TO THE OMAHA MANCHESTER.

Rapid Transit Between the City and East Omaha Secured.

HOW TO REACH THE FACTORY DISTRICT

Trial of the New Line and Its Formal Opening to Traffic-Who Watched the Motor Mote.

At 10:30 o'clock yesterday a little party gathered at the corner of Sherman avenue and Locust street to witness the opening of the new motor line to East Omaha. Those forming the party were Mayor Cushing, Superintendents Smith and Tucker of the Omnha street railway company; John R. Webster, manager of the East Omaha motor line; A. B. DeLong, assistant manager of the East Omaha land company; A. B. Ross, chief engineer of the company; F. E. Iiall, super-intendent of the new motor line; J. C. Per-rigo, who superintended the construction of the line; J. M. Atkinson of Chicago, representative of the Westinghouse electric com-pany; Mr. White, representative of the Edi son electric company, and representatives of

Before starting on the initial trip the new rolling stock was subjected to a thorough in spection. The train consisted of a closed motor car and an open trailer, built by the St. Louis car company. Both were painted on the same general plan adopted by the Omaha company, yellow being the predomi-nating color. On the signboard of both cars was the legend, 'Interstate Bridge & Street Railway company." The motor car was provided with richly upholstered seats, while those of the trailer were of the slat pattern. The general arrangement of the truck and motors was the principal object of interest. The wheels were larger than those ordinarily used on street cars and the motors and connecting machinery were completely enclosed in cast iron casings. The casing enclosing the gearing are kept about half ful of grease which reduces the "humming" to a minimum. The motors are of the Westinghouse pattern and are of twenty horse When the equipment had been thoroughly inspected the gong sounded and the train started noiselessly down the steep grade leading to the crossing over the railroad The trolley wire was hung on a single line of poles placed at one side of the track and was suspended at a height of about eighteen feet from the ground. When the railroad tracks had been cleared the power was turned on and the train sped along the well ballasted track at a rapid rate. A speed of about twenty miles per hour was soon acquired and maintained until the eastern terminus of the road was reached two and one-quarter miles from Sherman The track was very smooth, and was laid with 40-pound T rails. The grade, after crossing the railroad tracks, was almost a dead level, the embankment being several feet above the level of the surrounding land. The steep grade just east of Sherman avenue is an 8.38 percent grade, about the same as Dodge street, between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets. When the terminus was reached the party alighted and inspected the barn, a commodious structure, 106x33

a commotious structure, 106x:3 feet with an addition twelve feet wide running along the west side which will be used for an office, shop and store room.
Workmen were still engaged in completing the interior arragement of the barn or car house and Mr. J. R. Webster, who was highly clated over the successful working of elated over the successful working of everything pertaining to the car line, took pains to impress upon his hearers the fact that sixty days ago not a single article used in the construction or operation of the line had been purchased.

The equipment of the road consists of two motors and two trailers.

After the road and the appurtenances had been thoroughly inspected and an enter-prising photographer had taken a snap shot taken and, under the guidance of Mr. De Long, a tour was made of the land of the East Omaha company.

The East Omaha land company have nine factories on their land, eight of which are in full operation, employing between 300 and 400 people. Three more manufactories have been secured and will remove to East Omaha immediately.
Thirty cottages have been erected in the vicinity of the factories, twenty-six of which are occupied by people employed in the factories. These houses are leased to the occupants at prices ranging from $7 $17 per month, but are not The sanitary arrangements in the little settlement are very complete. City water is used exclusively, there being no wells. Earth closets are used in every instance and a garbage hauler looks after both closets and garbage.

The land in the vicinity of the factories and cottages bore no evidence of the over-flow or backflow of the river and a remark was made that the popular idea concerning East Omaha, was that it was covered with East Omana, was that it was covered with water most of the time.

"Why, my dear sir," exclaimed Mayor Cushing, "this land is on a level with the second story of the Council Bluffs post-office and if this were covered with water where would Council Bluffs be?"

Council Bluffs be?"
The argument was very convincing.
At the suggestion of Mr. DeLong, the party drove to the shore of the river immediately east of the factories. The shore was distant about half a mile and when it was reached the appearance of the river showed very clearly that the channel was about half a mile from the shore where the party stood and Mr. DeLong remarked that at low water the river receded fully that distance leaving exposed a long stretch of sandbar which was constantly increasing in width. The high water of last week left traces along the bank, showing that it had come within about fifteen feet of overflowing the banks at that point. As the stage of the water last week was about nine feet below the high water of 1881 there would seem to be no danger of any

The party then proceeded to avenue H which is in process of being paved with granite blocks. This street starts in the im-mediate vicinity of the district where the factories are located and extends directly east a mile-and-a-half where it intersects Eleventh street. The roadway is as level as a floor and is thirty feet in width. Eleventh street is being paved with granite, thus forming an almost absolutely level driveway from the centre of the city to the heart of East Omaha.

ACCRUED PENSIONS.

Definition of the Term and a Case in Point. The following letter of inquiry was received last week by THE BEE: To the Editor of The Ber: In the reports of the pension office that appeared in the National Tribune each week, there occurs the word "accrued" pension. It is an item given in the same class with "original" pension, increase, etc. Will you please explain the meaning of the word "accrued" as used here, and oblige yours.

N. R. Willen, Nat. Papilliou, Net.

The above question was submitted to Dr. Stone, secretary of the board of pension ex-aminers for this district, and he gave the folowing answer:

"The term accrued pensions means those pensions which have been granted and the certificates for which do not reach the applicant until after death. The pension is paid from the date of the application, and there may have accrued a considerable amount of money at the time the application is granted. We have had several such esses here in

"There was one instance of this kind last fall that was quite remarkable. The appli-cant, W. H. Sullenberger, had applied for a pension years ago, but for some reason it had not been granted. When we finally succeeded in getting the pension allowed Mr. Sullenberger was very ill and the day his certificate arrived in Omaha he died. There was $2,160 due him as accrued pension.

left a statement or will bequeathing all his effects to the family with whom be had lived some time prior to his death, but of course the deceased made no mention of the pension money because he had no knowledge of the fact that it was going to be granted him. The family that had taken care of the old comrade laid claim to the $2,160 as a part of the effects of the deceased. In order that no one should be done an injustice, I wrote to the Grand Army of the Republic post at Parrisburg, Pa., where Mr. Sulleuberger had held memberhip, and made inquiry about his rela-ives. Before receiving a letter from Harrisburg a death certificate, purporting to be that of Elizabeth Sullenberger, wife of the deceased, was produced by some of the interested parties. They claimed that a woman, supposed to have been Sullenberger. berger's wife, had died in Omaha and that there was no widow living to claim a share in the property of the deceased.

"I sent a copy of that death certifi-cate to Washington and we were making preparations to probate the will and carry out the expressed wishes of the deceased when here came a letter from a comrade in Harrisburg statyet living, and that the pension should fall to her.

"The facts as stated were fully proven to the department at Washington. Sullenberger had separated from his wife several ears before his death, and the woman who died and was buried in Omaha was evidently not the legitimate Elizabeth Sullenberger. The money was eventually paid to the widow n Pennsylvania, and she recompensed the people in Omaha who had so kindly cared for her husband during his last illness.'

THE GRAIN EXCHANGE.

Board of Trade Directors Approve of the Union.

The directors of the board of trade held a special meeting yesterday to receive the report of the committee appointed some time ago to confer with the grain men relative to opening a grain and produce exchange. As has previously been published, the report favored the project.

All of the directors were present, and after discussing the subject very fully and carefully it was decided to approve the report. Further consideration of the matter will be given at a special meeting to be held at 3 iclock Monday afternoon.

It was decided to establish a market and fix up the exchange room and halls just as quickly as possible, and it is hoped to have the new order of things in operation by August 1.

The question of chief inspector came up, but the directors thought best to consult with the grain men before acting on it. Direct wires will connect the exchange with the Chicago wheat pit, and all arrange-ments will be made on a large and complete The exchange will be general in its charac-ter, including all produce as well as grain, and buyers and sellers will find there the market that has long been in good demand,
