

HAD A MIGHTY CLOSE CALL.

Omaha Wins an Exciting Game After a Hard Struggle.

FOUR STRAIGHT FROM KANSAS CITY.

Danny Shannon Distinguished Himself Remarkably—Lincoln Puffed Off Another from Denver—Duluth Lost the First.

Omaha, 7; Kansas City, 6. Lincoln, 6; Denver, 4. Minneapolis, 7; Duluth, 6.

Hi my, oh me! what a game to win that was yesterday! It was so exciting and so hot that every time a man went to bat he first warmed his fingers over Joe Walsh's hair.

You missed half your life by not being there, and those who did witness the scoop will never forget it. It was so hotly contested, there was so much delirium, that the crowd looking on was all but delirious.

It was anybody's fight after the sixth inning, but in the glorious ninth the Lambs made their final rally and came on with a rush. The onslaught was irresistible, and the Cowboy column broke and went down before the determined attack.

Captain Manning had marched into the field pumped and belted, but he went away looking as if his only hope lay in heaven. They wanted the game like the man in Texas wanted a revolver, and there was not an article in the ramifications of the past mo that did not resort to.

Danny Shannon was on hand with a satchel stuffed full of dirty tricks, and the ex-Chicago acted the rowdy from start to finish; Jimmy Manning worked his chin until threatened with lockjaw, and big Wilson cracked his face in endeavoring to convince Colonel Strief that he was a highwayman.

But the Colonel only smiled at about his business as if Mr. Walsh was on the other side of the earth. Manning was so hot all through the game that the earth about second base within a radius of twenty yards was baked hard when the thing was over there were icicles hanging from his whiskers an inch long.

Again the day was dark and threatening, and yet there was a swelling sized crowd, and each was a hundredfold paid for the risk taken, for it kept the air resonant with its frantic acclamations. Everybody saved it game. Walsh, Griffin and Stettin saved it with their timely hitting, McCauley with his perfect first, and Hamilton and Taylor by their magnificent fielding, but the credit of the great victory mainly belongs to Shannon.

Greenslie! What a crowd that fellow did play, both in the field and on the bases. He made two throws to the plate alone that saved the game. Then he secured a brilliant double and did not run any one, accepting two chances without a flinch, drove the tying run in, and the winning one besides.

How was that anyway, for an afternoon's work? Larry Twitohel was in the box for the Lambs, and in the fifth inning he wished he was in his coffin, and in the ninth Swartzel was knocked into his.

Promptly at the moment Colonel Strief shied the ball into the diamond, and Manager Dan stepped to the plate. There was no tedious wait, for the second ball the Juncober released, he smashed down to Stearns, and Stearns made an error big enough to carry the hit.

he lunged at high balls and did not reach them, but the third was on a level with his nose. He hurried his bat, and he struck, but all the strength of one large shoulder and two muscular arms went into the blow.

The noise at the plate was prodigious, and Uncle Dick looked around as if he expected to be hit by the grand stand caved in, but everything was all right, and Danny had only made a single. What looked like the return was the fact that it drove Walsh home and tied the game.

And for a moment bedlam reigned. As a Johnny portland at first a full came and the people held their breath as they watched to see what Hamilton would do.

Old St. traced himself on his rye straws and there was red in his eye. The next instant he won the game, for he slanted his bat to center, and Shannon sprinted home to the music of the grand stand and bleachers.

The Deacon brought the excitement to a close. All appearances the Kansas City's were routed and panic-stricken when the terrible ninth began. It looked as though the return would be disorderly and that the walls would be scattered with gore. But it didn't go so.

The tickled the people, for, as was remarked yesterday, they all have it in for Mr. Stearns.

The game professor was not so fortunate. His audacious fly was taken in by Foster, but Hamilton lined her out safely and Manager Dan made third. Swartzel then made a miscalculation instead of putting over, he put it into old Cy's diaphragm and the bases were full.

And the crowd began to shift its Yacenta in order to be ready to loller. It was a wise precaution.

The Deacon. There's a man who knows his business. Here anybody was ready for it he caught the sphere in the cerebellum and it went singing into left like a Winchester ball.

Shannon and Jones were in. "Old Cy" stopped for refreshments on third.

relief on the kindly face of the veteran manager. His young men and he were in a hurry to see what they were up to, and a rainy day was exactly what they needed. They all went up to the grounds and enjoyed a talking bee with the New York players.

"What seems to be the matter with your team?" a reporter asked Manager Wright. "It is in fairly good shape," he replied. "The only injured men are Tommons, who had a finger turned loose, and Samuel Thompson, who got his hand in sliding to a base. Otherwise the men are in good shape. Our weakness, as is apparent, lies in the box. Gleason has not pitched up to his last year's form, and Thornton, of whom we expected much, has not fully recovered from his injury. He has done some good work, but his pitching is uneven. Esper has been our main stay and he has done very well, but the lack of a regular first baseman. First one man, then another has covered the bag, and that has destroyed the team's work. However, I have my eye on some desirable men and think we shall soon get into good fighting trim."

"I think it will be the closest and most brilliant battle in the history of the game. The majority of the teams are so evenly matched that I expect to see them finish in a bunch. The outlook for the national game is exceedingly bright, and I can see nothing but prosperity ahead."

"Who will be the champion?" The veteran smiled sadly, as he replied: "In my opinion the chances have always favored New York. I cannot see how they can lose, unless something extraordinary and unforeseen happens. They outplay the other teams in all-around strength. They have no special point. Besides, they have a combination of men who are also strong in every fielding position, and this is backed up by first-class pitching and catching ability. It is a very hard to knock out a team whose batteries are liable to knock out a man's game in any minute. You never are safe no matter how big a lead you may have gained. Then again, the New Yorks have played together so long and understand each other thoroughly."

"Don't you expect the Phillies to make their usual Garrison splash?" "Certainly. The Philadelphia team will be heard from. I am not at all discouraged. Every club has its losing streak and when we strike our gait we shall make trouble for every other team."

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 18.—The Cincinnati unexpectedly secured a bonus of two bases from Galvin in the seventh inning and won by one run.

MR. HALEY'S RECORD.

Story of a Harness Transaction in Which Thirteen Figured.

T. C. Haley is a hustler and rooms at 1313 Dodge street. On May 18 he needed a harness, and in looking around for one found it at 1312 North Twenty-third street.

Haley has a boy working for him named Joe Easley, who lives at 1312 North Nineteenth street. The hustler gave the harness to the boy yesterday and told him to sell it. The lad struck out to hunt for some one who would buy the harness. He finally sold it at 1313 North Twenty-fourth street.

Haley keeps his rig in a barn back of 1312 Chicago street, and at thirteen minutes to 12 last night Detectives Ellis and Dempsey placed the hustler under arrest.

He is charged with larceny and the stolen property recovered.

Denies the Shooting of Hippolyte. NEW YORK, June 18.—Hayden Consul Prince said today that there was not the slightest foundation for the statement that President Hippolyte had been shot in the stomach at Port-au-Prince of a later date than the time of the alleged shooting and that his advice indicated that everything was tranquil there.

Most Just Be Produced. NEW YORK, June 18.—Herr Most's surties have been notified to produce him in court tomorrow, when he will be resented to the penitentiary.

As a Rule, It is best not to attempt to remedy constipation by the use of such drastic purgatives. When a cathartic medicine is needed, the most safe and beneficial is Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Their effect is to restore the regular action of the bowels, without weakening them. Being sugar-coated, these Pills retain their medicinal virtues for a long time, and are easy to take.

"I can recommend Ayer's Pills above all others, having long proved their value as a cathartic for myself and family."—J. T. Heas, Lehighville, Pa.

"In 1858, by the advice of a friend, I began the use of Ayer's Pills as a remedy for biliousness, constipation, high fevers, and colds. They served me better than any other medicine I have ever used, and I have since been in attacks of that sort ever since."—H. W. Herish, Judsonia, Ark.

TERRIBLE CRIME OF A TRAMP.

Hiawatha, Kan., May Witness a Lynching Today.

Hiawatha, Kan., June 18.—A terrible crime was committed here today, for which the criminal will probably pay the death penalty at the hands of an infuriated mob before morning.

A tramp, name unknown, who had been hired to work on the farm of Thomas Cleland, living near Hiawatha, not far from here, this morning went to the house of John Veach, a neighboring farmer, and finding Mrs. Veach alone criminally assaulted her.

Mrs. Veach was in a delicate condition and she may not recover. The tramp then went to the house of his employer and criminally assaulted Mrs. Cleland. The latter lady was terribly injured, but managed to inform a neighbor named McConroe of the crime. McConroe after a long chase captured the tramp, and led him to Hiawatha at the point of a revolver.

An attempt will be made to remove him to this place if sufficient protection can be afforded. The constable in whose charge the prisoner now is, if he is not taken care of by Baker he will doubtless be lynched before morning. The infuriated mob, which is now surrounding the jail.
