock market sold off after the publication of the bank statement. The filinois Contral has not participated very actively in the present bull movement. This is explainable by the fact that the October issue of $5.000,000 new stock has yet in great part to come on the market. The stock cannot be put out at less than par, and the unused portion of the $6.000 shares is somewhat of a menace to the intending purchasers. Besides it is understood that another large block of this stock some $5.000 shares is somewhat of a menace to the intending purchasers. Besides it is understood that another large block of this stock some $5.000 shares is waiting to come upon the market at a very small advance from the present order.

it is understood that another large block of this stock some 5,009 shares is walting to e. me upon the market at a very small advance from the present price.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter—Leading stock commission houses, including representatives of such old concerns as Workstrong, Boody, McLellan & Co., Moore & Schrittell find the market for stocks is daily widening and further advancing in prices. The general market ought to react, the most of the members of the stock exchauge fraternity say, and some of the old leaders have been disappointed because prices refuse to yield. The advance in Delaware, Lackawanna & Western just at the end of yesterday was partly on the statement that a batch of the underlying bonds in the Essex road was close at hand and Delaware Lackawanna stockholders will be given a chance to subscribe. The real cause was more probably due to the fact that some unfortunate bruin got his paws pinched on the short side and was compelled to take his medicine.

In the two hours session today 243,645 shares In the two hours session today 243,645 shares of stocks are reported to have changed hands. This is equivalent to 000,000 shares for a full day. The market has not only been larger than on any other day, but it has been stronger and this notwithstanding the street generally expected an unfavorable bank statement and acted some on that theory. Coolers have been a prominent feature, but their extreme advance was not held at the close. It was reported when Coxe Brothers bought their freight bills from the Lehigh Valley company on the 28th of this month if the tolls are not reduced as ordered by the interstate commerce commission they will pay them under protest and sue the Lohigh Valley company in the United States courts for the reduction. The outlook for the coal trade is said to have improved, and operators are hopeful for a good summer's business. Northern Pacific preferred has had a sharp raily, due to a cessation of the selling which has been so conspictous recently, and to a sharp demand from the short interest to exer. The bank statement when published was much better than anticipated. The stock market closed strong at a slight reaction from the best prices.
