Manager Watkins put in Osborn to pitch and the Senators pounded him until the crowd of crank almost wept. Eleven men went to bat in the first inning. Cline, Raymond, Burkett and Stafford made singles, O'Day a double, Jack Rowe was hit by a pitched ball, and Dave Rowe and Rogers, secured bases on balls, the result being six

At the opening of the second inning Schmitt took the box and for a time did well. the local team putting up to within one of a tie in the sixth. In the last of that inning, however, the Senators again pulled away, scoring twice on Raymond's double, Goodenough's muff and Tomney's single. In the next two innings they scored six runs on some very wild pitching and hard batting.

In the ninth the visitors would have lost the game on very yellow fielding, had not heir read been so great. O'Brien, Conley and Goodenough pade singles, which with two errors by Cline, a juggle by Jack Rowe and another by Tomney, gave the Apostles four runs. The feature of the batting was the hard hitting of Raymond and O'Day. The local men often had the bases full, but the runs they needed never came. There was nothing extraordinary about the fielding, except a catch by Ely at deep short.

IT WAS SMOOTH AS A COUNTRY FAIR, Pretty Fighting for Forty-Nine Rounds, with No Advantage to

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 9 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-Owing to excellent management the fight between Tommy White and George Siddons, the two Chicago featherweights, went off as smoothly as a country fair tonight Both men were in fine fettle, and confident of winning, and each was enthusiastically backed by crowds of admirers.

Lither of the Bantam

Weight Gladiators.

White, who weighed a trifle over one hundred and eighteen pounds, had behind him Harry Gilmore, his trainer and backer, and Jimmy Murphy, Tommy Ryan and George Ludiger performing similar offices for Siddons. No difficulty was had in appointing Jerry Daly of Chicago referee and Prof. George Lifer official time keeper.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the men shook hands, smiled and squared away, Siddons leading, falling short and clinching to save return. An interchange of light blows ended the round. Siddons lost no time in the second and planted a heavy blow on White's jaw soon afterwards, receiving one under the right eye which puffed up and angered the recipient. He became careless and left another opening which White took advantage of, getting in a blow on the jaw, which nearly lifted Siddons off his feet.

Just before the third round closed, Siddons got in a terrible lefthander on White, which staggered him for a moment, but both men were forced into their corners without further punishment.

After this White did the most effective work, and seemed to land on Siddons when and where he pleased, but his blows lacked steam, and did but little damage.

A punch on Siddons' car in the fifth round ught first blood, which was claimed by White and allowed, In the sixth round Siddons jumped to the center of the ring with blood in his eye, but both men clinched. At the break-away White got a terrible right-hander on his mouth, which started the blood flowing, but he managed to return the compliment with two left-handers which tore off his glove, and time was called until the glove could be fastened.

In the seventh Siddons got in a lefthander on White's nose and got away with out return. Siddons, who was just warming up to his work, failed to receive a righthander aimed at his stomach, and White another blow on the jaw just as time was called.

The next two rounds were light, White trying to close Siddons' eye, and the latter working for his opponent's wind.

In the tenth round both men appeared as fresh as in the start, White, as usual, landing as he pleased, but doing no damage. Siddons landed a body blow just over White's heart and received two left handers in return.

White received two vicious blows on the aw in the eleventh, but in the infighting which followed he excelled, having a shade the best of the round.

The twelfth round was not eventful.

Plenty of sparring with little effective work continued until to the end of the fifteenth round, when Siddons was staggered by a left-hander Then no fighting was do a until the twentieth round was reached, when Siddons rushed White to his corner, and landed two sledge-hammer blows on the latter's neck receiving so punishment in return.

White was bleeding freely from the month when time was called for the twenty-third round. He lost bis caution, however, in this round and gave Siddons two openings, which the latter took advantage of, getting in several body blows which sent White to bis corner a trifle groupy when the geng sounded

He came up smiling in the next round. however, and did a little effective work with his left, closing the round slightly in his The twenty-seventh round was the hardest fought thus far. White getting in a blow on Siddons' jugular which lifted him off his feet, and had he followed up his advantage could have scored first knock down. In the thirty-first round Siddons, in avoid-ing a rush, slipped, and before he could re-cover received a wicked blow on the left side of the neck which drove him against the ropes. White still continued to land at will. but steam was needed to make his blows of fective. Siddons took punishment smilingly, and with no damage to bimself. The thirty-fifth round closed with severe exchange of blows, honors being about evenly In the forty-seventh round White caught Siddons a wicked blow on the jugular, scor-ing a clean knock-down, the first of the fight. Siddons forced the fighting on arising to his feet, but was met by another left hander advantage, and the fight was declared a dray at the close of the forty-ninth round. SPEED RING.

The coming ring contest between Jim Hall the middle-weight champion of Australia, which has produced so many wonders in pugilism, and Bob Fitzsimmons, to whom attention has been so strongly directed by reason of his victory over the supposedly in vincible "Nonparcil," will, cause very many Omaha men to go to the Grand tomorrow evening to size Mr. Hall up. He will appear here for the first time under the general management of "Parson" Davies, the leading sporting man of the west, and Ed Rothery, one of the best known men in Omaha sporting circles. Hall will appear in a four-round contest with Jack Dayls, the Omaha favorite, and this set-to will be well worth seeing, as also will the final wind-up between Hali and Billy Woods, the heavy-weight champion of Colorado, who recently knocked out Mike Conley, the Ithaca giant. Woods will also have a set-to with Jim Hightower, who has made an enviable record of late among the lesser sporting events of the season. Dennis Daily, Jimmy Gallagher, Billy Levan and Ed Garley have volunteered. The programme will be a very brilliant one and will be the most interesting that has been offered at any athletic entertainment this season. This will certainly stand recorded as the very best one. Incidentally it may be mentioned that Slavin, Mitchell and Dixon are due here now, and if they pass through them to remain over until Tuesday and take part in Monday evening's entertainment at the Grand. Brooding Over New and Increasing Troubles. CHICAGO OPPICE OF THE BEE, 1 Cincago, May 9.

J. W. Owenby, the "silver pool" man, is in trouble again, and he was brooding over it at the Richelion this morning. It appears that Owenby, after stirring up the senators at Washington and Husing the silver pool investigation, he negotiated the sale of a patent right owned by Jos! Weicher for the utilization of the fibres of the magacy plant. Owenby claims this he was to receive as commission $250,000, Weicher, he says, re-fused to pay him and heagreed to compromise for $100,000. Now Gwenby says the enemies he made in the silver pool matter are work-ing hard to down bifth and he asserts that he must go to law for $100,000.

A western man who is stopping at the Grand Pacific says that this is only the beginning of Owenby's troubles, and that the alleged silver poof men are working in secret to "get even" with pain. JOE MULITION'S CONDITION.

EXAMINING JURORS.

Eleven Men Found Acceptable to Both Sides of the Sheedy Case. PRIVATE INTERVIEWS WITH CLIENTS.

John Grimes Arrested at Beatrice for Attempting to Wreck a Train-Cold Wave in the Northwest -Other State News.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 9 .- [Special to The BEE. | - Immediately following the opening of court this morning Colonel Philpot, counsel for Monday McFarland, arose to a question of personal privilege as relates to the right of his client to hold private interviews with his (the prisoner's) wife and other parties.

"We exercised this right after the adjournment of court," said Colonel Philpot, "and it appears to have raised a great roar on the part of counsel for the state. The interview referred to," remarked the colonel, growing in warmth of expression and animation, "was between Mr. Carder, one of our witnesses, and Monday McFarland, one of the defendants, and our client. I know this is permitted in civil cases, and certainly when life is involved the necessity is much greater, and of more paramount importance. That the law permits the defendant to have these private interviews in the presence, but not in the hearing, of the jailer or other authorized official I maintain as a right, which we shall insist upon."

"I think," said Judge Field, interrupting, "there is no impropriety in according to defendants the privilege of holding private conferences with their own witesses and counsel, as they have an un doubted right to uo all they can legitimately to assist their own defense. However, think these conferences, if held between his wife and others, should take place in the court room and during the session of court." Counsel Frank Hall, for the state, addressing the court in the interest of the prosecution, stated that the interview between McFarland and Carder had occurred in the court room last evening after adjournment, and while Judge Field was absent from the room. This he thought unfair and not per-missible under the law.

Judge Field, in passing upon the contro verted point, stated that it had come to his knowledge that some person had applied at the jail last evening for permission to converse privately with McFarland. The jailor had applied to the court for instructions to guide his action in the matter. The court would therefore direct the jailor to grant no private interviews of this character unless it should occur in the court room. In this latter event the court would determine the matter by an order in each instance and direct the ailor to make application whenever the privilege was desired.

The dreary work of examining jurors con tinued all day and resulted in both sides passing a negro. The eleven men now in the jury box are: J. Van Campin, George Albrecht, J. C. Jensen, A. B. Norton, H. H. Shatzell, John H. Hart, A. W. Weddifield, Jacob Croy, Albert Ward, Warren Clark and Elgin C. Hartshorn.

The passing of the negro, Joe Carter, into the jury box was the first thing that has yet really excited Mrs. Sheedy. For several minutes she and her rich uncle, Colonei Biggerstaff, were engaged in carnest conver sation. Finally a few words were whispered in the ears of Billingsley, the attorney for Monday Mcl'arland. Billingsley then astounded the court by asking permission to take McFarland outside of the court room for a private consultation. This was granted. On returning to the room Billingsley exercised the right of peremptory chal-lenge and the negro, Carter, was lot out of the jury box. As Carter passed out he laid his hand on Monday Mc-rariand's shoulder in a friendly manner. A moment after the poor colored prisoner burst into tears. The action of Billingsley in this matter and, in fact, the whole transaction has created more of a sensation than anything yet in connection with the trial.

very sinister constructions are placed upon hallenge for the prosecution and one for th defense. It is believed, therefore, that a full jury will be secured by Monday noon. FOREST FIRES.

Burning All Over the Upper Peninsula in Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., May 9.-Reports from Marquette, Mich., say that forest fires are burning all over the upper peninsula country. At Chassett several farm houses and barns went up in smoke and a bridge was consumed. The loss will be very heavy. On the east shore immense forest fires are raging. The village of Taft is said to be surrounded by fire, but no word can be obtained from her. Ishpening is surrounded by fire, but there is no danger to the town. There is mile after mile of fire along the Chicago & Northwestern railroad south of Ishpeming and nearly to Escanaba. Telegrapt, poles and railroad ties are being destroyed.

Reports from all along the line of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railroad show great fires and large property damages. One of the railroad bridges is burned. The fires are being driven directly toward Oseda by a heavy gale from the west. Much uneasiness is felt and unless the wind changes no one can tell what the result will be, as the Twin cities of Oseda and Ausable are directly the path of the wind. The air is stifling hot and thick with smoke. The big lumber yards of H. M. Loud & Co. of Oseda caught fire last night and burned so fiercely that help was summoned from Alpena. The fire was not checked until about $100,000 worth of lumber had been burned.

The smoke from the forest fires hangs like a dense fog over the towns and adds to the apprehension of the inhabitants. Fierce fires are burning in Snawnee county.

Fire is raging in the upper central counties of the lower peninsula today. The line of fire reaches almost without a break from Mason county on Lake Michigan to Tosco county on Lake Huron, while the forests of Lake, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin. Ogema and Alcona counties, where General Alger owns large interests, are all ablaze. Another fire of slightly less magnitude exists in the upper peninsula. Fears are entertained that the fire will reach the town of Meredith, in Clay counties. Millions of acres of pines are nurn-
