A Lillian Reception.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Brock, Twenty-fourth and R streets, was filled Thursday evening with members of Lillian's family, N.Y., and their friends, in honor of Mrs. M. D. Wood of Kansas City, Mo., deputy supreme chief of the world.

After an excellent and well rendered literary programme a lunch, such as Mrs. Brock and her Pythian sisters can prepare and serve, was enjoyed by the guests. These guests were Mrs. M. D. Wood of Kansas City, Mrs. E. J. Moore, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. A. Jeffries of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Robison, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Enger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Bassett, Mr. and Mrs. G. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Swartout, Messrs. F. L. Dilschneider, Henry Fischer and James H. Bull and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Brock.

Memorial Day.

The committees have all arrangements for memorial services today. Robert L. Livingston post, No. 222, Grand Army of the Republic, had laid out and perfected the most perfect programme for the proper remembrance of our nation's heroes. The line will form, under Chief Marshal Samuel W. Clark, at Twenty-fifth and L streets at the high school meeting. The line of March and programme as published will be carried out in full. Colonel James McCabe of Council Bluffs is the orator of the day.

Live Bird Shoot.

Secretary Charles M. Sandford of the South Omaha Gun club has secured several hundred live birds for the shoot next Sunday afternoon. After the regular club shoot sweepstakes will be shot, open to all.

WHI Close Today.

All business at the exchange, including railroad business, will close promptly at 12 o'clock today. The postoffice will be open during the usual holiday hours and the banks will be closed all day.

FOOTLIGHTS AND FOYER.

The idea of the public voting upon a programme seems to have made a hit in this city as about a thousand votes have already been cast. Up to Friday evening the vote stood as follows: Evening programme, No. 1, 11,000; No. 2, 3,420; Afternoon programme, No. 1, 20,200; No. 2, 10,000.

The contest comes this evening and the friends of the Nos. 1 and 2 programmes will undoubtedly rally to the support of their favorites. The matinee programme will include all the arts and probably the same care will be given to it as to the Nos. 1 and 2. Never slighting a concert. Although a part holiday, seats can be had both afternoon and evening today (Saturday) at Meyer Brothers music store. The members of the Apollo club will act on the 20th, and as there is no intermission of fifteen minutes between parts first and second, there will be a good opportunity to make this a time of sociality and observation similar to the eastern festivals, and a great feature of the art and style in fact make the musical one of greater interest, as well as musical instruction.

Full particulars as to the result of the programme voting and other interesting notes in connection with the concerts will be found in the Sunday edition of this paper.

Manager Edward Thurnau of "A Bottom of the Bowditch" is in the city making preparations for the opening of their great theatrical sensation, at the Grand on Friday, Saturday and Sunday next.

Owing to the illness of several of the leading singers the cantata of "Ophelia," which was to have been given this evening at Washington hall, has to be postponed until a later date.

Bentzow's Jolly Pathfinders are booked for the whole of next week at the Boyd and is the first cheap priced attraction that was ever offered to the public.

They will present the following repertoire, Sunday and Monday evenings, "Below Zero;" Tuesday evening, "Funny Scrap;" Thursday evening, "A Pal of Owls;" Friday evening, "Six Feet in a Pod;" Saturday evening, "The Fast Mail."

True price, morning, 50¢; evening, 75¢. Sunday evening will open at the box office of the Grand opera house. As a brilliant orator and profound thinker Clinton Ingersoll is well known here, and especially on two occasions in this city by immense audiences. This time he will come to us riper in intellect, his brilliancy unpaired, with a theme beautifully classic and romantic, and one which will appeal to all by its wonderful powers. Already many outside orders or tickets have been received, and indications point to a very large house.

GARLANDS FOR HEROES.

Programmes to Be Observed on Memorial Day.

The Grand Army veterans will observe Memorial day in a fitting manner but will dispense with any parade.

The reason assigned for not forming in parades and marching through the streets, as has been the custom, is a significant one. The statement that the old veterans were getting too old to march is true in some cases but that is not the true reason for the members of the Grand Army, who is well posted on its workings, stated this morning that there was a far different reason for this action.

The costs about $800 to get up a parade like bands etc., said he, "and to raise this money we are obliged to depend upon contributions from generous citizens."

The committees which have done this work in previous years have reported that they met with a large number of cases in which the same manner as a man would throw a dog a bone and the boys have not lied laying the blame on the committee to insults from such narrow minded people."

So there will be no parade.

A committee has been appointed which consists of two members from each of the three Grand Army posts and the ladies from each of the three Woman's Relief corps in the city, making sixteen in all. Eight members of this committee will rendezvous at Clark's hall on Fourteenth street at 8 a.m. tomorrow, and the other eight will meet at Goodrich hall on Twenty-fourth street at the same time.

The flowers contributed by school children and others will be received at these two halls and each will take charge and hand over to the committee at Clark's hall will proceed in a carriage to Prospect Hill cemetery to decorate the graves of the soldier dead in that place, and the other four members of the committee will proceed to cemetery of Dry Creek and the other four will proceed to Forest Lawn in the same cemetery.

The exercises of the day will take place at Hanscom park at 2 o'clock this afternoon the following being the official programme:
