LEARNED SOME THINGS.

Result of Commissioner Timme's Trip to Denver.

County Commissioner George Timme, who attended the trans-Mississippi congress at Denver, has returned, and aside from watching the transaction of business, made some observations regarding county affairs. He is well pleased with the city, but does not regard Denver as much of a metropolitan city as Omaha. He found narrow streets, all of which are wholly unpayed.

In speaking of taxes and assessments he states that the valuation of Deaver, for as-sessment purposes, is placed at $86,000,000, which he thinks is about one-third of the actual valuation of the city and county. Upon this valuation the levy is 11 mills for county purposes, which makes the taxes much higher than here, where the property is assessed at one-fifteenth of its valuation and a levy of 14 mills made on this.

Mr. Timme claims that the people are cryine against high taxes and have but little to show for the money so raised. We are showing an elegant line of millinery at our new location.

MISSING FOR MONTHS.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Wakefield Business Man. O. F. Crane of Wakefield came to Omaha last November as a member of the federal grand jury. His family has never heard from him since, although letters have been written repeatedly to parties in this city and close inquiry has been made with regard to the peculiar disappearance.

A gentleman who lives in Wakefield was in the city yesterday and said that this was not the first time Mr. Crane had mysteriously disappeared for a season. Some years ago he left home and did not return for several left home and did not return for several months. But his family is becoming alarmed at the extended absence and will probably make a thorough search to find whether or not he is still in the land of the living.

NEW BOOKS AND PERIODICALS. Omaha is making herself heard in other ways besides its marvelous growth and great material prosperity. It can now count among its citizens another author, Mr. Anson Uriel Hancock, who recently gave to the world a somewhat unique novel under the name of "The Genius of Galilee." In the preface to his book the young writer states that among other authorities from which he has freely drawn are the Rev. Newton M. Mann, the minister of the Unity church, and Dr. Duryea, pastor of the First Congregational church of this city. Mr. Hancock has produced a clever, readable book, and those who are interested in biblical history and like to Dick Gelatt, stage proprietor Douglas county, Nevada, tells this in the St. Louis Globe Democrat: "Talking about yarns that are told to the tender foot tourists, I used to have one story when I drove stage into Genoa. At one point we passed a hill with a bare white spot that gleamed in the sun like a big piece of tin. When the pas-sengers asked about it 1 told them this yarn: "That, gentlemen is my alum mine-all there is left of a beautiful prospect. You see, I struck the gen-uine Boulder hill ledge, and ran a forty foot tunnel, when just before sundown we struck a big body of alum. We quit work then, but when we came next morning we couldn't find a bit of my mine except that bare spot." what became of it?" some fellow always asked "Well," I used to reply, "you see there was a heavy rain that night, and the whole thing puckered up.

Odd "areaks" in Prayers. A Baptist deacon who was very sick was made the subject of prayer at a Wednesday evening meeting, reports the New York Herald. One of the brethren, when called upon to pray, slarmed the audience by saying, "We thank Thee, O Lord, that Deacon D. is sick. We pray Thee that he may die, that he may die and go to h—, for we all know, O Lord, that if he should go to h— he would break up the whole insti-tution inside of three days." For the truth of this statement the Rev. C. De Witt Bridgman is responsible.

It is said that many years ago the prayers of the First Presbyterian church, Princeton, were asked on behalf of an aged lady who was not expected to recover. The elder who led the devotions earnestly prayed "that she might be restored to health and strength and once more go about like a roaring lion, seeking whom she might devour. truth of this may not be satisfactorily vouched for, but the Rev. Dr. William Alkman, formerly pastor of the Spring street church, affirms that he once at tended a prayer meeting in New Jersey and one of the brethren called upon prayed that they might all go forth as "calves of the stall" and be made "meat for the kingdom of heaven."

THE NEBRASKA TURNBEZIRK.

How it Has Consolidated the Turners of the State.

THE CONVENTION OF PLATTDEUTSCHERS.

The Great Work of the Association and How it Expects to Increase its Usefulness This Year.

The Nebraska turnbezirk is making excellent progress in the athletic work peculiar to that organization.

Less than four years ago the German turners of Nebraska had no distinctive state organization. Indeed, in a number of the larger cities, which have numbers of young and vigorous Germans, there was even no local organization. The establishment of the bezirk, however, brought together the local vereins which had had a feeble existence, infused vigor into them and led to the organization of several branches throughout the state. As a consequence, the German turner, today, is more proud of the objects of his association than he ever was before. He feels that it gives promise of being perpetuated. and that, as a consequence, it shall continue to develop the physical manhood as the schools he patronizes have developed the intellectual.

The bezirk now includes vereins in the cities of Omaha, West Point, Sioux City, Lincoln, South Omaha, Nebraska City. Fremont, Columbus and Grand Island. Several of these societies have female classes for young women and girls, which are also in excellent condition.

All of these vereins will meet in the punual turnfest which is to be held in Fremont commencing Thursday, June 25, and continuing until the 28th. On the first day there will be a reception of turners and the selection of judges. In the evening there will be a grand commers in which all visiting turners will take part.

On Friday there will be a parade through the streets of the city, followed by prize turning at the park. An address of welcome will be delivered by the mayor of the city, and in the evening there will be an exhibition of fancy turning in Love's opera house. Saturday there will be another parade followed by mass-wand exercises. On Sunday there will be a grand pic nic in the park, followed by an exhibi-tion of fancy turning. At the conclu-sion prizes consisting of laurel wreaths and diplomas will be awarded to the excelling athletes. All the turnvereins of the state have been preparing for this great event for some weeks past. Each of them will be expected to go through the same exercises according to a programme which has been submitted by Henry Kum-merow of Plattsmouth, who holds the position of bezirks turnwart. The Omaha turners will be repre sented by about fifty active young men some of whom are counted among the most able gymnasts in the country. On the Saturday night before their departure, the Omaha turnverein will give a grand ball, the proceeds of which will be applied to pay the expenses at the fest of the younger members. The national convention of Plattdeutscher vereens will be held in Denver early in July. On the first Sunday of next month the local Plattdeutscher vereen will hold a meeting to elect ten delegates will be selected from among the leading members because the aim of the national organization is to secure the best possible representation in order that the interests of the society may be

A national convention of the organization was held in this city two years ago. Last year it took place at Kansas City and this year the mountain sanitarium has been honored in the selection. The president of the society is Hans Rudolph of Kansas City, while the treasurer and secretary both reside in this county, the former office being neld by Henry Eicke ann the latter by John Rushman of this city.

The national association comprises societies in St. Louis, New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, Kansas City, St. Joe, South Omaha, Milwaukee and Toledo. The objects are benevolence and fra-The constitution and by-laws annually undergo certain changes, the aim being to perfect the rules in accordance with the needs of the society which are annually discovered. The local branch of the society, which has already been referred to in these columns as in a prosperous condition, has been especially liberal in the six years it has been in existence. It allows $6 a week to a sick member who is in good standing and, if needs be, a nurse both by day and night. In case of death, $50 is allowed for funeral expenses and a reasonable sum for music. If it should be decided to dispense with display at the funeral, the amount which would be allowed for that purpose is to be turned over to the widow of the deceased. The latter is also allowed $1 per capita from the membership of the death fund of the association In this manner members are assured of careful attention when sick and also that their families shall not want for necessaries after death has removed them. The Omaha society's treasury, in the last six years, has contributed in the neighborhood of $10,000 for the welfare of its invalid

The Arlon singing society, which is an offshoot from the Liederkranz, is holding regular weekly rehearsals every Wednesday evening at their rooms, corner Eleventh and Pierce streets. The organization has twenty-six members all of whom have excellent voices and are determined to make a record among the local vocal associations both for themselves as individuals and the organization as a whole. On next Monday evening it will give a concert at its rooms at which Prof. Hans Albert and Prof. Gahm will play upon the piano and violin respectively, of which instruments they are masters. The officers of the Arion are as fol-

Cowardly Murderers.

You can not get lower down in the scale of humanity than the dog-poisoner; he ranks with the coward who sets fire to unprotected buildings and with the torturer of children, declares a dog breeder in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Even his heart would almost be melted if he could see his helpless canine victim vomiting blood and serum and gazing with eyes of pitiful appeal upon his master, whom he has striven so well to serve and who is unable to help nim. The way it happens is that some brute is annoyed by a dog and seeks revenge by trying to marder every such animal he can secretly. A few years ago in Chicago, the city authorities barbarously decreed the destruction of every uncously decreed the destruction of every uncously decreed the destruction of every uncously decreed. ously decreed the destruction of every unmuzzled dog without a hearing, and men were hired to go about dropping "buttons," as they were called, of poisoned meat before every dog's nose that could be found unprotected by a wire mask. In the District of Columbia is has been decided that dogs, inasmuch as they pay a tax, are "property." This means that any one who poisons a dog, if caught, must pay the market value of the animal. But how far is that likely to represent the creature's value to its owner and master! To my mind, a man who would poison a dog, the frierd of man among all animals, deserves at least im-prisonment for life, since he only needs courage, opportunity and motive to become
