FRUIT GROWERS STILL A LITTLE COY.

Yesterday's Meeting and Motor Ride and Its Results-Where the Blue Grass Palace Comes Up Serenely.

John T. Stewart was on band at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon with his special motor train, all ready to take the furmers and fruit growers out to the driving park, as had been agreed upon a week ago. Only a few of the farmers were on hand, but it was impossible to wait for the rest, and the journey was

The farmers then returned to the court house and held a meeting for the purpose of making further arrangements in regard to the palace scheme which was suggested a week ago. The first thing that was done was to agree formally to enter the Blue Grass league and to appoint A. P. Cramer and J. J. Steadman a committee to write to the different towns in the county to secure their cooperation in the work of making a creditable exhibit. A committee was also appointed consisting of A. P. Cramer, Frank Shinn and B. F. Clayton to circulate around through the county and raise money to defray the expeases of joining the league and getting together the materials for the exhibit.

A long discussion was then commenced with reference to the palace scheme. The ideas of most of the members were very misty on this subject, and A. S. Bonham was the only one who thought he knew what was the proper thing to be done. He, however, was not able to convey his ideas to the audience so as to make them understand what he wanted, and the result was a misunder standing. After about two hours had been taken u with sawing wood, the meeting adjourned, and the members were just as much in the dark as to whether they would vote to go into the palace scheme as when they com nenced work in the afternoon.

L. A. Casper wanted to build a palace and he was auxious to have a guaranty raised by subscription, as he thought that more money could be raised with less work in that way than by either the stock company or the straight subscription plans. committee was appointed consisting of L. A. Casper, J. W. Peregoy, A. S. Bonham, J. T. Stewart and George B. Wheeler to look up the matter and find out whether it was advisable or not to duild a palace.

Superintendent Sawyer of the city school has reported to the board in regard to the number of books which will be required to keep the schools running during the next five years, in accordance with the instructions given him at the last meeting of the board. The report states that there are 3.557 pu pils in the public schools at the present time, and that the estimate of the number of sup-plies required for the next five years have been figured on that There will be about books needed and other supplies in propor tion. Among other items, the amount of ink is estimated at 100 gallons, the amount of legal cap at fifty reams and the number of slates at 1,200.

A large saving will be made to the parents of school children by the new scheme. It is estimated that by buying the supply by wholesale instead of retail, as heretofore, 50 cent book will be gotten for about 20 cents. and the saving will be in about the same pro portion in all other directions.

The law under which this arrangement is to be effected was passed by the legislature at the last session and is found in section 5 of chapter 24 of the code. It provides that chool boards may advertise for bids for the furnishing of supplies for a stated period, at wholesaie rates. The plan is aiready in op-eration in Sioux City, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Burlington and other cities through out the state and it has met with great success wherever it has been tried. The mem bers of the board are confident that about $3,000 will be saved to the parents during the year. Bids for the furnishing of the school supplies will be advertised for in a few days the competition will no doubt be very warm between the various dealers in suc merchandise.

Court Notes.

In district court yesterday Judge Smith heard the case of L. M. Turner against George Ferguson. The case excited but little interest, as the testimony was almost precisely the the same as was introduced in the case of Turner against Rink & Schultz. All the testimony was in, the arguments of the attorneys submitted and the case submitted to the court at the adjourning time The jury in the case of Schnaber, Renthal & Co against Peter C. Miller, which was on trial for several days last week, brought in a verdict for the defendants. This throws the costs of the suit on Miller, and virtually throws both parties out of court, as the plaintiffs sued for $430 on an attachment and the defendant put in a counter claim for $1,500 for false attachment.

In the case of William Reese against A. J. Rice and Sarah Rice the court instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the defendant. In the superior court the jury in the case of Batchelor against Hamilton brought in a verdict for the defendant of $3.50.

THE RIFLE CLUB.

It Wanted to Down Somebody with

Powder and Ball. In the front window of A. C. Graham's gun shop on Broadway there is on exhibition a magnificent gold badge, which was won by Mr. Wilson Duncan at the regular semimonthly shoot of the Council Bluffs rifle club at Robrer's park Friday afternoon. Mr. Duncan has won the badge now three times in succession, and he is beginning to feel a sort of proprietary interest in it. His score on Friday showed 67 points gained out of a possible 100. This was a trifle less than on the two preceding occasions, which is ac-counted for by the fact that it was a very windy day, and all the records were couse uently lower than usual.

The Council Bluffs Rifle club, by the way is quite an institution. It numbers about thirty members at present, and at least ten of them are first class shots. Shooting matches take place every two weeks and the winner of the badge holds it each time until eprived of it by some more successful com petitor. Mr. Duncan states that he thinks a cam could be selected from the club—that it would be difficult, if not impossible, to beat in a contest with a like club from any city is lows or Nebraska, or, for that matter, in the whole northwest.

Among the best shots in the club are Mosses, Tipton, the president, John Oliver, Sackett, Ogden and Mulholland. Anyone of these, Mr. Duncan says, with becoming mod esty, could beat the scores which he made of Friday, under favorable conditions, and the cores are not to be sneezed at, either.

There are a number of gentlemen in the club who do some fine work when the spirit moves them, and at other times they drop back into the ranks without having done any thing to be proud of. They are Messrs. Ham lin, Metcalf, Matthal, Grandy, Hoffmayr and Nichols. The latter is one of the younger members, and is regarded by the old as a genuine prodicy.

The thing that is uppermost in the minds of the members at the present time, is a prize snoot between the Council Bluffs club and representatives from other cities. The badge which is now worn by the successful contestants is one that was won from the Omaha club in 1880, and some way the mem Omana club in 1850, and some way the mem-bers feet as though they could beat Omaha again if they had a chance. An effort is also being made to get the ladies interested in the art of rifle shooting, and if the success is anything like in proportion to the eagerness with which they are trying to bring about the de-sired result, a ladies' annex to the Council Bluffs Rifle club is likely to be a thing of the

HE CAUGHT THE BALL.

Detective Miller Took in a Liner. But Muffed It.

Detective Miller of the Union Pacific secret service, narrowly escaped being the hero of a serious accident last night at about 9 o'clock. He was standing on the platform of an east-bound Omaha motor train, with his assistant, Henry Dean. The train gave a sudden lurch, and knocked a revolver out of Dean's pocket. The revolver fell on the platform, striking on the nammer, and was discharged. The ball entered Miller's left leg, just above the knee, and came out about two inches away, ploughing a deep furrow through the flesh, but fortunately not inflicting a dangerous wound. It then proceeded on its way to the roof of the car. taking a large crop of whiskers off the face of another man who was standing near. Miller went to the office of Dr. Cleaver, where the wound was dressed. The car was well filled with passengers ome of whom were ladies, and the sho caused something of a sensation .If the ball nad gone in a different direction it migh have caused something more than a sensa tion, for it came from an enormous 44-calibre olt's revolver. at the north end. Chief Seavey will arrange the police to the best advantage along the route. Two sergeants and sixteen officers will have charge of the high school grounds.

It was decided that the reception committee, the Omaha guards, the platoon of mounted police and all who escort the presidential party from the depot shall also assist in escorting the presidential party from the Saunders residence to the train when the time arrives for the departure. General Brooke announced that the tary preparations were all complete. A salute of twenty-one guns will be fired from the battery stationed on South Twelfth street, a block south of St. Joseph's hospital, firing will begin when the pres firing will begin when the pritial party starts across the viaduct.

Major Clarkson announced that he would ail badges to all members of the committees on Monday morning. These badges will be the only passport to the platform at the court house and to the carriages. Chief Marshai Weller announced that all nembers of the various committees, except-ng those engaged in the reception in Tur-BEE building would be expected to get into the carriages while the informal reception is going on, so that the procession might nove promptly. The following gentlemen will assist in seat ing the members of these committees in the carriages: Messrs. Thomas Lowry, Chris Hartman, John A. Wakefield, Colonei Chase and Thomas Swobe. The Farnam street steps up to the plat-form will be reserved for the presidential party and the Seventeenth street steps for e committeemen. The telephone company will be requested remove the large pole directly in front of the platform from which the president will address the people. It was decided to close both the Tenth and Eleventh street viaducts from 10 until 12 to all excepting motor car traffic and the presidential party and reception committee.

The route of the drive was changed slightly. Instead of turning north at Harney and Sixteenth and going thence to the residence of ex-Governor Saunders, the procession will go east on Harney to Thirteenth, then north to Douglas, then west to Fifteenth, then north to Dodge, then west to Sixteenth, and thence to the Saunders residence. The possibility of bad weather was discussed and the executive committee was authorized to secure the use of Boyd's opera house, the Paxton hotel or Tue Bee building or the reception in case it should be rainy. The newspapers were requested to suggest to the people all along the route of the drive that they should not neglect to decorate their The route of the carriage drive is as fol

AMUSEMENTS.

Patent nostrums are found on the stage as well as in the drug trade. Their entire investment and value consists in advertising The modern temple of the drama is turned into a market place for the sale of notoriety. Yesterday afternoon and last night John L. Sullivan made his appearance on the stage of the Boyd in "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands" and 2,500 people have now an exalted opinion of the champion heavyweight's ability as an actor.

It was truly an exhibition worth witnessing, not alone as the basis for future compar-ison but as an example of the prostitution of the art which brought Forrest, Booth, Davenport, McCullough fame on this side of water to say nothing of the ability of nen who have illumined the dramatic page the "tight little island."

Five acts of villainy, heroism, clowning and mock heroics are necessary to introduce a scientific set-to between the champion and another fistic follower and when the "knock out" blow is given the audience was quite willing to cry quits, they had seen the "earnest actor" make ducks and drakes of a burly opponent who is carried along for that purpose audience cared little for the drama. They had come to see Sutlivan

"act" and as long as he was on the stage they had eyes only for him. Between his scenes, when he was behind the friendly wings working himself up to his heroic task detending the defenceless, the crowd had little patience with the talk of the other characters. In fact, they would rather se John in a monologue entertainment, for then be could have usurped the stage continuously. In composition the audience was the most heterogeneous assemblage ever gathered in Boyd's. Graders in shirt sleeves knocked elbows with legislators, coal heavers exchanged confidences with millionaires "dead game sports" gave pointers to bank clerks upon the relative merits of Sullivan and his burly antagonist, and throughout fraternity with a capital F spread her benig-nant wings.

A tall, lank citizen, with closely cropped nair and a beard about a foot long, VanDyke brown in color, very suggestive of frost-touched stalks of golden rod stuck into a hammock, remarked confidentially to a friend at his right, "Dat's de stuff for me. He's a actor, he is. Why, he just owns de peop', see". And that is about the opinion formed by the people present.

After the third act, in which Sullivan rises to realms of tragedy, remarking to the villian, who by the way ought to have his voice filed, "If you say another word I will break every bone in your body," he was called on for a speech, and in a manner peculiarly Sullivanesque, said: "Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you for your hearty applause and appreciation which you have shown me tonight. I nope I shall deserve it in the future as well as I have in the past." [Loud and long continued applause.] But why go on with the recital: Sullivan filled the space allotted to him by a wise playwright. He seemed as big as the And at night time when he thinks. which he has to do in the course of the drama, the attendants say it sounds very much like the rumble of a coal wagon over a bridge.

Sneak Thieves Find Omaba Easy Plucking at Present. The police haven't caught all the sneak thieves yet, though possibly they may think so. Friday the housebreakers were at work and yesterday it was the barn and back yard crooks. Some of these professional sneaks probably intend to start a first class carpenter shop. The barn of D. Kennedy at 411 North Thirtieth street was broken into some time Saturday afternoon and a fine box of tools Entrance was also effected into a work shop belonging to Edward Trapp near the corner of Thirty-sixth and Coming street. Here the thieves gathered together assortment of saws, chisels, bits, etc., and de samped. As no one saw the deeds committed in was impossible to furnish any description of the perpetrators. The police claim to be working on a clue.

Owen Slavett's residence, near the corner of Tenth and Bancroft streets, was entered the afternoon or early evening and about $60 worth of ciothing taken. While A. Kahn was riding home on Dodge street cable car about midnight to en jumped onto the car, crowded Mr. Kahn little, and after riding a block or so, jumped

Mr. Kahn had occasion to look at his watch a moment afterward, but found it missing He suspects the two strangers of having uched him for the ticker. The watch is a fine gold one and quite valuable. The ma-ter was reported to the police by telephone.

Creighton College Theatricals.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the Students Library association" of Creighton college gave a matinee performance of scenes from the "Merchant of Venice" and the amusing farce, "Box & Cox."

A large number of the young friends of the college were in attendance and passed a very enjoyable afternoon. During the rendition of the "Merchant of Venice" the actors were frequently interrupted by the applause, in recognition of their capacitated for their capacitated. mently interrupted by the applause, in resentation of their respective parts, humorous situations in "Box & Cox" forded much merriment to the audience and proved a pleasant finale to an entertaining

The same programme will be repeated or Wednesday evening, May 13, at 8 o'clock. The members of the "Students' Library asso dation" expect a large attendance of their patrons and friends, as they have spared wither labor nor expense to present an agreeable performance.

Tickets may be purchased at Creighton college or from members of the library as-

Important Meeting to Be Held in St. Louis Next Wee St. Louis, May 9. -Next Tuesday there will commence in this city a convention of railway employs which from present indications will be the most important in the annals of labor meetings. It will be the twenty-third annual convention of the National order of railway conductors. This organization is affiliated with the federation of railway employes and the principal question discussed will be the advisability of federation with the firemen, switch-men, trainmen and the brotherhood of conductors. There will be in all 300 delegates. Another important matter to to decided is that of the location of permanent headquarters of the order. Indianapolis,
