The Important Duty Entrusted to Special Indian Agent Cooper.

James A. Cooper, United States special Indian agent, is in the city. Ho paid an official visit yesterday to officers of the Department of the Platte. He there saw General Brooke, Colonel Stanton, Major Hughes, Major Benham, Major Baker and several other gentlemen whom he met during the trying times at Pine Ridge during the late Indian outbreak.

Mr. Cooper, last November, was at his home in Winfield, Kansas, enjoying a short rest, when he was ordered to Pine Kidge to act with Agent Royer in the attempt to re-strain the Indians who, at that time, it was thought contemplated going on the warpath. He reached the agency on the 19th of that month, one day in advance of General Brooke, who was accompanied by the Second infantry of Omaha. •He remained at the agency during the ex-

e ting and dangerous times and left when the bostiles had returned from their camps, surrendered their arms and promised, hence-forth, to devote themselves only to peaceful pursuits

Mr. Cooper was perhaps the most popular civilian on the reservation. He was a man of coolness and good judgment. He was a friend of the Indian and made it his special duty to study his character, ascertain his needs and report to his superiors what he considered necessary to ameliorate the condition of the redman and restore in him the confidence and restore in him the confidence which the Messiah and ghost-dance graze had which the dissipated. As a consequence, the Indians looked upon him as a friend, and he left the agency with their esteem and the apprecia-tion of all who knew him. Mr. Cooper is now entrusted with other important commissions on the Sioux reserva tion. In the celebrated Indian campaign of 1876 several thousand head of ponies belonging to the Sioux were taken by the army. The owners appealed to Wash-ington for indemnity and on March 2, 1889, in act was passed by congress appropriating [$2,200 for the payment of the loss. This money is to be distributed by Agent Cooper among the Indians whose property was taken or their survivors who are still amone the or their survivors who are still among the bands. The latter were those of Red Cloud and Red Leaf. There are sixty-two of these claimants at Pine Ridge Agency equally di-vided among the adherents of the chiefs men-

GOVERNOR BOYD'S PLANS. He Will Appeal to the United States Changes in Favor of Omaha Made in Supreme Court.

Governor Boyd was seen yesterday afternoon at the residence of his son-in-law, E. mail service, who has charge of the Burling-L. Bierbower, Thirty-second avenue, In ton mail route from Omaha to Chicago is in response to an inquiry as to his future movements he said :

"I have little more to say than that which is contained in an interview with me published in The Bee. A transcript of the whole proceedings of this case is being drawn while proceedings of this case is being drawn up as speedily as possible, and will be sub-mitted to the supreme court of the United States at once. The supreme court, however, adjourns on Monday next until October, and there is no Monday next until October, and there is no prospect of a hearing until that time. And then it is merely to decide my citizenship, the governorship of Nebraska cutting no figure in the case whatever. If there is a man in-tensely American, that man is an Irish-man, an Irishman especially who has resided here almost a half century, on ac-count of the friendly feeling between the two governments, as Ireland has always looked to America for support and assistance. While I was always proud that I was an Irishman, I took still greater pride in being an American citizen, as I always supposed I was, and still know I am. In cloaing I might say that it is my opinion, as well as that of conservative democrats and republicans, that Judge Max-well was right when he condemned the manner in which this writ of ouster was granted, or in his own words, that it was ington granted, or in his own words, that it was surreptitiously granted.

All for Sister.

How much money have I got in my bank? Forty-five cents, stranger—only want five cents more. What will I do then, stranger? Why, you see, sister has such a terrible cough, and people say it will be bad on her if she don't get better soon, and the folks tell me Haller's sure cough syrup will care it right up; so you see-five cents! Thank you, stranger.

Died Very Suddenly. An old gentleman named J. F. Meyers, who lived at the corner of Twenty-eighth and Sailor streets, died very suddenly yesterday morning. The exact cause of death appears to have been something of a mys-tery, but the coroner had not been notified at a late hour last night.

If signed by a chronic dead beat, is not worth the paper it is written on. It's so with an advertisement. Its value lies more in its signature than in its contents. Its an easy matter for anybody to advertise a certain thing at a certain price, but its another thing to live up to the advertisement. We have in the past four years and a half advertised a great many bargains. The man, woman or child don't live who ever read an advertisement signed by the Nebraska Clothing Company who did not find the goods in the store exactly as we claimed, if they looked.

AN IMMENSE PURCHASE.

Our resident buyer who lives in New York, and who does nothing but buy goods for us, has recently closed out several big lots of Men's Suits. They are suits which manufacturers (who are already at work on goods for next fall) are anxious to close out. They didn't want the goods and did want the room. The suits are first class in every way, made by the leading concerns in the country, are cut, lined, made and trimmed in superb style. They come in an almost endless variety of styles, ten of one style, twenty-five of another, fifty or a hundred of another. Not a suit but what is worth fifteen dollars, and many should sell for eighteen. They were bought cheap, bought to sell, not to keep. "You know our way." Today we put them all in one grand lot and you can take your pick for

Cooper has been charged is ascertaining the losses sustained by the Indians and the legal residents at Pine Ridge, as a conse-quence of the late uprising. This is a most difficult task. The number of those who suffered at the hands number of those who suffered at the hands of the hostile Indians will exceed 500, nearly 400 having already filed claims with the special agent. Mr. Cooper has been allowed an interpreter in Rev. Mr. Cook. All dam-nges must be sworn to by two witnesses. Claims are made for burned houses, stolen cattle and destroyed house-hold furniture. The amount appro-priated to satisfy these claims is $100,000 and the work of endeavoring to make just awards within this limitation is make just awards within this limitation is of herculean dimensions. This evidence of a desire to do justice to the Indians is having a favor-able effect upon those of them who have been more or less dissatisfied and will go a great way toward rendering them content with their condition and convincing them that the government proposes to protect those who have been true to law and order.

WAR IN THE LUMBER CAMP.

Mr. Dietz Appeals from the Decision of the Association.

The trouble between the Nebraska Lumber Dealers' association and C. N. Dietz of this city has come to the surface again.

At the annual meeting of the association in this city in March last, Mr. Dietz was charged with a violation of rule 4 of the bylaws of the association, which prohibits a them, member of the association from selling lumber to a customer in the territory of another member. It was charged that Mr. Dietz's Linceln agent had violated this rule and a fine of $50 was assessed against him. He claimed that his Lincoln yard was not in the association and he was therefore not guilty of the charge. He did not refuse to pay the fine, but took refuge behind the plea of "not guilty." The books of the secretary showed that Mr. Dietz had paid the regular membership tee for all his yards, including the one ship fee for all his yards, including the one at Lincoln, thereby making them members of the association. He was notified recently that his neglect to pay the fine had resulted in his suspension from the association, and he therefore ap-plied for a rehearing, alleging that the sec-retary of the association had discriminated academ hum. against him. A meeting was held yesterday in the office of W. C. Sunderland, secretary of the association, for the purpose of considering the matter.
