The accommodations on all branches of the motor line yesterday were insufficient. Dur-ing the afternoon on most of the trans there were more passengers standing up than sit-ting down. Passengers were compelled in many cases to stand on the street corners waiting ten or lifteen minutes before a car came along to take them to their destinations. A row took place yesterday afternoon at John Seiler's saloon at the corner of Broadway and Fourteenth street. There were several engaged in it, and considerable blood was spilt. Informations were filed against the entire party last evening by the proprie-tor of the place, and William Jefferies and Harrison Gilman were arrested.

The fire department was called out yester-day morning by an alarm from the corner of Fifth avenue and Eighth street. A fire had started in a house owned by Dennis Sweeney at 1105 Fifth avenue, but it was extinguished within five minutes after the department resched the place. James Ingoldsby lives in the house, and his son, a small boy, had gone down cellar to celebrate the Fourth, on ac-count of the wet weather outside. One of the fire crackers set a pile of rubbish on fire, and it was this that gave rise to the alarm. The damage was nominal.

Dynamite bombs were on sale yesterday at some of the fireworks stands, and were immensely popular with the small boys, as well as with some of the larger ones. George Pullman, who measures six fect seven, and who keeps books for M. Duquette, was one of the latter sort. He amused himself by standing in the doorways along Broadway and throwing the bombs at the girls and women who passed by. Officer Murphy happened to catch him in the act and placed him under arrest. HOW THE PATRIOTIC CELEBRATED THE DAY

Hibernian Picnic at Fairmount Park -Programme at the Driving Park-A Great Day for Chautauquans.

Had the weather been pleasant the Fourth would have been celebrated yesterday as it never has been celebrated in Council Bluffs before, but when the day dawned it was evident that the preparations which had been made for the occasion had been well nigh useless. There was a steady drizzle that lasted until noon, and even then seemed likely to resume operations at any minute.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians had planned to have a grand parade at 9:30 a. m., with delegations from a dozen outside towns, but the delegations did not arrive. Along toward noon it was decided to postpone the selebration until afternoon.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon the dele gation from Omaha, consisting of about two hundred men, South Omaha with seventyfive and Platismouth with about the same number, arrived in the city in company with Ancient Order of Hibernian band of Omaha and were met at the depot by Dalbey's band and a committee from the city. They were escorted to Masonic temple, where the parade formed and was carried out ac cording to the line of march already published. At Fairmount park the exercises were held on a platform which had been erected for the occasion. Speeches were delivered by Emmet Tinley, J. M. Galvin, Judge W. I. Smith and D. M. Reynolds of Des Moines. In the evening a ball was given in Masonic temple and was largely attended.
At the driving park the track was too heavy to permit even the exercise of the fine string of horses that were in the stables ready to neavy to permit even the exercise of the fine string of horses that were in the stables ready to contest for the big purses offered. The other features of the programme, however, were given and were highly enjoyed by the crowd. The motors quit running at 3 o'clock and this, coupled with the report that all the ruces were declared off, diminished the attendance. The barbecued ox was served up in gorgeous style. It was deliciously cooked and its preparation was pronounced by con-noisseurs in the art of cooking to be a per-fect piece of work. It was given freely and without price to all who desired it. At 3 o'clock a monster hot air balloon was sent up and this ended the principal events, the minor events being a number of foot races and amateur ball games.

At the Chautauqua the morning programme was abandoned. The lecture which was to have been delivered by Roy. Rotert McIntyre was omitted, as the Rey. Robert failed to materialize, and instead Prof. W. M. R. French gave one of his popular chalke talks which was well received. In the afternoon Dr. A. J. Palmer delivered his famous Grand Army lecture on the "Die No Mores," which was a history of a regiment which enlisted from a Methodist college in New Jersey, which he was at that time attending. The company received its name from the fact that all the members. being Methodists, made a practice of singing the hymn, which contains the sentiment, We're going home to die no more " heroism displayed by the men in battle and the wholesale dying off of the company at the battle of Charleston harbor were pic-tured graphically. The exercises were interspersed with music by the Iowa state band, which made a very favorable impres-sion on the audience.

Last evening Prof. Byron King gave an election entertainment which was attended by the largest crowd of the day. The recitaons were interspersed with music by the tions were interspersed with music by the lows state band, every selection being greeted with an encore. Hon Champion S. Chase of Omaha was present, and made a few remarks in which he ad-vocated the holding of a national convention in some western city outside of Chicago in 1893, for the purpose of inculcating among the visitors who will be present at that time ideas of republican form of govern-

This morning the service will be in charge of Rev. Samuel L. Lindsay. Jahu DeWitt Miller will arrive in the city this morning, and will preach in the afternoon at 3 o'clock. Missing Fireman Found. Fireman Dick Evans, who left No. 2 hose ouse on lower Broadway Friday morning with the avowed intention of drowning himself in the river, was found yesterday afternoon. A number of the firemen and relatives of the missing man put in a large part of the night looking for him. Among the searchers was an older brother. Shortly before dark Friday evening Evans was discoverered by the scarchers, but before they could get up to him he disappeared in the willows and refused to come to respond even to the call of his brother. This was the last seen of him until yesterday afternoon, when the searchers suddenly came upon him at a point a mile or more southwest of the big elevator. He was bare-headed and consider ably chilled from his night's exposure and the cold rain, but otherwise seemed to be in a normal condition and willingly accompanied his friends. He is very reticent and will give no explanation of his strange conduct.

Short Commentary on the Prodigal Course of the City Council. It is an open secret that the city is hard pressed for money and is finding much difficulty in meeting its financial engagements. To make matters worse it has half a dozen damage suits on hand, which, if successful, will draw from the city's already depleted finances some $30,000. There is a very strange thing about the conduct of affairs in regard to these suits. Some menths ago a widow whose husband was killed by falling over an embankment, which, owing to the negligence of the authorities, was not marked city for $5,000. The suit was contested and judgment rendered in favor of the plaintiff in an inferior court. The authorities, however, refused to acquiesce in the decision of the county judge, and had the case continued in the supreme court. A few days ago a wealthy corporation whose plant was situated on L. street merely signified its intention to the city fathers that it would like a settlement for damages to its property, and mentioned $4,500 as a sum upon which it was willing to compromise. Without any suit for danages being instituted, the city quietly paid the required sum. Far from the improvements made by the city damaging the property of the company, it increased its value several fold, and what originally cost the company $2,000 was sold lately for $7,000. The city is now about to make the company and the city is now about to make the company and the city is now about to make the city is now about the company and the city is now about the company and the city is now about the city of the city is now about the city is now about the city of the city is now about the city of the city is now about the city of th mentioned $4,500 as a sum upon which it was The city is now about to make another similar settlement with a wealthy syndicate, while the less fortunate private petitioners for justice are squandering time and money in trying to secure their rights through the courts. Much open discontent is being expressed among a minority of the councilmen whose clients are being thus treated, and threats are being made that public business will be obstructed unless some amicable settlement is soon arrived at between the council and the plaintiffs.

West end shop keepers are growling at the disastrous condition of trade and complain of the few American buyers of the good old kind who exclaimed, "My, how cheap!" It would be lamentable indeed for many west end shop keepers if the old variety of American shopper became extinct. Some of these shops depend for profits upon American's. Their owners say fewer Americans are here this season than for many years and that only a small percentage of these are of what they call the better class. There may be something in the wall, but there are no lack of Americans in town. The big hotels are full of them. In fact few English go to the big hotels, which were built because the Americans were disgusted at the inconvenience of the old fashioned English hotels. These American-English hotels are crowded to the doors. I met a man yesterday who slept in the bath room of the Victoria hetel and was charged $1.30 for headache, stiff neck and a pain in the small of his back, yet he went to bed sober.

No Canadian Pecrages.

It is the impression here that not many more peerages will be conferred on Canadians, and it is considered quite clear that they will not be conferred where there is the slightest chance of transmission. His father was at Lowestop, the guest of Colman, the mustard manufacturer. The news of his son's death was communicated to him early this morning. He seceived it quickly and at once took a train for London. He looked very fortorn upon his arrival and it is feared the benefit he had received was wholly destroyed by the sad event. The dead man had been ill for years, his last severe illness resulting from paralysis. He was born in 1840; educated at Eton; entered arliament in 1855 for Chester; from 1869 to 1874 was a lord of the treasury. In 1875 he married the daughter of the twelfth Baron Fire in Cotton Ships. The recent fire in the City of Richmond has been thoroughly investigated by the by the board of trade, yet it seems the board was unable to control the carrying of conton by ocean going ships. In vesterdays discussion in the house of lords upon the City of Richmond fire, Lord Balfour of Burleigh said that in ten years there had been 171 fires on cotton laden ships from America, while in the ten years there had been only four fires in cargoes of cotton from India. His information was evidently obtained from ship owners. Nearly all complain of the oose way American cotton is packed. The Inman line said it would carry no more American cotton unless packed like Indian cotton.

The Copyright,

A British author is a hopeful person, yet he is not wholly satisfied with the American copy right law framed in his interest. It is beginning to dawn on the most ardent advocates here of the act that Uncle Sam, as usual looked after his own before considering that foreigners might have some rights, it might be well to respect.

It may be difficult to knock out salvationism with prayer, but the fact was nearly accomplished Mayor Eastburne. Eva Booth, the daughter of the general, called upon the mayor to expostulate with him touching the prosecution of the army for difturbing the peace. Her arguments being of no avail, she dropped on her knees in the mayor's parlor and asked the Lord to give him a new heart. Eva counted without her host. The mayor, a devout Scotchman, had no objection to Miss Booth praying, but had no idea of allowing her to go it alone. He also fell on his hnees and fervently prayed that a new heart might be couchsafed the law-breakers as he termed Salvationists. Eve, finding her knee drill meffectual, rose and left the mayor master of the situation.

ONLY ONE ROW.

Hotiday Passed Very Quietly by Omaha's Tough People. Yesterday was an unusually quiet day in police circles considering that it was the day we celebrate. The only excitement was the arrest of S. A. Allen charged with cutting Orvil Birney with intent to kill. About I o'clock Charles Johnson, M. C. Seward and Birney were sitting at a table in Gus Shultz's wine room at the corner of Eleventh street and Capital avenue orinking beer. A woman of the town came in followed by Allen. After a short conversation Allen and Birney got into a row about the woman. Birney attempted to draw a revolver, but Allen was too quick for him. Flashing a razor Allen made a dash for his foe and with one slash cut a seven inch hole in Birney's anatomy.

Officer Hudson was near, and was called.

When he arrived the injured man lay bleed-ing on the floor. As soon as possible the patrol wagon arrived and carried Birney to police headquarters, Dr. Lord was telephoned for and sewed up the wound. It was found that the razor had made a gash through the coat and vest and sunk nearly two inches into the flesh between the ribs under the left arm. Dr. Lord found it necessary to take fourteen stitches in sew-ing up the cash. After the wound had been dressed the patient was taken to St. Joseph's hospital for furtner treatment.

Officar Hudson took Allen in tow and later on arrested Johnson and Smart as witnesses. None of the parties arrested would talk about the affair. Unless something unforeseer happens Birney's injuries will not result s

EVANGELIST GOODMAN. He Explains Charges of Neglect of His Family. It is but justice to my many friends, my family and the workers of the People's church, with whom I engaged in mission work in Omaha, to answer the charge of neglect of my family published a few days ago in the Omaha and Lincoln papers. Last March I felt led of the Lord to drop he missionary work of the American Sunday School Union and enter the city mission work. After having visited New York city missions and others to prepare for the work I decided the Lord would have me join hands with His people in the mission fields of Omaha and have been laboring here in con-nection with the People's church, lately organized, for the last two months with blessed results. In the meantime my family and my-self make the sacrifice of being separated until I get settled in the work and can arrange to move. My family is very dear to me and have a pleasant home in Lincoln, Neb., are well cared for and feel very much grieved over the affair as anyone can know by ing to my wife. The mission band of the People's church is not large or wealthy but they are devoted to this work and will do what they can in barmonious conjunction with other workers in the mission fields o Omaha to "rescue the perishing" souls al around us. We ask your friendly aid. Yours

Abe Lincoln's Advice.

An autograph letter of Abraham Lincoln to a friend is said to contain the following: "Do not worry. Eat three square meals a day. Say your prayers, Think of your wife. Be courteous to your creditors. Keep your digestion good. Steer clear of billiousness, Exerise. Go slow and go easy. May b there are other things that your especia case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these, I reckon, will give you a good lift."

Jury Life in Arizona. Sitting on an Arizona jury is not with out elements of danger. A man named Shankland at Tombstone, Ariz., killed Dr. C. G. Willis because the latter did not pay the former several hundred do lars the Old Guard mining company owed him, and of which company Willis was the resident agent. A jury was unable to agree on a verdict, eleven being for Shankland's acquittal and one for con-viction of merder. Then the friends of Shankland mobbed the one juror.

Last of the Fourth. At 1:35 this morning fire was discovered in the fruit and commission store of C Rosso, 1210 Howard street. Chiefs Salter was in the bay at the rear of the second story, Chemical No. 8 played for a moment and extinguished the fire. The loss will be less than $15. Fire Reporter Beard answered the alarm and brought Mr. Rosso to his store, but there was no need for his services beyond the locking up of the store after the fire was out.

Children of Mary.

Among the leading associations whose active pursuits in the cause of good are worthy of special commendation, none deserves more bonorable mention than that of the Children of Mary, a society which counts among its members the most distinguished Catholic ladies of Omalia. If its works have received an unusual development during the past year the cause must be attributed to the indefatigable zeal of its energetic members who yied with one another in effects to promote the exterior ends for which the society was organized, namely, to provide for poor churches and to assist needy families On the second and fourth Friday: of the month, the ladies meet at the conven of the Sacred Heart, south Twenty-sevent street, there to steadily ply the needle in favor of these two laudable charities, and many a poor missionary priest and destitute. half-clothed family, are rendered happy and comfortable in consequence of these reunions. One of the dearest wishes of the late Right Rev. Hishop O'Connor for the spir tual wettare of his diocese was the rap development of this association while well knew was capable of becoming a might power for good if its spirit were thoroug imbibed and it worns properly directed. Hiper-onal efforts to advance its interests we unflagging, and his worthy successor Rigat Rev. R. Scannell, is evidenti determined to pursue the same course of his filustrious predecessor. In an inform meeting of the fadies at which he presuce he expressed both surprise and pleasure the rapid extension of their charitable and takings, and urged them to continue the goo o which they were so devotedly attached. His paternal words of encouragement did nuch to reanimate the zeal of his interest much to reanimate the zeal of his interested listeners, and inspired them with renewed eagerness not only to promote still further the works of their noble association, but also to induce others to join a society so raiculated o draw down heaven's special blessings upon homselves and their families.

On the first Friday of each month mass is said at 8 o'clock in the convent chapel, followed by an instruction from Rev. Fr. Fitzgeraid, S. J., under whose wise spiritual guidance Bishop Scannell kindly placed th
