Rather a Quiet Day in Wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade.

INFLUENCES MOSTLY OF A BAR NATURE.

Corn Opened Quiet and Developed No Special Feature During the Day—Business on Wall Street.

CHICAGO, June 23.—It was a rather quiet day in wheat. The conditions at the opening were mostly bearish. The weather map showed and private dispatches confirmed the fact that the weather throughout the winter wheat belt was clear and that the conditions for harvesting favorable. Cables were weak, Liverpool quoting prices ¼d lower. The weather abroad was also said to be fine. Along with these items of bearish intelligence came a statement that the amount of wheat on ocean passage had increased nearly 1,500,000 bushels. This was questioned, and after a time a correction came saying that there was a decrease of that amount instead of an increase. This put quite another face on the matter. Then dispatches were received saying that sixteen boat loads had been taken at New York for shipment, and that 40,000 bushels had been cleared from New Orleans. There were some evidences in the pit of nervousness among some of the July shorts, including even such a heavy and pronounced bear as Pardridge, who was reported as engaged in covering in a very quiet and unostentatious way. The fears of the shorts in the face of a flattering crop outlook, as a result of the light offerings, were the constantly decreasing domestic stocks, the steady export movement and the fear of manipulations. There may or may not be good ground for suspicion in the last named direction, but with July at the threshold and not enough contract wheat in store in all of the elevators in Chicago to cover a single healthy line of shorts, these having outstanding contracts for that month are not inclined to wade ashore and not take the chances of a possible freshet. There was a disposition among the longs also to get out of the July deal and their offerings let the shorts down easily. July opened at 94⅛, sold to 91, hung for a time around 91¼@94⅜, advanced to 94⅝, dropped to 93⅛, back to 94, later sagged again, this time touching 93⅜ on late easy cables, and closed at 93¾.

Corn opened quiet and developed no special feature during the day. There was at times a good demand for July, which resulted in some advance as the offerings were only moderate, but the long features were offered freely and the tendency was to weakness. July shorts seemed disposed to even up and at one time that month was 4c over special, the general difference being 3½c to 3¾c. The receipts were considerably in excess of the estimates. July started at 54⅜c, advanced and fluctuated between 55c and 55¼c, touched 55½c broke to the opening price on the announcement of heavy estimated receipts for tomorrow, sagged to 54¼c with wheat and closed at 54⅜c.

Oats were entirely active. Shorts covering made a strong opening but the market weakened with other cereals later. July started at 35¾c, sold to 36¼c, off to 35¼c and closed at that.

Provisions were rather quiet and with a downward tendency in spite of the early strength in corn. There was a sagging in prices all day with a few reactions and the close shows a loss of 12½@5c in pork, 5c in lard and 7½c in ribs.

Domestic Crop Review.

CHICAGO, June 23.—The Farmers' Review will say tomorrow: Harvesting of winter wheat has already begun in half of the counties of Illinois and Indiana and in about one-third of Ohio. The yield is estimated in these states at 15 to 20 bushels to the acre, a few counties reporting as high as 25 bushels and others as low as 10 bushels. In Kentucky harvesting is in full blast. The yield is poor, correspondents generally estimating it from 10 to 15 bushels to the acre, three counties being as low as 7 bushels. The Missouri harvesting is about completed. The estimates range from fifteen to thirty-five bushels. A large yield is undoubtedly assured. In Kansas harvesting is well under way. The estimates give the yield at about fifteen bushels to the acre. Harvesting has not commenced in Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa or Nebraska. The yield in the latter will undoubtedly be very large; in the other states fairly good. Spring wheat in all the northwestern states is reported as doing very well. Corn is generally reported improving in condition and promising from a fair to an average crop.

Oats prospects are reported good in Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky and only fair in Indiana. In the other states an average yield is expected.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The feeling in Wall street is if anything, rather less confident than of late, the result of gold shipments having had a discouraging effect upon holders, while the bears are making the most of the occasion by the circulation of all sorts of rumors. The discouragement, however is confined to the smaller class of speculators. The outlook is that until something of a more positive nature is known it will be a trader's market, with the extreme dullness and light fluctuations we have had for some time, accompanied by no decided tendency in prices. Today's market differed in no essential respect from those of the last week or so, and while there was a weak opening, continuing from the effect of the gold shipments and other depressing influences of yesterday, there was no severe pressure to sell in any part of the list and after the early selling orders by the foreigners were executed the market displayed a rallying tendency, aided by buying on London account of St. Paul, Louisville and Union Pacific. Lackawanna was the only weak point in the railroad list, its course of yesterday being reversed, and among the industrials, cordage dropped.

Chicago Gas in late trading also showed the result of bear pressure and Jersey Central, after selling off materially, failed to recover and is the only stock showing any material change for the day. Prominent bankers here say that the movement of the crops will not take as much money from New York as has been anticipated and that the inland banks are holding their funds instead of sending them to New York. At present therefore, there is very little western money on deposit here. The western banks show that their reserve is larger than ever before and that they are in a position to furnish all the money that will be needed for the movement of the corps. The market in final dealings generally moved upward slightly fractions and finally closed dull but firm at small and irregular changes for the day, though Jersey Central is down 1¼ per cent.

There was a widening of the railroad bond market today but the aggregate result of the trading was insignificant still, both as to the amount of business done and the effect upon prices in the list. No movement of note is to be detected among the issues traded in and the only changes of note are in the inactive bonds.

The sales reached $677,000 and the dullness was the only feature of the day.

Government bonds were dull and heavy. State bonds were dull and steady.

Petroleum opened steady, but after the first sales declined steadily under liquidating of long accounts and closed weak. Pennsylvania Oil, July option, opening 68¾c; highest, 68¾c; lowest, 66¾c, closing, 66¾c. Total sales, 172,000 barrels.

Financial Review.

NEW YORK, June 23.—The Post says: Yesterday it was generally reported that the embarrassed London house of Murietta would be compelled to announce its formal suspension. Over night, however, it seems that arrangements were made to carry the concern along at any rate until the next settling day. Neither announcement excited any concern here and the incident was of little interest except as indicating the reasons for London's absence from active trading and the rise in our stock market. The London houses which have figured prominently in the past bull movements in Americans simply have not the money to put into a venture now even if they had the will.

The Muriettas, like the Barings, were equipped with assets which were literally unavailable, unless, as in the present instance, creditors carry forward from a motive of self defense. Perhaps the most unpleasant consideration of all is that securities such as the South American bonds, in which all of these houses were dabbling, have not appreciated in value since the November crash. On the contrary they have gone on declining from that day to this.
