

WHEN THEY REACH OMAHA.

How the Gate City Will Receive the Presidential Tourists.

CORDIAL WELCOME TO THE EXECUTIVE.

Plans for Parade and Speechmaking. Handshaking and Carriage Drives - Throughs Already Gathering - A Racing Scribe.

Today will be a busy one for the citizens of Omaha, and if the details of the program arranged are carried out President Harrison and party will be accorded a most enthusiastic welcome to Omaha by her loyal citizens.

The special train bearing the presidential party will be met at Lincoln by a delegation of citizens and escorted to Omaha, arriving at 11:30 o'clock. At the union depot the party will be met by the executive committee, and under escort of troops from Fort Omaha, the Omaha guards and a platoon of police, will proceed to the pavilion at the entrance to the court house grounds. Here Mayor Cushing will deliver the address of welcome.

President Harrison will deliver an address, and speeches are also expected from Postmaster General Wainwright and Secretary of Agriculture Rusk.

After the addresses, which will be concluded about 12:30 o'clock, the party will cross the street to the rotunda of the Bee building, where for one hour the president will be met by a throng of citizens and visitors as possible. Mr. Harrison and members of the local reception committee will be present at the reception. The visitors will enter the Bee building at the Farnam street entrance and, after greeting the chief executive, will pass out through the Seventeenth street entrance.

At the expiration of the hour allotted for the reception, the president and party will re-enter the carriage and start on a drive around the city. Stops will be made at the High school grounds, the Farnam street college, where the president will address the school children, the drive closing at the residence of Governor Saunders, 22nd and Grace street, where the president will lunch and rest until the time for departure by special train over the Wabash at 3:30 o'clock.

President Harrison, Governor Thayer, Hon. James E. Boyd and Mayor L. C. Cushing will occupy the carriage.

The following is the route of the carriage drive:

The incoming trains last night were all heavily laden with visitors, and the hotels were all crowded to their utmost capacity. It is seemed as if every body's county relations were flocking into the city to attend the presidential reception.

Hacing with the President. Mr. John J. Shriver, Washington correspondent for the New York Mail and Express, arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Shriver left Washington three days before the starting of the presidential party, and has visited each city in advance of the chief executive. His schedule calls for his arrival in Washington two hours in advance of the presidential party.

Cocked and Primed. Grand Marshal Weller and his aides held a short meeting yesterday afternoon to talk over the arrangements for the presidential reception today. No changes in the programme were made. The executive committee authorized Marshal Weller to make any changes today that he deemed necessary.

DENVER'S CORDIAL RECEPTION

Presidential Party Enthusiastically Welcomed to the Colorado Metropolis.

IMMENSE CROWDS AT THE DEPOT.

School Children Strew the Pathway of the Distinguished Visitors with Flowers - Entered at Lunch.

DENVER, Colo., May 12.—A joyous shout of welcome from thousands of patriotic voices, the booming of cannon from the distant hills, the waving of flags and the sound of martial music—such were the expressions of welcome with which President Harrison was received in Denver today. The president's train was timed to arrive at 9:15 a. m., and four hours before a great crowd had gathered around the union depot and its vicinity. The depot, like all other portions of the city, was gaily decorated in his honor. From every spot where a point of vantage was to be gained—assembled and roared themselves hoarse as the train bearing the chief magistrate of the United States steamed up to the station.

The reception committee had long been waiting on the platform. At last the governor's special car appeared in sight. There was a rush to the train, a falling back, with expressions of disappointment. The governor was accompanied only by his little daughter. Ten minutes later the president's train, bedecked with tunting, pulled into the station. A crowd of cheering people, the band surrounding his special car. The cheer was taken up by the throng without and taken up and returned till the echo hardly died away. The president and his daughter were the first to alight from the train, and he was first to apply his hat to the ground. The president's special car was the first to be taken up by the throng without and taken up and returned till the echo hardly died away. The president and his daughter were the first to alight from the train, and he was first to apply his hat to the ground.

General Wolcott and Senator Teller were the first to approach the president and bid him welcome to the city. Then came the governor and another cheer was raised. The president raised his hat, bowed and smiled, and Mrs. Harrison, in a graceful acknowledgment of the enthusiasm of the people. The other members of the company with their relatives and friends appeared and preparations were made for the procession to start.

On the other side of the entrance to the depot were the Colorado national guards and the high school band. The United States infantry under the command of Colonel Mearns of Fort Logan. The president, Mrs. Harrison and the other members of the party passed through the grand stables. A blast of the bugle called the military guard into line and the carriage, which were to bear the party over the route of the procession took the places assigned to them. Beside the president sat the governor, Secretary Cass and Postmaster General Wainwright. In the next carriage sat Mrs. Harrison, the mayor and his wife and then the other members of the party followed.

The procession started. First came the mounted police, clearing the road, which was a difficult matter, for the crowd was so densely massed that as street carriages would get into the crowd and streets they were almost blocked at every turn. Officers on foot helped to keep a clear passage. After the police came the United States marshal and his posse of constables, a picturesque body, magnificently mounted; next followed the Patriarchs Militant, like the landwehr of the olden times. Then the Sixteenth infantry and then lastly the high school cadets. All along the line of march the president and party were cheered till they were hoarse.

At the high school were massed row after row of children. They received the guest of the day with cheers and strewed flowers in his pathway as he passed. The governor had made an address to the little children the procession moved on to the Hotel Cheyenne, where a luncheon was served.

The procession started for the grand Lincoln avenue, where the address of the day was made.

The procession wound up at the Metropolitan hotel, where the party was received by Mr. Busch and accompanied to the magnificent decorated room in which luncheon was served. The table was set with a display of floral plants and the national colors. Thirty-eight covers were laid. Those present included Senators Teller and Wolcott, the governor and his wife, the governor, the judicial bench and a few friends.

The health of the president was appropriately proposed by Mr. Busch. Mr. Harrison suitably responded.

The ladies of the party were entertained at the Governor's house, where a reception table was laid. Previous to the luncheon an organ recital was given in honor of Mrs. Harrison at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, which was thronged with a fashionable congregation.

Mamma (to her little boy)—Now, Bonnie, if you'll be good and go to sleep, mamma'll give you one of Dr. Ayer's nice sugar-coated Cathartic Pills next time you need medicine. So, snuggles sweetly, dropped off to sleep at once.

FATAL WHITE CAP WHIPPING.

A Tennessee Outrage Which May Result in More Deaths.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 12.—As a result of the recent white cap sensation the bride who was whipped by women white caps has since died after terrible torture. Three men who were fired on will die of their wounds. The women who did the whipping have been arrested but their friends say they will never go to jail and a fight is imminent between a mob and the officers.

Breakdown in a Volcano's Crater.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 12.—The steamship Australia arrived this morning, seven days from Honolulu. Prof. Brigham, in a report to the surveyor's office concerning the recent breakdown in the crater of the volcano at Kilauea, says the entire fire area is gone. Peaks, cones and pools have vanished and in their place is a pit crater of elliptical outline 500 by 5,000 feet in extent. The walls, he says, were perpendicular and impassable. It is estimated that their depth was 300 feet.

National Interest in the Question of Boyd's Citizenship.

WASHINGTON BUREAU THE BEE, 513 FIFTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., May 12.

At the supreme court rooms this afternoon and by Associate Justice Brewer this evening, it was stated that no papers had yet been filed in the case relating to Governor Boyd's citizenship and the gubernatorial contest in Nebraska. Information came from Omaha yesterday that an attorney would argue from that city and present already a writ of error proceeding, but he has not yet appeared. Justice Brewer says the papers will be formally filed with the clerk of the court, and he will be asked to pass upon the question of granting a stay of proceedings in the matter of Boyd.

The attorneys on the other side have anticipated this move and already filed an objection to that. It is believed, a stay of injunction will not be granted, although, if possible, and the case, it is thought by attorneys competent to pass good judgment, will go over till the supreme court reconvenes in the fall. The case has excited considerable interest here, involving as it does, an important question—that of a child becoming a citizen with or without the naturalization of the parents—yet, it is generally believed that the case does not present those elements of emergency which call for a stay of the case, and the case will be decided in the displacement of Governor Boyd and the reinstatement of Governor Thayer.

TIMBERLAND DECISION.
