Bishop Scannell's Vi it. BRAYTON, Neb., June 10.-[Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-Rt. Rev. Bishop Scannell, who has been making a visit to the various parishes of his diocese, arrived in O'Connor last night. He was accompanied by Vicar General Choka and Rev. Fathers Hayes, Wolfe, Devass and Mailor. The congregation turned out in a body to greet him and on his arrival at the convent building he was presented with an address of welcome to which he made appropriate reply. This morning after mass he administered the sacrament of confirmation to a class of seventy-five young people who had been prepared by Rev. J. F. Hayes, the worthy pastor of O'Connor, and the Sisters of Mercy, who conduct the school here. Before the ceremony the bishop gave the children and people present a lec-ture of general instructions, making special reference to the temperance and educational questions. He was very much pleased with the fine building that had been erected for the Sisters of Mercy and complimented the people on the great progress they made in mch a short period. FALLS CITY, Neb., June 10 .- | Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- In an encounter between Pool Grimsted, editor of the Morrit News, and J. W. Whitaker, local editor of the Plebian, the alliance sheet of this city, which occurred on the street in this city yesterday Mr. Whitaker's head was seriously cut and bruised. The immediate cause of the trouble was that on May 26 Mrs. Grimsted attended a picnic and with a young lady friend was upset while boat riding. Last week the Plebain contained an article which attacked Grimsted's moral character and claimed he was drunk when the accident occurred. Yesterday Grimstead met Whitaker on the the statements made. Whitaker refused and drew a revolver, which his opponent knocked out of his hands with a like weapon and proceeded to pound Whitaker's head with the butt of his revolver. Before policemen could reach the scene of the afray Whitaker's head was badly injured, sustaining six cuts, one serious. A doctor took the injured man in charge, and Grimstead gave a $1,000 bond to

Frank Ingworson and Daniel McCurdy were arrested at Eagle, Cass county, on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Yesterday they had their preliminary hearing be fore Judge Ramsey, who bound them over to the next term of district court in the sum of $250 each. The complaints were filed by two detectives halling from Lincoin, named Moses Brumly and John Meanor, who bought the question and then preferred and had the three defendants arrested. Yesterday, however, the case as-sumed a new and interesting aspect, as the two informants were brought up before the court on the charge of violating the Slocumb liquor law by giving away liquor. The evi-dence produced proved this latter charge, and in all probability the next docket of district court will contain a couple of ver interesting cases, in which the state will ap pear against Messrs. Moses Brumly and John Mesnor.

Threatened with Death. ELLSWORTH, Neb., June 10 .- (Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- Last night about 1:20 a m. a party of seven or eight men rode up to the ranch of George Coles, living two miles east of Bingham, and called him out and told him they had a message for him, which he took and read, and which proved to be a notice under a skull and cross bones for George Coles and J. W. Anderson to leave that country within thirty days or suffer the penalty of death. The cause of this is supposed to be the fact that the above two gentlemen have been helping a man named Hell who is on the trail of a span of horses stolen on the flock in, and by 3 o'clock the grounds were crowded with visitors.

Five o'clock was the time set for the competitive drills and promptly on time the two camps, which were to participate, appeared. The first to show ap was camp No. 1 from Omaha under command of Captain Edwards, and shortly after Camp No. 16 from Geneva marched into the field under command of E. A. Combs. They cast lots for choice. Omaha won and sent Geneva first. The latter took their medicine and went in to win, if possible. After completing the twenty-five numbers they went to grass in front of the amphitheatre and the indies showered them with boquets. Then the boys from Omaha came to the front and performed their duty in a creditable manner. They made a fine appearance with their bright new caps and guns, and show that they have had good training. The captain deserves a great deal of credit for the manner in which he handled his men. The ladies did not show any partiality and the boys from Omaha were treated to bouquets just the

BANKERS NOT IN FAVOR OF EXTENSION.

Regarding the Proposed Scheme as Uncertain-Immigration Agents for Western States-Land Decisions Affirmed.

> WASHINGTON BUREAU THE BEE. ) 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, Washington, D. C., June 10.

It is now believed by treasury officials that in view of recent developments, congress will be urged stronger than ever to pass the Dorsey bill reducing the amount of circulation which national banks must take out to $1,000 for each bank, instead 25 per cent of the capital stock as at present. It is found that national banks do not take well to the 4) per cent extension as they regard that as incertain, since the department may call them in at any time. Notwithstanding this fact the comptroller of the treasury is recommending bankers to take these bonds and deposit them for circulation.

Six policemen conveyed the casket out and placed it in the hearse. As the casket was placed in the hearse tile large bell in the tower overhead tolled out dis-mally and immediately a hundred church bells and minute guns added their doleful music to the strain. This was kept up during the funeral's progress.

The cortege then formed. All along the route of the procession thousands were gathered and movement along the sidewalks was impossible. The scene was one of solemnity. The fronts of stores and other buildings were in unison with the dark ap-parel of the crowd which througed the streets and the heavy mourning of the funeral cortege. The cortege was the largest ever seen in Canada.

After leaving the church the procession re-

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., June 10. - This town was profusely decorated today with bunting and confederate and national flags in honor of Memorial day and the unveiling of the monument to the confederate dead. Thousands of visitors are here from different parts of the union.

About 3 o'clock the line of procession was formed and marched through the principal streets to the cemetery, where 3,000 con-federates are buried, amid cheers from the throng which lined the route. The procesion, which was under the direction of Grand Commander William P. Smith and marshals, omprised carriages containing members of the Ladies' Memorial association and dis-tinguished guests, bands of music, uniformed confederate veterans, sons of veterans, the fire department and civic organizations. The services at the cemetery were opened with prayer by Rev. I. W. Canter of the Methodist church, and then General Brudley T. Johnson of Baltimore, orator of the day delivered the unveiling address, which was in part as follows: n part as follows:

Fellow Confederates, Men and Women: For he last twenty years I have been observing with growing wonder the phenomenon of the ceiling toward the actors on the confederate ide. It is a fact and a wonderful fact that he pathus, sentiment and romance of the war between the states is concentrated and crystalized about the cause of the confederacy, in the north today no name thrills the heart like that of Lee; no name electrifies the people like that of Stonewall Jackson; no flag lashes, no sabre glistens like that of Stuart. flashes, no sabre glistens like that of Stuart. Neither Grant, nor Sherman, nor Sheridan, the great and successful soldiers of the victorious side, have left such an impression on the imagination or the hearts of the people as have the leaders of the confederates, who died in battle or yielded to overwhelming force when further resistance would have been criminal. I do not mean to intimate, for I do not believe that the north has changed its opinion as to the wisdom of our course. They thought then and they think now it was foodish to break up the union because first, the union was profitable, and second, because it was impossible before overwhelming forces for us to succeed. But I do say that the idea is dimly pressing itself upon the northern mind that we tried to avoid war and did not want war, but that it was brought wased and continued for the purpose of keeping a faction in power, enabling the controllers to make profit out of it. JURY BRIBERS HAVE A DAY.

Two of Them Tried in the Ciminal Court at New Orleans.

CONVICTION AND A DISAGREEMENT,

McCrystol, Detective O'Malley's Chief Lieutenant, Found Guilty-The Arch Conspirator Himself May Possibly Go Free,

New ORLEANS, La., June 10 .- The case which has been exciting the greatest interest was fixed to come up in section B this morning. O'Mailey and McCrystol were to be tried for an alleged attempt to bribe Tales Juror McCabe. There had been delays without end almost in the case and postponements from time to time and the defense about exhausted itself in putting the trial back. A morning paper stated that his case would be called before Judge Joshua Baker in Section B, criminal district court, consequently when court opened there was a large attendance of spectators.

After Judge Baker had dispatched the customary business of the morning, O'Malley and McCrystol were called. They both appeared, accompanied by their counsel, Captain A. D. Henrique. The prosecution was represented by District Attorney Luzenburg, Judge W. L. Evans and Mr. Charles J. Theard. After the witness had been called District Attorney Luzenburg asked for a severance of the two accused, as the state proposed to place McCrystol on trial first. Accordingly D. C. O'Malley was told to step aside. The purpose of the severance, Mr. Luzenburg said, was to reduce the number of challenges permitted to the accused. The empannelling of a jury was immediately begun and soon completed.

McCabe testified that he was a collector,

Last February he was living at No. 24 Julia street and had lived there about twenty-four years McCabe was summoned as a tales juror in the Hennessy case, but did not serve. He was challenged by the state. Witness was summoned on a Sunday and from then to Monday. Witness received his summons Sunday morning at his house, McCabe new McCrystol for about a year. He knew him to speak to, but did not knew where he lived. McCrystol's employment was selling lottery tickets so far as wit-ness knew, and was also connected with a clothing store. McCrystol called on witness at No. 22 Union street, where witness had a desk. McCrystol come between 10 and 11 o'clock on Monday. McCrystol said he was going up to the court and McCabe said so was he. They walked to the court together, and McCrystal said McCabe could make some money on the case. McCabe said he did not want to because he did not think he would be taken. Witness was not called as a tales juror on Monday. In the evening McCrystol met McCabe and walked with him from the office to McCabe's home. McCrystal told McCabe that he could make $500 by going on the jury and working for a mistrial or an acquittal of the defendants. McCrystol said if he (McCrystol) had the subporna as a tales juror it would be worth $1,000 to him. Mc-Cabe refused the offer and said he was not that kind of a man. McCrystol said he would go out and get the money right away. McCrystol did not say where he would get the money. Soon after McCrystol's indictment and while in the parish prison he sent for District Attorney Luzenburg and made a confession. This confession the district at-torney desired to go in as evidence today, but Judge Baker promptly ruled against its ad-

After further testimony the case was given to the jury at 4 o'clock and the jury retired a verdict of guilty as charged.

The ruling of Judge Baker, in refusing to imit the confession of McCrystoi, saves O'Malley in this case, the only case connect ng him directly with the bribery cases. The court will now be forced to try him upon one of the other charges, if at all, and they are all cases of several years ago.

McCrystol was tried for murder several years ago and acquitted, O'Malley helping him out of the trouble. Since then he has been O'Malley's faithful lieutenant. Mo-Crystol will tomorrow be tried upon another charge of bribery in connection with John cooney, and O'Malloy's men. One of the facts much commented upon in connection with the bribery cases is that Lionel Adams, formerly O'Malley's partner, has not ap-peared in any of the cases, even neglecting to ome as a witness in response to forthwith

Charles Granger, another of the Hennessy tury bribers, was tried today. Granger was a member of greater importance than Glaudi, being connected with prominent families and having an average reputation. For eight months Granger has been in the employ of the fruit importers, among the Machecas and Oteris. The state tried to connect him with O'Malley's office during the Hennessy trial and to prove statements he made to O'Malley in the presence of Detective Collins, who served the state in the camp of the defendants. Granger's counsel objected strongly, and the court confined the testimony to the time of the offense. Granger was tried for attempting to bribe one Sparre. The latter said one morning after he received his summons as a juror Granger come to his house and woke him up. When he came down Granger asked him if he wanted to make $500. He said "Yes," and Granger told him he would give him tha much to go on the Hennessy jury and work the jury Sparre then declined the offer Granger's defense was a general denial. He owed Sparre a debt of $8 and Sparre come or ent to his house thirteen or fourteen time o collect it. On February 17 Sharre left message with Granger's family that Granger should come to see him. Granger went the next morning and told Sbarre he would pay him the following week. Casually the Her nessy case was mentioned and Mr. Granger remarked that among all the parties arrested there were some innocent people. That was all that was said and a bribe of $500 was never mentioned. After being out several nours the jury could not agree and a mishours the jury could not agree and a mis-trial was entered. The jury stood 9 for acquittal and 3 for conviction. Five members of the jury who were for acquittal in the Granger case were members of the jury that convicted Glaudi. GORDON-CUMMING'S DISGRACE,

London Clubs Taking Steps for His Immediate Expulsion.

WILL BE CASHIERED FROM THE ARMY.

Military Title to Be Taken from Him and the Blooded Rogues Will Stern y Cut Him-A Sad Condition.

(Copyright 1991 by James Gordon Bennett, 1 LONDON, June 10 .- | New York Herald Cable.-Special to Tun Ban. |-I understand stens are being taken for the immediate exulsion of Sir William Gordon-Cumming from the Carlon and other clubs to which he belongs. There will not be a single club in London to which he will be able to enter, and ail doors will be closed. Continental clubs, which are in correspondence with English clubs, will also refuse him admittance. No English minister abroad will receive him and he will be sternly cut by all his old associates. Finally, he will shortly be cashiered from the army and lose his half pay as well as his military rank. Whether really the American lady whom he has married realizes the position in which she is placed is doubtful, but there is no doubt as to the terrible nature of the position itself.

I believe the baccarat counters in the possession of the prince of Wales were given to him shortly before the Tranbycroft affair by one of his friends, a member of the house of commons. He thought no more of having them than if they had been whist counters, but the public takes a very different view of the matter, as is proved by the censures already passed upon his conduct by the Wes-eyan and other religious bodies, Arthur Wilson and their lot also suffer everely. Nothing could have been worse than their conduct. If Mrs. Arthur Wilson likes to encourage her sons to gamble against their father's wishes that is her affair, but it is universally felt that after cheating had once been detected baccarat should have been stopped forthwith and the prince notified that reasons had occurred for breaking up the game. Mrs. Arthur Wilson and Lycett Greene came out of the trial almost as badly damaged as Gordon-Cumming himself.

The solicitor general's speech is allowed to be one of the finest delivered for years in a court of law, but he admits that the signed document followed by Gordon-Cumming's letter to General Owen Williams asking for the benefit of a doubt were too much for him. He could have got his man off easily if it had not been for these documents. The scandal may for a time clear the social

but the fast set which leads certain sections of society has obtained too tight a hold to be dislodged. The end has not come yet. MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT. Married Him in Spite of the Verdict. LONDON, June 10 .- Str William Gordon-Cumming was married this morning in Holy air and check the prevailing gambling spirit,

Trinity church at Chelsea to Miss Florence Garner, daughter of the late Commodore William Garner of New York. Only twenty people were present.

The pride and bridegroom after the ceremony breakfasted with Lord Middleton, Sir William Gordon-Cumming's brother-in-law. Sir William attributes the verdict entirely to the summing up and charge of the lord chief justice. Sir William has received seventy letters expressing sympathy with nim in his troubles. It is now definitely known that Sir Wilitam Gordon-Cumming and wife will make a visit to the United States in the autumn. Sir William Gordon-Cumming has resigned from all the clubs of which he was a mem-ber. His costs in the suit were $25,000. Sir William Gordon-Cumming told a friend today that it was not the lady generally mentioned, but another lady well known in society, who was the principal factor in the betraval of the card secret.

BENSON FOUND GUILTY.

Verdict in the Mattman Murder Case at Leavenworth. LEAVENWORTH, Kun., June 10,-After Mr. Ady, counsel for the prosecution, concluded the closing speech in the Mettman murder case last night, every one of the spectators who crowded the court room to suffocation predicted a verdict of guilty for Charles A.

Benson, the defendant. Mr. Adv's denunciation of the murder and of the murderer was a terrible one. Benson had the hunted look of an animal at bay and muttered his fear and helpless rage under his flowing moustache. He was doomed and he knew it, wincing perceptibly at the thought that mercy for him on earth was no

Judge River delivered his charge and then the jury, under guard of a bailiff, retired to their hotel for the night. They were up oright and early this morning. They breakfasted at 7 o'clock and at 8 were again in the room. At 9 they had arrived at a vertict of guilty

Court had just opened and the bailiff an-ounced that the jury had a communication o make. The jury was brought in and the breman announced that they nad arrived at a verdict. The verdict was handed to Judge River. and he, discovering a technical flaw in it, ordered the jury to correct it. The jury retred to make the correction, but did not get it right even then and were sent back a second time. When they returned again with the veralet it was all right. The clerk read the verdict-guilty as charged in the indictment-and Judge Webb demanded a Each juror acknowledged the Further proceedings were interrupted by Judge Webb, who said that he desired nothing further done until he could determine what motion he should file. He also asked permission to consult with Benson and with his associate in the case, Mr. Dill. This was granted by the court, and the trio went out

Benson appeared in court this morning. pale and worn. He sat unmoved throughout the session, and even when the sealed his doom was read he did not seem to be greatly affected.

Mrs. Raulthzon, Benson's mistress and the daughter of the woman for whose murder Benson was found guilty, is also under in-dictment as an accomplice in the crime. It had been decided to try her on a separate count, but it is impossible now that the case against her will be dismissed. Judge Webb, Benson's attorney, will ask for a new trial on the ground of newly found evidence. Appointed by the President.
