expect a continuance of the querulous and paralyzing counsel that have afflicted their city of Chicago. This is not only the doctrine and Colonel Shepard is always orthodox. At least give the colonel credit for sticking up for his Sunday school lessons at all times.

character would be the subject of comment and curiosity on the part of many people; but to the few she was no mystery at all, only what she claimed to be—a teacher of truths that have long lain dormant for lack of opportunity. One can hardly consider her an "adventurer" when reading the words of Mrs. Annie Besant, who, after saying: "Her verily had never been impugned," pledged in a subsequent article the integrity of the "woman I am proud to call teacher, and who sometimes calls me friend."

She died as she had lived, working for everyone, but earnestly trying to improve upon the world the truth of the essential "brotherhood of humanity," without distinction of race, creed, or color.

PAYING THE STATE MILITIA.

Amounts Due Citizen Soldiers for Services During the Indian Outbreak.

LINCOLN'S WELCOME FOR HARRISON. Programme for the Reception of the Presidential Party at the State Capital—Water Company's Organizing.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 12.—[Special to The Bee.]—Adjutant General Cole is again in full swing in his office and is busily engaged expediting the settlement of affairs growing out of the Indian outbreak last January. The legislature appropriated $1,300 for transportation and $4,000 to pay the national guards and other expenses. General Vinton, who made a careful estimate of the accounts, is of the opinion that the aggregate will fall within the amount of the appropriation.

The work of paying the guards for their time while in service is now under way. The adjutant general some time ago designated a drill day in May for each company. Paymaster O. C. Baker was ordered to visit each company on that day and pay off the guards for their Indian campaign. He began that duty May 1, and it will continue until the 28th. The paymaster has the corrected rolls, but the following table will closely approximate the amount due each company and give the date of its drill:

Table with columns for Company Name, Date of Drill, and Amount Due. Includes companies like Lincoln, Nebraska, and various regiments.

RECEPTION OF THE PRESIDENT. A telegram received this morning from the Presidential party announced that they will arrive in Lincoln at 2:30 Wednesday morning instead of 9 o'clock, which will afford ample time for the short programme, as the party will not leave for Omaha until 10 o'clock.

The revised programme is as follows: The presidential train will stop at the foot of O street, and its arrival will be announced by a salute from the battery of the university cadets. The crowd will be kept away from the train by a cordon of police. The visitors will be escorted to cars at 10:45 and a small column will be formed in the following order: Marshal and staff, university band, university cadets, the president with Governor and family, a member of the governor's staff, state, county and city officials. The Grand Army of the Republic has also appointed a detachment to act as an escort and it will be a most imposing line. The line of parade will be up O and Fifteenth streets to the north front of the state house where 4,000 school children will be massed in effective form. There will be addresses of welcome by Governor Thayer on behalf of the state and Mayor Weir on behalf of the city. The president will make a response. The traveling men will present the president with an address inscribed on the front of the Catholic school is also preparing an address to be presented.

OFFICIAL FILINGS. The Burwell state and irrigation company has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state. The incorporators are Thomas H. Doran, S. L. Reasoner, Frank A. Voth and A. A. Moberly. The capital stock is $25,000. The company's purpose is to construct a water power for manufacturing enterprises, and a canal for irrigating farms in Rockford precinct, Greeley county.

Articles have also been filed by the Mutual loan and trust company, whose incorporators are George W. E. Dorsey, Thomas W. Allen and Joseph D. McCormick, all of Fremont, but the principal place of business will be in Omaha. The company is authorized for three years and its capital stock is $25,000.

The appointment of Bird C. Waseley as stenographer of the Fourth judicial district has been filed with the secretary.

FIGHTING THE DITCH. Contest Between the Union Pacific Railroad and the County Officials. The Union Pacific railroad company, through its attorneys, began proceedings in the United States district court yesterday, asking for an injunction restraining J. D. McDonald, C. S. Penfield and a man named Allen from cutting a ditch across the right of way in Dodge county on the northwest quarter of section 1, township 17, range 6. It seems that the county commissioners of Dodge county are determined to cut a large ditch across the Union Pacific right of way, but the company's attorneys claim that the ditch is unnecessary and will be a damage to the railway property. To cut the ditch will cost at least $100, and the company does not propose to pay for the ditch or to cut it if the law will sustain the petition for a permanent injunction.

The afternoon session of the court was a very brief one. When court convened it developed that only one of the grand jury had reported, and the court issued an order directing a panel of twelve jurors to be drawn and ordered to report at 10 a. m.

The case of Esher vs. The Bee was adjourned until Thursday at 10 a. m. to enable counsel on both sides to make arrangements for the presidential reception.

DR. DURYEA ON ART. Lecture Before the Association at the Lininger Gallery Last Night. Nearly one hundred members of the Omaha Art association listened last night to a very entertaining and intellectual lecture by Dr. Duryea at the Lininger gallery. The subject was "Art and Life." The eloquent divine spoke of the absolute necessities of life, the things that must be provided to protect us from hunger and shelter us from the elements. When these things have been provided then the soul begins to reach out after the artistic. The speaker illustrated his idea by referring to the evidences of the artistic instinct that we observe among the Indians and other savage tribes of men. The desire of the human hand to express itself in the plastic arts, designs, etc., followed on up to the building of beautiful temples, the carving of statuary and the painting of enchanting views. The moment that the human hand began to create anything beautiful, that moment he began to pass over the line of savagery and into the domain of art.

There was much that passed for civilized taste that was really barbaric. Over decoration, the wearing of huge diamonds for the purpose of making people and wonder and all such vulgar exhibitions were simply the relics of barbarism.

Dr. Duryea complimented the art club upon the progress it had made in Omaha and said that if many eastern people who had never been in the west should happen to be dropped down into such a meeting as this in nature as they had been in the art school they were in Baltimore, Washington or probably in Boston.

He was ashamed to say that he should have been closed by saying that President Harrison viewing The Big building and the New York Life if they had not such buildings as The City National and First Congregational church. He would not be proud to know that Omaha had one of the best packing industries in the world if it had not at the same time the Lininger gallery and a widespread love for and appreciation of art and all that is intellectual and soulful in nature. At the close of the lecture Mr. Wallace, who has recently returned from a recent opening in Omaha, was introduced and made a few remarks about the prospects and designs of the school.

MAKING READY. The District Court Judges Dispose of Preliminary Business. The court has opened promptly at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The judges discuss a greater part of the day. But little business of importance was transacted, however.

Thomas Cline, the man who robbed John C. Mahoney of $40 was called for trial before Judge Hopewell. The jury was secured and sworn, after which Cline withdrew his plea of not guilty and acknowledged his guilt. In the case of John Wilson, charged with robbery, county attorney entered a nolle prosequi. Before Judge Ferguson the arguments in the case of Agnost against the Sun Fire Insurance company were completed and the motion for a new trial overruled. In the large court room in The Bee building Judge Davis was upon the bench, and spent the day in hearing motions. Judges Deane and Waseley occupied room No. 1 in The Bee building and called the equity docket. Short sessions were held during the afternoon and adjourned until Thursday morning. A few of the delinquent jurors appeared and were excused until Thursday.

Acute Cerebral Congestion. Coroner Harrigan held an inquest over the body of H. D. Busch at Healy & Healy's yesterday afternoon. All the testimony tended to show that Busch had been suffering from acute cerebral congestion and the jury brought in a verdict to that effect.

Says He's Not Guilty. Charles Mulloy, the snooty thief charged with house breaking, pleaded not guilty in Judge Hestley's court yesterday. His examination was set for next Monday.

THE man or woman who lives 100 miles from Music, as Sidney Smith declared that he lived "twelve miles from a lemon," will hardly be tempted by what we have to say regarding some new and beautiful Pianos just received from the well known makers, C. C. Briggs & Co. of Boston.

But scarcely any other person can escape the temptation to call at our warehouses and see the latest product of American art and artisanship in the form of an 1891 Piano.

THESE BRIGGS instruments are equipped with the Patented Soft Stop, which makes practising possible at any time or in any place, without disturbing one's neighbors, or making the whole house musical.

In other respects they are finished instruments of the finest quality. They have that wonderful and rare tone which makes them notable as the best accompaniment to the human voice.

We shall be pleased to exhibit these choicest Pianos to anyone whose business or curiosity may prompt him to call at our warehouses. Visitors and purchasers are equally welcome.
