SALVATION ARMY'S LEADER.

Commissioner Ballington Booth Pays the Omaha Forces an Official Visit.

DRESS PARADE HELD IN HIS HONOR.

How the Hallelujah Soldiers Received the Chief Marshal and Staff-Rousing Meeting at Boyd's Last Night.

Commissioner Ballington Booth and wife arrived in Council Bluffs over the Rock Ysland at 5:50 o'clock vesterday. At least half as hour before the train was due a hundred or more wearers of the red guernsey assembled on the platform to await the coming

When the train rounded the curve the Salvationists were drawn up in two long lines on the platform.

Commissioner Booth and his wife nighted, followed by Major Keppell and wife of the staff. As the marshal and his wife passed through the lines all hats were raised and a hearty cheer was given.

Adjutant Egner gathered his representatives together, and with bared heads the assembly waited to hear the commissione

In response Commissioner Booth said:
"We feel very grateful for the kind reception accorded us today. I am getting old in Salvation army matters, but there is on sight which never tires my eyes and that i the red jackets and the tri-colored flags. I observe the same here that I have other piaces, and that is the Salvation army is doing work wherever the worl of God is preached and that it has followers and those who will listen to our teachings. The army is a great revolution and has a great force and power to change the hearts of men. We reach a class of people that others do not My eyes have filled with tears many a time as I have seen drunkards, gamblers and for saken men come to our altar and asked to be shown the road to heaven and salvation, thank Dr. Harsha and my friends for this

A special motor train, decorated with the A special motor train, decorated with the national colors and flars of the army, had been provided. The band occupied the first car, Marshal Booth and wife, Adjutant Egner and wife, a few invited friends and the reporters occupied the second car. The third was filled with two dozen young ladies dressed in red with white asshes bearing the words "Welcome," and the others were for the soldiers and friends.

On the trip over the band played most of the way. The gaily decorated train and its

the way. The gaily decorated train and its pecupants attracted considerable attention. Roy. Dr. Lamar sat next to Marshal Bootn and talked about the work in Omaha. Rev. C. W. Savidge occupied the next seat.

Commissioner Booth is a tall, fine looking man with black hair and a dark, brown mous tache. He was dressed in a Salvation army uniform with the insignia of a marshal on alls shoulder strap. Mrs. Booth is a petite purnette and a very handsome, charming woman. Both are pleasant speakers and are deeply interested in their work.

Mr. Booth asked about the population and growth of the city and was greatly surprised when told that out of the 150,000 population only about 25,000 were regular church goers. The commissioner said: "There is room for the Salvation army here."

Marshal Booth then asked The Bee repre-Bentative about the percentage of poor in the He said that the Army was organizing a "shelter" for the needy poor in four of the eastern cities, and thought possibly such an Institution might be started here.

Commissioner Booth and wife are just tarting on a 9,000-mile trip. They started from New York city, and spent Sunday in Oskaloosa, Ia., where a large meeting was held. The party leaves here this morning on the limited train for Denver. The following steps will be made and meetings neld: At Denver, Pueblo, Fresno, San Francisco, Portland, Helena, Butte City, Chicago and back to New York. The whole prip will cover over nine thousand miles and They starte trip will cover over nine thousand miles and will occupy four weeks.

Upon arrival in the city Mr. Booth and wife took carriages at Tweifth and Douglas, and headed by the band and followed by the army, formed a procession. The parade marched out Douglas street to Sixteenth, and out to Davenport, turned and marched to Boyd's opera house, where they disbanded Commissioner Booth and wife then repaired to the residence of Rev. Marshal Booth said he was the oldest Salvation in the United States.

Marshal Booth said he was the oldest Salvationist in the building, and thanked the Lord that the army was on earth. He thought his wife would come next. He referred to the origin of the army twenty-five and a half years ago, when his father addressed a motley throng in Whitechapel. Now the army is organized in thirty-eight nations, has 10,000 commanding officers, and 50,000 local officers, bolding $0,000 meetings per mouth, and preaching the gospel to nine or ten million people. He said the army was all thirgs to all men, and had saved tens of thousands who were dead to the church chimes and never crossed the threshold of the house of God.

said the speaker, "for God's sake, save him with a hamp one, I am not disposed to be fastidious, and I think the best fisherman is not the one with the best fisherman is not the one with the best fisherman is not the one who catches the most fish.

If my cultured brothers here on the platform, Drs. Savage and Harsha, can't reach the drunsards and thieves of Omaha, perhaps they can reach another class. Don't talk of Darksest England, but think of Darksest America. True, England has $0,000 paupers, 120,000 fallen women and squarders annually £300,000,000 in drink. America spends annually £20,000,000 for drink. The people of the Salvation army believe in utter consecration, the giving up of everything. and bat is what is going to save the world."

Silvas Hallington Booth succeeded her husband, and spoke very elequently and forcibly. She was frequently gapplauded, and made a very favorable impression upon her hearers. She aptly inustrated her points, and eviaced much quaint humor.

Rev. Dr. Harsha was called upon by Mr. Rev. Dr. Harsha was called upon by Mr. Booth, and responded briefly. He said that he appreciated the work the army was doing, and thought he represented fully one-half the people in the house who were present to show a similar appreciation. He said the Salvationists deserved a substantial peoplition, and called for a subscription, which visited arout 300.

Rev. Mr. Savidge was also called upon and introduced as a three-quarters Saluationist. He said that he respected the wearers of the uniform and would continue to do so, whether in the purplet or pew, or whether laid aside from the ministry or not. He thought the army represented good old primitive Meth-He hoped they would organize a raid

A number of recent converts were called and foreibly, if not eloquently given. The marshal directed the recruits and insisted on vigorous exertion on the part of the snare drummer, who finally protested that he was of asieep.
The service concluded with prayer by Mrs.

SWEET FAREWELL

Brownell Hall Maidens Sing Goodbye to Another School Year. The annual musicale of Brownell hall was given last night. The large chapel on the third floor was crowded with the relatives and friends of the fair graduates. The programme was an excellent one and the participants, almost without exception, acquitted themselves admirably. The best number on the programme and the one which received the most enthusiastic approval of the large audience was a vocal trio by Misses Barker, Paimer and Kennedy. The latter is possessed of a clear, high soprano voice, thoroughly under control and clear as a bell. Miss Palmer has a rich mezzo-soprano voice, and the full, rich contralto of Miss Barker completed a trio of well balanced voices. Miss Barker's voice was also heard to exrelient advantage in a solo, "To Sevilla," by Dessauer.

Another noticeable number was a seprano Abotter hosceanic number was a soprano solo by Miss Means, with violin obligato. Miss Barker's rendition of Schumann's dreamy "Abendmusik," demonstrated the fact that she is as finished in instrumental as

An instrumental duet by Misses Collins and Barker was rendered in excellent style and perfect time.

Among the other numbers the overture to "Fidelio" by Beethoven for eight hands, by Misses Means, Hyde, Abbott and Peters was well executed and showed careful training. The chorus, "Hail to Thee," from the "Bride of Dunkerron," by the choir of the hall under the direction of Mrs. Cotton, was a pleasing number.

A Stranger Reported to Have Suicided This Morning. An unknown man suicided about 5 o'clock vesterday morning by jumping from the Douglas street bridge. He bought a ticket at the west end and started across, but stopped near the center and after looking over into the river for a few seconds climbed upon the railing and jumped off.

A colored man who saw the man jump re ported the case at the ticket office at the east end and continued his way to the Bluffs. The suicide's body did not rise to the surface of the water after it first disappeared. Not enough notice was taken of the stranger to even secure a good description of him.

OMAHA HAS A VALID CLAIM.

Her Right to the Republican National Convention is Strongly Supported.

WHAT PROMINENT PEOPLE THINK OF IT.

Some Warm Opinions Given Out Favoring the Scheme-Others Think it Hardly a Feasible Plan.

Yesterday some of Tun Bun's young men asked a few of the leading republicans of Nebraska for an expression of opinion on the plan to hold the next republican national convention in this city. Here is what was gathered in reply: William F. Coburn: You bet, I am for the William F. Coburn: You bet, I am for the convention in Omaha. We can take care of the convention, and we ought to have it.

Judge H. J. Davis: I would like to see the convention in Omaha, but I am afraid we we could not take care of the crowd. We have not facilities for the accommodation of so many people. I would like to see it held in Chicago.

Judge Gustave Anderson: I think we ought to have the convention, and we can get it if we only go to work in the proper man-Major Furay: I am for Omaha all the time. We ought to make an effort to secure the convention. We ought to get it. The re-publican convention ought to be held in the west to get some genuine western enthusiasm into it. We can take care of the people who we can take care of the people who will attend the next national convention and we ought to make a strong pull for it.

Hon. E. P. Roggen: Yes, You may put me down for Omaha with both feet. She is a hummer on general principles and is so recognized by the world at large and the United States in particular, and If I were pressed for a further opinion I would say that I truthfully believe that no one can reach perfection in this life unless he becomes a citizen of Omaha. Experience has forced me to this conclusion, as well as many others that I know of.

Brad D. Slaughter: Omaha is the best place in the United States for the convention. It is the center of the continent, and the heart of the great republican constituency of the nation. Undoubtedly a great deal of good, politically, will result from holding the convention if the west. Major T. S. Clarkson: No man ever got anything he didn't try for, and we will never get the national convention unless we try for it and try hard. A national convention of cither party is a great advertisement for any city and Omaha ought to try for it. John Peters: Certainly, I'm for Omaba if it can be brought here, but in case we should get it, there should be great efforts made to entertain the crowd. This would necessitate increased hotel facilities. If the people of Omaba expect to hold conventions here they must look after these things. Hon. W. J. Connell: Minneapolis seems to have made up her mind that she can't handle it, and if she can't we can't. In the first place, no effort that we could make would secure the convention for Omana, and in the second place, we couldn't handle it if we got it. It wouldn't do the city much good anyway. The people who would be brought here are politicians and not capitalists, and not one in ten would stop to inquire the price of a corner lot. They would all have axes to grind and would not be on the lookeut for an investment. It would advertise the city a little, but Omaha is pretty well advertised already. The convention would bring 10,000 people here and the hotels couldn't begin to handle them. They would have to go to private houses, and that would be unsatis-factory. It would be all right for a religious convention. The thing for us to do is to wait four years and then we will be in shape to jump in and make a fight for the convention that will mean something. Our location is the very best, but the city isn't quite ready

Hon. Alvin Saunders: We can't handle it. Our hotel facilities are too cramped. We ought to have that $1,000,000 hotel. If Mer-cer and McShane had their new hotels up it might help us out, but it is too big for us just now. I am afraid lots of people would be dissatisfied with their accommodations and the convention would give Omaha a bad name for that reason. If we get it I will do my share, and more, too, for I am an Omaha man all the time. Still I don't think it satisfactory to visitors on an occasion like this to quarter them in private residences. They vant to be down town in the hotels, right in the middle of the excitement to see every-thing that is going on. We are in as good shape to handle it as Minneapolis or Kansas

Hon, George W. Lininger; Of course we want the convention, and we can handle it, too. Perhaps we are no better able to handle it than Minneapolis in the way of hotels, but we can do as Chicago did with the triennial conclave. They quartered the visitors in tents on the lake front, and we could get as many tents as we wanted. A tent is a mighty fine place to sleep in warm weather, and the convention wouldn't last long. The bulk of it wouldn't last more than a day and we could take care of it easily.

Out of Town Opinions. Beatence, Neb., June 15.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The Bee representative questioned leading republicans today in reference to the holding of the next republican national convention in Omaha. Senator A. S. Paddock: I am decidedly in favor of the convention being held in Omaha, and think we are entitled to it. Few cities in the country have better facilities for the great gathering, either in rail or hotel ac-commodations. Nebraska will give this convention a royal welcome.

Hon. S. C. Smith: No city in the country has better facilities, nor no section better claims for the convention than Omaha. It should come to Omaha by all means, and Omaha being nearly the by all means, and Comana being nearly the geographical center of the continent makes it the most easily accessible. I am most assuredly in favor of the convention being held in the metropolis of Nebraska and of the Missouri valley.

Hon. J. B. Weston: Omaha? Why, of course Where else should the convention course. Where else should the convention be held? We are entitled to it, and it is a compliment on Nebraska and the west that it compliment on Nebraska and the west that it should be held at Omaha. No city in the west has more accommodations or hotel facilities, and it is easily and readily reached by rail from every quarter of the country. Farmort, Neb., June 15.—[Special, Telegram to The Ber.]—Concerning an effort to secure the national republican convention at Omaha prominent Fremont, republicans or Omaha, prominent Fremont republicans express themselves as follows:

Hon, L. D. Richards: I am strongly in favor of it if Omaha can take care of it, but it would be a mistage, it seems to me, with the present notel facilities to attempt it. It would be an njury to Omaha and the state to not have ne delegates and visitors properly cared for, t is simply a question of hotel capacity. Vith this assured, no man in Nebraska could rather see Omana get the great meet-

George Marshall: Of course I am in favor or holding the national convention in Omaha. The question of entertainment is the one great drawback. The present hotel facilities

G. W. Bemis: 1 am most emphatically in the national convention at favor of holding the national convention at Omaha. Nebraska is the central state of the union, and the states west of the Missouri will decide the contest. So Omaha is the piace for holding the convention. Nonrolk, Neb., June 15.—Special Tele-ram to The Bre. |—The leading republicans of Norfolk are unanimously in favor of holding the national republican convention in Omaha. Hon. John R. Hays: I favor Omaha in preference to any other city. Chi-cago was unable to do more at the time Lin-coln was nominated than Omaha can do

Judge J. B. Barnes: I have nothing to say more than Omaha is the place for the convention. It is the center of population, and will consolidate the strength of the party where it is most needed—in the heart of the alliance movement. Omaha, with its hotel and other facilities, can accommodate the convention and entertain the delegates in a most hospitable manner.

Hon, C. F. Eiseley: I think Omaha the proper place, It will encourage republicans in the west. It will be held in the center of republican population, and also will have the desired effect on the alliance movement. Omaha is entitled to the convention, and here is no good reason why she shouldn't have it.

Few Hours' Courtship. Dalton, Tex., June 15. Quite a romantic wedding took place here. Saturday afternoon which, as far as heard from breaks the record for time. The contracting parties were Lee Anderson of New York and Miss Sallie Mitchell of St. Leuis. The parties, who had never seen or heard of each other before, met on the train near Muskogee, I. He be came infatuated with her, and on learning that she was going to stop at the next station he had to make quick work of the wooing and forthwith proposed matrimosy to her, provided she would go on with him. He convinced her that he was in earnest and she consented. They came to this point, this being the first place they could obtain a license and an official to perform the core-mony and a marriage certificate.

When the south-bound evening train stopped they alighted and took the bus for the court house, obtained the necessary papers and had the nuptial knot tied by ludge F. M.
