

PATHEIC SCENE IN COURT.

Ed Hochheimer's Parting from His Heart-broken Wife and Babies.

GOT A FOUR YEARS' TERM FOR FORGERY.

Four Bailiffs Required to Separate the Fainting Wife from the Condemned Husband—Other Court Matters.

People who were in attendance upon Judge Estelle's court were witnesses to a most pathetic scene yesterday, one that caused the female spectators to use their handkerchiefs freely and frequently. Even men who are accustomed to trying scenes were unable to force back the tears.

During the early part of the present term of court Ed. Hochheimer was convicted of forgery. He executed a note for $240, signing the name of John Riley and Robert Pierce. This note he sold to a broker, receiving $40 in cash and a due bill, payable on demand, for the balance.

Soon after the conviction the discovery was made that the note was a forgery. Arrest and conviction followed in short order. Yesterday morning the prisoner was removed from the county jail and taken before Judge Estelle for sentence.

The wife, a delicate little woman and two children, a boy of ten years and a little girl four years of age were in the court room, occupying chairs upon the east side of the jury box.

After the clerk had finished reading the journal, Hochheimer was called before the judge. His attorney pleaded for leniency, claiming that the man was a nervous wreck. He fell down an elevator shaft, crushing his head. Besides this, some years ago he was lost on the prairie.

The wretched part of the state during a severe blizzard. For hours he lay in a snow-drift, freezing his hands and feet. These unfortunate accidents, however, did not weaken the man's mind to such an extent as to make him in a great measure irresponsible for his acts.

When the plea had been concluded the court imposed a fine of $1 and costs and sentenced Ed Hochheimer to a term of four years in the penitentiary. The condemned man's hard labor. The man's lips twitched, and returning to where his wife was seated, he dropped into her arms and moaned and sobbed.

The wretched man's head fell forward, and he threw his arms about his wife's neck and cried: "O, papa, don't go and leave us!" The little girl, sitting on the floor, sobbed and stroked his hair, while the bereaved wife and mother cried and exclaimed, "What will become of our little boy?"

The tears welled up in the eyes of Judge Estelle as he ordered Hochheimer taken back to jail.

Two bailiffs complied with the instructions of the court, and by their combined efforts they were enabled to separate the husband and wife who were so heartily embracing. The man was so completely prostrated that he had to be carried from the court room to the jail. The wife fainted and was carried into the court room by two court bailiffs, while the regular business of the court proceeded.

Other Court Cases.

The suit of Edward Ayer against the Sun fire insurance company was dismissed, and the case settled. In the case of the Sun fire insurance company, suit was brought by Ayer in the United States court. He seeks to recover $25,000 from the Sun Fire insurance company of New York.

The suit of George W. Warren Smith against the City of Omaha was dismissed. The case was brought by Warren Smith against the city of Omaha for the value of the furniture which was insured in the Sun company. The company failed to pay the loss and set up as a defense that Ayer was instrumental in starting the fire, though he proved that he was not in the vicinity when the building and contents burned.

In the case of the state against Harry Rusche the jury found the defendant guilty of uttering a check on the First National bank. The injunction suit of Catherine Lane and others against the city was disposed of by Judge Wakeley.

In this case the grading of South Eighteenth street, from Leavenworth to a point 400 feet south of Mason street, had been ordered by the board of public works and the city council. The contract had been awarded and work was well under way, when Catherine Lane and a number of other property owners sued out an injunction. On the papers presented, Judge Wakeley last week issued a temporary injunction. Today the court vacated the injunction. The defendant, while the plaintiff sued to recover $23,000. The motion states that the verdict was contrary to the law and the equity.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon the jury returned a verdict in the case of David Johnson against the City of Omaha. The findings were as follows: Judgment, $20,000; interest, $2,044.63. The case will go to the supreme court. It was thirty-seven days from the time that the case was commenced until the verdict was returned.

No matter what may be the illness you bear from indigestion, a dose of Ayer's Cathartic will cure you. It is a safe, reliable, and sure remedy. It is a safe, reliable, and sure remedy. It is a safe, reliable, and sure remedy.

OUT OF THE ASSOCIATION.

So Finally Decides Chairman Finley in Reference to the Alton.

PROBABLY AN OLD TRICK OF THE WIZARD'S.

Mysterious Success of the Missouri Pacific in Gobbling the Coal Business—A Northwestern Line Looking for Trouble.

CHICAGO, July 3.—General Passenger Agent Chairman of the Alton received a letter from Chairman of the Missouri Pacific inquiring as to the relations of his road with the Western Passenger association. The chairman writes: "Our circular letter No. 32 fully sets forth our understanding of the position of your company under the agreement, which is that having abandoned its essential obligations in its refusal to pay the penalties as required against it, in the decision in the matters of complaints with respect to rates from Kansas City to St. Louis and from St. Louis to Chicago, it is entitled to have the agreement administered in its favor and we cannot therefore treat it as a member."

As a result of this communication no representative of the Missouri Pacific will appear at the regular meeting of the association next Tuesday unless sent for. Furthermore, that company will pursue an independent course until the association takes some action in the matter, which it will probably do without delay.

GOLD GETS THE BUSINESS.

A conference was held today between the general managers of the western roads and a committee of the Missouri Pacific, with a view to the adjustment of rates on anthracite coal. It appears that last month consignments of coal aggregating 15,000 tons forwarded from the Missouri Pacific to the west were valued at $1,000,000.

Mr. Alph Andrews of Springfield was in the city yesterday.

Charles Barron of Denver is visiting friends in the city. His wife, Miss Jennie Kelly has gone to Tekamah and Mrs. H. Brooks to Carroll.

The Magic City corn band will furnish the music for the celebration at Avoca, Ia., tomorrow.

Garbage Inspector Split is making things hot for the city. He is rolling in fat and money. The Nebraska Savings bank has been merged into the Packers' National, and will open its doors on Monday.

Mrs. Eliza Stoddard of Detroit is visiting her son Homer, who is chief clerk with the Hammond company.

Frank Payton was released from the city jail last evening on $500 bonds. Mayor Sloane is his bondsman.

The Athletics and Omaha packing company club will play at 9:30 this morning on the Fair by two courts.

The Sarpy county old settlers' society will enjoy a day in the woods at Papillion, Ia. regular old Fourth of July time is promised.

Interior of the new building on Twenty-sixth and H streets is nearly ready for occupancy.

Alton. The Alton road ran away last evening on Thirty-second street, and smashed the buggy all to pieces. The horse took fright at the explosion of a toy cannon.

"Is the Alton in the association?" he was asked. "It is not," replied Mr. Finley, "it has withdrawn from the association. It is an accident. It simply refused to comply with the fundamental and most vital part of the agreement. As I interpret the agreement I cannot now further consider the road as being a member of the association."

"Will the Alton not be further considered by the association in any way?" "That I don't know," replied Mr. Finley. "Do you want to remove those pieces from our faces?" "Use them if you can," said the dock. It is warranted to effect a complete cure.
