DEATH OF A SENATOR.

John C. Shea's Life Ended After Months of Suffering.

After several months of suffering, John C. hea died at his home, 1503 Yates street Wednesday night. Senator Shea was taken ill shortly after the beginning of the last session of the legislature, with a complication of throat, lung and stomach troubles. He attended to his duties at Lincoln, however, until compelled to desist on account of failing health and was brought home in March a very sick man. The rest at home did not produce the hoped for restoration of his health and he declined so rapidly that his physician decided that a change of climate was absolutely necessary, and he was sent to Colfax Springs, la. For a time he appeared to be improving, but soon a relapse came and after a sojourn of five weeks at the springs he was brought home. The fatigue and excitement incident to travel greatly weakened him and hastened the end. He fingered on slowly until last evening when his physician seeing the end was near hastily summoned his family to his bedside. At 10:30 he calmly expired. After the court was called to order yesterday morning City Attorney Manoney arose and Shea, adding words of culogy.

Judge Estelle said that he considered the demise of Judge Shea in the light of a per sonal loss and that the Omaha bar could ill afford to lose men of his high character and standing. He called the attention of the asso-ciation to his death and hoped that proper action would be taken.

John C. Shea was born at Cambridge, Mass., February 2, 1856, of Irish parents. He was educated at Cambridge, entered Harvard college and graduated from the law department of the Boston university with high bonors in 1879. He was admitted to the bar of the United States supreme court in 1883, and in 1885 he came to Omaha, where he has since continuously resided. Before coming to Omaha he thought mathematics and the lan-guages in Ohio schools for two or three years as professor and principal. He was appointed a justice of the peace in this city in 1887, and was subsequently elected to the same office but resigned in 1888 to accept the position of assistant county attorney continuously unti his death. He was elected on the democratic ticket last fall as one of the senators from Douglas county, but owing to ill health was prevented from taking a very active part in the work of the session, although during the exciting scenes that attended Governor Boyd's inaugural he did his share of the fighting when he should have been in care of a physician.

Mr. Shea leaves a wife and five children.

The funeral arrangements have not yet Yesterday Judge Estelle appointed the following members of the bar as a commit tee to draft and present resolutions: T. B Minahan, Warren Switzler, W. S. Felker, R A. L. Dick and F. A. Brogran. The resolu s will be read in court room No. 1 Satur-

Couldn't Find the Dog.

Maud Williams, the thirteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Gorman, who lives at Fifteenth and Howard, left home Wednesday to look for her dog, which had strayed away. She did not return and the case was reported to the police. Yesterday the girl was found at a house in the southern part of the city near Syndicate park.

She had been out for several hours in the pouring rain, and aside from being drenched was covered with mud. She said her mother had told her not to come back without the dog, and she was afraid to return home. The mother visited the police station and wanted an officer sent to bring the girl home, but the authorities refused to interfere unless a war-rant was sworn out. Mrs. Gorman decided to try a little moral sussion.
