Re-election of The Old Officers For The Ensuing Year - Yesterday's Busy Session-Talks With Delegates.

The convention of the Nebraska State Busines Men's association reconvened at the board of trade rooms at 9:30 this morning with President Webster in the chair. The report of the committee on credentials was heard and the following additional delegates were admitted:

T. M. Sheaff, Fullerton; G. W. Rosa, Dodge; G. S. Balwin, J. G. Chapm, B. R. Codery, J. D. Garner, W. E. Hardy, R. N. Howell, F. B. Kimball, E. H. Landis, O. A. Mobrensteckher, Barr Parker and M. W. Travis, Lincoln; Fred Young, North Bend; L. A. Bianchard, F. H. Moore, Kearney; M. A. Hostetter, O. P. Guffey, Sheiton; Louis Veit, C. S. Hill, Henry Strattman, Grand Jaland; C. K. Booke, Island; C. E. Beebe, James Ravan, Howells; J. H. Langdon, Gretna; E. Klein, Schuyler, Visiting delegates, C. B. Zimmerman, H. Deers, Ulysses, Henry Harksen, Davey, A. P. Lindburg, Stromburg.

S. English, chairman of the trades committee, submitted a verbal report, in which a recommendation was made that the asso ciation's journal be changed into a general trade journal, that a commercial editor be employed upon the staff to preside over a regular trades department, to be devoted to the general trade entries, price list, its rise and decline, and all matters pertaining there-to. Mention was also made of Klingbel's communication as to the establishing points for sugar distribution in the state, holding the plan not feasible. Also that there were the plan box reasons. Also that there were little prospect of obtaining a re-classification of freight rates. Also that a special commit-tee, with Mr. Bishop of Lincoln, as chairman for the regulation of the peddlers nuisance, not so much in the cities and towns as throughout the rural districts. The idea ad-vanced is to turn this matter over to the supervision of the county commissioners or su pervisors, and that a committee with Mr. Bishop as chairman, be appointed to investigate and report on the evil.

President Webster announced the election of officers in order.

Mr. Hussey made a motion that Secretary Hodgin be authorized to cast a ballot re-electing all the old officers which was carried The following ballot was then cast: G. H.

The following ballot was then cast: G. H. Webster, Omaha, general president; O. J. King, Lincoln, first vice president; H. J. Lee, Fremont, second vice president; E. A. Gentzke, West Point, third assistant secretary. President Webster called O. J. King, first vice-president, of Lincoln, to the chair, and on taking his seat Mr. King made a brief ap-propriate speech relative to the progress propriate speech relative to the progress made by the association.

Mr. English of Eagle remarked that he didn't know whether the trades committee had been snubbed or complimented by the apparently tacit adoption of its verbal report. He considered the matter of sufficient imortance to invite a thorough discussion.

Mr. Hostetter of Shelton, thought the re-classification of the freight rates and the peddlers nulsance, should be discussed. Mr.Bishop of Lincoln, objected to his name being used as president of the proposed committee on the peddlers nuisance. He recog-nized the necessity of such action, but had nothing of an advisory nature to offer in furtherance of the work. Mr. Reed of Weeping Water said it was impossible to keep up the country stores as well as they could be kept up if it wasn't for the undermining work of pedulers, and ad-vised vigorous action. Mr. Roltins of Wakefield was in favor of the satisfaction they could get. One member was in favor of boycotting any road that refused to come to time, and other wares and merchandise. The committee also recommended that the retail merchants join in the fight against the supply companies, who are selling direct to the farmers, by selling as iow as the supply companies and thus beat them at their own game. The report further recom-mended that members of the associa-tion who are caught peddling or soliciting trade in the legitimate territory of others be summarily dealt with by the local associations to which they belong. It was also recommended that the local branches strive to secure occupation tax restrictions thought that they could be brought to time in that way. On motion Mr. Fleming's resolution was inanimously adopted.

This was all

The question of raising funds for the asso-cintion was referred to the advisory board to report the first thing this morning. The question of changing the association ournal to a trade journal was'called up. Mr. Hodgin stated that it would involve a heavy expense, but if the association wanted in strive to secure occupation tax restrictions changed to a trade journal he would like to have a resolution passed to that effect. He be-leved that if merchants merchants merchants On motion the matter was left with the cretary. The chairman appointed the following com mittee on resolutions: Messrs. English, Benawa and Hardy.

Mr. Traffis of Lincoln said every man who comessinto a town or district should be made to pay a license, as they are a detriment to home trade and industry. The only way out of the difficulty is to work with the city goyernments and a license for this sort of trade be established.

Mr. Mortimer of Shelton, said: "We should work on the county commissioners and have them provide the remedy. Let them pass laws that will control this species of trade, in equalizing it with that of the rights of the local dealers."

Attempts to get a protective ordi-nance passed have been numerously made, but failed and the peddler strikes a Mecca for business in that city. The trade committee here, in order to bring the matter to a focus, offered the fol-lowing recommendation; that this conven-tion elect one or two men from the different portions of this association, to be located at some point in the state, and called the Ne-braska supply company. Then this company can meet these foreign supply companies on their own ground and undersell them at any cost. Mr. English's recommendation afforded considerable amusement, but no action. The chair then appointed the following committee to report on this matter: J. S. Bishop of Lincoln, S. S. English of Eagle and Louis Veith of Grand Island.
