The Drovers' Journal company of South Omaha filed articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk yesterday afternoon. The purpose is to publish a daily stock paper at South Omaha. The capital stock is $25,000, with Perry Selden, Denna Allberry, L. F. Hilton, Alonzo Perkins, T. C. Hilton, J. T. Davis and J. H. Hungate.

Rev. E. A. Fogelstrom, president of the Deaconess institute, situated at Monmouth park, has commenced the erection of a building that will be used exclusively for the sisters of the Deaconess institute. The building is of wood, 40x50 feet, two stories high, and will cost not less than $5,000. It will be supplied with all modern conveniences.

The Inter-state townsite company has been organized and has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the county clerk. The object of the company is to buy lands and boom townsites in Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming. The incorporators are F. C. Grable, W. B. Millard, J. O. Phillipi, Charles E. Ford, Frank D. Muir and Benjamin Butterworth. The company has a capital stock of $2,000,000, divided into 2,000 shares. The principal place of business is located in this city.

It is stated on the authority of a gentleman who is intimately connected with the business affairs of Frederick L. Ames that the latter did not purchase the building at Thirteenth and Harney streets for $150,000 as reported. property was offered to Mr. Ames, as were several other desirable pieces of inside property, but he declined to make any further purchases at this time. Board of Public Works Awards a Grading Contract.

The board of public works met yesterday and awarded the contract for grading Harney street from Twenty-eight to Thirtysixth street. There were eight bidders for the job. Knight Bros. & Barnes captured the contract at 9 9-10 cents. In grading this street it will require the removal of about forty-five thousand cubic yards of earth.

The first step taken towards the grading of Douglas street was taken by Major Furay He offered a resolution which provides that all bidders shall submit two propositions for doing the grading. One will be at a certain price, the city to have the dirt, and the other, the contractor to have the dirt. e question of where the dirt shall go

One point is in the low lands on Thirty-first street, between Farnam and Dodge; the other on Twenty-sixth street, west of the high school grounds. The en-gineer stated that it is impracticable to talk of hauling the dirt to the river. The usual number of estimates were al-

Property Owners' Fetitions to the Poard of Equalization.

Eleven members of the city council met at the city clerk's office at 10 o'clock yesterday and at once organized as a board of equal ization by the election of Councilman Blumer as chairman.

Numerous protests were filed. The Second Congregational church protested against being taxed to pay the cost of the change of grade of St. Mary's avenue from Twentysixth to Twenty-seventh streets.
H. L. Pierce and a number of others protested against the grading of Twenty-seventh street from Poppleton avenue to Hickory

W. E. Clarke, who advanced $260 to pay the damages resulting from the change of grade on South Tenth street, from Marcy to Bancroft, asked to be reimbursed. He wants the damages assessed against the property that has been benefited by the change.

All of the matters were duly considered,

Wants Medicine or Money. Barnett L. Jones of Carbon, ia., thinks he wants a whack at the Omaha medical institute and its imprisoned proprietors.

He writes that about April 1, a man repre senting himself to be a doctor and an author ized agent of the institute, went through that section taking cases to cure, and in each instance secured either cash or good paper.
Among the patients secured was the father of Mr. Jones, who gave his note for $70, and they sent him money twice as per agreement. A few days ago he wrote for more and received no reply. Jones naively adds, if the institute is genuine and all right I do not want to cause them any trouble, but if it is not I would like to get my father's note back, as he is not financially able to lose $70."

BELIEVED HER MOTHER DEAD,

Strange Episode in the Life of a Pretty Omaha Girl.

DAISY HUDSON'S ROMANTIC HISTORY

She Finds Her Mother From Whom She Was Stolen When a Mere Child-Interesting Details.

Abduction and final restoration to her long ost mother promise to be eventful features in the life of Miss Daisy Hudson, who is now engaged in doing housework for a family on North Seventeenth street, and who for years has been taught to believe that her mother died during her infancy.

She lately received information, however, that caused her to doubt the truth of this story, and her friends set to work with results that will shortly lead to the reunion of the mother and daughter, each of whom had supposed that the other was no longer in the land of the living.

Miss Hudson is a remarkably pretty girl, and is now in her sixteenth year. For the past six years she has resided in various places in this city, although always under the eye of her father, J. L. Hudson, who was employed as salesman at the "Two Orphaus" clothing house, and is now in the employ of the same firm, Andrews Brothers, in Sioux City, where he went two weeks ago, in Sioux City, where he went two weeks ago, leaving the girl here, but intening to send or her in a short time.

In view of recent developments it is highly improbable that she will join him, as she is now familiar with the history of her early It seems that Hudson and his wife lived in

It seems that Hudson and his wife lived in St. Louis, and he was addicted to drink to such an extent that she finally refused to live with him and obtained a divorce, the court giving her the custody of their child, Daisy, who was rthen a wee and winsome tot only four year sold.

Some time afterward Mrs. Hudson was married to a man named Davis, and shortly the profession with and the processing was story while out. thereafter little Daisy was stolen while out riding with her stepfather. He left her in the carriage while he entered a store, and when he returned a few minutes later she was gone.

The search for the missing child was most vigorously prosecuted, but not a trace of her could be found. It was supposed that her father had abducted her, but he disclaimed all knowledge of her whereabouts, and of late years when appealed to by the friends of the mother be insisted that the girl was dead and had been for some time.

Hudson, however, kept the child in seclu-ion, and six years ago brought her with him to this city. She was sedulously taught to believe that her mother was dead, and had not the faintest suspicion of the truth until a short time ago, when Hudson's mother was here on a visit. Then it was that the old lady told Hudson in the girl's hearing that his first wife was alive and in St. Louis, and she at once took steps to communicate this fact to some of her friends, who began writing and sending out letters of inquiry writing and sending out letters of inquiry that have been the means of substantiating the statement of the grandmother of the girl. The daughter is very anxious to return to her mother, and the mother is, as may be expected, overjoyed at the prospect of having restored to her the daughter whom she had not expected to see again upon earth.

The mother will at once start for Omaha from her St. Louis home, and at the reunion that will special, take place the hearts of several friends will beat happy in conjunction with those of the two persons who are so deeply and intimately concerned.

Changes Rumored and Appointments

That Have Been Made. A rumor comes from Salt Lake to the effect that it is the intention of the management of the Union Pacific to divide the system into two grand divisions under the control of assistant general managers, with E. Dickinson at Omaha and W. H. Bancroft at Portland. It is stated that this report came indirectly from the Dillon party.

The report is not given much credence at headquarters in this city, although it is admitted by some of the officials that the scheme would be a good one in some respects, ns it would allow of a more satisfactory management of the western end of the system which is very remote from the Omaha office. Fifth Warders in Arms Over Assessment Discriminations.

Fifth ward taxpayers were out out in full force at Erfling's hall for the purpose of protesting against the system of assessment that has been practiced in that ward. Joe Redman was unanimously elected ! chairman, after which the committee ap pointed at a previous meeting made its report. The chairman of the committee, Fred Schnake, had seen Assessor Franklin and had requested him to list the property of the Crystal ice company, the Fowler elevator company, the Consolidated tank line company, the Babcock coal company, the Cleveland hay company and the P. R. Mahoney coal company in the Fifth ward. Franklin was willing and ready 10 do so, but was prevented by the O'Keeffe resolution which provides that the property of any cor-poration shall be listed in the ward in which the principal office is located.

This was the signal for a vigorous kick.
Chairman Redman denounced the resolution is a plot to steal the taxable property of the Fifth ward and credit it to the Third and Courth wards.

John Jenkins declared it an outrage. He ad made an investigation and realized that O'Keeffe was doing the work in his own O'Keeffe was doing the work in his own political interest.

J. B. Kyner said: "I am surprised to think that O'Keefe would have the nerve to put this construction upon the law, but he is not so much to blame, as he is backed up by the opinion of the county attorney. Attor-ney Mahoney may be a smart man, but is he smart enough to get $147,000 from us, and credit to other wards of the city! .'I am in favor of going before the county commissioners, demanding our rights. Let us look up the law and if we are wrong, we must submit gracefully, but if we are right, we will fight, and fight like h-L. One thing is certain. It is not fair for other vards to have the benefit of property that is the Fifth ward."

Jacob Counsman was in favor of listng all property and then let-ing the county commissioners ake the responsibility of taking it away and iving it to other wards. Fred Schnake did not think the assessor ould do suck a thing with the O'Keeffe reso-ution staring him in the face. Franklin said: "I must obey the instruc-ions of the resolution, although I am aware hat the ward will lose $147,000 by the opera-

Chairman Redman favored taxing the tele-phone company, the waterworks and the street railway. He said: "We should list all the property they own in this ward. We can list their wires, tracks, pipes and mains. They are in this ward and there is no reason why they should not pay taxes here."

By a unanimous vote it was decided to make a fight. The committee was increased to five by adding the names of Joe Redman and Jacob Counsman. This committee was given authority to expend money and instructed to appear before the county commissioners and take all necessary steps to proect the interests of the citizens of the ward.

A Missourian's Letter About Elbert Millikan's Death. J. J. Wray of Parnell, Mo., writes Chief Seavey regarding the death of Einert Mitlikan, who was asphyxiated at the Hotel

Farris on February 17 of this year.

Mr. Wray evidently suspects that Millikan net with foul play, and writes as follows "It was thought he was asphyxiated, and the investigating parties reported to us that $14 and some cents was found on his person. New, we have found out that Millikan was at Wilbort Baker's and N. E. Gard's, near Tarkio, and was in their employ, but left Tarkio on February 16 and died that same night at the Hotel Farris. There were nine-teen ivory harness rings in his trunk, a deer foot match box, three pocket-knives, and a great many souvenirs, too numerous to mention here, together with $150 cash, none of which was ever returned. There was also a silver-cased watch which is not accounted for. On the inside of his new undershirt that he had on at the time of his death, he had sewed a piece of new cloth near the left groin. This iece of cloth was about four inches broad forming a closed pocket, but this was found to have been ripped and opened on the right side of the secret pocket, which was emoty. This was, no doubt, where he carried his money. He undoubtedly was robbed, either before or after his death."

Mr. Wray wants the chief to interview the hotel men and all persons who had access to room 35 in the hotel after Millikan's death, but the chief says the matter was fully in-vestigated at the time of the occurrence.
