On the Paris Bourse.

PARIS, May 17.-On the bourse the settlement in the foreign department was proceed ing yesterday. Contarios were moderate. Prices have been weak since the beginning of the prevalent uncasiness. It is felt that a crisis is postponed, not really averted, and this feeling continues to check business. De creases for the week include: Three per cents, 25 centimes; Rio Tintos, 34f; Banque de Paris, 14f; Bank of France, 5% f.

Cruelty to Children. The season approaches when the attention of parents of infant children needs to be called to the cruelty which is thoughtiessly practiced upon so many helpless infants by sending them out under a summer sun i sending them out under a summer sum in baby carriages, lying down, face up, with only the miserable apology of a light col-ored canopy the size of a parasol to shield their tender eyes from the rays of the sun. Very often, too, the canopy is lined with white stuff instead of dark green or some other light absorbing color. other light-absorbing color.

Nor is it only ignorant or careless nurses who do this cruel thing. Mothers by the score may be seen trundling their pets along as unconscious of their own cruelty as is the child, with its squinting and inflamed eyes, aware of the cause of its misery.

The best medical autnorities agree that no inconsiderable portion of the chronic eye dis-cases are developed by this sort of exposure deed, it could not be otherwise. The butter is held over by some for twelve hours or more for reworking before it is packed away; but others pack it soldly in tubs at once with a common butter ladle. Butter that is to be transported to distant cities should not be packed in prints, for it will get mussy and unat-tractive looking before its destination is reached. Good butter properly packed in tubs will answer all purposes, and will sell at a good price.

The above treatment has proved to be a thorough success to prevent smut in small grain in this locality I am also ex perimenting with corn and will give results in full if desired. We should be glad to hear from Mr. Jones when he reaches results with his corn experiments. The corn crop in lowa last year sustained a loss of from 5 to 10 per cent. from smut, a loss that it is well worth taking a good deal of pains to avoid. We would suggest that in his experiment would be well not to plant corn soaked unless the ground is also quiet wet. We once planted late and to hasten germination soaked a part of the seed. The part of the field which was planted with soaked seal was consider ably behind the rest of the field through out the entire season. The only way could account for it was that the soaking started the shoots and that then the dryer earth drew the water away from the seed, by that process of equalization that is always going on in nature, leav ing it with less than enough to sustain at the rate at which it started Checked growth is like a relapse in sickness, leaving the plant or the patient worse than at first. Whether this explanation be good or not, the fact remains certain to our mind that soaked corn should not be planted until it has
