Jobbers Report a Satisfactory Movement of Goods in All Lines.

PLENTY OF MONEY ON GOOD SECURITY.

Everything Lookin; Very Bright in the Country and Merchants Generally Anticipating a Prosperous Summer and Fall.

The past week has not witnessed any new developments in the local money market, conditions remaining about the same as noted a week ago. Plenty of money can be had on good security and in sums not available three months ago. Legitimate business enterprises are no longer hampered by the difficulty of negotiating loans, and a general good feeling prevails in financial circles.

A banker was remarking the other day on the recuperative power which had been displayed by the western money market, and he expressed himself as really surprised at the favorable conditions prevailing in Omaha so soon after such a severe stringency.

THE WHOLESALE TRADE of Omaha continues in a most prosperous con dition and no complaints of dull times are heard from that source. As noted a week ago the orders in a good many lines are small, but they make up in numbers what they lack but they make up in numbers what they lack in size. The country retail dealers are fol-lowing a very conservative policy in regard to the purchase of goods. They appear to held back their orders until they are forced to place them and then they only order enough to supply their present needs. As jobbers put it, they are buy-ing from band to mouth. But the orders keep coming and the jobbers have plenty to do and are happy. The few days of warm weather last week started up fresh demand for summer goods and it expected that a sudden warm spell would see the orders doubled. Jobbers are placing a good deal of stress upon the feeling of confidence evinced by the country trade. Said a prominent jobber: "It would do any one good to hear the Nebraska merchants who come in here talk about the prospects in the country. I never remember a time when country dealers seemed so cheerful and full of enthusiasm over the future outlook. This is especially noticeable among those from sections of the country which suffered the most from last becomes creat fallers.

Lumber dealers report more activity in their line, which is of importance not only as it affects them individually, but as it indicates that building operations are under way, which means the employment of labor and the distribution of some of money that must the distribution of sums of money that must give a stimulous to other lines of business. CHOP PROSPECTS continue fully as favorable as a week ago and from most sections of the state come re ports of increased acreage, while the ground is reported in excellent condition. While the spring was late the favorable weather conditions of the past week or two is rapidly making up for the time lost earlier in the season.

From Europe the reports of damage to the wheat crops have been confirmed and every thing seems to point out a most favorable year for the agricultural laterests of the west. Under this stimulous the farmers are apparently putting in more grain than ever

Some rumors of damage from insect life to the Kansas wheat crop have been circulated during the past few days, but as a rule they have been looked upon as the fabrications of grain speculators interested in booming the market.

COUNTRY PRODUCE for the past six days has been moving at very nearly steady prices, but the market has not been without features of some interest to the trade.

Cold storage men have been busily engated in putting away eggs which must stand them in 12c or more. This has kept the market up, and strictly bright stock has commat.ded good prices all the week. The mar-ket is really high for the season and parties buying for storage feel that they are paying pretty strong prices.

What was said a week ago regarding the situation in the butter market would annu-Receipts have been ex equally well today. Receipts have been ex-tremely light and the quality very poor. In spite of the quality, however, the scarcity has kept prices up to the mid-winter standard, Dealers have for some two weeks or more been cautioning their shippers that heavier receipts were due and that lower prices must come soon. Still it has failed to materialize and butter is as scarce and as high as ever. So far no grass butter has put in an appearance. A good many dealers are forced to buy

The market is now well supplied and both local sales and shipments have been large While prices have been high on some kinds owing to the scarcity and distance of stipment, still they are comparatively low Some kinds of early home grown vegetable tre commencing to put in an appearance, as asparagus and pieplant. In this connection it may be noted that the market on old potatoes is week, owing to the liberal receipts of the past week. Besides car lots from Colorado and other western states a good many Nebraska potatoes from near points have teen thrown upon the mar-Local farmers have also been cutting in on the market by selling direct to the retail dealers in wagon loads.

Last year's apple crop is practically ex-hausted in this section of the west and it would be hard work to find good shipping stock, even at the high prices at which apples have been held this spring. THE PRUIT MARKET has not been overly well supplied for some days, or more correctly speaking the variety of fruits offered has been small. Strawberries were scarce and higher toward the close of the week, and it was impossible to fill any extensive demand. How ever large receipts are inticipated in a few days and prices must be lower.

The iemoa market has an upward ten-dency. Supplies in eastern markets are not large, and as the demand increases with the approach of summer a stiffening of prices is natural result. Oranges are quite plenty and are moving for Omaha has been the subject of a great deal of discussion among local business me for some days back. This has led to steps being taken for the organization of a grain and produce exchange looking toward the opening of a board where buyers and sellers can meet and transact business.

Since the passage of the warehouse bill by the legislature rapid progress has been made by the local grain men toward the establish ment of an important grain market at

The movement is very similar to that commenced some five or six years ago for the building up of a live stock market at this point. At that time the idea that Omaha could ever be an important live stock market was ridiculed by many. The commencement of the market was small and it was no unusual thing at first for two or three cars of hogs and a few cattle to constitute the day's receipts. Some days nothing was received and no business trans-

During the first four months after the stock yards at South Omaha were opened only 1,863 hogs were received, or an average of 465 per month. For the year 1885 only 130,867 hogs arrived at South Omaha, but the number kept increasing each year, and in 1890 the total received was 1,673,314 head, or an average of almost 140,000 per mouth. In other words, an average month's business in 1890 was greater than the total for the whole year of 1885.

When the stockyards were commenced there were no packing houses here or other large in-stitutions for the consumption of cattle or hogs. Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis had practically a monopoly of the business and the local pesimists were freely predict-ing a flat fallure of the attempt to divert any of this business to Omaha.

of this business to Omaha. Some of those same men are inclined to throw cold water on the attempt to build up a local grain market. The promoters of the grain market have something to commence with as Omaha is already a heavy consumer

THE CONDITION OF TRADE, of grain through her broweries, distillery and mills, and there will be plenty of eastmills, and there will be plenty of east-ern buyers to take all the surplus. The opening of a grain market must tend to bring other plants here in addition to those already located in the same way that the packing houses came after the stock yards were built.

SPECULATIVE MARKETS in grain and provisions at Chicago have prein grain and provisions at Chicago have pre-sented many features of interest. During the week the magnificent crop prospects in this country, beautiful spring-like weather and lower European markets have had their legitimate effect resulting in lower prices in wheat. As the market declined the old-time bears regained their courage and the bull party leat a portion of theirs. The week closed with the market devoid of strength at the lowest figures.

In corn and cats, the receipts have been

In corn and oats the receipts have been heavy, but the demand for cash stuff held up surprisingly well and the market al-though lower seems to be more in sympathy with the weakness in wheat than of any in herent weakness in itself.

Provisions have been dull and featureless with very light trading.

The following tables will show the closing prices of each day on the leading options at Chicago for the past month.

Other Cereals Act in Sympathy-General Live Stock Values Steady -Stocks, Bonds and Miscellaneous Markets.

CHICAGO, May 2.-Weakness was the predominant feature in all of the trading pits on 'change today. The result of the day's trading is a loss in the value of July option-the leading future on all the articles-in comparison with yesterday's close of 1%c in wheat, 34c in corn. 54c in oats, 1754c in pork, 10c in lard and 10c in ribs. *All of the early news was bearish and developed so much weakness during the first half hour of the session that it could not recover during the rest of the session. Crops were favorable and receipts continued enormous. There was uneasiness over the financial outlook in the east, and the exports for the last week and the last ten days compared very unfavorlast ten days compared very unfavorably with those of the corresponding period of a year ago. Under these influences July opened at $1.65 \pm 1.05 \pm against $1.00\pm at the close yesterday, and sold off without mentionable reaction to $1.04\pm a. The fact that some May wheat which had been delivered yesterday was also for saie also tended to rather depreciate values and the premium of May and July was considerably narrowed. As the session advanced considerable builds news was delivered, those including the clearance of 168.000 bushels of wheat from New Orsiems; the loading of 150.000 at St. Louis for export; the engagement of 155.000 here for the seabord and a statement that of the 5.000,000 at Duinth, 3,000,000 were under contract to go out this month. New York also reported export engagements of 181.00 bushels. On the strength of this, wheat railled to $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at the bottom at $1.04\pm but sagged off and closed at $1.04\pm but ably with those of the corresponding Logan & Co., to Toneray & Bryan; Commission houses generally had selling orders in wheat this morning, the tone of foreign advices being much easier and the weight of offerings carried the market 20 a bushel from yesterday's closing price. There was a moderate amount of spring wheat taken here today for shipment, and there was reported at Duinth about a half million fresh charters. The close was at the bottom price of today, $1,643. The bull element received a severe chock in the decline. I think they will be conservative in taking hold, especially if warmer and growing weather prevails. The general impression prevails that the government report for this month will show at least par on condition. Corn was held steady in comparison with wheat. The reports of rains in the west is likely to stop receipts and the demand for cash is encauraging holders. In provisions packers were moderate sellers, some May stuff being sold on account of the difficulty in securing insurance. The market closed steady at the decline.

Secretary Mobiler and Chancellor Snow, says the Kansas City Star, after an investigation of the wheat area of Russell county, kansas, report that the new insect which is found in some of the fields. Is not the cause of the sickly condition of the plant, but that it is due to careless farming. It was found that on ground which had been properly prepared the crop is vigorous and shows no sign of decay. In many instruces the farmers simply drilled the seed on stabile ground without plowing, and in all such ensestive plant is sickly and is turning yellow. The little green lug, which was supposed to be the author of the mischief, was found only in those fields which were not tilled before putting in the seed though the sense loss and bloom to soft which was properly calitivated gathered in poor on the ground wh

Kennett, Henkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorter—Easier cables where strong had been expected, official denial of insect rayages in Kansas and the report of fair stocks of wheat in Nebraska by miliers of that state induced general selling this morning. The short interest had covered so vesterday there was comparatively little demand from that source and the pressure of long stuff carried the price down rapidly. Buils showed little inclination to buy on the break, possibly preferring to wait until Monday. Considerable wheat has been worked at New York and here for export. More than builf of Duluth stocks are reported chartered to go out this month, 168,001cleared from New Orleans today and 186,00 reported loading at St. Louis. About 160,000 bushels were chartered here today. The domestic move has been rather encouraging. The visible may not show much decrease for the week, but the heavy like shipments will soon go out of sight to a considerable extent and we look to see the visible largely reduced this month. Corn and oots have been relatively stronger than wheat. The long interest liquidated so freely early in the week that but little more weak stuff remained to be used. The more liberal receipts will however, have a tendency to pull prices down if they continue as it seems probable. Provisions were weak and depressed early by the weakness in grain and when Wright appeared as a seller broke easily. On the decline, he market turned dull and closed heavy.

W. G. McCormick & Ca. to F. C. Swartz & Co.—The wheat market for the week closes with Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to S. A. McWhorterwhen Wright appeared as a seller broke easily. On the decline the market turned dull and closed leavy.

W. G. McCornick & Co. to F. C. Swartz & Co. The wheat market for the week closes with the bears in complete control and the bears discouraged. The features of today's news have been weak and lower cables and the reports of the very fine condition of our growing crops at home. A very bearish influence was excreised by the talk of a beginning of harvest in the southern states as early as June, which brought our buils face to face with the prospect of an early harvesting of the linest crop that this country has ever seen. Today's decline was checked for a while by stories of a good export demand from the scaboard and that 185,000 bushels had been worked from here direct, but the reaction was only temporary. The indications for next week are for lower prices, the short interest having been mistly covered and no outside disposition to boy unless we have a further break. Receipts at eleven primary points were 410,000, shipments 400,00. The corn market has been decidedly weak in spite of the effort made by the buil party to advance prices. Their selling on the builgo broke the market more than their buying had advance of the effort made by the buil party to advance prices. Their selling on the builgo broke the market more than their buying had advance of the effort made by the buil party to advance prices. The results of the receipts at about 25c for No. 3 corn over the May price. We consider the market as very weak and expect a further decline. Oats have followed corn fluctuations very cosely, as is natural when we duction, but not as much as was expected.

AS BRAVE AS BEAUTIFUL.

Thrilling Experiences in the Life o Custer's Widow.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bacon Custer, the brave, beautiful and talented woman, has probably had more thrilling adventures, more hairbreadth escapes of many sorts, more hardships and privations and sorrows, and more varied experiences crowded into her life, which is not yet a long one, than usually fails to the lot of at least a dozen ordinary women.

It was in the winter of 1863 that Miss Elizabeth Bacon, the daughter of Judge Daniel S. Bacon of Monroe, Mich., met for the first time Captain George Armstrong Custer, who, while walting orders, was visiting his sister in that place, where he had spent some time in school a half dozen years before. But for Judge Bacon's opposition to military life for his only daughter they would have been married at once.

In the spring of 1863 Captain Custer returned to the army in Virginia, and was promoted that summer, at the age of twenty-three, from captain to brigadier general. During the following autumn he came to Munroe again on a twenty-days' leave of absence to recover from a flesh wound, which, though not dangerous, disabled him somewhat

His comaage and gallantry had won all hearts, and at this time, when the young general again petitioned Judge Bacon for his daughter's hand, a reluctant consent was obtained and the two became

When his leave of absence had ex pired he went back to duty and did not return until a few days before their marriage, February 9, 1864.

After a year in Texas, where the general had command of a division of western cavalry and was afterwards made chief of cavalry, marching to Ausilia, where he supported the governor and the new state organization in restoring order to that demoralized region, the Custers returned to Michigan in 1866. The autumn of that year found them in Kansas, where the general assumed charge of the Seventh (regular) cavalry, to which he had been assigned, and there they remained for five years, dur-ing which time Mrs. Custer was the only officer's wife who always followed the regiment. During these years General Custer was on frequent expedi-tions in pursuit of the Indians in the Indian territory, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska and Wyoming.

After two years in Kentucky the general was sent to the frontier again, going to Dakota in the spring of 1873, and here, three years later, the brave general lost his life in an expedition against the Sioux.

What Mrs. Custer saw and experienced in these years, during which she was almost constantly her husbands close companion, it would take volumes to describe. Indeed, in later years, Mrs. Custer herself yielded to the importunities of her friends and has given to the world three volumes of the most surpassing interest, descriptive of army life and experiences.

In "Boots and Saddles," "Following the Guidon" and "Tenting on the Plains, are presented the most vivid word pictures of a life which seems so wonderful, so romantic, and often so heartrending to a civilian, that one wonders how a woman ever came through so much. Yet the books are not all shadow by any means, for Mrs. Custer has an abounding cheerfulness of tem perament, and so keen a sense of the droll in life that smiles and peals of laughter chase away the tears as one

On the frontier, in Da kota, Mrs. Custer was always in peril of her life. There was a tacit understanding and agreement among General Custer and the officers of his regiment that if at any time the party was surprised by the Indians and capture seemed imminent, vhoever had Mrs. Custer in his care was to shoot her instantly to save her from the incalculably greater suffering of torture by her merciless captors. Do you know about Haleyon Heights?

Crary & Crary can tell you. The Depth of Meanness.

When I met my friend, A. Colde, the other afternoon he had a curiously disgusted expression upon his face, quite unusual with that ordinarily light hearted and merry young man, says the New York Herald.

"Well, what's the trouble now?" I queried in my kindest tone.
"Trouble! Do you remember my Uncle Grated?"

"Delightful! Why, he's the blim, blum, blamed meanest man that ever had an ingrowing toe nail while wandering through this vale of tears." "Wherefore?"

"He's just dead. When he was in poor health once he made me his sole heir. Gave me all he had in the world, $2,500 in cold cash." "You oughtn't to kick, he ---"

"Wait. There was one proviso. I was to pay him $500 a year as long as he lived. "Well, talk about mean men, that old skinflint went and lived just five years," and young Colde hurried along toward an undertaker's establishment to look on the bargain counter for a coffin.

Fire from Air. The principle of the generation of heat the sudden compression of air is utilized in an ingenious manner for firing blasts in the Aubin collieries in the province of Aveyron, France. The apparatus consists of a metal cylinder, in which moves a well fitting piston, the rod of which carries a cross piece for a handle. The end of the fuse is passed through a rubber ring into one end of the eylinder. A quick and strong thrust is then given to the piston and the compression of the air within the cylinder generates sufficient heat to ignite the fuse. It is said that with a little practice the fuse is always ignited at the irst thrust. The sparks from the burning of the first inch of the fuse are thrown off inside the cylinder and the danger of igniting the gases which abound in the mines is thus obviated.

A Prisoner's Funny Flight.

While trying to escape from the Beaver Fails, Pa., jail Al Barker fell between two walls which were not quite far enough apart to admit of the passage of his body. He fell down part of the way, but his body became fastened and stuck between the two walls, holding him between heaven and earth for nearly twelve hours. He was so tightly wedged that for a long time it seemed impossible to release him without pulling part of the prison down, but Barker finally succeeded in working a rope around under his leg, and, after a good deal of scratching and tugging, he was pulled out of his predicament
