HAS CONE OUT OF BUSINESS.

Nebraska Insurance Company Asks for and Gets a Receiver.

ALBRIGHT WILL WIND UP ITS AFFAIRS.

History of the Concern-What is known of its Condition-Vice President Madden Talks

Some.

The troubles of the Nebraska fire insur-Ance company are at an end, and from this time on the receiver, W. G. Albright, will look after what remains of the company.

Eight years ago the institution was born in Council Binffs, where it was known as the Iowa and Nebraska fire insurance company. Two years later it came to Omaha and dropped the lowa portion of the name. The business transacted consisted in taking risks on farm property and detached dwellings in small towns.

Business was good, losses far between and with its capital of $100,000, the Nebraska was though to be making money. Some six weeks ago the company changed hands, a wealthy gontleman, W. G. Madden of Des Moines, Ia., taking 304 of the 1,000 shares of stock. In consideration of his heavy purchase he became the vice president of the concern. The balance of the stock was par-celled out among Des Moines, Council Bluffs and Omaha parties. As soon as the new officers were installed the heads of all the members of the old office force were dumped into the basket and new men filled their

It was then rumored that the concern was shaky at the foundation, but the trouble was bridged over until yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Madden appeared before Judge Irwin and asked for a receiver. The application was immediately granted and W. G. Albright named for the position. Mr. Madden was seen last night and in Speaking of the company said: "I consulted with the other stockholders of the company, and decided to place everything in the hands of a receiver."

Upon being pressed for his reason, he said : "Auditor Benton has not given us a fair deal. On January 1 he inspected the affairs of the company and certified that it had com-plied with all the requirements of the law; that it had its $100,000 of securities on deposit and was in good condition. Shortly after I bought into the company he made another Irip to Omaha, and upon his return home we were notified that our securities were not sufficient, though they had in no wise depraclated since January

"We paid but little attention to this, A few days later one of our friends informed us that Benton intended making the company trouble. I took no stock in the report, as I saw no way by which we could be injured "A few days ago a man came from Ben-ton's office to take charge of the books and accounts at $10 per day. I then discovered that he had it in for us, and I at once made application and had a receiver appointed."

Mr. Madden knew nothing about the poli-cles in force. He said: "The liabilities will not exceed $5,000, while the assets, including the deposits at Lincoln will foot up to $125, 000. These assets consist of notes, nearly all of which are due from farmers and will be paid after harvest. If we had not been forced to the wall, we could have come out in good shape." Mr. Madden could not state anything as Mr. Madden could not state anything as regards the policies in force. He had heard the report that the company had tried to re-insure with the Phenix of Brooklyn. This be denied, stating that there had never been any thoughts of ro-insuring. He also denied having had any trouble with the stockholders or the former officials of the commany. His movey he put is to the the company. His money he put into the concern, regarding it a good investment if he could have had a square deal.

Mr. Albright, the receiver of the defunct company said: "I have not had time to in-vestigate and consequently cannot say any-thing that will be of interest. I have no idea of the amount of insorance carried by the company, but I shall at once go to work upon the books and in a few days hope to get them in shape to make a statement.

"The company will go out of business and whatever can be got out of the concern will be paid over to the creditors. There are a

LINCOLN, Neb., May 14 .- [Special to THE BEE. |-Several appointments are awaiting the governor's action, and there are many eager, expectant questions about them, but the president's visit has arrested the official guillotine for two days. Governor Thayer arrived from Omaha at noon and his afternoon has been taken up by callers and the consideration of his correspondence. The number of his callers has largely increased in anticipation of fa-vors to come, and it is notable that the patriots who are willing to serve the state as commissioners to the world's fair at $5 per day-are so numerous and persist ent as to make life something of a burden. The law providing for commissioners does not go into effect until July 4, and the governor has ten days after that in which to make his appointments. He has announced his intention not to select the commissioners until the latter part of June or the first of July. He has suggested to some of the applicants who persist in consuming his time by long verbal statements of their claims that they had better defer their talk until next month, when these appointments will be under consideration and the presentation of claims will not have been forgotten. The law provides for two commissioners, to be appointed from each congressional district, which has been interpreted as meaning six in all. They will be allowed $5 per day for each day actually in service, and necessary expenses. Some inquiries are being made about ap-pointments to the governor's staff. The gov ernor is quoted as saving that he considered his old staff as holding over, the same as him self, and not needing reappointment. Robert self, and not needing reappointenant. With the party from Lincoln were a number of gentlemen who were not expected. They reached the carriages first and that crowded us out. We had been in-vited by the maniformite who had been invited by the president to accompany him on his train, and we stood, on our dignity, perhaps, in not helping ourselves to seats in the carriages. Some of the boys were a little chagrined at first, but on reflection we could see that it was not the fault of the commit-tee. It was simply the accident of circumstances

The other state officers expressed similar sentiments, and all were earnest in protest-ing that they harbored no resentment.

Fremont. Deputy United States Marshals Lyon,

Hepfinger and Baker came in from Fre mont, having in charge J. H. Ellwell and Frank Cushman of Newport and James Cooper of Bassett, the three counterfeiters referred to in the telegraph news of yesterday morning's BEE.

Ellwell and Cushman were arrested in a barn while engaged in the act of coining counterfeit silver dollars, and it is believed that they are the parties who have been for some weeks circulating spurious co several points along the Elkhorn road. ER well is a lawyer at Newport and was a candidate for county attorney at the election last Cushman is also an attorney and has lived for some time at Bassett, where he practice a law, did some newspaper work and seemed to be an all round rustler. It was supposed by the d eputies that man's real name was Rev. H. J. Flehart but the reporter for THE BEE secured a short interview with Cushman, in which he ex-plains the matter thus "I am not Rev. H. J. Fleharty. The way I came to have these letters and this pass is this: 1 got out Rev. Flebarty's paper at Bassett a few weeks while he was away, and during that time I got these letters and his pass. He is a very nice young fellow.'

"How do you explain the fact of your arrest for this crime

It is all a great surprise to me. I will show that it is all a mistake.

Cushman is a tall, bony, hatchet-faced man of cool nerve and indifferent disposition. He had a huge dirk about ten inches long in his necket his pocket.

PLANS OF THE LABOR BUREAU. During his brief term as deputy commisioner of the bureau of labor statistics Philip Andres laid out a plan of work and began line of investigation, but now the bureau i like a ship without a rudder. Clerk Harr F. Downs is in charge of the office, but he has little to do except to dust the furniture, answer an occasional letter and await the pleasure of the governor in the appointment of a deputy commissioner who shall lay down a line of action. At the last national convention of action. At the last national convention o labor commissioners it was recommended that all the states this year begin an investi-gation of child labor. Mr. Andres acted on that suggestion and visited Omaha, West

Lincoln, Fremont and Nebraska City to lay foundation for making a s the number and conditions stud

the children under sixteen who are employed in factories and mercan-tile institutions. The Nebraska bureau began a similar investigation two years ago, but it was incidental to more important work, but was abandoned because of difficul ties encountered. The employers of children are very reluctant to give the desired information. The law authorizes the bureau to compel testimony, but there is no fund for the expenses of such a proceeding. It is be lieved, however, that persistent quizzing and personal investigation will bring the desired information and this matter of child labor will probably be the special work of the bu-

TWO MILLION FISH TO GIVE AWAY.

Fish Commissioner Lew May of Fremont was at the state house this morning to get his pearings on the appropriation of the late leg-islature. He deplored the reduction which cut it $3,000 or $4,000 to $12,400, because it will compet the abandonment of contemplated improvements at the state hatchery at South Bend. Speaking of the work of the commis-Speaking of the work of the commis sion, Mr. May said: "We are now ready to distribute 2,000,000 wall-eyed pike frey. Do we count them? Well, yes, in a way. We weigh an ounce of the eggs and then count them. It is then an easy matter to ap proximate the whole number of eggs, and proximate the whole humber of eggs, and some times we measure a small quantity and get at the number in that way. If anybody disputes our figures we will give him permis-sion to court the fish. These pike eggs came from Lake Huron. In the spring, when the females are ripe, we make an arrangement with the fishermen on the lakes to strip the

with the ishermen on the lakes to strip the fish of their eggs. Very often they are giad to have us do it, as it is really a help to them in preparing their catch for market, so that our supply doesn't cost us very much. We then fertilize the eggs with the milt of the male gike and put them in jars to be hatched. The fry, are shipped in cans. we will have for distribution until next fall when we will have a supply of bass, carp and native stock. We will construct four new ponds at South Bend, and our car will un ergo some changes," Mr. May, who is chairman of the executive committee of the American Fisheries society, will leave Monday to attend the twentieth convention, beginning May 24 at Washington AN ACCIDENT OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

The telephones at the state house have going ting-a-ling most of the day, and face-tious gentlemen down town have been usking the state officers about the walking in Omaha, the number of corns they have today, etc.

Denver's Big Dam.

DENVER, Colo., May 14 .- The committee recently appointed by the mayor and the board of public works on behalf of the city to examine and report upon the condition of the Castlewood dam, about which so much has been recently said in the press of the east, has submitted its formal report. It makes some unimportant recomm which simply confirm the plans of the Den ver water storage company's engineers. The company will proceed with their work the dam as originally intended. This Castlewood dam is the pioneer water storage enterprise of Colorado, and its suc-cessful completion will mean millions of dol-lars added to the revenues of the state. The report, through some chuse, seems to be un-friendly to the work, but does not pretend to say the city of Denver is in any way endan-gered. Sensational stories aroused some anxiety, which this report, extremely conservative throughout, will serve to completely allay. Mr. Alfred P. Boller, the eminen civil engineer of New York city, will super vise the work of the company, which will be the fullest guarantee that it will be conscien tiously and scientifically performed.

He sorved in this capacity until January, 1872, when he returned to the Union Pacific rail way as train dispatcher at Omaha, holding this position until June, 1875, when he was promoted by Mr. S. H. H. Clark to chief disnumber of the Laramie division. In Sep-tember, 1877, he was promoted to super-intendent of the Laramie division; Ocober, 1882, promoted to general super-ntendent of the Wyoming division; Novemintend ber, 1884, promoted to assistant general super-intendent, entire Union Pacific system, May 1, 1887, appointed acting general superintend-ent entire system, and confirmed general superintendent by T. J. Potter, July 1, 1887: February, 1889, he was appointed assistant general manager of the Missouri river division, and October, 1889, general manager of the Missouri river division. In this capacity he sorved until about a year ago, when he re-signed to accept the position of superintend-ent of the western division of the Baltimore & Ohio at Chicago.

General Manager Clark of the Union Pa-cige considers Mr. Dickinson one of the best railroad men in the west and when Mr. Clark took the management of the road last fall it was announced by THE BEE that Mr. Dickinson would be made assistant general manager. The official circular issued today shows the prediction was well based.

No Shop Changes.

The report from North Platte concerning the enlargement of the Union Pacific shops at that point was without foundation. The report was caused by a survey which is being made for a lumber yard to be established there and a side track leading into it. The force at the shops will be increased slightly in order to give that force its full quots an the rolling stock will be put in good order at

The force in the shops at Omaha will be increased slightly in a few days and the motive power on the Nebraska division will be put in first-class shape.

Notes and Persoalsn.
