

INTO STILL DEEPER WATER.

Melody's Death Was Nothing Compared to Miss Beaver's Taking Off.

MOTHER AND BABE BOTH KILLED.

Story of Crime Now Charged Against the Faculty of the Omaha Medical Institute by a Coroner Harrigan.

Dr. Harrigan is on a hot trail. When he gets to the end he will have the staff of the Omaha medical institute in a mighty tight place, or else he will have proved there is nothing in appearance.

There is much that is dramatic in the doctor's pursuit of the alleged physicians and surgeons who have conducted, since Dr. McMenamy's death, the institute. It includes a wild ride at night on an engine to Plattsmouth, a human trip with a patrol wagon after 11 o'clock in the morning, the routing of the faculty aforsaid from its several beds and incarcerating the three principals in jail, and then a hurried drive in the early morning amid the soft light of coming day, the mist and quiet of morning, to disturb the stillness of the tomb with the shrill noise of a policeman's whistle.

In February Miss Isabella Beaver of Plattsmouth came to Omaha and went to the medical institute, ostensibly to be treated for a troublesome tumor, but really to die. It is claimed she died as the result of a criminal operation performed on February 8. It was represented to her that the operation was necessary to save her life. Her death was reported as being occasioned by a blood clot forming in a vein. She was sent home and buried.

On Thursday Coroner Harrigan came into possession of facts that would warrant an investigation of the death of Miss Beaver. So that evening he and Detective Haze boarded a Burlington engine and went to Plattsmouth. There the grave was found and the body exhumed.

What he saw convinced the doctor he had a case and back to Omaha flew the engine. The next morning he was in Plattsmouth and son Dr. J. A. Williams was enroute to jail charged with murder. After Williams had been arrested at his home at 104 South Twentieth street "freed out" by a blood clot. The original verbal charge of murder ordered placed against their names by the coroner was made void and the new charge in the form of a written complaint was filed against them.

Immediately after the filing of the new charge against Williams, he was taken to the jail for temporary keeping. The three prisoners will have a preliminary hearing in the police court this morning.

Considering the new developments of last night it is probable that additional charges will be filed against the institute manager and staff. The prisoners are being kept in the county jail but decline to talk. Their defense will be made when placed on the witness stand.

The board of health. The committee sent to inspect the Omaha medical institute, turned in its report yesterday. It was in substance as published in THE BEE. The duties of the board as to its power of condemning the building were cleared away by the opinion of City Attorney Poppleton, who said in closing that the institute was not a public building.

"I think the board of health should proceed cautiously; but if clearly convinced that the institute is a nuisance, a proper proof it need not hesitate for lack of power to act."

Extensive Course in Patriotism Given the Omaha School Children.

FLAGS, SONGS AND SPEECHES THE MEANS.

For two days 14,000 children in the city schools have been subjected to a shower of patriotic instruction. The school board selected speakers to present them to the different schools, and among them was Major Hartman, who was spokesman at the Pacific, Hartman and Webster presentations.

At the Pacific school Major Clarkson was confronted by over four hundred children, who greeted him and his flag with "America." The major, after being introduced made such remarks as became the occasion. The closing remarks were turned toward honoring the flag presented, which had been used at the reception of the president.

The flag was then presented to Mary Simock, a beautiful little girl hardly five years old. As the flag floated from the head of the tall history flag, the children sang "Columbia" and the "Star Spangled Banner." James Beaver, a brother of the unfortunate Isabella Beaver, arrived from Plattsmouth yesterday evening and held a consultation with the county and police officials.

He claims to know nothing of the circumstances connected with the death of his sister and her child other than that he footed the bill for her funeral. His sister's remains removed to her home for interment.

Yesterday afternoon the police received information that the body of another baby was buried in the yard of the medical institute. Search was made and resulted in the unearthing of a small box in one corner of the yard containing the remains of a partially developed baby.

The find was taken possession of by the coroner. At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Drs. McLaughlin, Sinclair and Williams were arrested upon a complaint charging them with the murder of a child. The original verbal charge of murder ordered placed against their names by the coroner was made void and the new charge in the form of a written complaint was filed against them.

Immediately after the filing of the new charge against Williams, he was taken to the jail for temporary keeping. The three prisoners will have a preliminary hearing in the police court this morning.

DUN'S REVIEW OF THE WEEK.

Drain of Gold in April and May Causes Less Apprehension Than Expected.

CROP PROSPECTS CONTINUE FAVORABLE.

Tone of the Iron Market Better—State of Business at Various Trade Centers—A Decrease in Failures.

New York, May 29.—R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade says: The prevailing feeling is a shade too hopeful. It gives not enough weight to the possibility of disturbance yet it is most encouraging and most significant of commercial strength and soundness that the drain of gold in April and May has caused so little apprehension. The most powerful sustaining influence is the continuance of exceedingly favorable crop prospects.

The tone of the iron market has been better, but without change of price here or at Philadelphia, while Bessemer pipe is 50 to 75 cents lower over 90 per cent, but there is a better demand in eastern markets for bar and structural iron and plates. In rails there is still much apathy, as the roads are not feeling rich and new enterprises are halted by the state of the money market.

At Philadelphia the general situation, because of the state of the city finances, is unsettled. At Pittsburgh window glass is depressed by building strikes, but at Cleveland trade is better, clothing and leather are nervous and nervous, besides, weak.

At Chicago receipts of flour and grain and farm products fall below last year's and of cereals over 90 per cent, but wheat receipts more than double, gains appear in dressed beef and cheese and in sales of dry goods, clothing and shoes.

At St. Louis trade is of a fair volume, with collections satisfactory. At Kansas City trade is fair, with crop prospects never better. At St. Paul there is improvement and at Minneapolis the lumber trade is active, but fluctuations in the market are not unusual.

At Louisville the outlook is brighter, with manufacturers fully employed, and at Nashville trade is bright, but depression continues at Memphis. Sugar is in better demand at New Orleans, and cotton seed on a decline, molasses being unsteady.

The only interior markets at which stringency is reported are Savannah and Memphis, though money is fair at New Orleans, in strong demand at Minneapolis and a little close at Cleveland and Detroit. But in general the supply at nearly all points is adequate to meet the demand.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days were 133, as compared with 215 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 215.
